STATE OF MISSOURI

2021-2022

JOHN R. ASHCROFT
SECRETARY OF STATE

Dear Fellow Missourians,

Thank you for allowing me to present the 2021–2022 Missouri Official Manual, more commonly known as the “Blue Book” - dating back to 1878. The Office of the Secretary of State publishes the “Blue Book” every two years. Within the Official Manual, you will find comprehensive information on federal and state government officials, state and county agencies, elections, political parties, state personnel and other individuals and entities.

This edition commemorates Missouri’s Bicentennial, recognizing 200 years of statehood. On Aug. 10, 1821, Missouri became the twenty-fourth state admitted into the Union, following the passage of the Missouri Compromise by Congress in 1820. Over the span of 200 years, the state has seen many figures play a role in its history including Susan Blow, Daniel Boone, George Washington Carver, William Clark, Sacajawea, Harry S. Truman, Mark Twain and Laura Ingalls Wilder.

As secretary of state, I was able to take part in many events celebrating the Bicentennial. Several divisions within my office took part in the Missouri Bicentennial Commission’s Time Capsule project, representing the state’s past, present and future. Items placed in the capsule included several historical documents from the Missouri State Archives and a letter asking tomorrow’s Missourians to preserve freedom for all generations.

The Blue Book’s feature article, written by United States Senator Roy Blunt, reflects on the long list of celebrated individuals who contributed to 200 years of Missouri history. First elected to the Senate in 2010, Blunt spent time as a U.S. representative from 1997–2011, and served as Missouri’s thirty-third secretary of state from 1985–1993. Thank you, Senator Blunt, for your contributions to this edition of the Blue Book and for your service to our country.

Foremost, I want to thank all Missourians for 200 years of progress. Together we stand, divided we fall.

Sincerely,

John R. Ashcroft

★ ★ MISSOURI BICENTENNIAL ★ ★

U.S. Senator Roy Blunt (Mo.)

The celebration of the bicentennial of Missouri statehood gives us a chance to look at what our state has contributed in the past and what it can mean to the future. I've probably spent as much time in all parts of our state as anyone who has ever had a chance to serve as an elected official in Missouri, and I have often thought about Missouri as the place where America comes together.

Missouri is where the east, the west, the north, and the south meet. It reflects the entire country, and our history, in ways that don't happen the same way anywhere else. St. Louis is often described as the eastern city located the furthest west. Kansas City has a different history and, in many ways, is more like other big cities in the West and Midwest. Springfield and Joplin are more like our Northeast Oklahoma and Northwest Arkansas neighbors than the two bigger cities, and the economy and communities of the Bootheel are very much reflective of its delta heritage. Our northern counties may seem more like Iowa, but I've always liked the view once expressed to me that being in North Missouri feels like you're on "top of the world."

No other state has more neighboring states, and only one has as many. The geographic population center of America has been in Missouri since the 1980 census. That center has essentially moved down a line roughly parallel to Interstate 44 as the population grew faster in the south and the west than in the rest of the country.

Missouri sits in the middle of the biggest piece of contiguous farmland in the world, with the benefits of its own built-in water transportation system. Our rivers, along with the highway systems and railroads that shadow them, are an important part of how we compete. They amplify the natural benefits that drove the growth of our state from the late 17th century until today.

Missourians are at our best when we grow things, make things, mine things and move them around. Discovering new ways to do things has always helped us create opportunity.

Our research institutions have made life-changing discoveries in agriculture, health and science. The U.S. Department of Agriculture moved many of its research jobs to Kansas City in 2019. Washington University, the University of Missouri, Missouri State University and Saint Louis University, are consistent recipients of research grants from the National Institutes of Health.

The list of Missouri inventors started early and has continued in recent decades. James Ferguson created the Liquid Crystal Display (LCD); Jack Kilby invented the microchip and received the Nobel Prize for physics; Bill Lear, an inventor and businessman, created the first mass produced business jet, the Learjet; George Washington Carver changed the way many crops are grown and used; Edwin P. Hubble invented the Hubble Space Telescope, discovering countless galaxies beyond the Milky Way; Jack Dorsey co-founded Twitter and founded Square.

Innovators in business like J.C. Penney, Sam Walton and Johnny Morris created world famous models of merchandising with the J.C. Penney Company, Walmart, and Bass PRO shops. J.C. Hall founded Hallmark and James S. McDonnell became an aviation and defense industry pioneer.

A family reads the plaque describing the 1/4-size Hubble Space Telescope replica on display outside the Webster County Courthouse in Marshfield. The powerful, orbiting NASA telescope was named in honor of astronomer Edwin Hubble, a native of Marshfield. (Courtesy of Missouri State Archives Division of Tourism Collection, photo by B.C., 1997)

Suffragist Virginia Minor worked her adult life toward getting women the right to vote. As an act of protest, Minor attempted to register to vote in the 1872 presidential election, but was refused. Along with her husband, Francis Minor, she filed suit against a St. Louis election official, arguing that her citizenship gave her this right under the 14th Amendment. After numerous appeals, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled against her in 1875, upholding that citizenship did not confer this right and thus allowing states to continue restricting the vote. She died in 1894: 25 years before passage of the 19th Amendment. (Courtesy of Library of Congress, engraved by J.C. Buttre after a photo by J.A. Scholten, no date)

Political leaders like Lenore Sullivan, Virginia Minor, Annie White Baxter, Bill Clay, Champ Clark and Stuart Symington helped change Missouri and America in the 19th and 20th centuries. No new president faced more consequential decisions than President Harry Truman in 1945. He was not only willing to make big decisions, but those decisions now place him high on the list of successful presidents.

In the last 50 years, John Danforth, Phyllis Schlafly, Tom Eagleton, Kit Bond, Richard Gephardt and John Ashcroft were all key figures in our great national debate.

Our writers, artists and communicators have helped shape popular culture and political thought. A dramatic blend of ideas and points of view has been part of our history, sometimes with swirling impact like the tornadoes we have seen too often.

Famous artist (and Missourian) Walt Disney created this illustration for the Missouri Conservation Commission's Nature Knights Program. The Program was aimed at schoolchildren statewide and allowed the students to advance from pages to squires to knights and finally to conservationists. Each student who began the program received a copy of this pledge card. The characters are quite evocative of Bambi and Snow White. (Courtesy of Missouri State Archives Department of Conservation Collection, illustration by Walt Disney, March 1939)

Literary giants like Mark Twain and Maya Angelou, along with artists like Thomas Hart Benton, George Caleb Bingham, Gary R. Lucy and L. Edward Fisher, saw their work generate great appreciation and sometimes great debate.

Innovators and communicators like Walt Disney, Walter Cronkite and Rush Limbaugh pioneered new ways of expression and communication. Susan Blow established the first public kindergarten in the United States. Dr. Andrew Taylor (A.T.) Still founded osteopathic medicine and a university to promote it. Dale Carnegie spent a lifetime explaining ways to win friends and influence people.

Sports have always been a big part of our state. In just the last few years, we've brought home both the Stanley Cup and the Lombardi Trophy. The Kansas City Chiefs and Royals, and the St. Louis Blues and Cardinals, all have incredibly loyal fans – many whose love for their team spans generations. The Special Olympics Training Center in Jefferson City is unique in America, as are so many of our sports fans and athletes.

In 1985, Missouri's two professional baseball teams were pitted against each other: Kansas City Royals and St. Louis Cardinals. The Royals won four games to three. Pictured here are fans from each team. (Courtesy of Missouri State Archives Division of Tourism Collection, 1985)

The Kansas City Royals, founded by Ewing Kauffman, have won two World Series titles and the St. Louis Cardinals, with their longer history, have won eleven. Baseball has had two all-Missouri World Series, in 1944 and 1985. The Kansas City Chiefs have played in the last two Super Bowls and won Super Bowl LIV, 53 years after they played in the first Super Bowl. Lamar Hunt was the original owner of the Chiefs franchise and the founder of the American Football League. His family is still dedicated to the team.

Our sports legends include Yogi Berra, who grew up in St. Louis, Stan Musial who set records there, and Kansas City favorites George Brett and Len Dawson. From Springfield's Horton Smith and Payne Stewart to Kansas City's Tom Watson, Missouri has been the home of great golfers and great golf courses.

Kansas City is also the place where the Negro National League was organized in 1920. That league brought new attention to great Missouri players like Satchel Paige, Buck O'Neil and Jackie Robinson who, after just one season with the Kansas City Monarchs, integrated Major League Baseball. Today, you can visit the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum in Kansas City to learn more about these sports legends, players, and teams that made the best of a divided America and helped bring the country together through sports.

As a former history teacher, one of the things I appreciate most about Missouri is all of the places where you can see and experience our history. You can stop by "America's Hometown" of Hannibal, or see the birthplace of "The Mother Road," Route 66, in my hometown of Springfield. You can visit the newly renovated Wilson's Creek National Battlefield Visitor Center in Republic, the Harry S. Truman Presidential Library and Museum in Independence, or America's National Churchill Museum in Fulton, where Churchill drew the line between democracy and oppression in Europe after World War II. The Arch in St. Louis is one of the world's most recognized landmarks, and the National Historical Park at Ste. Genevieve helps tell the story of our French heritage.

Missouri also has a rich history in the performing arts, with historic venues like the Gillioz Theatre in Springfield, the Missouri Theatre in Columbia, the Missouri Theater in St. Joseph, the Uptown Theater in Kansas City, the Orpheum Theater in St. Louis, the Rodgers Theatre in Poplar Bluff, the Arrow Rock Lyceum Theatre and many more.

Branson has more theater seats than Broadway, and it was the setting for Harold Bell Wright's historic novel Shepherd of the Hills. This seminal story of Ozark mountain life continues to be brought to life on stage today and was John Wayne's first film in Technicolor. Hollywood legends, Ginger Rogers and Betty Grable called Missouri home before finding worldwide fame on the silver screen.

Missouri also has an incredible music history, with groundbreaking artists in several genres. Scott Joplin, the "King of Ragtime," was living in Sedalia when he published Maple Leaf Rag and subsequently moved to St. Louis, where his home is designated as a U.S. National Historic Landmark. St. Louis native Josephine Baker was a world-renowned performer and civil rights leader. She spoke at the March on Washington in 1968, where she paid tribute to fellow women civil rights activists. Country music legend Porter Wagoner got his start in West Plains. He performed with his first band, the Blue Ridge Boys, on KWPM radio from the butcher shop where he worked. He was subsequently hired by KWTO in Springfield the year before he signed with RCA records. Charlie "Bird" or "Yardbird" Parker, influenced by the Kansas City jazz scene, founded the bebop jazz movement.

Time and time again over the past 200 years, the people of Missouri have demonstrated tremendous patriotism and dedication to our country. There are more than 410,000 veterans and 36,000 active duty and reserve personnel in Missouri.

Designed to penetrate anti-aircraft defenses and fly undetected, the B-2 bomber can carry both conventional and nuclear bombs. Its "flying wing" design carries only two crew members. It was used in Kosovo, Iraq, Afghanistan and Libya. The Stealth fleet is based at Whiteman Air Force Base in Johnson County. Our state plays a vital role in our nation's defense, with major installations like Fort Leonard Wood and Whiteman Air Force Base, Rosecrans Air National Guard Base, and the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency West headquarters in St. Louis.

General John Pershing, born in Laclede, was First Captain of the West Point Class of 1886, became the commander of the American Expeditionary Forces during World War I, served as the Chief of Staff of the United States Army from 1921 to 1924, and retired with the rank of General of the Armies of the United States, the highest rank in the Army. General Pershing is one of only two generals to hold the rank and the only general who did so during his lifetime. General George Washington was conferred the rank posthumously in 1976 during America's bicentennial. General Omar Bradley grew up in Moberly and left the train depot there to go to West Point in 1911. Bradley was a great athlete and became the "GI's General" during WWII. He commanded the U.S. Army in Europe from D-Day to victory.

Missourians have honored those leaders and their troops along with all others who served. At the end of WWI, leaders in Kansas City raised $2,500,000 in just ten days to commemorate the men and women who served. The site was dedicated by the Allied Commanders in 1921 and recognized by Congress as the National World War I Museum and Memorial in 2014. In 2019, a replica of the Vietnam Memorial Wall was dedicated in Perryville. This privately funded memorial showed it's never too late to do the right thing, as it recognized those heroes in the middle of America.

You can't write American history without the pivotal role played by our state. Westward expansion got to Missouri quickly, and less than a generation after the Revolution, Missouri was the gateway to the West.

Lewis and Clark went where a generation of trappers and traders went before them, and then they continued on to the Pacific Ocean.

The presence of a frontier settlement from the first census in 1790 kept Missouri at the forefront of searching for and helping others find the next opportunity. The launching point shifted across our state, celebrated in the Gateway Arch and the Spirit of St. Louis long before Charles Lindbergh's flight.

Understanding Missouri's place in the nation's development requires us to confront all aspects of our state's past. From the first moments of the statehood discussion, it was clear that something was very wrong. Missouri's desire to enter the Union as a slave state brought new attention to our country's original sin: slavery. That "fire bell in the night" in Thomas Jefferson's words would require a compromise for Missouri to enter the Union, define our early statehood, launch elements of the Civil War in Missouri before the war officially started, and create decades of painful recovery.

Black Missourians have helped lead as America struggled to be more than we had been. Advocates for freedom and equality are part of our history. Dred and Harriet Scott took their case to escape slavery all the way to the United States Supreme Court. Lloyd Gaines went to court to be admitted to the University of Missouri Law School and, rather than do that, the state created the Lincoln University School of Law in St. Louis as an alternative. Justice Thurgood Marshall referred to the Gaines case as the most important case leading to Brown vs. Board of Education. Lloyd Gaines disappeared before the "separate" school was established.

Portrait of Lucile Bluford, Missouri Commission for Human Rights. Before she joined the Commission, Bluford was the plaintiff in a landmark 1941 court case State ex rel. Bluford v. S.W. Canada, Registrar of the University of Missouri. Bluford sued after she was admitted into the University's prestigious School of Journalism, but wasn't allowed to register for classes when administrators learned she was African American. Appeals took the matter all the way to the Supreme Court of Missouri, which ultimately issued an opinion requiring the University to allow Ms. Bluford to register. Rather than doing so, however, the administrators temporarily disbanded the entire School of Journalism, claiming that it couldn't function properly with many of its students and faculty serving in World War II. They also stated that Bluford could instead register at Lincoln University in Jefferson City - a historically Black institution - under the separate but equal rule. Lincoln's School of Journalism opened in July 1941, two months after the Supreme Court ruling. (Courtesy of Missouri State Archives SOS Publications Portrait Collection, 1965-1966)

Other Black lawyers graduated from there, including Margaret Bush Wilson, who was a national leader in the NAACP during the continued struggle for freedom.

Lucile Bluford was denied admission to the University of Missouri Journalism School on the basis of race, but she went on to serve as editor and publisher of the Kansas City Call, one of America's leading Black-owned newspapers, for decades.

As America continues striving toward a more perfect Union, Missouri's civil rights leaders have been, and will continue to be, a powerful force for change. Their legacy is one of courage and determination that will inspire current and future generations to carry on their important work.

As Missouri enters its third century as a state, all the factors that have contributed to its success are growing, as are the challenges. Our history has always included people who were ready to seize the future. Missouri was where people created the Santa Fe Trail, and it was the launching point for the Oregon Trail and the Pony Express.

That spirit of adventure continues today, but it must be encouraged and refined. Our state was involved with commerce, national defense and social change in the 20th century. In this century, health research, agriculture and food research and innovation, our growing geospatial opportunities, along with opportunities in technology, advanced manufacturing, and communications are among the things that can move Missouri to an even better future. Happy 200th Birthday to the State of Missouri.

The first Pony Express ride, begun April 3, 1860, took 10 days. Traveling 2,000 miles from St. Joseph, MO to Sacramento, CA, riders crossed desert, mountains and Native American territory faster than any competitor. It provided a crucial link at a time when no rail or telegraph lines went that far west. This statue commemorates the Pony Express's starting point in St. Joseph, MO. ## THE GREAT SEAL OF MISSOURI

The Great Seal was designed by Judge Robert William Wells and adopted by the Missouri General Assembly on Jan. 11, 1822. The center of the state seal is composed of two parts. On the right is the United States coat-of-arms containing the bald eagle. In its claws are arrows and olive branches, signifying that the power of war and peace lies with the U.S. federal government. On the left side of the shield, the state side, are a grizzly bear and a silver crescent moon. The crescent symbolizes Missouri at the time of the state seal's creation, a state of small population and wealth which would increase like the new or crescent moon; it also symbolizes the "second son," meaning Missouri was the second state formed out of the Louisiana Territory.

This shield is encircled by a belt inscribed with the motto, "United we stand, divided we fall," which indicates Missouri's advantage as a member of the United States. The two grizzlies on either side of the shield symbolize the state's strength and its citizens' bravery. The bears stand atop a scroll bearing the state motto, "Salus Populi Suprema Lex Esto," which means, "The welfare of the people shall be the supreme law." Below this scroll are the Roman numerals for 1820, the year Missouri began its functions as a state.

The helmet above the shield represents state sovereignty, and the large star atop the helmet surrounded by 23 smaller stars signifies Missouri's status as the 24th state. The cloud around the large star indicates the problems Missouri had in becoming a state. The whole state seal is enclosed by a scroll bearing the words, "The Great Seal of the State of Missouri." (RSMo 10.060)

THE STATE FLAG

Nearly 100 years after achieving statehood, Missouri adopted an official flag on March 22, 1913. The flag was designed by the late Mrs. Marie Elizabeth Watkins Oliver, wife of former State Senator R.B. Oliver. The Oliver flag embraced national pride, and at the same time represented the characteristics of Missouri and its people.

The three large stripes are symbolic of the people of the state—the blue stripe represented vigilance, permanency and justice, the red represented valor, and the white stripe symbolized purity. The Missouri coat-of-arms appears in the center of the flag, signifying both Missouri's independence as a state, and its place as a part of the whole United States. Having the coat-of-arms in the center of the national colors represents Missouri, as it is—the geographical center of the nation. By mingling the state coat-of-arms with the national colors of red, white and blue, the flag signified the harmony existing between the two. Twenty-four stars surrounded the coat-of-arms, representative of Missouri's position as the 24th state admitted to the Union. (RSMo 10.020)

MISSOURI DAY

On March 22, 1915, the 48th General Assembly set aside the first Monday in October each year as "Missouri Day," due to the efforts of Mrs. Anna Brosius Korn, a native Missourian. In 1969, the 75th General Assembly changed the date to the third Wednesday in October. Missouri Day is a time for schools to honor the state and for the people of the state to celebrate the achievements of all Missourians. (RSMo 9.040)

THE STATE FLORAL EMBLEM

On March 16, 1923, a bill was signed naming the white hawthorn blossom the official state floral emblem of Missouri. Known as the “red haw” or “white haw,” the hawthorn (Crataegus) is a member of the great rose family. The hawthorn blossoms have greenish-yellow centers and form in white clusters. More than 75 species of the hawthorn grow in Missouri, particularly in the Ozarks. (RSMo 10.030)

THE STATE BIRD

On March 30, 1927, the native bluebird (Sialia sialis) became the official state bird of Missouri. The bluebird, considered a symbol of happiness, is usually 6½ to 7 inches long. While its upper parts are covered with light blue plumage, its breast is cinnamon red, turning rust-colored in the fall. The bluebird is common in Missouri from early spring until late November. (RSMo 10.010)

THE STATE SONG

The “Missouri Waltz” became the state song under an act adopted by the General Assembly on June 30, 1949. The song came from a melody by John V. Eppel and was arranged by Frederic Knight Logan, using lyrics written by J.R. Shannon. First published in 1914, the song did not sell well and was considered a failure. By 1939, the song had gained popularity and six million copies had been sold. Sales increased substantially after Missourian Harry S Truman became president. (RSMo 10.050)

THE STATE TREE

On June 20, 1955, the flowering dogwood (Cornus florida L.) became Missouri's official tree. The tree is small in size, rarely growing over 40 feet in height or 18 inches in diameter. The dogwood sprouts tiny greenish-yellow flowers in clusters, with each flower surrounded by four white petals. The paired, oval leaves are olive green above and covered with silvery hairs underneath. In the fall, the upper part of the leaves turn scarlet or orange and bright red fruits grow on the tree. (RSMo 10.040)

THE STATE MINERAL

On July 21, 1967, the mineral galena was adopted as the official mineral of Missouri. Galena is the most important ore of lead and is also a major source of silver. The recognition of this mineral by the state legislature was to emphasize Missouri's status as the nation's top producer of lead. Galena is dark gray in color and breaks into small cubes. Mining of galena has flourished in the Joplin-Granby area of southwest Missouri, and rich deposits have been located in such places as Crawford, Washington, Iron and Reynolds counties. (RSMo 10.047)

THE STATE ROCK

Mozarkite was adopted as the official state rock on July 21, 1967, by the 74th General Assembly. An attractive rock, mozarkite appears in a variety of colors, most predominantly green, red or purple. The rock's beauty is enhanced by cutting and polishing into ornamental shapes for jewelry. Mozarkite is most commonly found in Benton County. (RSMo 10.045)

THE STATE INSECT

On July 3, 1985, the honeybee was designated as Missouri's state insect. The honeybee, (Apis mellifera) yellow or orange and black in color, is a social insect which collects nectar and pollen from flower blossoms in order to produce honey. The honeybee is common to Missouri and is cultivated by beekeepers for honey production. (RSMo 10.070)

THE STATE MUSICAL INSTRUMENT

The fiddle became the state's official musical instrument on July 17, 1987. Brought to Missouri in the late 1700s by fur traders and settlers, the fiddle quickly became popular. The instrument was adaptable to many forms of music, could be played without extensive formal training and was light and easy to carry. For generations, the local fiddle player was the sole source of entertainment in many communities and held a position of great respect in the region. (RSMo 10.080)

THE STATE FOSSIL

The crinoid became the state's official fossil on June 16, 1989, after a group of Lee's Summit school students worked through the legislative process to promote it as a state symbol. The crinoid (Delocrinus missouriensis) is a mineralization of an animal which, because of its plant-like appearance, was called the "sea lily." Related to the starfish, the crinoid lived in the ocean which covered Missouri more than 250 million years ago. (RSMo 10.090)

THE STATE TREE NUT

The nut produced by the black walnut tree (Juglans nigra), known as the eastern black walnut, became the state tree nut on July 9, 1990. The nut has a variety of uses. The meat is used in ice cream, baked goods and candies. The shell provides the soft grit abrasive used in metal cleaning and polishing, and oil well drilling. It is also used in paint products and as a filler in dynamite. (RSMo 10.100)

THE STATE ANIMAL

On May 31, 1995, the Missouri mule was designated as the official state animal. The mule is a hybrid, the offspring of a mare (female horse) and a jack (male donkey). After its introduction to the state in the 1820s, the mule quickly became popular with farmers and settlers because of its hardy nature. Missouri mules pulled pioneer wagons to the Wild West during the 19th century and played a crucial role in moving troops and supplies in World Wars I and II. For decades, Missouri was the nation's premier mule producer. (RSMo 10.110)

THE STATE AMERICAN FOLK DANCE

The square dance was adopted as Missouri's official American folk dance on May 31, 1995. Square dances are derived from folk and courtship dances brought to the United States by European immigrants. Lively music and callers are hallmarks of square dancing. The caller directs the dancers by singing the names of figures and steps to be performed. (RSMo 10.120)

THE STATE AQUATIC ANIMAL

The paddlefish (Polyodon spathula) became Missouri's official aquatic animal on May 23, 1997. Only three rivers in Missouri support substantial populations of the paddlefish: the Mississippi, Missouri and the Osage. They are also present in some of the state's larger lakes. The paddlefish is primitive, with a cartilage skeleton, rather than bone. They commonly exceed five feet in length and weights of 60 pounds; 20-year-olds are common, and some live 30 years or more. (RSMo 10.130)

THE STATE FISH

On May 23, 1997, the channel catfish became the official fish of Missouri. The channel catfish (Ictalurus punctatus) is slender, with a deeply forked tail. Young have spots that disappear with age. The catfish does not rely on sight to find its food; instead, it uses cat-like whiskers to assist in the hunt. The channel cat is the most abundant large catfish in Missouri streams. Its diet includes animal and plant material. Adults are normally 12 to 32 inches long and weigh from a half-pound to 15 pounds. (RSMo 10.135)

THE STATE HORSE

On June 4, 2002, the Missouri Fox Trotter became Missouri's official state horse. Missouri fox trotters were developed in the rugged Ozark hills of Missouri during the early 19th century. Bloodlines can be traced from early settlers to Missouri from the neighboring states of Kentucky, Illinois, Tennessee and Arkansas. The distinguishing characteristic of the fox trotter is its rhythmic gait, in which the horse walks with the front feet and trots with the hind feet. This gait gives the rider a smooth, gentle ride. (RSMo 10.140)

THE STATE GRAPE

On July 11, 2003, the Norton/Cynthiana grape (Vitis aestivalis ‘Norton’) was adopted as the official state grape. This adaptable, self-pollinating variety has been cultivated since the 1830s and is likely North America’s oldest grape variety still commercially grown. Norton/Cynthiana has long been prized by Missouri vintners for its hardy growth habit and intense flavor characteristics, which produce lush, dry premium red wines of world-class quality and distinction. (RSMo 10.160)

THE PURPLE MARTIN CAPITAL

The City of Adrian, located in Bates County, was declared the purple martin capital of the state of Missouri on Aug. 28, 2003. Purple martins are largely dependent on humans to build and maintain their housing and are happy in large bird houses or in gourds. These creatures are partial to living near water, in open parts of a yard, or along rural roadsides. Purple martins are popular among bird lovers because of their melodic singing and aerial feats. (RSMo 10.141)

THE STATE DINOSAUR

Hypsibema missouriense is a type of dinosaur called a Hadrosaur or “duck billed” dinosaur. It was an herbivore with jaws that contained more than 1,000 teeth. Hypsibema had evolved specialized teeth to handle the tough, fibrous vegetation of the time. Hypsibema lived in Missouri during the Late Cretaceous Period. Hypsibema was first discovered in 1942 by Dan Stewart, near the town of Glen Allen, Missouri, and became the state’s official dinosaur on July 9, 2004. (RSMo 10.095)

THE STATE AMPHIBIAN

On June 5, 2005, the American Bullfrog (Rana catesbeiana) became the official state amphibian. The bullfrog is the largest frog native to Missouri and is found in every county. Most Missourians are familiar with the deep, resonant “jug-of-rum” call, which is typically heard on warm, rainy nights between mid-May and early July. The idea for the bullfrog designation came from a fourth grade class at Chinn Elementary School in Kansas City. (RSMo 10.170)

THE STATE GAME BIRD

The bobwhite quail (Colinus virginianus), also known as the northern bobwhite, became the official state game bird on July 13, 2007. The northern bobwhite is found throughout Missouri in a variety of habitats. In the fall and winter, northern bobwhites form loose social groups better known as a covey. A covey will generally contain 10 to 12 quail, but can have as many as 20 or 30 birds. The familiar two- or three-note “bobwhite” whistle is made by males in the spring and summer to attract females. (RSMo 10.012).

THE STATE INVERTEBRATE

On June 21, 2007, the crayfish (also known as crawfish and crawdad) became the official state invertebrate. Crayfish are an important food source for Missouri fishes. Missouri supports more than 30 species of crayfish (including seven species that occur nowhere else in the world). Crayfish are found in every county of the state and contribute to our unique biodiversity and conservation heritage. The nomination of crayfish for state invertebrate came from Mrs. Janna Elfrink’s elementary school class in Reeds Spring, Missouri. (RSMo 10.125)

THE STATE REPTILE

On June 21, 2007, the three-toed box turtle (Terrapene carolina triunguis) became the official state reptile. Most Missourians are familiar with this land-dwelling turtle. Three-toed box turtles, as their name implies, typically have three hind toes. The hinged bottom shell allows the turtle to retreat inside as if enclosed in a box. Males have red eyes and females have brown eyes. (RSMo 10.175).

THE STATE GRASS

Big bluestem (Andropogon gerardii) was designated as Missouri's stategrass on June 11, 2007, as a result of efforts by the fourth-grade class at Truman Elementary School in Rolla. Big bluestem is native to Missouri and occurs throughout the state, with the exception of a few southeastern-most counties. It is a major component of Missouri's tallgrass prairies where it impressed the first explorers by sometimes growing tall enough to hide a person on horseback. The name bluestem comes from the bluish-green color of the leaves and stems that turn an attractive reddish-copper color in autumn. (RSMo 10.150).

THE STATE DESSERT

The ice cream cone became the state of Missouri's official dessert on Aug. 28, 2008. The 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis was the birthplace of the treat and has become a staple at many community events across the state, such as the State Fair. The University of Missouri–Columbia has played a large role in the development of ice cream products for over a century. Missouri ranks among the top five states in ice cream production. (RSMo 10.180).

THE STATE SYMBOL FOR CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION

The blue ribbon became the state of Missouri's official symbol for child abuse prevention on Aug. 28, 2012. It is a symbol of efforts to increase awareness of the prevalence and warning signs of child abuse and the prevention methods and measures available to reduce the incidence of child abuse in Missouri. (RSMo 10.185).

THE STATE EXERCISE

The jumping jack exercise was invented by Missouri-born Army General John J. "Black Jack" Pershing as a training drill for cadets when he taught at West Point in the late 1800s. The idea for the jumping jack designation came from students at Pershing Elementary School in St. Joseph. (RSMo 10.115)

THE HISTORICAL DOG

On Aug. 28, 2017, Old Drum was designated the historical dog of Missouri. Old Drum was a black and tan hunting hound whose shooting death became the subject of an 1870 Missouri Supreme Court case. The closing arguments for the plaintiff, delivered by attorney George Graham Vest, brought tears to the eyes of jurors and became famously-known as the Eulogy of the Dog. Although the words of the speech were not written down until sometime after the trial, it became renowned for its appeal to dog lovers in its praise of the dog as a man's "best friend." Both Old Drum and the Eulogy of the Dog are memorialized with a statue and plaque at the Johnson County courthouse in Warrensburg, Missouri. (RSMo 10.112)

THE WONDER DOG

On Aug. 28, 2017, "Jim the Wonder Dog" was designated as Missouri's wonder dog. A Llewellyn Setter, born in 1925, Jim first gained notoriety for his prowess as a hunting dog. He tracked over 5,000 birds, a total no other dog had ever achieved, earning him the Outdoor Life Magazine designation of "The Hunting Dog of the Country." Eventually Jim began to exhibit a wide range of other talents not typically associated with dogs. He could pick a car on the street by license number, recognize unknown people in a crowd and carry out instructions, oral or written, given to him in any foreign language, Morse Code or shorthand. Jim predicted seven Kentucky Derby winners and was known for accurately determining the gender of unborn babies. He performed before the Missouri Legislature and was featured in Field and Stream, The Kansas City Star, Missouri Ruralist and Ripley's Believe It or Not. Jim is buried in Marshall, Missouri's Ridge Park Cemetery. His grave is the most visited spot in the cemetery. (RSMo 10.113)

THE STATE FRUIT TREE

The Pawpaw tree (Asimina triloba) was designated as Missouri's official state fruit tree on Aug. 28, 2019. The pawpaw tree is a small, deciduous tree, typically growing in forest understorey. Pawpaws can grow to a height of 11 feet, although taller ones have been measured. They have the distinction of producing the largest edible fruit that is also native to the U.S. The richly-colored maroon flowers ripen into a green, then yellow or brown fruit, 2-6 inches in length and 1-3 inches wide. The flesh of the pawpaw fruit is pale yellow, with a custard-like texture and large black seeds. The flavor is often compared to that of banana, mango or kiwi. Pawpaw fruit is also known regionally, by colloquial names such as "Missouri banana," "Ozark banana" and "hillbilly mango." (RSMo 10.105)

THE OFFICIAL ENDANGERED SPECIES

On Aug. 28, 2019, the Hellbender Salamander (Cryptobranchus alleganiensis) was designated as Missouri's official endangered species. It is also known as the "snot otter" or "lasagna lizard," and is an aquatic salamander. There are two subspecies, the Ozark and the Eastern. The Hellbender can live up to 30 years and grow up to two feet long. They breathe through their skin and are nocturnal foragers. Missouri is the only place to have both subspecies of the Hellbender and both are listed as endangered. The salamander is important due to its role as an indicator of overall stream health. The Ron Goellner Center for Hellbender Conservation's successful breeding program at the St. Louis Zoo currently has released over 5,000 back into the wild. Westminster College student Cameron Gehlert submitted the suggestion. (RSMo 10.200)

THE STATE TARTAN

The "Show-Me Tartan" was designated as Missouri's official tartan on Aug. 28, 2019. Missouri is one of 29 states to adopt an official tartan, and the design is registered with the Scottish Tartan Authority. The design, a criss-crossing line pattern of blue, brown and silver on a field of dark blue and green, was inspired by four of Missouri's state symbols; the Eastern Bluebird, the Missouri mule, and the crescent moon and bear present on the Great Seal. The dark green and blue are symbolic of Missouri's lands, waters and the Ozark Mountains. The Eastern Bluebird is symbolized by stripes of light blue, white and red. A band of brown represents the Missouri mule. A narrow band of light blue reflects the crescent moon symbol of the Seal, and another brown band represents the grizzly bear of the Seal. ## Governor

Appointed June 1, 2018

Elected November 3, 2020

Term expires January 2025

MICHAEL L. PARSON (Republican) was sworn in as Missouri's 57th governor on June 1, 2018, by Missouri Supreme Court Judge Mary R. Russell. He was elected in November 2020 and sworn into a full term by Judge Sarah A. Castle at the 2021 Bicentennial Inauguration.

Parson came into the role of governor with a lifelong commitment to serving others and more than 30 years of experience in public service.

He previously served as the 47th lieutenant governor of Missouri from 2017–2018. He was elected lieutenant governor after claiming victory in 110 of Missouri's 114 counties and receiving the most votes of any lieutenant governor in Missouri history.

Governor Parson also served six years in the U.S. Army and as the sheriff of Polk County from 1993–2005. He served in the Missouri House of Representatives from 2005–2011 and in the Missouri Senate from 2011–2017.

As a member of Missouri's General Assembly, Parson sponsored and co-sponsored several landmark pieces of legislation, including Missouri's Castle Doctrine, which strengthened 2nd Amendment rights, and the Missouri Farming Rights Amendment, a piece of legislation that changed the Missouri Constitution to guarantee all Missourians the right to farm and ranch.

From day one, workforce development and infrastructure have been major priorities for Governor Parson. He and his administration have achieved historic bipartisan progress on both issues through programs like Missouri One Start, Fast Track, MoExcels and the transportation cost-share program.

The governor's proposal to improve economic and workforce development through a reorganization of state government was overwhelmingly supported by the General Assembly, and 100 of Missouri's poorest bridges were repaired or rehabilitated in just over one year through his Focus on Bridges program. In all, the program will repair or replace 250 bridges throughout the state.

Under Governor Parson's leadership, Missouri has experienced a booming economy with record low unemployment, high wage growth, and billions of dollars in business and infrastructure investments. In 2018, he signed the largest income tax cut in Missouri history, and has continuously worked with the General Assembly to pass fiscally responsible and conservative budgets.

Governor Parson has also led Missouri through several major crises, including historic droughts, flooding, tornadoes, civil unrest and the recent COVID-19 pandemic. He and his administration have worked nonstop to take a balanced approach, fight the virus and keep Missourians as safe as possible. Thanks to these efforts, Missouri has outperformed projections for both COVID-19 and the economy, and continues to meet each challenge head on.

Governor Parson and First Lady Teresa live in Bolivar. Together, they have two grown children and six grandchildren. He was raised on a farm in Hickory County and graduated from Wheatland High School in Wheatland, Missouri. He is a small-business owner and a third-generation farmer who currently owns and operates a cow and calf operation near Bolivar.

Qualifications

The chief executive officer of the state of Missouri must be at least 30 years old, a U.S. citizen for at least 15 years and a resident of Missouri for at least 10 years before being elected governor.

The governor is elected to a four-year term during the same year as a presidential election and may seek re-election to a second four-year term. No person may hold the office for more than two terms.

Responsibilities

The governor appoints the members of all boards and commissions, all department heads in state government and fills all vacancies in public offices unless otherwise provided by law. The board members of Missouri's state universities and colleges are appointed by the governor. The governor also selects the members of the Supreme and Appellate Courts of Missouri from names submitted by the Appellate Judicial Commission. The governor appoints members to certain election boards, the Kansas City police board and the Board of Probation and Parole. Most appointments require the advice and consent of the Senate.

The governor addresses the General Assembly on the State of the State and recommends changes or other actions to be taken. A budget is submitted by the governor to the General Assembly within 30 days after the General Assembly convenes. The budget contains the governor's estimates of available state revenues and an itemized plan for proposed expenditures.

All bills passed by both houses of the legislature are submitted to the governor for consideration. The governor must return the legislation to the house of its inception within 15 days after receiving it. The governor may either approve a bill, making it law, or return it to the legislature with objections. When the legislature is adjourned, the governor has 45 days in which to consider a bill.

The governor may object to one or more items or portions of items of an appropriations bill while approving other items or portions of the appropriations bill. Upon signing the appropriations bill, appended to it is a statement of the items or portions of items to which there are objections, and such items or portions will not take effect. The governor may control the rate of expenditure in other areas whenever the actual revenues are less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based.

Additional Duties and Powers

The governor performs many other duties assigned by the constitution, statute or custom. For example, the governor issues writs of election to fill vacancies in either house of the General Assembly. The governor also has the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, but this does not include the power to parole.

In addition to other duties, the governor is a member of a number of boards and commissions, such as the Board of Public Buildings and the State Board of Fund Commissioners.

Moreover, the governor is the conservator of peace throughout Missouri and is commander-in-chief of the state's militia. The militia may be called out to execute laws, suppress threats of danger to the state and prevent and repel invasion.

Missouri's First Lady

As the wife of Missouri's 57th Governor Mike Parson, Teresa Parson brings to her role as first lady the experience of being a mother, grandmother, businesswoman, volunteer and advocate. After working 40 years in the banking industry, Teresa retired to continue serving her community. During her career, she has served on the boards of the 30th Circuit Juvenile Detention Center, A+ Program, Industrial Development Authority, Bolivar Educational Advancement Foundation and Bolivar Chamber of Commerce, and has volunteered for the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life. The first lady currently serves as a board member on the Missouri State Fair Foundation, which is dedicated to cultivating the future of agriculture through preservation and education.

Like her husband, First Lady Parson has a strong commitment to education. She and Governor Parson work with at-risk high schoolers as co-chairs of the board of directors for Jobs for America's Graduates-Missouri, Inc. (JAG-Missouri). Together they highlight the importance of education to the next generation of leaders, as well as financial literacy and money management. The first lady is also a dedicated advocate for special-needs children, making Missourians more aware of the role these children can play in society when given the opportunities.

During her first year as first lady, she responded to a request from the Big Brothers Big Sisters organization and worked with Second Lady Claudia Kehoe to reinstate the Missouri Mentorship Initiative, allowing 300 Missouri state employees to mentor students.

As first lady, Teresa has made the Governor's Mansion, which she calls the People's House, more accessible to the public through a variety of events and special occasions.

TERESA PARSON
First Lady

First Lady Parson is the proud mother of two children and six grandchildren. When in her hometown of Bolivar, where she grew up on a cattle farm with her three brothers, the first lady spends time with her lifelong friends and worships as a member at the First Baptist Church.

Missouri Governor's Mansion

The Missouri Governor's Mansion, which will celebrate its 150th anniversary in 2021, serves as the official residence of Governor Mike Parson and First Lady Teresa Parson. Upon moving into the mansion on June 1, 2018, the First Family made it a priority to bring greater exposure of the "People's House" to all Missourians. This includes hosting new public events at the mansion such as the Parson Family Fall Festival and the Roots and Blossoms Garden Party, as well as first-time events for groups such as Missouri faith leaders and wounded state law enforcement officers and their spouses. The governor and first lady extend an invitation to all Missourians to tour the People's House, which hosts approximately 60,000 visitors each year.

First occupied by Gov. G. Gratz Brown and his family in 1872, this stately three-story building is one of the oldest, most beautifully restored governors' homes in the United States. Built and finished in the Renaissance Revival style, the entry consists of a magnificent portico with four stately pink granite columns. A Victorian atmosphere greets visitors as they enter the great hall with its 17-foot ceilings, a rare freestanding staircase crafted from solid walnut and one of the best collections of period furnishings in the country. Portraits of Missouri's First Ladies are featured throughout the mansion, along with loaned works of art created by world-famous Missourian George Caleb Bingham. Designed by George Ingham Barnett of St. Louis, the mansion is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Since moving into the mansion, Governor and First Lady Parson have introduced unique ways to educate Missouri's children about the People's House, including the creation of Mr. Buzzaround, the Mansion Mascot. Representing the state insect, the honey bee, Mr. Buzzaround plays a key role in a new children's coloring book about the People's House and hosts detailed tours of each room in the mansion on social media.

Lieutenant Governor

Elected November 3, 2020

Term expires January 2025

MIKE KEHOE (Republican) was elected to a fullterm as Missouri's 48th Lt. Gov. on Nov. 3, 2020, after being appointed to the position by Gov. Mike Parson on June 18, 2018.

Lt. Gov. Kehoe was born in St. Louis on Jan. 17, 1962. The youngest of six children, he was raised by a single parent—his mother. At the age of 15, he started washing cars for Dave Sinclair Ford and worked his way into sales management by his early 20s. When he was 25, Kehoe was given an opportunity to lead Osage Industries in Linn. During his time at Osage Industries, he grew the employment from 25 to 60, and expanded product distribution from just two states to all of North America. In 1992, he sold Osage Industries to its employees and purchased the Ford and Lincoln-Mercury franchises in Jefferson City, which he owned and operated as 'Mike Kehoe Ford-Lincoln' until 2011.

In 2005, Lt. Gov. Kehoe was asked by former Gov. Blunt to serve on Missouri's Highway and Transportation Commission, and in 2009 was elected chair. He has also served on the Missouri Auto Dealers Association Board, the Linn State Technical College Board of Regents, the Jefferson City Chamber of Commerce, the Missouri Chamber of Commerce, the USS Missouri (SSN-780) Commissioning Committee, the Central Missouri United Way and the Jefferson City Diocese Jubilee Committee.

Prior to serving as lieutenant governor, he was elected to the Missouri Senate in 2010, re-elected in 2014 and represented the Sixth Senatorial District covering seven mid-Missouri counties: Cole, Gasconade, Maries, Miller, Moniteau, Morgan and Osage. As senator, he served as the assistant majority floor leader for two years and the majority floor leader for three years. In this leadership role, he served as chair of the Senate Rules, Joint Rules, Resolutions and Ethics Committee, vice chair of the Senate Gubernatorial Appointments Committee and a member of the Administration and Agriculture Committees. As senator, he also previously served as the chair of both the Commerce and Transportation committees, as well as a member of the Appropriations and Education committees.

Kehoe is an advocate for the more than 500,000 veterans in Missouri. He also serves as the chief advocate for Missouri's senior citizens. Additional priorities for the Office of Lieutenant Governor are the Buy Missouri Program and the Missouri Arts Council. As a member of the Missouri Tourism Commission, the lieutenant governor champions the industry and its multi-billion dollar impact on the state. The lieutenant governor is a member of several boards and commissions, including the Missouri Development Finance Board, the Missouri Housing Development Commission and the Board of Public Buildings.

Lt. Gov. Kehoe and his wife, Claudia, have called mid-Missouri home for more than 30 years, and are the proud parents of four children. He remains a small businessman at heart, never forgetting the lessons learned at Osage Industries and 'Mike Kehoe Ford-Lincoln'. He continues to dedicate his time to public service as well as his beef cattle production business located on the family farm in Phelps County.

The lieutenant governor has been honored by numerous professional organizations, including Missouri Cattleman's Association, Missouri Association of Electric Cooperatives, Statesman of the Year Award, Mizzou Alumni Association, Time Magazine Quality Dealer Award, Ford's President Award and induction into the Automotive Hall of Fame. Kehoe is a firm believer in, and supporter of, community service and has served as chair of the Jefferson City Chamber of Commerce, and two-time chair of United Way Fund Drive. He remains a strong supporter of numerous youth development activities from Boy Scouts to 4-H.

Missouri State Capitol

State government in Missouri is centered in the state's beautiful domed Capitol, dominating the bluffs of the Missouri River in Jefferson City.

The dome, rising 238 feet above ground level and topped by a bronze statue of Ceres, goddess of agriculture, is the first view of Jefferson City for travelers arriving from the north. The structure is Jefferson City's leading tourist attraction and is a mecca for school groups who arrive by busloads, particularly during General Assembly sessions when they fill the galleries to watch the Senate and House of Representatives in action.

In addition to housing the two legislative bodies, the Capitol provides office space for the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, state auditor and some administrative agencies. The structure is also notable for its architectural features, including its eight 48-foot columns on the south portico and six 48-foot columns on the north side; its 30-foot-wide grand stairway and its bronze front doors, each 13-by-18 feet, among the largest cast since the Roman era.

The Capitol's first floor features the State Museum. Outstanding paintings, pediments and friezes decorate the Capitol interior. Of historical significance is a series of Thomas Hart Benton murals in the House Lounge.

Statuary is a prominent feature of the Capitol grounds. Heroic bronze figures depicting Missouri's two great rivers, the Mississippi and Missouri, and a 13-foot statue of Thomas Jefferson dominate the south entrance. A bronze relief depicting the signing of the Louisiana Purchase by Livingston, Monroe and Marbois and the Fountain of the Centaurs are the most outstanding features on the north grounds.

The present Capitol, completed in 1917 and dedicated in 1924, is the fourth Capitol in Jefferson City. Before the seat of government was moved to Jefferson City, the functions of Missouri territorial government were based in the Mansion House, a hotel in St. Louis, and later at the Missouri Hotel, also in St. Louis. The upper story of a mercantile store in St. Charles was designated as temporary capital of the state in 1821 and remained the seat of government until 1826 when Jefferson City became the permanent capital city. The first Capitol in Jefferson City was located on land now occupied by the Governor's Mansion. It burned in 1837, apparently after some hot coals fell out of one of its fireplaces. A second structure, completed in 1840 and expanded in 1887–88 burned when the dome was struck by lightning on Feb. 5, 1911. A temporary Capitol made of lathe and stucco was erected in an area to the east of the present building and was used from 1912 to 1917.

The present Capitol was constructed for $4,215,000, including site and furnishings. It is five stories high, 437 feet long, 300 feet wide in the center and 200 feet wide in the wings. The dome is 238 feet high and the height of the wings is 88 feet. It includes over 650,000 square feet of floor space.

John R. Ashcroft

Secretary of State

Elected November 8, 2016
Term expires January 2025

JOHN R. ASHCROFT (Republican) was sworn in as Missouri's 40th secretary of state in January 2017, and again in 2021. Each year Secretary Ashcroft makes it a priority to visit all 114 counties in the state to thank Missourians for their hard work and dedication. "From county officials to students, business owners to farmers, Missouri is a great place to live, work and raise a family. It's a privilege to represent the hard-working people of our state."

Prior to being elected, he worked as an engineer, professor and attorney. Secretary Ashcroft was born, raised and educated in Missouri. He and his wife, Katie, have three sons and one daughter.

Ashcroft attended Missouri University of Science and Technology (Rolla) where he earned degrees in engineering management. After graduating he moved to West Plains, Missouri, to work for a defense-based engineering company where he managed an outstanding team of individuals who worked to develop instruments used in vehicles for the Air Force.

In 2000, Ashcroft moved to St. Louis and began teaching engineering and technology courses for Saint Louis Community College. Many of his former students carried their enhanced engineering capacities into their jobs in St. Louis' auto manufacturing industry.

After a decade devoted to engineering, Ashcroft sought to bring his technical experience into the practice of law. He graduated from St. Louis University Law School in 2008 and went to work for a legal firm in their Intellectual Property division. Later, he went on to work with his father in the Ashcroft Law Firm, specializing in helping businesses comply with the impact of government regulations. He practiced law for eight years in St. Louis County, counseling clients on legal issues ranging from regulatory compliance to patent prosecution and election law.

As secretary of state, Ashcroft oversees multiple divisions including Administrative Rules, Business Services, Securities, State Archives, Wolfner Library, the State Library and Elections.

As the state's chief election officer, the secretary oversees federal and state elections, provides guidance to local election authorities and maintains and secures the Missouri Centralized Voter Registration system. As election integrity has always been a top priority, Ashcroft spearheaded the first National Election Security Summit held in St. Louis in 2018.

The Business Services Division of the secretary of state's office answers over 2,000 phone calls every week, and maintains more than 1.2 million business registrations. Ashcroft has helped streamline this registration process, making it easier and more convenient for entrepreneurs. The division also handles notaries and commissions, UCC and the Safe at Home address confidentiality program.

Through his Securities Division, Ashcroft created the Vulnerable Citizens Services Unit to help protect seniors and other at-risk populations from investment fraud.

During his tenure, Secretary Ashcroft has worked closely with members of the state legislature to secure resources vital to better serve Missouri, including library funding. Over the last five years, Ashcroft was able to administer over $9 million in grant funding to help expand library access and improve resources. He believes funding public libraries is one of the most efficient means to increase learning opportunities for all Missourians. In 2021, Ashcroft announced a new program - the first in the nation - to give adults the opportunity to earn a high school diploma through their local library.

As well, Ashcroft is a Hunt-Kean fellow and initiated the first Hunt Education Summit to be held in Missouri. This bipartisan meeting, now held each year, emphasizes the need for education reform. Over one-quarter of Missouri's legislators participated in the 2021 summit.

"By working through the divisions within my office; visiting schools, farms, businesses; promoting our products and our people - I am excited about the future of this great state and truly humbled to serve the people of Missouri. Thank you."

At Secretary of State Jay Ashcroft's direction, the office has focused on holding government more accountable, embracing common sense solutions, modernizing technology in the business services and elections divisions and being good stewards of taxpayers' dollars.

The creation of the new Vulnerable Citizens Services Unit focuses on preventing and reducing investor harm, and enhancing awareness about resources and remedies available to vulnerable citizens of all ages.

Secretary Ashcroft has also worked closely with members of the state legislature to secure resources vital for library access. The State Library helps enhance the gateway to learning for all Missourians by distributing grants to libraries across the state.

Division. The secretary appoints the commissioner of securities, who administers these laws and oversees the division, which focuses on investor protection and safeguarding Missouri investors from fraud through enforcement, with an emphasis on restitution for investors.

The division is organized into three sections: Investor Education, Registration and Enforcement. The division seeks to serve all Missourians, from investors to investment professionals.

The Investor Education Section creates and promotes initiatives designed to educate and assist investors. This includes a website, accessible at www.missouriprotectsinvestors.com, an Investor Protection Hotline for investors to report complaints or make inquiries and the Vulnerable Citizens Services Unit (VCSU) hotline. The VCSU is designed to protect Missouri's most vulnerable citizens from financial exploitation, including seniors, disabled investors and others who may be at greater risk of financial exploitation. The VCSU conducts investigations and promotes awareness among financial professionals, medical professionals and caregivers through public outreach and investor education.

The Registration Section reviews proposed securities offerings to ensure Missouri registrations are "fair, just and equitable." The office receives filings of federally covered securities, reviews requests for exemptions from registration requirements and assists issuers seeking to raise capital in compliance with the law. This section also regulates the registration of individuals and firms, performs routine and for-cause inspections and pre-registration exams of the offices of broker-dealers and investment advisers. Prior to granting each registration, an application review process is conducted to determine if applicants are sufficiently qualified to conduct securities business.

The Enforcement Section investigates and resolves complaints from Missouri investors. Each year the office receives numerous investor complaints which may result in the initiation of investigations, many of which result in cease and desist orders, consent orders, censures, investor restitution, civil penalties or criminal prosecutions. The attorneys and investigators in this section pursue millions of dollars in penalties, payments and restitution each year, and are leaders in national enforcement actions and task forces.

Elections Division

The Elections Division oversees all state elections for candidates, various judges and statewide ballot issues. Candidates for the six constitutional state offices, U.S. Congress, the General Assembly and certain judges file for election with the secretary of state. Statewide ballots for primary, general and certain special elections are also prepared by the secretary of state, and certified copies of those ballots are sent to local election officials. It is the responsibility of the office to canvass, certify and publish state election results.

CHRISSY PETERS
 Senior Election Director

The secretary of state provides assistance to local election authorities (county clerks or election boards) in several ways. This includes maintaining annual election deadline calendars, the secretary of state's website and various training materials and workshops. The secretary of state also promulgates rules governing elections and publishes the Missouri Election Laws for use by the local election authorities. The secretary of state works together with state and local officials, schools and civic organizations to provide materials to support voter registration, civic responsibility and education. This collaboration also extends to oversight of the statewide poll worker recruitment initiative.

The office also assists military and overseas voters by facilitating their voter registration and absentee ballot request process. The Missouri Military and Overseas Portal, created and maintained by the secretary of state's office, is available online for these eligible voters.

The secretary of state also certifies statewide ballot measures proposed by the General Assembly or through the initiative and referendum petition process, including the oversight of signature verification. Before an initiative petition can be circulated, the petition and its summary statement must be approved by the secretary of state and the state attorney general. The secretary of state must certify the summary statement along with the state auditor's fiscal note statement. The secretary of state is responsible for verifying the number of signatures collected for each initiative. A ballot issue's full text is published in newspapers around the state, printed for display at polling places and is also available on the secretary of state's website. The secretary of state also oversees the signature verification process for the formation of new political parties and the nomination of independent candidates for offices that file with the secretary of state.

The division is responsible for coordinating Missouri's compliance with federal election law, including the Help America Vote Act of 2002, which requires increased training for election officials, poll workers and voters, at least one accessible voting system per polling place for voters with disabilities and the creation of a statewide voter registration list.

The secretary of state's office upholds the fairness and security of all elections. The Elections Integrity Unit investigates concerns from voters and local election authorities. The secretary of state is responsible for the overall integrity of the election process and ensuring every registered Missourian's vote counts.

Reference Services Manager

The Missouri State Archives is one of the most accessed state repositories in the nation and continues to be recognized by historical and genealogical organizations for its service to the researcher community. While thousands visit or write each year, the majority now use the Archives' website as their preferred research method.

In recent years, the Missouri State Archives has become involved in a number of important initiatives including the centennial commemoration of the 19th Amendment and the state bicentennial. The Archives also continues to work with the Supreme Court of Missouri Historical Society to preserve and improve access to historic Supreme Court case files and with the State Library to develop the Missouri Digital Heritage website, an online portal where the public can access digital collections from institutions across the state.

The Archives is devoted to educating the public about its holdings. Tours and programs are provided for school and civic groups across the state while Archives Alive!, a history based theatrical performance, brings history to life in Jefferson City each spring for thousands of Missouri third- and fourth-grade students. The Friends of the Missouri State Archives support the Archives by underwriting many of the costs associated with these and other outreach activities. The Archives also hosts practicum students and interns from numerous colleges and universities and sponsors the Central Missouri Region National History Day competition.

Volunteers are an important MSA resource. They provide invaluable support to staff, helping with records processing projects across the state, as well as assisting with reference services and tours in Jefferson City. More novel is the Archives' innovative e-Volunteer program in which participants provide indexing and transcription services from their home computers. Completed projects are placed online, providing greater access to collections.

Records Management

www.sos.mo.gov/records/recmgmt

Records Management provides state agencies with the necessary instruments to effectively manage information and records in order to promote the efficiency and continuity of government, document the rights of Missouri citizens and preserve the state's heritage. The division includes three sections: Records Analysis, Imaging Services and the State Records Center.

Records Analysis assist state agencies in identifying and effectively managing their official records. Analysts consult with agency officials on retention schedules and advise agencies on cost and technical matters related to microfilm, digital imaging and low-cost storage of inactive and semi-active records.

Imaging Services provides micrographic and digital imaging services to state agencies and local governments. Agencies can reduce the volume of, improve access to and ensure archival preservation for their long-term and significant records by utilizing these services.

The State Records Center provides state agencies with an economical storage solution for inactive records. The transfer of inactive files to the records center allows agencies to free up office space and equipment, saving Missouri taxpayers millions of dollars over the life of the records.

Local Records works to improve long-term management of local government records by advising, educating and encouraging records custodians in the use of sound records management and archival practices. Local Records archivists provide expertise to local government officials on the retention of records and records preservation projects.

Through Local Records, documents of great historical value are identified and preserved, revealing long-lost local histories and enhancing the collection of the Missouri State Archives. Consultations, records inventories and preservation projects conducted by division staff make local public records more accessible. More than 3,500 governmental entities, including all offices in county, municipal and local district government offices, rely on Local Records for assistance in managing records. Field archivists are located around the state to assist this effort.

Local Records also houses the state document conservation lab, where staff provide advice to local government offices on all aspects of record care, preservation and disaster recovery. Conservation treatments are performed on the state's most historically significant and fragile documents.

Administrative Rules

www.sos.mo.gov/adrules

Since 1976, the Administrative Rules division has been charged by state law with setting uniform standards, procedures and guidelines for the preparation and publishing of rules in the Missouri Register and the Missouri Code of State Regulations. The Administrative Rules Division initially publishes rulemakings proposed by state agencies in the Missouri Register. The rulemakings are published to provide public notice and allow agencies to receive comments and revise the proposed rulemakings based on comments. Agencies then file final versions of orders of rule-making with the division for final publication in the Missouri Register and subsequently in the Missouri Code of State Regulations. The division provides a user's guide for the proper preparation and filing of agency rules entitled Missouri State Rulemaking Manual, which is available on the secretary of state's website.

The Administrative Rules division also publishes emergency rules in the Missouri Register. An agency may file an emergency rule if the agency finds an immediate danger to public health, safety, or welfare or if the emergency rule is necessary to preserve a compelling governmental interest that requires an early effective date, prior to that allowed by the traditional rule-making process. An emergency rule is only in effect for a limited period of time and normally has a corresponding proposed rulemaking that allows for public notice and comment. Once an emergency rule is approved and processed, it may be viewed on the secretary of state's website under the Emergency Rules section until it is published in the Missouri Register.

CURTIS TREAT
Administrative Rules

The Missouri Register is published twice a month, and updates to the 16-volume Missouri Code of State Regulations are published once a month. Both the Missouri Register and Missouri Code of State Regulations are available on the secretary of state's website. Additionally, Missourians who are interested in particular rules may sign up on the secretary of state's website for email notification of rule filings by rule number or subject matter.

State Auditor

Appointed April 27, 2015

Elected November 2, 2018

Term expires 2023

NICOLE GALLOWAY (Democrat) is the 38th State Auditor of Missouri. She is a certified public accountant and certified fraud examiner. She took the oath of office on April 27, 2015, and was elected to a second term in 2018.

Auditor Galloway believes government's purpose is to serve the citizens it represents. In her role as state auditor, she serves as the citizens' advocate, making sure government at all levels is efficient, effective and transparent. She brings her expertise to work for Missourians each day to be a strong, independent watchdog, holding government accountable. Her efforts help government at every level improve operations, spanning from statewide offices to county commissions to school districts.

Since taking office, Galloway has placed an emphasis on identifying fraud in government and holding those responsible accountable. Her audits have identified more than $380 million in government waste, fraud, abuse and mismanagement. The office has a demonstrated history of working with local, state and federal law enforcement to pursue justice for taxpayers. As a result of her audits, more than 79 criminal counts have been filed against officials who betrayed the public's trust. As the first act of her second term in office, Auditor Galloway reaffirmed this fight against public corruption, and announced increased resources towards investigations of fraud and abuse in government in a newly created Public Corruption and Fraud Division (PCFD) within the state auditor's office. By focusing additional resources on fighting public corruption through the PCFD, the auditor's office can more effectively address whistleblower complaints regarding abuse in local government.

Time and again, Auditor Galloway has demonstrated that audits get results. Her reports have resulted in changes to government operations, improved processes and the return of stolen taxpayer funds. Examples include uncovering the reason for delayed tax refunds, bringing an end to illegal bonus payments funded by public dollars, and exposing a multi-million dollar billing scheme preying on rural hospitals. Her audit recommendations have also resulted in the passage of bipartisan legislation to increase government accountability, protect privacy and safeguard taxpayer dollars. In total, nine of the auditor's priorities have been passed by lawmakers, with eight of the bills becoming law.

The office is focused on bringing private-sector best practices to state government. This includes initiatives within the State Auditor's Office, and Auditor Galloway is committed to running a fiscally conservative office on behalf of taxpayers. During her time as auditor, she has reduced travel expenses and decreased office expenditures while ensuring that auditors have the tools they need to be successful. She continues to return more of her office's budget back to taxpayers each year.

Prior to becoming state auditor, Galloway served as treasurer of Boone County, where she was responsible for debt issuance, and protected the county's top-tier bond rating, putting that financial strength to use to consolidate debt and save taxpayers more than $4.6 million. She also worked in the private sector as a forensic auditor with a focus on identifying corporate fraud and waste.

She has a Master of Business Administration from the University of Missouri and degrees in Applied Mathematics and Economics from Missouri University of Science and Technology in Rolla. Auditor Galloway was raised in the St. Louis region. She now lives in Columbia with her husband, Jon, and sons, William, Benjamin and Joseph.

The office is charged with auditing the state's expenditure of state and federal dollars, and may also audit courts, school districts, certain counties, municipalities and other taxing or political subdivisions.

The office reviews property tax rates set by local political subdivisions and drafts fiscal notes and fiscal note summaries for initiative petitions. The office registers general obligation bonds issued by political subdivisions of the state to ensure compliance with state law.

The office maintains a Whistleblower Hotline for citizens to report suspected waste, fraud or abuse at all levels of government. Individuals may report information to the State Auditor's Whistleblower Hotline by calling (800) 347-8597, by emailing moaudit@auditor.mo.gov, or by using the online submission form at auditor.mo.gov/hotline. Findings and recommendations in the management advisory report are reviewed with the auditee at an exit conference prior to the release of the audit so responses from the auditee may be included in the final report. Audit reports are released publicly and available online.

Whistleblower Hotline

The state auditor may take immediate action when there is evidence of fraud; violation of state or federal law, rule or regulation; significant mismanagement or waste of public resources; or significant risk of loss of confidence by the public due to government fiscal abuse or mismanagement. Audit staff, under the guidance of general counsel and chief litigation counsel, may take immediate action, up to and including immediate referral to appropriate authorities, in order to preserve relevant evidence and/or prevent continued harm.

Missourians may contact the State Auditor's Whistleblower Hotline with concerns related to fraud or waste in government operations by calling (800) 347-8597, by emailing moaudit@auditor.mo.gov, or by using the online submission form at auditor.mo.gov/hotline. Callers may choose to remain anonymous.

Information from citizens, legislators and government employees can be helpful throughout the audit process in identifying problems. Citizens are urged to contact the auditor's office if they have information they believe could be useful to audit staff.

Public Corruption and Fraud Division

In January 2019, Auditor Galloway reaffirmed her commitment to fighting public corruption by establishing the Public Corruption and Fraud Division. This unit within the Missouri state auditor's office is dedicated to rooting out fraud, waste and abuse in state, county and local government and assisting law enforcement to ensure those responsible are held accountable. The division is made up of attorneys, auditors and investigators and includes forensic auditing specialists and Certified Fraud Examiners. The division has a demonstrated history of working with local, state and federal law enforcement to pursue justice for taxpayers.

Follow-Up Reports

Audit follow-up reviews are conducted to increase accountability in government for the taxpayers of Missouri. Audit follow-up reports document whether audit recommendations have been implemented as recommended by the state auditor. The state auditor's office works with audited entities to establish a reasonable timeline for the implementation of audit recommendations, with a particular focus on findings requiring immediate action.

Office Review

The State Auditor's Office frequently receives independent reviews of audit processes and office operations. In November 2020, the Missouri State Auditor's Office received the highest rating possible during a routine review by the National State Auditors Association (NSAA). This is the second time the office has received this distinction under Auditor Galloway's leadership. The NSAA reviews are done every three years; the previous peer review was completed in 2017. Additionally, in April 2018, the Missouri General Assembly issued two separate audits of the Missouri State Auditor's Office, which found overall operations are managed professionally and cybersecurity measures are effective.

Public Engagement

Auditor Galloway is dedicated to helping government officials identify best practices and make lasting improvements for the taxpayers of Missouri. The state auditor and her representative staff regularly speak to groups and organizations on matters related to audit processes, financial controls and procedures and the importance of compliance and transparency in state government.

Citizens may contact the auditor's office to provide information for an audit, request information on audit practices and priorities or schedule a speaker for an upcoming event by calling (800) 347-8597 or by emailing moaudit@auditor.mo.gov.

State Treasurer

Elected November 3, 2020

Term expires January 2025

SCOTT FITZPATRICK (Republican) was sworn in as Missouri's 47th Treasurer on Jan. 14, 2019. He was elected to a fullterm on Nov. 3, 2020.

Scott's record as treasurer reflects his commitment to fiscally conservative values as well as his support for small businesses and Missouri families. In his first two years in office, he doubled the size of MO ABLE, Missouri's savings and investment program for individuals with disabilities and their families. Scott also worked to make MOST, Missouri's 529 Education Plan, more cost-effective for account owners by negotiating lower fees. The plan is now one of the highest rated in the country.

Since becoming treasurer, Scott has returned record amounts of Unclaimed Property to Missourians. He became the fastest treasurer in state history to return $1 million, doing so in just his first nine days in office. In addition, he launched innovative partnerships with the Department of Social Services and the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations Division of Employment Security to help reunite Missourians with their Unclaimed Property. These partnerships represent good government in action.

As treasurer, he is also committed to promoting government transparency and efficiency at all levels of government. This commitment has resulted in the expansion of the Show-Me Checkbook, one of the most comprehensive state financial data portals in the country, to include local governments.

Scott was first elected state representative in 2012, at the age of 25, to represent Barry and portions of Stone and Lawrence counties. Serving as chair of the House Budget Committee in 2017 and 2018, he was responsible for the drafting and passage of Missouri's $28-billion annual operating budget. Under Scott's conservative leadership, the State's budget surplus nearly tripled to almost $500 million, while Missouri schools were fully funded for the first time in nearly a decade.

Scott understands the needs of Missouri's business owners. When he was 17 years old, Scott started his own company, MariCorp U.S., a Shell Knob-based marine manufacturing and construction company that does business coast to coast. His experience growing his company inspired him to run for office to fight unnecessary red tape and burdensome regulations.

He is a member of the Cassville and Shell Knob Chambers of Commerce and has been recognized in Springfield Business Journal's "40 Under 40" and was a 2020 Man of the Year.

A lifelong Missourian, Scott graduated from Cassville High School and the University of Missouri. He and his wife Mallory have three sons, Luke, Carson and Noah.

The state treasurer serves as Missouri's chief financial officer. The treasurer protects taxpayer funds from fraud and abuse, safeguards more than $1 billion in Unclaimed Property, manages a small business and agriculture economic development program, and administers the state's tax-advantaged education and disability savings plans.

Protecting Missouri Taxpayers

Banking and Investments

As Missouri's chief financial officer, the state treasurer manages state revenue and investments while maintaining Missouri's AAA bond rating (the highest rating issued by Standard & Poor's, Moody's and Fitch Ratings). Missouri is one of the few states with the distinction of a triple-triple credit rating. To accomplish this, his duties include:

- Authorizing payments and balancing accounts.
- Protecting taxpayer funds against fraud and abuse by using the latest anti-fraud technology.
- Contracting with Missouri banks to process state receipts and disbursements; handling money and security transfers; reporting on the state's accounts, balancing and payment activities; providing related banking services.
- Determining the amount of state funds not needed for current operating expenses and investing those funds in interest-bearing time deposits in Missouri banks, U.S. Treasury and federal agency securities, repurchase agreements, commercial paper and banker's acceptances.

Staying Accountable to Missouri Taxpayers

The Missouri state treasurer is committed to a transparent and accountable administration. An Open Government portal on the treasurer's website provides Missourians access to investment returns, office policies, meeting minutes and other public information. The treasurer is always looking for new and innovative ways to increase transparency across government.

The Show-Me Checkbook, launched by the treasurer's office in 2018, is one of the most comprehensive state financial data portals in the country. The Checkbook puts state expenditure data online in an interactive format for citizens to search and see where their tax dollars go. Visitors can access the Show-Me Checkbook by visiting treasurer.mo.gov/showmecheckbook. In 2020, the treasurer expanded the Checkbook to include local governments.

Supporting Small Businesses and Farms

Missouri FIRST

Missouri FIRST is the state's linked-deposit program. Linked Deposits allow the state to invest in Missouri small businesses and farms by providing backing for low-interest loans through partnerships with qualified Missouri lenders. These loans save borrowers approximately 30% off the standard interest rate. Borrowers can find a list of more than 130 participating lenders and 350 branches throughout Missouri. More information about the program is available online at www.treasurer.mo.gov/mofirst.

Empowering Individuals and Families

MO ABLE—Tax-Free Savings Plan for Missourians with Disabilities

The state treasurer administers MO ABLE, a savings plan that empowers Missourians living with disabilities and their families to save and invest through tax-free savings accounts. This savings plan is designed to give individuals with special needs more independence and financial security by providing a flexible, secure and accessible way to save for their long-term needs. Launched in 2017, MO ABLE allows families to save money for use on qualified expenses such as education, healthcare, housing, transportation and more. Benefits of the program include:

- MO ABLE functions similarly to Missouri's MOST 529 Education Plan. Missourians who contribute to MO ABLE accounts will be eligible for a state tax deduction of up to $8,000 or $16,000 if married and filing jointly.
- The funds in MO ABLE Accounts do not affect eligibility for federal programs like Medicaid and Supplemental Security Income (SSI). Some restrictions apply on accounts with over $100,000 for SSI.
- Earnings in MO ABLE Accounts are not subject to federal or state income tax, as long as funds are spent on qualified disability expenses.
- Account set up and enrollment can be accomplished online free of charge. An initial contribution of at least $25 is required to set up an account.

Eligible individuals can learn more and sign up for an account at www.moable.com.

MOST – Missouri's 529 Education Plan

The state treasurer is responsible for overseeing MOST, Missouri's 529 Education Plan. The MOST 529 Education Plan is designed to help families save for the costs of education, including K-12 tuition, college, trade or technical school tuition and expenses. New in 2021, Missourians can use 529 accounts to pay for expenses related to apprenticeships and up to $10,000 in student loan repayment:

- You can start an account with any amount and save as you are able.

Returning Unclaimed Property

The state treasurer is responsible for returning Missouri's Unclaimed Property. Each year financial institutions, businesses, government agencies and other organizations turn over millions of dollars in cash and the contents of safe deposit boxes to the treasurer's office. The treasurer currently holds more than $1 billion in unclaimed assets. One in ten Missourians has unclaimed property, and the average return is $300. The treasurer's office works diligently to return money that is rightfully owed to Missourians by:

- Creating public awareness by publishing the names of owners of unclaimed property in Missouri newspapers. Names of more than 145,000 owners are printed in more than 100 news publications across the state as required by state law.
- Building innovative partnerships with Missouri government agencies that help reconnect Missourians who need it most with their unclaimed assets.
- Working to return unclaimed military medals and insignia to the heroes who earned them by encouraging Missourians to search the treasurer's office website. Pictures are paired with the names and last known addresses of the safe deposit box owners in which the medals and insignia were found. This information is available at www.treasurer.mo.gov/military.
- Allowing Missourians to donate their unclaimed property to any of 20 charitable organizations operating in Missouri. The process of donating unclaimed property can be completed entirely online in most cases.

Individuals can search the treasurer's database online at www.ShowMeMoney.com for unclaimed property 24/7. They can also sign up for email alerts when new unclaimed property comes in matching their information and can also file paperless claims. The treasurer's office will never charge to return your unclaimed property.

Eric Schmitt

Attorney General

Elected November 3, 2020

Term expires January 2025

ERIC SCHMITT (Republican) serves as Missouri's 43rd Attorney General and the chief law enforcement and legal officer.

Eric's roots in Missouri run deep, stretching through six generations of farmers, teachers and small businesspeople, who have lived and worked in Tipton, Pilot Grove, Louisiana and St. Louis City and St. Louis County.

Eric was born and raised in St. Louis County, attended De Smet Jesuit High School and later graduated cum laude from Truman State University, where he founded a Habitat for Humanity chapter. He earned a scholarship to attend law school at Saint Louis University where he received his J.D. and was an editor of the Law Review. He was the first person in his family to attend college after graduating high school and the first to become a lawyer. Prior to holding state-wide office, Eric was a partner at a large Missouri law firm and was in private practice for over 16 years.

He was inspired to enter public service to be a voice for his son, Stephen, who was born with a rare genetic condition (tuberous sclerosis) causing tumors on his organs. Stephen also has epilepsy, is on the autism spectrum and is non-verbal.

Previously, Eric served as a Missouri state senator for the 15th district in St. Louis County and served in senate leadership as caucus secretary and later caucus chair. He chaired the Jobs, Economic Development and Local Government Committee and passed two of the state's largest tax cuts, landmark autism insurance reform legislation, and the most sweeping municipal reforms in state history – ending the practice of taxation by citation by many localities across Missouri. He also served as Missouri's 46th Treasurer where he launched the MO ABLE program – a tax advantaged way for individuals with disabilities to save for their futures; expanded 529 Educational Savings opportunities; and launched Show-Me Checkbook – an online portal to track state spending. Eric has also served as an adjunct professor at one of his alma maters, Saint Louis University.

As Attorney General, Eric is focused on keeping Missouri families safe and upholding the rule of law. As the lawyer for all six million Missourians and guided by life experiences and a love for the law, Eric fights each and every day to protect opportunities for the next generation.

Since taking office, Eric has focused on fighting violent crime, including personally prosecuting and obtaining a conviction against Antonio Muldrew for a brutal murder in St. Louis. Eric has worked to clear the backlog of untested sexual assault kits, take on human trafficking, hold big tech accountable, take opioid manufacturers on for the devastation they have wreaked on Missouri families, protect consumers and defend our constitution and Missouri values.

Eric and his wife, Jaime, have three children, Stephen, Sophia and Olivia.

The attorney general's office represents the state's legal position at every level of trial and appellate courts. The attorney general prosecutes and defends cases to which the state is a party, including every felony criminal case appealed to the Missouri or United States Supreme Courts and state and federal courts of appeal.

The attorney general is at the forefront of legal and policy decisions in the state of Missouri directing all litigation to which the state or any state agency or official is a party. He also serves as legal advocate for the public interest.

The attorney general's office is organized into two departments: Civil Litigation and Criminal Litigation. Within those two departments, the office has eight sections: Consumer Protection, Public Safety, Litigation, Labor, Criminal Appeals, Financial Services, Governmental Affairs, and the Medicaid Fraud Control Unit.

In addition to representing the state's legal position, the attorney general's office plays a role in protecting Missouri consumers, fighting violent crime, combating human trafficking, rooting out fraud by Medicaid providers, and more.

Housed under the office's Public Safety section, the Special Prosecution Unit aids local prosecutors in complex and complicated cases, typically in Missouri's rural counties. Staffed by prosecutors with over 200 years of experience, the Special Prosecution Unit has worked with prosecutors across the state to handle some of Missouri's most complex and high-profile public safety cases. Also contained in the office's Public Safety section is the Sexually Violent Predator Commitment Unit, which works with the Department of Mental Health to commit sexually violent predators to mental health facilities. Under Attorney General Schmitt's leadership, the Safer Streets Initiative, an unprecedented federal-state partnership, has worked to charge Missouri's most violent offenders in federal court.

Additionally, Attorney General Schmitt launched the Cold Case Unit, which works to obtain justice for victims of cold case homicides, no matter the passage of time.

The Consumer Protection section typically handles an average of 100,000 consumer complaints each year, which can range from price gouging to phone scams, with the No-Call Unit receiving the lion's share of complaints. The Consumer Protection section works to mediate those complaints between businesses and individuals to resolve issues without litigation or further legal action. When mediation is unsuccessful, civil litigation and potential criminal prosecution are considered. Under Attorney General Schmitt's leadership, the office has recovered tens of millions in restitution for consumers.

The Medicaid Fraud Control Unit works to root out fraud perpetrated by Medicaid providers, and brings legal action where appropriate. Additionally, the Unit investigates claims of abuse and neglect at Medicaid funded facilities. Because of Attorney General Schmitt's efforts, the Medicaid Fraud Control Unit has recovered millions on behalf of taxpayers.

In addition, the Anti-Human Trafficking Task Force gathers law enforcement, victim advocates, and prosecutors to tackle human trafficking in the state of Missouri. The task force holds quarterly meetings to discuss initiatives and issues, organizes law enforcement operations, and allows for sharing of information, which is crucial in combating human trafficking. The attorney general's office also operates the Hope Initiative, which was born out of the task force, and works to shut down illicit massage businesses across the state.

The Attorney General's SAFE Kit Initiative is intended to clear the backlog of untested sexual assault kits across the state of Missouri. Through inventory, shipping, and testing, the Office is working to gather kits from across the state, send them to the lab to be tested, and work with local law enforcement to investigate potential DNA hits and obtain justice for victims.

The Attorney General's Office also plays a role in defending and protecting Missourians from government overreach in our unique system of federalism, which protects individual liberty. Because of this administration's focus, the office has worked diligently to uphold the tenets of federalism, fighting federal government overreach to municipal government overreach, including enforcing Senate Bill 5 provisions to ensure citizens aren't being simply used as ATMs to generate revenue.

The attorney general's office has offices in Jefferson City, St. Louis, Kansas City, Springfield, and Cape Girardeau.

The president and the vice president of the United States are elected every four years by a majority of votes cast in the Electoral College. These votes are cast by delegates from each state who traditionally vote in accordance with the majority of the state's voters. States have as many electoral college votes as they have congressional delegates. Missouri has 10 electoral college votes—one for each of the eight U.S. Congress districts and two for the state's two seats in the U.S. Senate.

The president is the chief executive of the United States, with powers to command the armed forces, control foreign policy, grant reprieves and pardons, make certain appointments, execute all laws passed by Congress and present the administration's budget. The president earns $400,000 annually, with an additional allowance of $50,000 for expenses.

The vice president is selected by members of each national political committee and runs on the same ticket for the same term as the president. The vice president assumes the presidency if the president dies or resigns from the office, is incapacitated to the extent that he or she cannot exercise presidential duties for an extended period or is impeached. The vice president presides over the functions of the U.S. Senate and acts as emissary of the president. The vice president earns $235,100 annually.

The tradition of the Cabinet dates back to the beginnings of the presidency itself. Established in Article II, Section 2, of the U.S. Constitution, the Cabinet's role is to advise the president on any subject he or she may require relating to the duties of each member's respective office. It is made up of 15 cabinet members (or secretaries) who have the responsibility to operate each department. Secretaries are appointed by the president and serve at his or her pleasure. Cabinet secretaries earn $221,400 annually.

Legislative Branch

www.house.gov / www.senate.gov

The U.S. Constitution provides for two legislative houses, known as the Congress. The Senate is composed of 100 members; two senators are elected from each state. The House of Representatives is composed of 435 members; the number of representatives is determined based on the population of each state.

Senators must be at least 30 years of age and must be residents of the United States for at least nine years. They also must reside in the state they are elected to represent. Senators serve terms of six years, with one-third of Senate members elected every two years. Senators earn $174,000 annually, plus expenses.

Representatives must be at least 25 years of age and must have been residents of the United States for at least seven years. They also must reside in the state they represent. Representatives serve two-year terms and earn $174,000 annually, plus expenses.

Congress is in session for two years, beginning on January 3 of each year unless another date is specified. The presiding officer of the Senate is the vice president of the United States. The Senate also elects a president pro tem of the Senate to serve in the absence of the vice president. The president pro tem also represents the party in power and earns $193,400. The presiding officer of the House is called the speaker. The speaker traditionally represents the party in majority and earns $223,500.

Judicial Branch

The U.S. Supreme Court heads the nation's judicial branch of government. The Supreme Court is composed of nine justices, appointed for life. Supreme Court justices may only be removed by impeachment and trial by Congress. Justices receive $268,300 annually while the chief justice, who leads the court, earns $280,500.

The Supreme Court concerns itself with national issues or matters concerning the constitutionality of certain laws or findings. Decisions of the court are binding and overrule any other court decision.

Joseph R. Biden Jr.

United States President

Elected November 3, 2020
Term expires January 2025

JOSEPH ROBINETTE BIDEN JR. (Democrat) was born in Scranton, Pa., the first of four children of Catherine Eugenia Finnegan Biden and Joseph Robinette Biden Sr. In 1953, the Biden family moved to Claymont, Delaware. President Biden graduated from the University of Delaware and Syracuse Law School and served on the New Castle County Council.

At age 29, Biden became one of the youngest people ever elected to the United States Senate. Just weeks after his Senate election, tragedy struck the Biden family when his wife Neilia and daughter Naomi were killed, and sons Hunter and Beau were critically injured in an auto accident.

Biden was sworn into the U.S. Senate at his sons' hospital bedsides and began commuting from Wilmington to Washington every day, first by car, and then by train, in order to be with his family. He would continue to do so throughout his time in the Senate.

Biden married Jill Jacobs in 1977, and in 1980, their family was complete with the birth of Ashley Blazer Biden. A lifelong educator, Jill earned her doctorate in education and returned to teaching as an English professor at a community college in Virginia.

Beau Biden, attorney general of Delaware and Joe Biden's eldest son, passed away in 2015 after battling brain cancer with the same integrity, courage, and strength he demonstrated every day of his life. Beau's fight with cancer inspires the mission of President Biden's life—ending cancer as we know it.

As a senator from Delaware for 36 years, President Biden established himself as a leader in facing some of our nation's most important domestic and international challenges. As chair or ranking member of the Senate Judiciary Committee for 16 years, Biden is widely recognized for his work writing and spearheading the Violence Against Women Act—the landmark legislation that strengthens penalties for violence against women, creates unprecedented resources for survivors of assault and changes the national dialogue on domestic and sexual assault.

As chair or ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for 12 years, Biden played a pivotal role in shaping U.S. foreign policy. He was at the forefront of issues and legislation related to terrorism, weapons of mass destruction, post-Cold War Europe, the Middle East, Southwest Asia and ending apartheid.

As vice president, Biden continued his leadership on important issues facing the nation and represented our country abroad. Vice President Biden convened sessions of the President's Cabinet, led interagency efforts and worked with Congress in his fight to raise the living standards of middle-class Americans, reduce gun violence, address violence against women and end cancer.

Biden helped President Obama pass and then oversaw the implementation of the Recovery Act—the biggest economic recovery plan in the history of the nation and our biggest and strongest commitment to clean energy. Biden did it all with less than 1% in waste, abuse or fraud.

President Obama and Vice President Biden also secured the passage of the Affordable Care Act, which reduced the number of uninsured Americans by 20 million by the time they left office and banned insurance companies from denying coverage due to pre-existing conditions.

He served as the point person for U.S. diplomacy throughout the Western Hemisphere, strengthened relationships with our allies both in Europe and the Asia-Pacific, and led the effort to bring 150,000 troops home from Iraq.

In a ceremony at the White House, President Obama awarded Biden the Presidential Medal of Freedom with Distinction—the nation's highest civilian honor.

On April 25, 2019, Biden announced his candidacy for President of the United States. Biden's candidacy was built from the beginning around 3 pillars: the battle for the soul of our nation, the need to rebuild our middle class—the backbone of our country and a call for unity, to act as One America. It was a message that would only gain more resonance in 2020 as we confront a pandemic, an economic crisis, urgent calls for racial justice and the existential threat of climate change.

Kamala D. Harris

United States Vice President

Elected November 3, 2020

Term expires January 2025

KAMALA D. HARRIS (Democrat) is the Vice President of the United States of America. She was elected vice president after a lifetime of public service, having been elected district attorney of San Francisco, California attorney general and United States Senator.

Vice President Harris was born in Oakland, Calif. to parents who emigrated from India and Jamaica. She graduated from Howard University and the University of California, Hastings College of Law.

Harris and her sister, Maya Harris, were primarily raised and inspired by their mother, Shyamala Gopalan. Gopalan, a breast cancer scientist and pioneer in her own right, received her doctorate the same year Kamala was born.

Her parents were activists, instilling Vice President Harris with a strong sense of justice. They brought her to civil rights demonstrations and introduced role models—ranging from Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall to civil rights leader Constance Baker Motley—whose work motivated her to become a prosecutor.

In 2014, she married Douglas Emhoff. They have a large blended family that includes their children, Ella and Cole.

In 1990, Harris joined the Alameda County District Attorney's Office where she specialized in prosecuting child sexual assault cases. She then served as a managing attorney in the San Francisco District Attorney's Office and later was chief of the Division on Children and Families for the San Francisco City Attorney's Office.

She was elected district attorney of San Francisco in 2003. In that role, Vice President Harris created a ground-breaking program to provide first-time drug offenders with the opportunity to earn a high school degree and find employment. The program was designated as a national model of innovation for law enforcement by the United States Department of Justice.

In 2010, she was elected California's Attorney General. She established the state's first Bureau of Children's Justice and instituted several first-of-their-kind reforms that ensured greater transparency and accountability in the criminal justice system.

As attorney general, Vice President Harris won a $20 billion settlement for Californians whose homes had been foreclosed on, as well as a $1.1 billion settlement for students and veterans who were taken advantage of by a for-profit education company. She defended the Affordable Care Act in court, enforced environmental law and was a national leader in the movement for marriage equality.

In 2017, Harris was sworn into the United States Senate. As a member of the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee, she fought for better protections for DREAMers and called for better oversight of conditions at immigrant detention facilities.

On the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, she worked with members of both parties to keep the American people safe from foreign threats and crafted bipartisan legislation to assist in securing American elections. She visited Iraq, Jordan and Afghanistan to meet with service-members and assess the situation on the ground. She also served on the Senate Judiciary Committee. During her tenure on the committee, she participated in hearings for two Supreme Court nominees.

As senator, Vice President Harris championed legislation to reform cash bail, combat hunger, provide rent relief, improve maternal health care and address the climate crisis as a member of the Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works. Her bipartisan anti-lynching bill passed the Senate in 2018. Her legislation to preserve Historically Black Colleges and Universities was signed into law, as was her effort to infuse much-needed capital into low-income communities during the COVID-19 pandemic.

On Aug. 11, 2020, Vice President Harris accepted President Joe Biden's invitation to become his running mate and help unite the nation. She is the first woman, black American and South Asian American to be elected vice president, as was the case with other offices she has held. She is, however, determined not to be the last.

JOSH HAWLEY (Republican) Raised in rural Missouri, and previously served as Missouri's Attorney General. There he earned a reputation for taking on the big and the powerful to protect Missouri workers and families. He has battled big government and big business, special interests, organized crime, and anyone who would threaten the well-being of Missourians.

A native of small town Lexington, Missouri in rural Lafayette County, Senator Hawley graduated from Rockhurst High School in Kansas City. After graduating from Stanford University in 2002 and Yale Law School in 2006, he moved back home to mid-Missouri with his wife, Erin, where they started a family. They are the proud parents of three young children: Elijah, Blaise and Abigail.

Senator Hawley is recognized as one of the nation's leading constitutional lawyers. He has litigated at the Supreme Court of the United States, the federal courts of appeals and in state court, fighting for the people's liberties. He previously fought Obamacare at the Supreme Court—and won—as one of the lead attorneys in the landmark Hobby Lobby case. He was also a lead attorney in the Hosanna-Tabor case at the Supreme Court, protecting the rights of churches.

Since taking office, Hawley has been a leading champion in Congress for working families. He's worked across the aisle to deliver protections for kids online, led the fight for direct payments to working people during the COVID-19 pandemic, and taken steps to crack down on predatory landlords. Senator Hawley has also rolled out proposals to protect American workers from foreign trade cheating, especially from China, and has been an advocate for ending the offshoring of jobs and boosting manufacturing the United States.

Senator Hawley has taken on corporate special interests to level playing field for the American worker as well. He boldly stood up to the abuses of Big Tech and Wall Street and has worked to reign in the power of these mega companies while championing innovation, entrepreneurship and small businesses. Hawley has also worked to keep our communities safe by confronting illegal immigration, and challenging big opioid manufacturers and human traffickers—during his time as the former attorney general of Missouri and in the U.S. Senate. As a fierce defender of the Constitution, Senator Hawley is committed to protecting Missourians' First and Second Amendment rights.

She ran as a Republican in the special election to serve out the remainder of the term in the seat held by her late husband, U.S. Rep. Bill Emerson, who died in June 1996. With not enough time for her name to be added to the ballot for the next full term in Congress, Jo Ann Emerson ran for the upcoming term as an Independent. She won both elections and began her congressional service during the 104th Congress, representing Missouri's eighth district starting in November 1996.

Historical Note: The election of early Missouri delegates was by general statewide ticket. In 1847, the state was divided into five congressional districts from which representatives were elected. In 1863, the districts were expanded to number nine, and 10 years later in 1873, Missouri was redistricted to allow for 13 congressional districts. By acts approved in 1882 and 1885, Missouri was allowed one additional district and in 1893, the congressional districts numbered 15. Missouri was allowed 16 districts in 1901; these were in place until 1933. In that year, the state was allotted 13 representatives, while the legislature redistricted the state. Those 13 representatives were elected at large (indicated by an asterisk (*) in the listing). The state has been redistricted at various times over the last 40 years, moving from 11 districts in the 1950s, to 10 districts in the 1960s, to nine in the 1980s, to the current number of eight congressional districts in 2011. Because of the redistricting, it may be necessary to check the Revised Statutes of Missouri to determine which Missouri counties were represented by a district during a particular year. Redistricting changes generally occur in the years following the taking of the federal census.

The Missouri General Assembly

Legislative power in Missouri is vested by Article III, Section 1 of the 1945 Constitution in the General Assembly, composed of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

The Senate consists of 34 members elected for four-year terms. Senators from odd-numbered districts are elected in presidential election years. Senators from even-numbered districts are chosen in the midterm elections. Each senator must be at least 30 years of age, and a qualified voter of the state for three years and of the district he or she represents for one year. The lieutenant governor is president and presiding officer of the Senate. In the absence of the lieutenant governor, the president pro tem, elected by the Senate members, presides.

The House of Representatives consists of 163 members, elected at each general election for a two-year term. A representative must be at least 24 years of age, a qualified voter of the state for two years and of the district he or she represents for one year. The House is presided over by the speaker, chosen by the members, and in the absence of the speaker by the speaker pro tem.

Reapportionment of both houses of the Missouri General Assembly following each decennial U.S. census is provided for by the Missouri Constitution.

Senators and representatives receive a salary of $35,915 per year, a weekly allowance for miles traveled going to and returning from their place of meeting and expenses for each day the General Assembly is in session.

Time of Meeting

The General Assembly convenes annually on the first Wednesday after the first Monday of January. Adjournment is midnight on May 30, with no consideration of bills after 6 p.m. on the first Friday after the second Monday in May. The General Assembly reconvenes on the first Wednesday following the second Monday in September for a period not to exceed 10 calendar days to consider vetoed bills.

A special session of the General Assembly may be called by petition of the General Assembly. If three-fourths of the members of the Senate and three-fourths of the members of the House sign the petition calling for a special session, the president pro tem of the Senate and the speaker of the House shall, by joint proclamation, convene the General Assembly in special session. The petition and proclamation must specifically state the subjects to be considered during the special session, and the signed petition must be filed with the secretary of state.

The General Assembly shall automatically stand adjourned sine die at 6 p.m. on the 30th calendar day after the convening of the special session unless it has adjourned sine die before the 30th day. No appropriation bill shall be considered in the special session if the General Assembly has not passed the operating budget in compliance with Article III, Section 25 of the Missouri Constitution.

The governor may convene the General Assembly in extraordinary session for a maximum of 60 calendar days at any time. Only subjects recommended by the governor in his or her call or a special message may be considered.

Organization of the General Assembly

Following the general election in November of even numbered years, the majority and minority members of each house caucus separately nominate candidates for the offices to be elected by each body and organize their parties for the coming session. Nominees of the majority party and minority party are elected. Each party names its floor leader, assistant floor leader, caucus chair and secretary.

Both houses of the General Assembly convene at noon on the opening day of the session. The Senate is called to order by the lieutenant governor. Temporary officers are named and the roll of new and incumbent senators is read. Newly elected senators are then sworn in, usually by a judge of the Supreme Court. The president pro tem and other permanent officers are then elected and take an oath of office administered by the president of the Senate.

The House of Representatives is called to order by the secretary of state and the oath is administered to all members. After the swearing-in ceremony, a roll call is taken and a temporary speaker is named. He or she presides for the nomination and election of permanent officers. Temporary rules, usually the rules in force for the preceding session, are adopted.

After each house notifies the other that it is duly organized, a House Resolution is adopted, inviting the Senate to a joint meeting to receive the governor's message. Under the Constitution, the governor, at the beginning of each session, delivers a message concerning state government with any recommendations he or she wishes to make for the enactment of legislation. This message is commonly referred to as the State of the State Address.

Each house determines its own rules. Procedures and rules may not be dispensed with, except by unanimous consent or concurrence by a constitutional majority. Both the Senate and House are required to keep a daily journal of their proceedings. At the end of the session, the journals are bound by the House and Senate. The secretary of state's office maintains microform copies of the journals.

Term Limits

In November 1992, the voters approved an amendment to the Missouri Constitution to limit for the first time the amount of total service in the House and Senate to eight years in each. Total legislative service was limited to 16 years. In November 2002 voters approved an additional amendment to allow members elected through a special election, after the effective date, to serve the partial term and two full terms for the Senate and four full terms for the House, through a general election.

How Bills Become Laws

General Provisions

Bills may originate in either house and are designated as Senate Bills or House Bills, depending on the house in which they originate. No bill (except general appropriation bills) may contain more than one subject, which is to be expressed clearly in its title. No bill can be amended in its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose. No bill can be introduced in either house after the 60th legislative day of a session unless consented to by a majority of the elected members of each house. No appropriation bill shall be taken up for consideration after 6 p.m. on the first Friday following the first Monday in May of each year.

Introduction of a Bill

Missouri law provides for pre-introduction of bills beginning December 1 preceding the opening of the assembly session and continuing up to, but not including, the first day of session. Bills filed during the pre-introduction period are automatically introduced and read the first time on the opening day of session.

Bills also may be introduced by any senator or representative during session. Bills may be written by the legislator or by research staff attorneys at the request of a senator or representative. When introduced, a bill is assigned a number and read for the first time by its title. It then goes on the calendar for second reading and assignment to committee by the speaker of the House or the president pro tem of the Senate.

A public hearing before the committee to which a bill is assigned is the next step in the legislative process. Except in the case of unusually controversial, complex or lengthy bills, the bill is presented by its sponsor, and both proponents and opponents are heard in a single hearing. When hearings are concluded, the committee meets to vote and makes its recommendations. The committee may (1) report the bill with the recommendation that it "do pass;" (2) recommend passage with committee amendments, which are attached to the bill; (3) return the bill without recommendation; (4) substitute in lieu of the original bill a new bill to be known as a committee substitute; (5) report the bill with a recommendation that it "do not pass;" or (6) make no report at all.

Perfection of a Bill

If a bill is reported favorably out of committee or a substitute is recommended, it may be placed on the "perfection calendar." When it is brought up for consideration, it is debated on the floor of the originating house. If a substitute is recommended by the committee or if committee amendments are attached to the bill, they are first presented, debated and voted upon. At this point, further amendments can be proposed by other members. When all amendments and substitutes have been considered, a motion is made to declare the bill perfected. Perfection is voted on by a voice vote or, on the request of five members, by roll call. If a majority of members vote to perfect, the bill is reprinted in its original or amended form.

Final Passage of a Bill

After perfection and reprinting, the bill goes on the calendar for third reading and final passage. When the bill is reached in the order of business, any member may speak for or against its passage, but no further amendments can be offered. At the conclusion of debate, a recorded vote is taken. Approval of a constitutional majority of the elected members (18 in the Senate and 82 in the House) is required for final passage.

Passage of the bill is then reported to the other chamber where it is first and second read, referred to committee for hearing, reported by committee, read a third time and offered for final approval. If further amendments or substitutes are approved, these are reported to the originating house with a request that the changes be approved. If the originating house does not approve, a conference may be requested and members from each house are designated as a conference committee. Upon agreement by the conference committee (usually a compromise of differences), each reports to its own house on the committee's recommendation. The originating house acts first on the conference committee version of the bill. If it is approved, it goes to the other house; upon approval there, the bill is declared "truly agreed to and finally passed." If either house rejects the conference committee report, it may be returned to the same or a newly appointed committee for further conferences.

Upon final passage, a bill is ordered enrolled, printed in its final form, and the bills are closely compared and proofed for errors.

Signing of the Bill

Bills truly agreed to and finally passed in their printed form are then signed in open session by the House speaker and Senate president or president pro tem. At the time of signing, any member may file written objections, which are sent with the bill to the governor.

Governor's Part in Lawmaking

The governor has 15 days to act on a bill if it is sent to him during the legislative session and 45 days if the Legislature has adjourned or has recessed for a 30-day period.

If he or she signs a bill, it is returned to its house of origin with a message of approval, then delivered to the Office of the Secretary of State. The bill is delivered directly to the Office of the Secretary of State if the Legislature is not in session.

If the governor vetoes a bill, it is returned to the house of origin with his or her objections. A two-thirds vote by members of both houses is required to override a governor's veto.

If any bill is not returned by the governor within the time limits prescribed by Article III, Section 31 of the Missouri Constitution, it will become law in the same manner as if the governor had signed it.

Effective Date of Laws

The 1945 Constitution provides that no law passed by the General Assembly shall take effect until 90 days after the end of the session in which it was enacted, except an appropriation act or in case of an emergency, which must be expressed in the preamble or in the body of the act. Some bills specify the exact date when they are to take effect.

Duties of the Secretary of State

The secretary of state preserves and the state archives binds and maintains the finally printed and signed copy of the law. The laws are published annually by the Committee on Legislative Research in a volume titled Laws of Missouri.

The general statute laws are revised, digested and promulgated by the revisor of statutes, in the Office of the Committee on Legislative Research. These are known as the Revised Statutes of Missouri. The Committee on Legislative Research also publishes annual supplements to the statutes to include changes in laws since the last revision.

The Committee is comprised of five members of the Senate and five members of the House. In order to provide continuity in the operation of the committee, the statute authorizing the committee provides the appointment of each member shall continue during his or her term of office as a member of the General Assembly.

Citizens or interested organizations who have concerns about rules issued by state agencies can contact the committee with their concerns. In its review the committee is authorized to hold public hearings and review rules in question. Actions taken by the committee on rules and regulations of state agencies must be ratified by the full General Assembly through a concurrent resolution, which then must be signed by the governor. The goal of the Committee on Administrative Rules is to ensure a state agency does not exceed its statutory authority and that the agencies effectively accomplish their missions as mandated by the statutes.

Missouri's Judicial System

From its inception in 1820, Missouri state government constitutionally has been divided into three separate branches—legislative, executive and judicial. The judicial branch's function is not to make the laws of the state or to administer them but to adjudicate the controversies that arise between persons and parties, to determine fairly and justly the guilt or innocence of persons charged with criminal offenses and to interpret the laws of the state as enacted by the legislature and carried out by the executive branch.

The roots of Missouri's judicial branch reach back to the days when Missouri was a part of the Missouri Territory controlled by the French and Spanish. When Missouri officially was organized as a territory in 1812, the judicial power was vested in a superior court, inferior courts and justices of the peace. The Constitution of 1820, the state's first constitution, placed the judicial power in a Supreme Court, chancery courts (later abolished by the General Assembly) and circuit and other courts to be established by the legislature.

Today, Missouri has a three-tier court system. Article V of the constitution, as amended by Missouri voters in 1976, vests the judicial power in a Supreme Court, the state's highest court, with statewide jurisdiction; in a court of appeals consisting of districts established by the General Assembly; and in a system of circuit courts that have original jurisdiction over all cases and matters, civil and criminal.

Effective Jan. 2, 1979, the circuit court system absorbed all former courts of limited jurisdiction and became the state's single trial court. Cases once heard in magistrate and probate courts, in the St. Louis Court of Criminal Corrections, in the Hannibal and Cape Girardeau courts of common pleas, and in municipal and other local courts, now are heard in appropriate divisions of the circuit courts.

All the judges of these former courts have become either circuit, associate circuit or municipal judges. They may hear and determine different classes of cases within their respective circuits. A presiding judge, elected by the other judges in the circuit, has general administrative authority over all judicial personnel in the circuit. He or she may assign other judges throughout the circuit to relieve caseload and administrative backlogs. The Supreme Court and court of appeals have general superintending control over all courts and tribunals within their jurisdictions. Original remedial writs may be issued and determined at each level of the court system. Decisions of the Supreme Court are controlling in all other state courts.

Selection of Judges

In the first 30 years of Missouri's statehood, the judges of the supreme, circuit and chancery courts were appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. After much public discussion, the constitution was amended in 1850 to provide for the popular election of judges, and this system remains in effect for most Missouri courts today. In most circuits, the judges are elected by the voters in partisan elections.

In 1940, Missouri voters amended the constitution by adopting the "Nonpartisan Selection of Judges Court Plan," which was placed on the ballot by initiative petition and which provides for the nonpartisan (non-political) appointment of certain judges, rather than having them popularly elected.

The constitution, as amended further in 1976, provides that the Nonpartisan Court Plan applies in the Supreme Court, the court of appeals and the circuit courts within the City of St. Louis and Jackson County. In addition, voters in Clay, Greene, Platte and St. Louis counties have elected to institute the plan, and the Kansas City charter extends a nonpartisan selection plan to Kansas City municipal court judges. While all other judges are elected in partisan elections, other judicial circuits may adopt the plan on approval by a majority of the voters in the circuit.

Under the Missouri Plan, as it often is called nationally, a vacancy on a court to which the plan applies is filled through a nonpartisan judicial commission of lay persons and lawyers. The commission selects three persons from those who apply, based on merit. The governor then appoints one of the three. A judge appointed in this way must stand for retention in office at the first general election occurring after the judge has been in office for 12 months. The judge's name is placed on a separate judicial ballot, without political party designation, and the voters must vote either for or against retention in office. The judge's name again is placed on the ballot for a retention vote at certain intervals if the judge wishes to serve subsequent terms. The Missouri Plan has served as a national model for the selection of judges and has been adopted by a number of other states.

Every supreme, appellate, circuit and associate circuit court judge must be licensed to practice law in Missouri. By constitutional amendment and statute, all judges must retire by age 70.

History and Organization

The Supreme Court has been the state's highest court since 1820, when the first Missouri Constitution was adopted. The earliest court, consisting of only three members, was required to hold sessions in four different judicial circuits in the state. At various times, the court sat in Boonville, Bowling Green, Fayette, Jackson, Jefferson City, Lexington, Palmyra, Potosi, St. Charles, St. Joseph and St. Louis.

Voters increased the size of the Supreme Court to five judges in 1872 and to its present size—seven judges—in 1890. Because of the court's increasing caseload, commissioners were appointed for a brief period in the 1880s. In 1911, the legislature authorized the court to appoint four commissioners, and in 1919, increased the number authorized to six. The commissioners were required to possess the same qualifications as judges of the Supreme Court. They received the same compensation and were appointed for four-year terms. The commissioners heard cases along with the judges, and their written opinions, if approved by the court, were issued as opinions of the court.

Under the 1970 constitutional amendment of article V, the offices of the commissioners ceased to exist when the individuals holding the offices retired, resigned, died or were removed from office. The last retired in 1982.

In 1890, voters approved the Supreme Court to divide into two divisions so it could handle and decide more cases in a shorter time. Under the present constitution, the court may sit en banc (all seven judges together) or in as many divisions as the court determines are needed. Today, cases are assigned to and decided by the court en banc.

Supreme Court Jurisdiction

Originally, the Supreme Court had only the traditional powers to decide cases on appeal from the lower courts (either the circuit courts or the court of appeals) and to issue and determine original remedial writs, such as those in habeas corpus, mandamus and prohibition. The Constitution of 1945 also authorized the court to establish rules for practice and procedure in the courts and to make temporary transfers of judicial personnel from court to court. Maintaining and updating the rules is a continuous process requiring substantial time. Each year, the Supreme Court, through its Office of State Courts Administrator, transfers several hundred court personnel on a temporary basis to assist other courts. This usually is done when a judge has been disqualified by the parties in a case or when a judge's docket has become overly crowded and the judge cannot handle all the cases expeditiously.

The constitutional amendments of 1976 and 1982 defined the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court more narrowly than in the past, resulting in its receiving fewer cases on appeal and directing more appeals to the court of appeals. Now the Supreme Court has exclusive appellate jurisdiction in all cases involving: the validity of a treaty or statute of the United States or of a statute or provision of the Missouri Constitution, the construction of the state's revenue laws, the title to any state office and the death penalty.

Cases do not have to fall within this area of exclusive jurisdiction, however, to reach the Supreme Court. The court may order cases transferred to it from the court of appeals if the cases involve questions of general interest or importance, if the court believes the existing law should be re-examined or for other reasons provided by rule of the court. The court of appeals also may order a case transferred to the Supreme Court either by order of the court of appeals itself or by the dissent of a court of appeals judge, if that judge certifies the court of appeals opinion is contrary to previous decisions of the Supreme Court or of other districts of the court of appeals.

In addition to its decision-making powers, the Supreme Court supervises all lower courts in the state. It is assisted in this task by its Office of State Courts Administrator, established in 1970. The Supreme Court also licenses all lawyers practicing in Missouri and disciplines those found guilty of violating the legal rules of professional conduct.

Qualifications and Terms

Supreme Court judges must be at least 30 years of age, licensed to practice law in Missouri, U.S. citizens for 15 years and qualified Missouri voters for nine years. Supreme Court judges are retained for 12-year terms. They earn $185,127 annually. Compensation is determined by state constitution (article XIII, section 3 of the Missouri Constitution).

Chief Justice

The seven judges of the Supreme Court select one of their members to be chief justice and preside over the court. The chief justice also handles many of the administrative details for the court. The present practice of the court is to rotate the position of chief justice every two years. The chief justice earns $193,545 annually. Compensation is determined by state constitution (article XIII, section 3 of the Missouri Constitution).

The court hears oral arguments each month from September through May. Court sessions are open to the public, and audio of oral arguments are broadcast live and are archived through the Missouri Courts website, www.courts.mo.gov.

Missouri Court of Appeals

The Constitution of 1865 provided for Missouri's first general intermediate courts, known as district courts. There were district courts in Cape Girardeau, Jefferson City, Macon, St. Charles, St. Joseph and Springfield. Each district was composed of three circuits. Appeals were taken from the circuit court to the district court and then to the Supreme Court. The district courts, however, were abolished in 1870 by a constitutional amendment.

Alarmed at the congested docket of the Supreme Court, the St. Louis Bar Association urged the 1875 Constitutional Convention to provide for another appellate court. As a result, the convention created the St. Louis Court of Appeals, consisting of three judges who heard appeals from Lincoln, St. Charles, St. Louis and Warren counties. Its territorial jurisdiction was expanded in 1884 to include several more counties.

Another constitutional amendment in 1884 established the Kansas City Court of Appeals and authorized creation of another appellate court, when necessary, by the General Assembly.

The Springfield Court of Appeals was organized in 1909. Missouri's current appellate structure—a single court of appeals consisting of three geographic districts—was established by a 1970 constitutional amendment.

The Eastern District of the Court of Appeals sits in St. Louis and consists of 14 judges. Eleven judges preside over the Western District in Kansas City, and seven judges sit on the Southern District, meeting either in Springfield or Poplar Bluff. Trained law clerks, who are licensed attorneys, assist each appellate judge with legal research.

The Missouri Court of Appeals may issue and determine original remedial writs and has general appellate jurisdiction in all cases not within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. Cases not within the Supreme Court's exclusive jurisdiction, however, may be transferred from the Court of Appeals to the Supreme Court when it is determined that a case involves a split among the districts of the Court of Appeals or an important issue that should be decided by the state's highest court.

A chief judge is elected for each district of the Missouri Court of Appeals by the judges in the districts and serves for such time as the districts determine. Traditionally, the chief judge in the Eastern District serves for one year, while the chief judges in the Southern and Western districts serve for two years.

The districts are authorized to sit in divisions of three judges if they choose, which all three districts have elected to do.

Missouri Court of Appeals judges must be at least 30 years of age, licensed to practice law in Missouri, residents of their district, U.S. citizens for 15 years and qualified Missouri voters for nine years before their selection. Appeals judges serve 12-year terms. They earn $169,214 annually. Compensation is determined by state constitution (article XIII, section 3 of the Missouri Constitution).

Missouri Circuit Courts

Missouri's first two circuit courts were established in 1815. The 1820 Constitution provided for the creation of four circuits, each containing from four to eight counties. The number of circuits has increased over the years; today, 46 circuits operate in Missouri.

The first circuit judges were appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The life term of the judges and their method of appointment proved unpopular, however; in 1850, the constitution was amended to provide for popular election. Most circuit judges are elected today, though judges in six circuits—Clay, Greene, Jackson, Platte and St. Louis counties and the City of St. Louis—are selected under provisions of the Nonpartisan Court Plan.

Constitutional amendments approved by Missouri voters in 1976 provide that the circuit courts shall be courts of original civil and criminal jurisdiction. All trials start at this level. Former courts of limited jurisdiction became divisions of the circuit court effective Jan. 2, 1979.

Within the divisions of the circuit court, there are three levels of jurisdiction: circuit, associate and municipal. Circuit judges may act within all circuit jurisdictions.

The number of circuit judges is determined by the General Assembly. The constitution requires at least one circuit judge in each of Missouri's 46 judicial circuits.

Associate circuit judges may hear matters pending in the circuit court or assigned by the Supreme Court. Associate circuit judges hear all cases pursuant to Chapter 517, RSMo, and have concurrent jurisdiction over all cases pending in the circuit court.

The constitution requires at least one resident associate circuit judge in each county. The statutes authorize additional associate circuit judges depending on county populations. Presently, there are 197 associate circuit judges.

Municipalities with 400,000 or more people must establish a municipal division over which a municipal judge presides. Communities of fewer than 400,000 people may establish municipal divisions to hear ordinance violations, or the municipality may request that these matters be heard in the associate division of the circuit court. Municipal judges are paid locally.

By statute, each circuit judge appoints a court reporter, and the court in each circuit appoints a juvenile officer. A circuit clerk in each county is selected according to law, and salaries are set by statute.

Circuit court judges must be at least 30 years old, residents of their circuit, licensed to practice law in Missouri, U.S. citizens for 10 years and Missouri voters for three years. Circuit judges serve six-year terms. Associate circuit judges must be at least 25 years old, Missouri voters and residents of the counties they serve and licensed to practice law in Missouri. Associate circuit judges serve four-year terms.

Circuit court judges each earn $159,578 annually; associate circuit court judges earn $146,812. Compensation is determined by state constitution (article XIII, section 3 of the Missouri Constitution).

Circuit Realignment

In 2013, the Missouri legislature authorized the Judicial Conference of Missouri to alter the geographic boundaries of the current judicial circuits, if determined necessary. As required by statute, the Judicial Conference submitted a report with its realignment plan to the legislature. The statute constrained the plan by requiring that it neither increase nor decrease the number of circuits from the number in existence on Dec. 31, 2019.

Based on this analysis, the Judicial Conference made two recommendations for circuit realignment. The Missouri legislature did not modify those recommendations so they will take effect as follows:

Move Benton County from the 30th circuit to the 27th circuit, effective Jan. 1, 2022;

Move Carter County from the 37th circuit to the 36th circuit, effective Jan. 1, 2023.

Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline

2190 S. Mason Rd., Ste. 201, St. Louis 63131

The Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline of Judges was created by a constitutional amendment in 1970. It began operating Jan. 1, 1972, and is governed by Supreme Court Rule 12.

The commission is responsible for receiving and investigating all requests and suggestions for the retirement of judges because of disability and all complaints concerning the alleged misconduct of judges and members of judicial commissions. It is composed of six members who serve six-year terms. Two non-lawyers are appointed by the governor, two lawyers are appointed by The Missouri Bar's governing body, one court of appeals judge is selected by court of appeals judges and one circuit judge is selected by the state's circuit judges.

The members are: Cary J. Mogerman, chair, attorney, Clayton; Michelle Aycocock, lay member, Parma; Rev. Dr. Carlton R. Caldwell, lay member, St. Louis County; Hon. Gary M. Gaertner Jr., appellate judge, Missouri Court of Appeals, Eastern District; Hon. Laura J. Johnson, circuit judge, 38th Judicial Circuit (Christian County, Ozark) and Patrick B. Starke, attorney, Blue Springs.

On receiving a complaint against a judge or member of a judicial commission, the commission conducts an investigation. If at least four members of the commission find there is probable cause to believe the person may be guilty of misconduct, incompetency or other action constituting grounds for discipline as listed in Rule 12.08, a formal hearing is conducted. If at least four members find the person investigated should be disciplined, a report containing findings of fact and conclusions of law is made to the Supreme Court with recommendations for discipline (removal from office, suspension or reprimand). The court then makes a final ruling based on the commission's record and transcript.

A similar procedure is followed in cases involving retirements because of disability.

To protect the public from persons unqualified or unauthorized to practice law, the Supreme Court of Missouri has established an attorney discipline system. The Supreme Court appoints a chief disciplinary counsel to investigate allegations of professional misconduct, incompetence and incapacity of lawyers. The Court also has established an Advisory Committee, which oversees the disciplinary hearing process. Complaints filed against attorneys are reviewed by the Office of Chief Disciplinary Counsel. Regional disciplinary committees located in Kansas City, Springfield and St. Louis—composed of at least four lawyers and two nonlawyers—also may investigate complaints referred to them by the chief disciplinary counsel or the Advisory Committee.

If the chief disciplinary counsel or a regional disciplinary committee finds there is probable cause to believe a lawyer is guilty of professional misconduct, they may issue a written admonition to the attorney or file information making specific allegations of the lawyer's violations of the Rules of Professional Conduct. The lawyer may request a hearing to be held by a disciplinary hearing panel composed of two lawyers and one nonlawyer, all of whom are appointed as disciplinary hearing officers by the Supreme Court. If the disciplinary hearing panel finds, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the lawyer is guilty of misconduct, it makes recommended findings of fact, conclusions of law and recommendations for discipline, which then are filed in the Supreme Court. It is the Supreme Court's responsibility to impose discipline. If a lawyer who has been suspended or disbarred later seeks reinstatement, the chief disciplinary counsel investigates the application. The chief disciplinary counsel also investigates the unauthorized practice of law and takes appropriate action to stop such practices. The chief disciplinary counsel is Alan Pratzel.

In addition to providing oversight of the disciplinary hearing process, the Advisory Committee, upon request of the complainant, reviews complaint files that have been closed after investigation, at the request of the complainant. It also may issue formal ethics opinions, interpreting Supreme Court Rules 4, 5 and 6. Members of the Advisory Committee, appointed by the Supreme Court are: Dorothy L. White-Coleman, chair, St. Louis; David Ansley, Springfield; Edward C. Clausen, vice chair, Jefferson City; Sheryl Butler, St. Louis; Keith A. Cutler, Kansas City; Jill A. Kanatzar, Kansas City; Levell D. Littleton, St. Louis; Elizabeth McCarter, St. Louis; Dan R. Nelson, Springfield; Dale Siebeneck, Jefferson City; Kirby Upjohn, Kansas City; and Branson L. Wood III, Hannibal.

The legal ethics counsel, who serves as staff and counsel to the Advisory Committee, may give nonbinding informal advisory opinions, interpreting Supreme Court Rules 4, 5 and 6 to members of the bar. The legal ethics counsel is Melinda Bentley.

Established by rule of the Supreme Court of Missouri in 1944, The Missouri Bar is the official organization of all Missouri lawyers. Its executive director is Mischa Buford Epps.

Administrative

The Missouri Bar's Minimum Continuing Legal Education (MCLE) department administers Supreme Court Rule 15 regarding continuing legal education. Per the Supreme Court of Missouri rule, The Missouri Bar administers the accreditation of education programs, activities, and sponsors as well as the annual reporting of all licensed lawyers in the state concerning each lawyer's compliance with Rule 15 continuing legal education requirements.

Education

The Missouri Bar's Continuing Legal Education Department (MoBarCLE) presents a number of programs—in person, virtually and pre-recorded—to keep lawyers abreast of changes in state and federal laws. These sessions are regularly accompanied by detailed course materials designed to supplement the programs. In addition, the department's renowned deskbook series, supplements and guidebooks provide lawyers with valuable reference materials they can make use of in their own law libraries.

Publications/Public Information

Also available to members are the Legislative Digest, published during and after each year's session of the General Assembly; ESQ., a weekly email with information about law-related events and news; and The Courts Bulletin, a monthly update on recent decisions in pertinent areas of the law.

For more than 50 years, The Missouri Bar has conducted a broad program of public information and education. Thousands of informative resource guides, legal forms and other educational materials about the law are distributed annually, including comprehensive lesson plans for teachers across Missouri. Legal guides, podcasts and other public-directed programming and materials are available at www.mobar.org. The growth of the bar's public information programs has been aided by cooperative ventures with the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, the Missouri Press Association, the Missouri Broadcasters Association, various law schools and other groups and associations.

Other Activities

Other prominent programs and services offered by The Missouri Bar include: a client security fund that considers partial financial reimbursement to eligible clients who have been harmed by the unethical conduct of a lawyer; an online LawyerSearch tool to connect lawyers with Missourians in need of legal assistance; a lawyers' assistance program that offers help to lawyers facing substance use or mental health issues; a complaint resolution program that offers an alternative to the formal lawyer disciplinary system for matters considered to be less serious in nature; a fee-dispute resolution program that works to resolve disputes between a lawyer and a client over fees charged for services; and many more.

Judicial Conference of Missouri

 PO Box 150, Jefferson City 65102
 Telephone: (573) 751-4144*

In 1943, the General Assembly established the Judicial Conference of Missouri, which is composed of all state judges. The conference is charged by statute (section 476.350, RSMo) with studying the organization and administration of the state's judicial system, compiling data about the work of various courts and making biennial reports to the General Assembly, including any recommendations the conference may have for improving the laws. Since 1974, the chief justice of the Supreme Court, who is the conference's presiding officer, has presented an annual State of the Judiciary address to a joint session of the General Assembly, reviewing the problems, needs and goals of the judicial branch.

The statute also requires the conference to hold an annual meeting to be attended by all judges. At this meeting, the judges discuss the problems of court administration and invite experts in various fields to speak about matters of particular concern.

The clerk of the Supreme Court provides administrative and staff assistance and also serves as secretary to the executive council and the conference.

Nonpartisan Judicial Nominating Commissions

Under provisions of article V of the Missouri Constitution, any vacancy occurring in the office of judge of the Supreme Court, the court of appeals or the circuit courts within St. Louis City or Jackson County is filled through the "Nonpartisan Selection of Judges Court Plan," adopted through initiative petition at the November 1940 general election, which provides for the governor to appoint one of three qualified persons nominated by a nonpartisan judicial commission. This method of selecting judges was adopted by the voters of the 21st Judicial Circuit (St. Louis County) in 1970; by the voters of the Sixth Judicial Circuit (Platte County) and the Seventh Judicial Circuit (Clay County) in 1973 and by the voters of the 31st Judicial Circuit (Greene County) in November 2008.

Under the Missouri Plan, as it often is called nationally, a vacancy on a court to which the plan applies is filled in the following way. A nonpartisan judicial commission of lay persons, lawyers and a judge selects three persons from those who apply, based on merit. The governor appoints one of the three. A judge appointed in this way must stand for retention in office at the first general election occurring after the judge has been in office for 12 months. The judge's name is placed on a separate judicial ballot, without political party designation and the voters must vote either for or against retention in office. The judge's name again is placed on the ballot for a retention vote at certain intervals if the judge wishes to serve subsequent terms. The Missouri Plan has served as a national model for the selection of judges and has been adopted by a number of other states.

Appellate Judicial Commission

Nominations for judges of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals are made by a seven-member Appellate Judicial Commission. It consists of a judge of the Supreme Court selected by the members of the Court and two resident citizens from each of the three court of appeals districts. One lawyer is elected from each district by members of The Missouri Bar residing in that district and one non-lawyer is appointed from each district by the governor. The judge member serves a two-year term, while the other members serve staggered terms of six years each.

siding in the circuit and two non-lawyer residents of the circuit appointed by the governor.

Executive Departments

Government exists to serve, and a broad network of government organizations has been created to accomplish the purpose. The Missouri Constitution (Article II, Section 1) states: "The powers of government shall be divided into three distinct departments—the legislative, executive and judicial." This section also prohibits persons within each branch from exercising powers of the other branches. From these three branches spring the variety of organizations which deliver services of state government.

The many different names used by these groups—departments, divisions, agencies, boards, commissions, bureaus, units, sections, programs and others—can make it difficult to determine which area of government is responsible for certain services, and sorting out responsibilities or relationships within the governmental framework.

It is through the executive branch that the greatest proportion of state services are delivered. The Constitution (Article IV, Section 12) and the Reorganization Act of 1974 have established a number of "executive departments" to deal with specific areas of interest. A chart showing the

The Missouri Constitution provides for 16 specific departments: the Office of Administration and the departments of Agriculture, Conservation, Corrections, Economic Development, Elementary and Secondary Education, Health and Senior Services, Higher Education, Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration, Labor and Industrial Relations, Mental Health, Natural Resources, Public Safety, Revenue, Social Services and Transportation.

Within each executive department exists a variety of offices of varying size and scope which deal with specific services. Traditionally, "divisions" are the next-largest organizations within departments and function to bring together smaller-sized groups, such as "bureaus," "sections" or "units." Divisions may be governed by a "board" or "commission" composed of members who are either appointed by the governor, made members by law or appointed by a department official. State agencies may administer certain sections of state law as defined by the Revised Statutes of Missouri, may develop their own rules and regulations as promulgated in the Missouri Register and Code of State Regulations or may institute programs and policies which address the needs of their areas of service.

Generally speaking, the legislative and judicial branches rely on committees or other small, appointed groups to perform research, develop policy, provide advocacy services or handle administrative duties. In these two branches services are delivered through the offices of the elected officials themselves and not by related agencies.

The Missouri Constitution

Since achieving statehood and joining the union on August 10, 1821, Missouri has operated under four Constitutions. The first was adopted in 1820 and was presented to Congress before Missouri was allowed to enter the union of states. The state's second Constitution, born in the bitterness and strife of the Civil War, was drafted and adopted in 1865. It was replaced by a third Constitution only ten years later, in 1875. Missourians approved their current Constitution in 1945, and it has been amended a number of times in order to meet the changing needs of our state and its people.

The Constitution of the State of Missouri is published by the Office of Secretary of State pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Missouri (RSMo 2.110). Copies of the Missouri Constitution, which also includes the text of the U.S. Constitution, are available without charge by contacting:

The Governor's Council on Disability (GCD) serves as the voice and advocate in state policy-making for the nearly 1 million Missourians living with disabilities. The GCD educates people with disabilities about their rights and responsibilities; increases employment opportunities for job seekers with disabilities; and expands access to equal and full participation for all individuals with disabilities in their communities at the local, state and federal levels. The GCD also provides leadership programming for youth with disabilities.

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman issued an executive order establishing the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. This federal agency was created to assist disabled World War II veterans with re-entry into the civilian workforce. Following President Truman's lead, Missouri established the Governor's Committee in 1949 after it became obvious that a local network was needed to disseminate information about work-related problems people with disabilities encounter.

CLAUDIA BROWNER

The mission of the GCD has naturally evolved from strictly promoting employment to addressing all of the barriers prohibiting full participation in community life. To more accurately reflect the mission, the 1994 General Assembly renamed this agency the Governor's Council on Disability. The GCD was transferred by executive order in 2004 from the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations to the Office of Administration to more accurately encompass and achieve its mission.

The GCD consists of 21 council members, including the chair and one member from each state congressional district, as well as the executive director. The majority of the GCD is composed of people with disabilities representing various disability groups. Family members of people with disabilities, persons who represent other disability-related groups and additional advocates fill the remaining positions.

The governor appoints the chair with the advice and consent of the Senate. The governor also appoints the 20 members-at-large. The GCD meets at least quarterly to act as an advisory body to its staff and to discuss and suggest ways to address current issues affecting persons with disabilities in Missouri.

In the administration of its duties, the GCD also offers assistance to help the various departments, divisions and branches of government to comply with all laws regarding persons with disabilities. To further that goal, the director of each state department designates at least one employee to act as a liaison with the council. The assistance offered includes educational programming and consultation on the rights of persons with disabilities.

Promoting and Protecting Missouri Agriculture

Established in 1933 by the General Assembly, the Department of Agriculture promotes and protects Missouri's $88 billion agriculture and agribusiness industry. The department also enforces state laws that regulate and market the agricultural industry.

The department's divisions include Agriculture Business Development, Animal Health, Grain Inspection and Warehousing, Plant Industries and Weights, Measures and Consumer Protection. The department also houses the Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority, the Missouri State Fair, the State Milk Board and the Missouri Wine and Grape Board.

Office of the Director

The Missouri Department of Agriculture is managed by a director who is appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The director determines department policy, oversees the department's five divisions and serves as a liaison to the governor, state legislators, the agriculture community and the public.

The director is a standing member of the State Milk Board, the State Fair Commission, the Missouri Soil and Water Districts Commission, the Missouri Development Finance Board, the Missouri Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund, the Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority and the Wine and Grape Board.

Agriculture Business Development Division

The Agriculture Business Development Division creates opportunities for success for Missouri's farmers and agribusinesses. Division staff help facilitate growth in Missouri's agribusinesses by providing business counseling and information and training on a sector-by-sector basis.

Missouri Grown

Missouri Grown, formerly known as AgriMissouri, is a branded program designed to grow the production of and demand for agricultural products grown and made in Missouri. The program works with farmers, agribusinesses and retail outlets statewide to increase consumer recognition of Missouri's agricultural products in the marketplace.

International and Business Development Programs

souri commodities at home and abroad. Through one-on-one assistance to producers interested in marketing, production and processing their commodities in new ways, the marketing personnel enhance farm profitability in Missouri through innovations in technology, marketing and promotion of value-added agriculture. With an international office in Taiwan, international marketing specialists are able to work worldwide to promote and sell Missouri agriculture products.

The division's staff also works with Missouri youth, encouraging them to pursue agricultural degrees and careers through the Missouri Agri-Business Academy, Building Our American Communities grants and working with state FFA and 4-H Chapters.

Farmers' Markets/Specialty Crops

Consumers can purchase high-quality and fresh products at nearly 150 farmers' markets across Missouri. To increase awareness for Missouri markets, this program works one-on-one with farmers' markets to ensure safe and abundant fresh products. Farmers marketing fresh products require knowledge of food safety, manufacturing, distribution and general market and business regulations. This program assists both markets and growers in efforts to increase the production, consumption and sales of specialty crops.

Market News

Market News provides an unbiased, reliable, accurate and timely source for livestock and grain market news to remain competitive and assist them in making wise and profitable marketing decisions. It also guides producers in production planning and provides a more even playing field in the marketplace. Market News staff report prices from 23 livestock auctions and 31 grain markets in Missouri. Daily market figures are published online and through the Weekly Market Summary.

Animal Health Division

The Division of Animal Health, under the direction of the state veterinarian, promotes and protects Missouri's diverse and dynamic livestock industry. The assistance and oversight provided by the division's programs ensures greater market access for Missouri's livestock and companion animal industries.

Animal agriculture accounts for about one-half of Missouri's annual agriculture cash receipts. The division administers laws and programs designed to control and eradicate livestock disease and maintain and enhance the integrity of the state's animal industries. This includes both mandatory and voluntary regulatory programs for beef and dairy cattle, horses, swine, poultry, sheep, goats, and exotic and companion animals.

The state's progress in national disease control and eradication is due to the cooperative efforts of livestock producers, markets, practicing veterinarians, other agencies and division staff. Through these efforts, Missouri has achieved Bovine Tuberculosis and Brucellosis Free status, Swine Pseudorabies stage V status and Avian Pullorum-Typhoid Clean status. In addition, the division operates two state-of-the-art diagnostic laboratories, located in Jefferson City and Springfield.

Emergency Preparedness and Response

The Animal Health Division works to safeguard the livestock industry and the public against the threat of bioterrorist attacks. The Missouri Department of Agriculture has an ongoing awareness training program designed to help get information to those who need it most. The division works with USDA, SEMA, the Department of Health and Senior Services and regional emergency response committees in the event of a natural disaster.

Animal Care Facilities

The Animal Care Facilities Act (ACFA) became law to ensure dogs and cats under the care of breeders, dealers, animal shelters, rescue operations and municipal pounds, receive adequate health care, shelter and proper socialization. The ACFA law, designed to benefit both the animals and the pet industry, requires any animal shelters, pounds or dog pounds, boarding kennels, commercial kennels, contract kennels, pet shops, exhibition facilities, dealers and commercial breeders be licensed and inspected annually.

Branding Cattle

Branding is one of the oldest and best ways to permanently identify livestock. It serves as an excellent safeguard against livestock theft, loss or dispute. Legislation passed in 1971 made the Department of Agriculture responsible for registering livestock brands. Brands must be recorded as required by Missouri's Marks and Brands of Animals Law to prove ownership and be considered legal evidence in a court of law.

Livestock Markets and Dealers

Missouri has a livestock inventory of more than 2 million cattle, 3.75 million hogs and pigs and 75,000 goats. To help livestock producers obtain the maximum return on their investment, Missouri is fortunate to have a number of livestock market/sales throughout the state. To operate a livestock market/sale in the state, the operator must have a license issued by the Division of Animal Health. This license shall entitle the applicant to conduct business for one calendar year, January through December. All livestock markets must be licensed and provide a satisfactory bond (with a minimum bond amount of $10,000), determined by business volume. Missouri Livestock Dealer Registration is required for those who buy, sell or exchange livestock.

Director, Grain Inspection and Warehousing Division

Missouri Meat and Poultry Inspection Program

The Missouri Meat and Poultry Inspection Program is dedicated to ensuring that the commercial supply of meat and poultry products within the state are safe, wholesome, accurately labeled and secure, as required by state/federal meat and poultry inspection laws. By providing inspection service and guidance to Missouri processors, the program continues to endorse the mission of the Missouri Department of Agriculture — to serve, promote and protect the agricultural producers, processors and consumers of Missouri's food, fuel and fiber products. In cooperation with USDA-Food Safety Inspection Service (FSIS), the Missouri Meat and Poultry Inspection Program (MMPIP) offers equal inspection authority and service within the state of Missouri. As a result, any meat processed under MMPIP inspection and sold within the state of Missouri is offered the same privileges and exemptions as USDA inspected meat products.

Grain Inspection and Warehousing Division

The Grain Inspection and Warehousing Division is composed of three programs that administer the Missouri Grain Warehouse Law and the Missouri Grain Dealer Law. These laws promote and protect commerce in the interest of grain producers, merchandisers, warehousemen, processors and consumers. They also promote a uniform, official inspection system for the orderly marketing of grain. This division also collects and disburses funds for nine commodity merchandising programs.

Commodity Services Program

The Commodity Services Program provides commodity councils with an organized procedures for collection and distribution of commodity checkoff funds for nine Missouri commodities (beef, corn, soybeans, rice, sheep and wool, wine, aquaculture, peaches and apples). The program is also responsible for conducting seven annual merchandising council elections and administers the Missouri Hay Directory, an online hay listing service.

The Grain Inspection Services Program is designated to officially inspect, grade and weigh all grains that have standards established under the United States Grain Standards. The program provides four primary services: official sampling to take a representative sample of grain from a particular lot; official inspection to determine and certify the type, class, quality or condition of grain; weighing certification to supervise the loading, unloading and weighing of grain containers; and chemical analysis to determine the protein or oil content of grain and the existence of mycotoxins in grain.

Services are provided at inspection offices in Marshall, New Madrid and St. Joseph. The program is self-supporting and operates entirely on fees charged for inspection services performed.

Grain Regulatory Services Program

The Grain Regulatory Services Program protects the public interest by auditing grain warehouses and grain dealers to determine grain obligations and financial solvency. The program enforces the Missouri Grain Warehouse Law and the Missouri Grain Dealer Law, so producers are assured of storing or merchandising their grain with licensed, bonded, reputable and financially stable grain businesses. The program annually licenses approximately 150 warehouses and 350 grain dealers, and conducts more than 800 audits and investigations.

Plant Industries Division

The Plant Industries Division comprises five programs, which together administer state and federal laws. These laws facilitate agricultural production and marketing, and provide consumer and environmental protection for Missouri citizens by regulating animal feeds and seeds; providing necessary certifications for interstate and international shipment of agricultural and forest products; ensuring plant pest protection for crops and forests; inspecting for conformance to USDA grades for fresh fruits and vegetables; and regulating the use of pesticides.

PAUL BAILEY
Director

Feed and Seed Program

The Feed and Seed Program regulates the manufacturing and sale of commercial feed including pet food, agricultural and vegetable seed and treated timber products. Samples of commercial feed, seed and treated timber are analyzed at the state laboratory for truth in labeling, the presence of adulteration and seed quality. The program cooperates with the FDA to provide Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy (BSE) prevention as well as Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) inspections of feed manufacturers. These inspections ensure animal feed and the human food supply are safe.

Industrial Hemp Program

The Industrial Hemp Program regulates the production and sales of viable industrial hemp in accordance with federal and state law. The program issues registrations and permits, and certifies samplers for Missouri's industrial hemp industry.

Pesticide Control Program

The Pesticide Control Program regulates the sale and use of pesticides and administers applicator training and license examinations in conjunction with the University of Missouri Extension Service.

Pesticide Control also conducts pesticide investigations, works with other agencies on endangered species protection, water quality and worker protection and inspects applicator use records, dealer sales records, certification credentials and applicator training records.

Inspecting pesticide sales at wholesale, retail and producer levels is also the responsibility of the Pesticide Control Program.

Plant Pest Control Program

The Plant Pest Control Program works to prevent the introduction and spread of harmful plant pests and facilitates interstate and international trade of Missouri plant products. The program inspects and certifies nursery stock and assists nurseries with identifying pest management strategies. Plant Pest Control certifies millions of dollars of Missouri grown plant products for export. Its plant diagnostic lab supports export certification work and provides diagnostic services to certified Missouri nurseries.

Plant Pest Control implements surveys for invasive plant pests that threaten Missouri's agricultural, forest and natural resources including gypsy moth and thousand cankers disease of walnut. The program administers the Missouri Apiculture Law which provides inspection and certification services to Missouri beekeepers to facilitate interstate movement of honey bees.

Produce Safety Program

The Produce Safety Program reduces the incidence of foodborne illness by ensuring that growers meet FDA Produce Safety Rule standards. The program assists growers by providing information and reviewing production practices. Following the phase-in period, the program will also conduct federally required inspections of farms that are covered by the rule.

Weights, Measures and Consumer Protection Division

As the chief consumer protection agency in the state, the Weights, Measures and Consumer Protection Division maintains surveillance of commercial weighing and measuring devices. The division promotes uniformity in laws, regulations and standards to achieve equity between buyers and sellers. Sales of products and services impacted by weights and measure laws represent more than 50% of U.S. gross national product, totaling over $4.5 trillion.

The Missouri Weights, Measures and Consumer Protection programs are operated in accordance with the National Institute of Standards and Technology. The division is also a member of the National Conference on Weights and Measures, ASTM International and the National Fire Protection Association.

Land Survey Program

The division's Land Survey Program provides information and resources for the accurate location of all private and public boundaries in Missouri. The program is responsible for the restoration and preservation of the original corner monuments established by the General Land Office for the U.S. Public Land Survey System.

The division also maintains a records storage and retrieval system for all land survey records and geodetic data.

Device and Commodity Inspection Program

As required by Missouri statutes, device and commodity field personnel inspect large and small scales; grain hopper scales; taxicab meters; devices that measure time, fabric and grain moisture; milk for quantity determination; prepackaged merchandise; and method of sale of commodities. The program enforces the Missouri Egg Law and the Missouri Unfair Milk Sales Practices Law.

Petroleum/Propane/Anhydrous Ammonia Program

The program combines a variety of services. Under the program, petroleum dispensers, petroleum terminal meters and metered fuel delivery trucks are tested for accuracy. Service station pumps are also inspected for accuracy and safety. Metered propane delivery trucks are checked, and the storage and handling of anhydrous ammonia are monitored for safety.

Metrology Program

The metrology program conducts tests, calibrates and certifies field standards for state agencies and private institutions. The state metrologist is the official keeper of Missouri's primary standards of mass, volume and length.

Fuel Quality Program

Fuel samples are collected by field personnel and submitted for testing. The petroleum labora-of Health and Senior Services and the Department of Agriculture.

Four of the appointed members of the board must be Grade A dairy farmers representing recognized producer organizations. Four appointees are active members of local health departments in the state. The two remaining appointees represent processor and consumer interests. No more than six of the 12 board members can be from the same political party.

The board administers milk inspection in relation to Grade A milk and milk supplies to ensure uniformity of procedures and interpretation of milk inspection regulations. The Grade A or fluid milk activities of the state are supported by revenue from inspection fees.

The Manufacturing Grade Dairy Program enforces sanitation and quality standards for manufactured dairy products and provides market testing of all milk at the first point of sale. Milk procurers, manufacturing plants, field superintendents, testers, graders, samplers and bulk milk truck operators are licensed by the State Milk Board.

Office of the Director

The director's office includes the department director, deputy director, general counsel, chief counsel, communications team, legislative coordinator and support team. ## Division of Insurance Company Regulation

The Division of Insurance Company Regulation monitors the financial condition of insurance companies operating in Missouri.

The division works to identify financially troubled companies so that action may be taken to prevent insolvencies. The division conducts financial examinations of 230 domestic insurance companies at least every five years. The department director can call for an examination of a licensed insurer at any time. Between onsite examinations, the financial condition of insurers is monitored through ongoing financial analysis. Besides traditional insurers, the division also licenses and regulates captive insurance companies, which are formalized self-insurance programs that provide risk management benefits for the owner, which is also the insured. Captive insurers paid $2 million in taxes in 2020. The division reviews various annual tax filings of licensed insurers generating $310 million in premium taxes in 2020. In addition, policies placed with surplus lines insurers in the non-admitted market are reviewed by the division and are taxed at a rate of five percent of premium. Surplus lines tax collections for 2020 totaled $39 million.

Division of Insurance Market Regulation

The Division of Insurance Market Regulation protects Missouri consumers by examining and investigating insurance company practices for compliance with state law. Most insurance policies and rates must be filed with the division so they can be reviewed for compliance with state law.

Policies and rates are filed with two sections of the division: Life and Healthcare Section and Property and Casualty Section (which includes auto, homeowners, workers' compensation and various types of malpractice insurance). In 2020, these two sections reviewed nearly 9,500 insurance filings.

The division's Market Conduct Section examines and investigates insurance companies' past treatment of policyholders through their marketing, rates and claims handling. If violations of the law are detected, the director can order an insurer to pay restitution to consumers, either through re-processing of claims or re-evaluation of the premium charged for the policy, as well as penalties. In 2020, consumer recoveries through market conduct actions totaled $15,969,332 and fines totaled $439,000. The division also has a Statistics Section, which analyzes and publishes industry and market data as well as industry trends.

The Office of the Public Counsel is Missouri's consumer advocate in the area of utility regulation, and represents the concerns of ratepayers across the state. The Office of the Public Counsel (OPC) was established in 1974 as an independent agency to represent the interests of utility customers in proceedings before and appeals from the Missouri Public Service Commission (PSC) and the courts. The Office of the Public Counsel advocates for safe and adequate utility services at just and reasonable rates. While the OPC represents the concerns of all ratepayers, OPC focuses its representation on residential and small-business customers to provide an essential voice for these consumers. The public counsel is an attorney licensed to practice in Missouri appointed by the director of the Department of Commerce and Insurance. The office consists of attorneys, technical experts and administrative staff. These experts offer the OPC's testimony on the reasonableness, feasibility and affordability of utility proposals and practices. The office also consults and works with other public utility consumer advocates in the other states to keep current on issues vital to the consumer and to address national and regional issues of interest to Missouri consumers. In addition, through the property rights ombudsman, the Office of the Public Counsel provides assistance to citizens seeking guidance about condemnation process and procedures.

The Missouri Public Service Commission is charged with the statutory responsibility of ensuring public utility consumers receive safe and adequate services at just and reasonable rates that will provide the utility companies' shareholders the opportunity to earn a reasonable return on their investment.

The commission consists of five commissioners who are appointed by the governor to six-year terms with the advice and consent of the Missouri Senate. The terms are staggered so no more than two terms expire in any one year. The governor designates one member as chair, who serves in that capacity at the pleasure of the governor.

The commission regulates utility rates, service and safety for investor-owned electric, natural gas, sewer, steam and water companies. The commission also monitors the construction and setup of manufactured homes to ensure compliance with state and federal law. While the rates charged by rural electric cooperatives and municipally owned utilities are determined by their respective governing bodies, the commission has jurisdiction regarding matters of safety over the electric cooperatives and municipal electric and natural gas systems. The commission has limited authority over telecommunications services. The commission also oversees service territory issues involving investor-owned electric utilities, rural electric cooperatives and municipally owned electric utilities, as well as those involving privately owned water and sewer utilities and public water supply districts.

MARC POSTON

The commission has a staff of professional accountants, engineers, economists, attorneys, financial analysis auditors and research/data analysts who evaluate utility requests for commission approval. These requests deal with matters such as tariff changes regarding rates and business operations, financing proposals, business reorganizations, asset transfers and mergers. The staff will provide the results of its evaluation to the commission and recommend actions that satisfy the agency's statutory requirements.

The staff conducts routine and special investigations to ensure compliance with commission statutes, rules and orders, including standards for safety and quality of service. Staff will initiate or implement actions to enforce these laws when necessary. Enforcement actions for injunctive relief or monetary penalties are pursued in state court by the commission's general counsel.

The traditional rate case is the process through which the commission ultimately determines what customers will pay for their utility services. The process is commenced in one of two ways: a utility company files a tariff for authority to change its rates; or a complaint is filed by the commission, the PSC staff, the Office of the Public Counsel or others challenging the reasonableness of the utility's rates.

The general public is formally represented before the commission by the Office of the Public Counsel, which is a separate state agency under the Missouri Department of Commerce and Insurance.

Under both the tariff method and the complaint case method, the commission normally will conduct hearings for the purpose of addressing the reasonableness of the proposed tariff or the rates being challenged. In many tariff filing cases, by law, the commission has up to 11 months from the time a tariff is filed to reach its decision, or the rates will go into effect as filed. Many of these cases are resolved in accord with a settlement between the parties and processed in a shorter time frame.

Special rules apply for water and sewer companies with less than 8,000 customers; natural gas companies serving up to 10,000 customers and steam utilities that serve 100 or fewer customers in Missouri. They can pursue changes in rates without the necessity of filing a formal rate case through a staff-assisted rate case procedure. Companies with more than the specified number of customers are subject to traditional rate case procedures.

In rate cases, the commission staff conducts an independent, on-site investigation of the company's books and records to provide the commission with a recommendation as to what increase or decrease, if any, should be ordered. This investigation normally lasts several months and results in the pre-filing of written testimony. Other parties such as the Office of the Public Counsel, consumer groups, commercial and industrial interests and municipalities are given an opportunity to provide written testimony.

In addition to holding formal evidentiary hearings, the commission may hold local public hearings, which allow customers to express their views on the proposed increase or the utility's service.

Once the formal hearings are completed, the commission reviews the evidence submitted, de-

GLEN KOLKMEYER
Commissioner, Missouri Public Service Commission

liberates and then issues a decision. That decision is subject to court appeal.

The commission is also engaged in a variety of activities reflecting changes in state and federal law regarding the telecommunications and energy sectors of the utility industry. As federal regulators make decisions that directly affect Missouri utility consumers, the commission participates in proceedings before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). Commissioners and staff members have submitted comments or testified on numerous occasions before these agencies, and the commission has taken appeals from decisions adverse to Missouri ratepayers to the federal courts.

Regular meetings of the commission are each week. As with other state agencies, commission meetings are subject to the state's open meetings law.

The Data Center keeps a record of all filings and proceedings of the commission. These records are available for public inspection from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, except legal holidays. Many of these records are also available via the commission's website (psc.mo.gov).

A consumer with questions about specific matters relating to utility service should first call the utility company. If the consumer is not satisfied with the company response, he or she may call the commission's consumer services department and initiate an informal complaint. Consumers may also file formal, written complaints. The commission's main consumer services office is located in Jefferson City. The commission's toll-free hotline number for complaints is (800) 392-4211.

Under the commission's procedure, most informal complaints are assigned a consumer services specialist who acts as an intermediary between the consumer and the utility in an attempt to resolve the complaint. Technical complaints are usually referred to the Industry Analysis Division. Through investigations of consumer complaints, the consumer services department works to ensure that utilities comply with their approved tariffs and commission regulations.

The Missouri Public Service Commission was established in 1913 by the 47th General Assembly. The 1974 State Reorganization Act placed the commission within the Department of Consumer Affairs, Regulation and Licensing, which in 1984 was renamed the Department of Economic Development. In accordance with Executive Order 19-02 and Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 2019, the commission is now under the Missouri Department of Commerce and Insurance, formerly the Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions & Professional Registration.

Department of Conservation

2901 W. Truman Blvd., Jefferson City 65109
 Telephone: (573) 751-4115 / FAX: (573) 751-4467
www.mdc.mo.gov

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC), authorized in 1937 by an initiative process and statewide vote to amend the Missouri Constitution, was created by public demand for better management of the state's forest, fish and wildlife resources. The head of the department is a (4)-member commission appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. They serve with no compensation for staggered six-year terms. The commission is charged with the control, management, restoration, conservation and regulation of the bird, fish, game, forestry, and all wildlife resources of the state.

The commission appoints a director who serves as the administrative officer of the Department of Conservation. The director appoints other employees. Deputy directors, general counsel, assistants to the director, chief budget officer, and internal auditor are responsible to the director and facilitate administration of the department. Programs and activities are carried out by the divisions of Business, Engagement and Resource Management.

The department's principal sources of revenue are receipts from the sale of hunting and fishing permits and the one-eighth of one percent conservation sales tax. The conservation sales tax was approved as a constitutional amendment through a citizen initiative process and statewide vote in 1976. Funds are also received, primarily on a matching basis, from federal aid provisions of the Wildlife Restoration, Sport Fish Restoration and Cooperative Forestry Assistance Acts. The department receives no state general revenue funds.

The department's mission is to protect and manage the forest, fish, and wildlife resources of the state; and to facilitate and provide opportunities for all citizens to use, enjoy and learn about these resources. The vision is to be a forward-looking agency, implementing solid core values that ensure integrity and trust; using adaptive learning and creative thinking; embracing technology; and providing superior public service. The department seeks to be the national leader in forest, fish, and wildlife management, proactively advancing its mission through understanding natural resources and social landscapes.

The mission and vision are accomplished using a set of values that include: excellent public service; believing all citizens are important; providing open communication; offering opportunities for Missourians to partner; ensuring fairness, objectivity, sound science, integrity and accountability to guide actions; and appreciating that employees are the department's most important asset. The department works to advance conservation by being results-driven, working as a team, serving as ambassadors for conservation and living out the conservation ethic through actions.

The department carries out its programs and activities through the following major administrative divisions:

Business includes the following branches: Conservation Business Services, Human Resources, Information Technology and Infrastructure Management. These branches are responsible for management of the department's financial, staff, fleet, equipment and information technology resources, including administering human-resource activities intended to attract and retain a diversified, dynamic workforce; providing direction and management of the department's information technology assets, including computer hardware and software systems, telephone, other telecommunication systems and coordination of those systems with other state agencies; providing engineering, architectural, surveying, and construction/maintenance services and infrastructure asset tracking and planning; collecting and processing all revenues received; processing accounts payable; coordinating procurement; and administering all recreational and commercial licenses offered by the department.

Engagement includes the the Communications, Relevancy and Education Branches, and the Governmental Affairs and Policy Sections. These branches and sections are responsible for the department's public information efforts, educational programs and facilities, interagency coordination, volunteer programs and publications. These efforts include offering educational programs; operating nature centers, visitor centers and shooting ranges; developing interpretive exhibits; administering the hunter education program; teaching outdoor skills; providing conservation education curricula, training and materials to teachers; producing the department's magazines, books and other publications; creating and maintaining MDC's website, digital media, audio and video productions; issuing news releases and coordinating with news media; providing strategic guidance on citizen engagement; developing volunteer and partnership programs; assisting with environmental and regulatory issues; governmental affairs at the county, state and federal level; and providing interagency coordination with various federal, state and non-governmental interest groups.

Resource Management includes the following branches: Statewide Resource Management, Regional Resource Management, Community and Private Land Conservation, Science and Protection. These branches are responsible for resource management, restoration and protection, as well as research, in order to conserve Missouri's forest, fish and wildlife resources. These efforts include guiding strategic planning of conservation priorities; maintaining conservation areas for public use; developing and implementing a Comprehensive Conservation Strategy; implementing statewide and regional programs and services; guiding strategic budget development related to resource management; leading development of regulations, policies, and procedures to effectively manage Missouri's forest, fish and wildlife resources; directing activities to further public recreation, appreciation, and use of fish, forest and wildlife resources; and encouraging compliance with the Wildlife Code of Missouri through enforcement and education.

The Financial Services Unit administers all financial activities of the department. It maintains a liaison with the state treasurer, state auditor, Office of Administration and Department of Revenue. It is responsible for federal aid coordination, accounts payable, accounting and payroll.

The other units are responsible for: management, operation and purchasing of the department's fleet; management of aircraft operations; inventory control; repair and disposition of vehicles, marine and other mechanical equipment; the distribution and sales of hunting and fishing permits; and purchasing services.

Information Technology Branch

The Information Technology Branch provides strategies and expertise to effectively and securely design and implement technology-based assets and solutions that strategically enable the Department's mission. This includes providing ongoing management, maintenance and support of the Department's technology assets and solutions inclusive of all computer hardware and software systems, telephone and other telecommunication systems, two-way radio systems, cellular and mobile systems, cybersecurity systems, applications and other database systems, GIS systems, analytics and reporting systems, and the coordination of those systems with other state agencies and technology vendors.

Infrastructure Management Branch

The Infrastructure Management Branch provides design, land surveying, construction management, quality control, and asset management services to develop and implement the department's capital plan by designing, constructing and managing infrastructure to sustain conservation services and help all citizens connect with nature. Infrastructure and capital improvement projects include boat accesses, docks, roads, parking areas, office and storage buildings, fish hatcheries, fishing lakes and ponds, nature centers, shooting ranges, trails, wetlands and other projects. The branch provides engineering and architectural designs that apply sound engineering principles to the design of conservation projects and public-use facilities that are in harmony with the environment and enhance the enjoyment of Missouri's natural resources.

Human Resources Branch

The Human Resources Branch provides services that help the department attract and retain a diverse and dynamic workforce, including recruitment and selection; administering salary and fringe benefits programs; overseeing a comprehensive group life, medical, accidental death and dismemberment, and dependent life insurance program; maintaining official employee documents and records through a human resources information system; and managing a safety program, including worker's compensation. The branch also monitors compliance with employment practices relating to affirmative action, Americans with Disabilities Act and drug testing; provides employee training and development programs; administers employee assistance and wellness activities; and assists with disciplinary and grievance processes. A workforce council implements programs to increase the department's efforts to experience the benefits of a diverse workforce.

HEATHER FEELER

Communications Branch

The Communications Branch strives to keep conservation relevant in the hearts and homes of Missourians, including sharing the positive effects of the outdoors for our overall health, quality of life and economic vitality. These communications efforts keep people up to date on conservation and how to connect to nature, including where to fish, hunt, hike, birdwatch and discover nature around the state. The branch coordinates digital efforts, magazines, marketing, media and news, natural resources communications and publications for MDC.

Since 1938, the Missouri Conservationist magazine has been connecting people to nature each month with a current circulation of 550,000. Xplor magazine, which inspires kids to explore nature and is published every other month, strives to foster a new generation of passionate, informed, conservation-minded constituents. MDC continues to use technology as a tool to connect people to nature, including its website, mobile applications, social media, and podcast. MDC's website, www.mdc.mo.gov, has 6.8 million unique visitors annually, with popular pages such as "Places to Go" to discover nature on MDC areas, the online "Field Guide" to identify Missouri plants and animals, and the hunting and fishing "Species A-Z" pages to help identify game species. MDC mobile applications—MO Outdoors, MO Fishing and MO Hunting—allow users to find nature near them and buy permits, view regulations and check-in harvests on the go. MDC also launched a new podcast, Nature Boost, in spring 2020 to connect more youth and young adults to nature through audio learning.

Through many free and for-sale MDC publications, Missourians can also learn about identifying animals, upcoming natural events, cooking wild game, and learning how to fish and hunt. Nature centers across the state sell books, calendars, and other nature items in their nature shops and these items can also be purchased through the online Nature Shop.

Education Branch

The Education Branch works to educate Missourians of all ages and to make conservation education a priority in schools, programs and MDC facilities. MDC has nature and education centers in Blue Springs, Kansas City, Jefferson City, Kirkwood, Springfield, Cape Girardeau, Joplin and Winona, and visitor centers in Taney, St. Charles, and St. Louis counties that offer unique nature exploration programs. Children and their families can explore the interactive exhibits, attend in-person educational programs and hike the trails around the facility at no cost. Education staff statewide offer in-person and virtual programs on many outdoor topics, these programs are offered to the public at no cost as well.

The branch develops and makes available conservation education curriculum through its Discover Nature Schools program, which helps students get outside to experience hands-on learning in nature close to home. Instructional units by grade level are provided at no cost to teachers and school districts to meet testing needs and are combined with MDC grants for field trips and instructional materials. The branch delivers conservation education to public, private, parochial schools and colleges, as well as youth leaders and community leaders. The team also has responsibility for the Discover Nature—Fishing program, which is a series of free fishing classes, to help Missourians gain the skills and confidence to go fishing on their own.

The branch teaches Missourians outdoor skills to enjoy the outdoors safely and responsibly through hand-on classes and virtual programs on hunting, fishing and archery. The Missouri National Archery in the Schools Program (MoNASP) is coordinated by MDC, along with support from the Missouri Conservation Federation and Missouri Conservation Heritage Foundation, and helps students learn and compete in archery. MoNASP is currently in more than 800 schools in Missouri. In addition, the branch coordinates a team of volunteers to provide hunter education training in-person and online, which is mandatory for all persons born on or after Jan. 1, 1967, as a prerequisite to purchase hunting permits. Shooting ranges also provide hunters and outdoor enthusiasts a safe place to practice and develop outdoor skills. MDC manages five staffed shooting range and outdoor education centers, and more than 80 unstaffed firearm and archery ranges to provide opportunities to safely practice firearm and archery skills.

Relevancy Branch

To best serve all Missourians and to address today's ever-growing challenges to conservation – from changing uses of fish, wildlife and their habitats, to pollution of our waters, the spread of invasive species, and loss of habitat – the Department needs a broader umbrella of support. For these reasons, MDC in FY2021 created a Relevancy Branch as part of the agency's reorganization.

Staff within the new branch are focused on community engagement strategies through citizen science, new recreational opportunities at the state's 1,000+ conservation areas, development of messaging specific to key audiences, and facilitation of partnerships that will engage and empower a broader constituency involved in nature. Specific programs within the branch include the Missouri Stream Team, which engages more than 4,500 volunteer teams throughout the state in maintaining Missouri waterways, and the newly formed Recreational Use Program, which encourages people to get outdoors on MDC and partner lands to help all Missourians connect with nature and gain a better understanding of conservation. The branch also provides statewide coordination for the Department's volunteer program and annual Missouri Conservation Partners Roundtable.

Community & Private Land Conservation Branch

The focus of the Community and Private Land Conservation Branch is connecting people with nature where they live and helping landowners and communities meet their goals while enhancing fish, forest and wildlife conservation. This is accomplished by providing superior customer service and support to our partners and field staff across the state and through collaboration with other department branches.

The health of Missouri's forest, fish and wildlife resources depends on the stewardship of Missouri landowners. Private landowners own approximately 93% of the land in Missouri. The branch works collaboratively with other branches to help Missouri landowners achieve their land use objectives in ways that enhance forest, fish and wildlife conservation. Through voluntary participation, the branch promotes the wise use of forests, fish, wildlife, and natural communities by providing information, financial assistance and partnerships.

Assistance is also provided to communities, including urban developers, homeowners, city and county planners, local governments, and others to encourage development and management that enhances native fish, forest and wildlife diversity in developed areas, as well as in areas under development. The branch works to connect people with nature and raise awareness of the benefits provided by healthy fish, forest and wildlife resources. Planning, technical, and financial assistance are all tools utilized for helping incorporate nature into communities.

Partnerships help expand the conservation footprint in Missouri. The branch develops partnerships with communities, state and federal agencies, commodity groups, agribusinesses and conservation organizations. Partnerships with the Natural Resources Conservation Service and Farm Service Agency integrate forest, fish and wildlife considerations into the implementation of Farm Bill programs. To complement funding available through federal programs, the department offers cost-share to landowners for implementation of select natural resource management practices.

Protection Branch

The Protection Branch is responsible for enforcement of the Wildlife Code of Missouri and related statutes on both private and public lands. Uniformed conservation agents are assigned to each county in Missouri and represent the department in a wide variety of programs.

Agents are licensed as peace officers to enforce all state laws on lands owned, managed or leased by the department. Agents are also commissioned by the U.S. Department of the Interior to enforce federal fish and wildlife laws. Agents administer hunter education programs in their local area and provide conservation information and education through newspaper articles, adult and youth meetings, exhibits, clinics, radio and television programs and other media. The branch helps to provide basic information on forest, fish, and wildlife management, assists with landowner assistance programs and conducts surveys and special field studies. Agents are the primary contact for landowners with poaching or trespassing problems and are often contacted about nuisance wildlife issues.

The branch works with the Conservation Federation of Missouri to administer the Operation Game Thief, Operation Forest Arson and Share the Harvest programs. Operation Game Thief provides an avenue for concerned citizens to report poaching through a centralized toll-free hotline: (800) 392-1111. Rewards for information leading to the arrest of violators are available. Since the inception of this program in 1982, over 8,000 arrests have been made with information supplied by concerned citizens. This program has been shown to be an effective means of public awareness and involvement in protecting the natural resources of Missouri.

Share the Harvest, a program where hunters donate deer meat to those less fortunate through established charitable organizations, has received over 3.6 million pounds of deer meat for Missouri citizens. Hunters who donate their entire deer receive a reduction in the price of processing, which is paid to the processor by the Missouri Conservation Federation, a private citizen's organization. In some cases, local organizations provide additional funds for processing so there is no cost to hunters who wish to donate deer.

Science Branch

The Science Branch provides the science-based information needed to conserve, appreciate, and effectively manage the living natural resources of Missouri. The branch is organized around systems and functions, rather than traditional disciplines, and delivers management assistance through a series of field stations. The systems include terrestrial and aquatic systems, along with science, technology and policy support, geographic information systems (GIS), environmental health and wildlife disease coordination, human dimensions and biometrics, and the Natural Heritage Program. Field stations include a grasslands systems field station in Clinton, a forest systems field station in West Plains, a big rivers and wetlands systems field station in Jackson, an agricultural systems field station in Kirksville and the Missouri River field station in Chillicothe. A Conservation Research Center is located in Columbia.

The terrestrial systems work includes researching and evaluating plant and animal habitat relationships, monitoring population status and developing harvest and species management recommendations for statewide populations of deer, furbearers, turkey and migratory birds. Specialized projects monitor wildlife and plant diversity, population changes and forest silviculture, and other projects to understand ecological processes to better manage wetlands, forests, grasslands and agricultural habitats.

Aquatic and big river systems work includes researching and evaluating fisheries management, fish communities, watersheds, stream systems, interactions among predators and prey in reservoirs and streams, and monitoring aquatic species of concern including fish, freshwater mussels and crayfish. Environmental health staff ensures the health of Missouri's fish and wildlife resources through research, monitoring, and pollution and fish kill investigation efforts, and also conducts monitoring of water quality and its impacts on aquatic life, biodiversity and aquatic habitat.

Wildlife disease coordination is led by the state wildlife veterinarian who provides expertise for management and research of wildlife diseases and develops methods for the prevention, control and/or possible eradication of wildlife diseases in Missouri. The state wildlife veterinarian serves as liaison on disease issues with other local, state, and federal agencies and organizations.

Human dimensions work includes post-harvest hunter and angler surveys, attitude surveys and public-use surveys to understand the opinions and attitudes of Missourians. This information, combined with biological information and natural resource economics data, informs management decisions. The GIS program uses geospatial technology and products to support natural resource decisions, archive the processes, evaluate results and train users. Biometricians ensure statistically sound study designs and the use of appropriate statistical techniques to analyze and interpret complex natural resource questions.

The Natural Heritage Program provides expertise for management and research on high-priority plants and animals and maintains the Heritage Database. The Natural Heritage Program tracks the status and location of 1,230 species and natural communities of conservation concern, with ongoing documentation and mapping. This data is used in the department and by federal and state agencies for recovery efforts, environmental reviews, conservation planning and management efforts.

Science Branch Chief

JOHN TUTTLE
Regional Resource Management Branch Chief

Regional Resource Management Branch

The Regional Resource Management Branch provides on-the-ground field implementation of department programs through high-quality, multi-disciplinary resource management of public lands and through assistance provided on private lands and in communities that strengthens local accountability, decision-making and planning while ensuring statewide oversight, strategic direction, framework, guidelines and support.

While many regional activities fall nicely under the heading of the four units, staff work collaboratively across units to ensure highest priorities are completed in a timely manner. The Regional Resource Management Branch also leads numerous other department efforts at the regional level that transcend unit specializations. For example, regions take an active/lead role in the regional implementation of the elimination of feral hogs, managing chronic wasting disease in deer, regional planning, reporting and controlling wildfire.

The Regional Resource Management Branch also includes a few staff that operate at the statewide level and focus on statewide programs. The branch is responsible for the Salem Sign Shop that fabricates the signage needed on our conservation areas and office facilities. The branch manages the County Aid Road Trust program, which provides financial assistance to counties in exchange for maintaining gravel county roads that lead to and through conservation areas. The branch also manages the department's Land Conservation Partnership Grant, which provides financial assistance to local governments and non-profit organizations for projects that conserve important conservation lands and make them available to the public, including providing new outdoor recreation opportunities to citizens.

Statewide Resource Management Branch

The Statewide Resource Management Branch includes the Fisheries, Forestry, Wildlife and Natural Resources Planning sections. This branch implements the mission of MDC and the Design for the Future Strategic Plan by providing science-based statewide oversight, strategic direction, guidelines, and support to multidisciplinary resource management teams serving as discipline advisors working with national, state, and local partners for the management of public and private land and water. The Statewide Resource Management Branch provides exemplary customer service through an integrated, balanced approach that strengthens the OneMDC concept, team decision-making and planning, while ensuring accomplishments of statewide outcome measures and consistent implementation of conservation programing for all citizens.

Fisheries Section

The Fisheries Section provides guidance on managing aquatic systems for the benefit of all aquatic species. Fisheries management is the science, art, and business of creating, managing, and conserving fisheries and associated aquatic species resources in a sustainable manner to meet desired goals, needs and values. The section directs and administers fisheries programs, develops and refines regulations, works on the acquisition and development of public fishing and boat access areas, administers the Community Assistance Program and Corporate and Agency Partnership Program, administers federal aid grants, coordinates angler recognition programs, and develops and revises technical and popular written materials.

The Fisheries Section oversees the operation of the department's hatchery program. The four warmwater hatcheries (Chesapeake, Blind Pony, Lost Valley and Hunnywell) rear and coordinate the stocking of about 5.4 million fish annually in public waters, suitable private lakes, and waters used for special fishing events and aquatic education. Methods are also developed for rearing endangered species. The five cold-water hatcheries (Bennett Spring, Maramec Spring, Montauk, Roaring River and Shepherd of the Hills) rear and coordinate the stocking of about 1.7 million trout annually in public waters.

Forestry Section

The Forestry Section provides oversight of the management and protection of the state's forest resources, ensuring we have healthy and sustainable forest and woodland communities on both public and private land. Forestry programs assist forest industries with practices designed to: ensure healthy and sustainable forests; ensure the proper management and sustainability of public forest lands; and improve rural fire protection throughout the state. The forestry section also provides training for loggers to encourage the sustainable harvest of Missouri's forests.

The section collaborates with Regional Resource Management Branch on the management of more than 455,000 acres of public forest land. Forest management benefits include biodiversity, watershed protection, wildlife habitat, forest products and recreational opportunities. To encourage forest and wildlife plantings, 2 million seedlings of more than 60 different tree and shrub species are produced at the George O. White State Forest Nursery each year to fill requests from Missourians. Every fourth-grade student in the state receives an Arbor Day seedling produced at the nursery.

In addition, the section assists more than 900 volunteer rural fire departments to suppress approximately 2,700 wildfires annually. Technical assistance, training, and federal excess equipment are available at no cost to cooperating rural fire departments. Grants, supported in part by the U.S. Forest Service (USFS), are available to rural fire departments on a competitive basis. A rural forest fire equipment center is located in Lebanon. The center acquires and distributes federal excess property to rural fire departments for use in fire-suppression activities. "Operation Forest Arson" is a program to combat the high number of arson-caused wildfires. This program is combined with the Smokey Bear wildfire prevention campaign to educate school children.

Natural Resources Planning Section

The Natural Resources Planning Section serves the Department by leading areas of planning and coordination of landscape conservation, natural community restoration, natural areas, invasive species, technical resource management training, area planning standardization, and assistance with developing management guidelines/standards and measurable outcomes. The unit serves as a catalyst to bring together the expertise required and guide the processes to develop the appropriate strategies and training to provide direction, measure success, define guidelines for standardization, and audit to ensure that implementation at local levels is effective and adhere to established principles. To accomplish this, unit staff work extensively with staff in other branches and regions in both development of strategies, guidelines and measures, and in implementation, training, and conducting of any audits to ensure that the processes and products remain aligned and pertinent with staff and resources they serve.

Natural Resources Planning Section staff help field staff and partners develop strategies that identify management priorities for the department's strategic plan and make these functional in the form of tiered, often geospatial, priorities that are easy for staff to implement when budgeting both time and funding. These include landscapes for habitat and natural community management, public use focal areas, and community conservation or relevancy focal areas. Invasive species priorities follow the habitat priorities and a second set of priorities that is defined by species that are targeted for eradication statewide. Section staff work with Department staff and partners to update the priorities and implement actions to meet goals measured by outcomes within these focal areas.

Outreach, training of technical expertise, development of curricula, coordination of courses, development of management standards and auditing of compliance, and serving on state, regional, and national boards and committees are also vital roles within the section and are performed by multiple staff to varying degrees.

Wildlife Section

The Wildlife Section provides oversight of the management and restoration of Missouri's wildlife and habitats for the use and enjoyment of present and future generations. The section provides technical advice for wildlife and habitat management to other agencies, organizations, communities, industries and private landowners.

Additionally, this section is responsible for the statewide grassland systems coordination, wetland systems coordination, feral hog elimination program, agricultural cropping program, and the wildlife damage and human/wildlife conflict resolution program. In addition, this section is responsible for the managed waterfowl hunting program which annually provides more than 35,000 hunters the opportunity to waterfowl hunt. Managed deer and turkey hunts are also the responsibility of this section, providing the opportunity for more than 20,000 hunters to apply for these hunts.

Improving Lives for Safer Communities

The Missouri Department of Corrections manages the care, custody and supervision of Missourians sentenced to state prison or community supervision following felony convictions. The agency's 10,000 employees oversee approximately 23,000 people incarcerated in 19 adult institutions as well as 62,000 people on probation or parole. The department promotes sober, responsible, productive and prosocial behavior. It fosters rehabilitation, treatment, education and job training to equip Missourians involved in the criminal justice system with the skills and resources they need to contribute to their communities, inside and outside prison walls. More than 95% of people who enter the state's prison system ultimately are released. The Department of Corrections aims to make sure they're good neighbors.

The department strives to carry out sentences set by the court and the Parole Board in ways that promote public safety while ensuring the best return on investment of staff time, state resources and taxpayer dollars. Corrections staff, contracted staff and community partners work together to return Missourians to their families and homes better equipped for success than they were when they entered state custody. With the goal of reducing risk and recidivism, the department implements results-oriented policies and evidence-based practices tailored to addressing the specific needs and strengths of each offender. Department-wide use of a validated risk and needs assessment tool is buoyed by a system of incentives and sanctions designed to reinforce positive behaviors while encouraging accountability for negative behaviors. The department employs strategic planning at all levels of the organization to promote continuous improvement.

Justice Reinvestment

In 2017, Missouri faced several criminal justice challenges, including rising violent crime rates and prison overcrowding. The bipartisan Missouri State Justice Reinvestment Task Force —which included state and local criminal justice system stakeholders—was formed to address the issues. The task force worked with the nonpartisan, nonprofit Council of State Governments to gather and analyze Missouri criminal justice data and came away with several key findings. In 2017, Missouri had the eighth-highest incarceration rate in the United States; the fastest-growing female prison population in the United States; an increasing violent crime rate but a decrease in violent crime arrests; insufficient behavioral health resources; and a high rate of prison admissions driven by factors other than new crimes, with about half of new admissions occurring for technical violations of probation or parole. The task force worked with the Council of State Governments Justice Center staff to review analyses and develop policies and strategies to reduce violent crime, improve community-based treatment, reduce recidivism and increase public safety. House Bill 1355, known as the Justice Reinvestment Bill, was signed into law in June 2018.

When it comes to changing the mindsets and behaviors of people involved in the criminal justice system, research shows a cookie-cutter approach doesn't work. In order to get the best results—to send people back out into the community better than they were when they entered custody—treatment, programming and interventions must be tailored to the particular needs and strengths of each offender. Changes through Justice Reinvestment include: a validated risk and needs assessment tool used in every division in the department; cognitive behavioral interventions that help change criminal thinking; a system of incentives and sanctions to be used before, during and after incarceration; transformation of community supervision centers, targeting high-risk clients with effective programming; and treatment programs for Missourians at risk of reincarceration. Since 2017, the statewide prison population has dropped by more than 30%.

Giving Back

With the goal of giving back to the people of the state, Missourians in state correctional centers perform volunteer work and complete projects to support nonprofit agencies. Cultivating Restorative Justice Gardens at adult institutions, each season offenders, with staff oversight and assistance, grow approximately 60 tons of fresh produce for donation to local food banks, shelters, schools and other organizations. In partnership with Missouri animal shelters, offenders participating in the Puppies for Parole program train and socialize thousands of rescue dogs in preparation for adoption by Missouri households. Every year offenders and staff hold fundraisers to provide school supplies to low-resource kids and give aid to people affected by natural disasters.

Through restorative justice initiatives, offenders serve fellow citizens and strengthen social bonds that serve as the foundation of communities. Offender-volunteers sew and donate hand-made quilts, including weighted quilts for people on the autism spectrum and fidget quilts for people with Alzheimer's disease. They refurbish used bicycles for donation to people who need them. They knit tiny hats for premature newborn babies at area hospitals. They create handcrafted wood-work projects such as birdhouses and children's furniture. They make backpacks and overnight bags for foster children. They produce educational materials and coloring books for preschool programs. All projects are donated to nonprofit organizations for their own use, for distribution to citizens, or for fundraising auctions.

Reentry

More than 15,000 people are released from Missouri Department of Corrections facilities every year. To ensure a smooth transition back into the community, the Reentry Unit connects Missourians involved with the criminal justice system with the nonprofit groups, faith-based organizations, government agencies, care providers, employers and other resources they need to successfully rejoin the community.

Employment for Missourians involved in the criminal justice system is a win-win-win for the state. Win for employers: skilled labor force eager to work. Win for offenders' families: stability and income. Win for communities: reduced risk and a safer Missouri. Supplementing the numerous vocational training programs offered at correctional centers statewide, the Reentry Unit helps to facilitate employment readiness programs. Fellow state government agencies and partner nonprofit organizations provide education and training in areas such as goal-setting, résumé building, job interview etiquette, personal presentation and professional expectations. The reentry team has formed partnerships with more than 300 employers throughout the state who are willing to hire Missourians with felony convictions. Offenders nearing release from prison may complete job interviews at prison hiring fairs or through video conference and secure employment offers before release. Missourians can walk out of prison and onto the job site.

For Missourians facing multiple barriers to success, the reentry team helps to coordinate access to wrap-around services. Staff cultivate partnerships with organizations and agencies that can help Missourians leaving prison to find housing, clothing, food, transportation, medical care, childcare, substance use treatment, education, spiritual support and other resources they need to succeed. Community partners provide services and advising to offenders inside the prisons and offer follow-up services and support after release.

In recent years, Missouri has had the fastest-growing population of women in prison in the United States. Recognizing that the experiences and needs of women in the offender population are often dramatically different from those of their male counterparts, the department has implemented gender-responsive and trauma-informed practices department-wide, offering programming and treatment based on women's specific, assessed needs. In addition to two women's prisons, in Vandalia and Chillicothe, Missouri, the department operates an all-women's community supervision center in Fulton, Missouri, where women on probation and parole supervision can get help with cognitive interventions, life skills, sobriety and more, developing the tools they need to stay out of prison.

Divisions

The Department of Corrections encompasses five divisions. The Office of the Director functions as the central administrative hub, overseeing the four main divisions as well as special units for research and planning, professional standards, legal services, budget and finance, victim services, reentry, legislative affairs, constituent services and communications. The Division of Human Services recruits, trains and supports a professional and diverse workforce and cultivates a workplace in which safety and wellness are practiced as part of the job. The Division of Adult Institutions manages the state's 18 correctional centers using an inmate classification system to enhance safety and security for all staff, offenders and visitors. The Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services develops offender programs that address medical and mental health issues; provide treatment for substance use disorders; and offer education, vocational training and life skills programs. The Division of Probation and Parole supervises felony offenders ordered to probation by the courts or released by the Parole Board from adult institutions by means of parole or conditional release.

Research, Planning and Process Improvement

The Office of Research, Planning and Process Improvement generates research data and analysis to inform department decision-making and strategic planning. The office tracks offender population changes, maintains statistical data and evaluates trends. It supplies research and survey data to agencies within and outside state government, responding to outside research requests and inquiries as well as requests for state budget fiscal notes. The unit also prepares the department's strategic plan; monitors strategies and performance measures associated with the strategic plan; and facilitates departmental teams that work on process improvement, quality assurance, problem-solving and customer satisfaction projects. Staff in this office also obtain, monitor, manage and disburse grant funds.

Office of Professional Standards

The three-unit Office of Professional Standards strives to ensure that all interactions in the department—whether with offenders, visitors or other employees—are professional and respectful. The Civil Rights Unit provides statewide training for staff and conducts investigations into allegations of discrimination, harassment, retaliation and unprofessional conduct. The Employee Conduct Unit investigates employee violations of policy and procedure, which might involve circumstances such as offender injuries, over-familiarity between an employee and an offender, contraband or confidential records. The Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA) Unit is responsible for developing, implementing, investigating and overseeing the agency's compliance with Prison Rape Elimination Act standards in all facilities. The office operates a Confidential Line for Employee Allegations and Reporting (C.L.E.A.R.) for anonymous reporting of misconduct.

Budget and Finance

The Office of Budget and Finance assesses and analyzes the financial needs of the department and determines the most effective and strategic ways to invest state taxpayer dollars in programs and operations that improve the lives of Missourians and make the state's communities safer. The office develops, prepares and presents an annual budget request that reflects the department's strategic planning goals and objectives. Through analysis of research data on program outcomes and population trends, the unit provides guidance on ways to use department resources effectively. The Budget Unit presents the budget request to the governor's office and then works closely with the General Assembly to provide information during the appropriations process.

The Fiscal Management Unit oversees the implementation and maintenance of complex accounting systems that provide essential fiscal oversight, support and assistance to correctional institutions, probation and parole district offices, and Missouri Vocational Enterprises. The unit ensures accountability and transparency of state resources through the work of skilled and experienced staff in purchasing, accounting and auditing. The Offender Finance Unit provides fiscal oversight, support and assistance to the offender population by managing offender canteen and banking systems as well as offender payroll.

Legislative Affairs

The Legislative Affairs office is responsible for planning, organizing and coordinating state and federal legislative matters related to the agency's programs. The office works with the director and the executive staff to establish legislative priorities and to complete legislative research and technical preparation, analysis and tracking. The department's legislative liaison testifies before legislative committees; educates the public about programs and legislative initiatives; and works with the House of Representatives and Senate research staff on drafting agency legislation. The liaison supplies bill sponsors with fact sheets and materials, including amendments; monitors bill progress; and provides hearing summaries and briefings to policy makers.

Communications and Public Information

The Public Information Office operates as the central communications team for the department. The communications director spearheads content strategy and serves as the department's media relations liaison, keeping journalists and the public informed about department news and initiatives. Communications staff develop messaging for external and internal audiences; create newsletters, videos and other employee communications; schedule media interviews with staff and offenders; develop original written and visual content for print publications, digital communications and special projects; manage social media accounts and public websites for the department; and handle crisis communications. Partnering with the Division of Human Services, the unit creates employee recruitment campaigns and materials. The team also plans and host events showcasing the department's impact on the state.

Constituent Services

The Constituent Services Office processes offender-related inquiries from legislative offices, offenders' families and the public. Taking a customer-focused approach to addressing citizens' needs, staff in this office provide information about specific offenders as well as education about the department's operations, policies, procedures and practices. Striving for pro-active communication with the public, the office produces a monthly newsletter for family and friends of offenders, updating these constituents on changes to policies and programs while also sharing tips and resources regarding topics such as visiting, mail correspondence and phone service.

Victim Services

The department's Office of Victim Services was established to ensure that core services and accurate, timely information are provided to Missouri's crime victims. The office provides notification of changes in an offender's status to victims of crime in accordance with 595.209, RSMo. Victim Services staff enhance accessibility to department processes, including parole hearings, victim impact statements for the Parole Board's consideration and reasonable protection from offenders or others acting on behalf of an offender. This unit provides notifications, crisis intervention, support and referrals to approximately 19,000 registered victims of crimes. Upon the request of the victim, staff will provide accompaniment to parole hearings and provide support to families of homicide victims during an execution.

Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services

The Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services develops programs for offenders that address medical and mental health issues, education, vocational training, and treatment for substance use and sexual disorders. These programs are developed and implemented by the division's sections of Medical and Mental Health Services, Adult Education and Workforce Development, Substance Use and Recovery Services and Missouri Vocational Enterprises.

Education

The Missouri Department of Corrections educates incarcerated Missourians and prepares them for the workforce. Each month more than 5,000 offenders in state correctional centers take academic classes. Their pass rate on the high school equivalency test exceeds 90%. About 2,300 are trained in Missouri Vocational Enterprises factories, and 2,000 enroll in career and technical programs. Offenders' pass rate on the National Career Readiness Certificate program is 94%. Through college and university partnerships, the department also provides higher education opportunities for offenders and staff in facilities and digital classrooms.

Academic Education

Adult education serves offender students whose skill levels range from early elementary to high school in the areas of reading, math, language, science and social studies. Correctional education provides small classes, enabling each teacher to tailor lessons to the offender students at appropriate levels. The education program follows the guidelines set by the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, using the Test of Adult Basic Education as the official assessment tool and the HiSET as the official high school equivalency test.

Facility corrections managers, acting as school principals, are responsible for the day-to-day operations and administrative functions of the schools. Certified teachers provide classroom instruction. Offenders who have high school diplomas or equivalency certificates work as tutors in the classrooms, offering support and mentoring for peers.

Adult basic education (ABE) is an integral part of the rehabilitative process. Offenders who have not yet earned high school diplomas or equivalency certificates upon incarceration are required by statute to participate in adult basic education classes. Missouri adult education and literacy programs have been ranked No. 1 in student advancement by the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Career, Technical and Adult Education National Reporting System.

The department ensures that offenders younger than 22 who have learning disabilities can participate in appropriate educational services, in accordance with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. Each special education teacher provides appropriate education based on the needs of the offender student, as outlined in each individualized education program (IEP). Services include accommodations and modifications in classroom instruction and test taking to help students achieve academic success. Any student younger than 22 who has not completed high school and does not have a high school equivalency certificate may be enrolled in a Title I class for one hour per day. The Title I teacher assists in subject areas in which the student is working below his or her education level. Title I students benefit from one-on-one additional help through the use of supplementary materials.

The department maintains partnerships with colleges and universities including Washington University, Saint Louis University, Rockhurst University, State Technical College of Missouri and Ashland University of Ohio. Through these partnerships, offenders and staff have the opportunity to take college courses and earn degrees.

Career and Technical Education

The Department of Corrections trains Missourians to enter the workforce.

The Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services offers effective career and technical educational services inside correctional institutions. These programs form a bridge to a successful transition to society. Thanks to grants from the Workforce Development Board and partnerships with state agencies, the department's vocational training options are constantly growing. Offenders can earn apprenticeships in wastewater management, heavy equipment operation, horticulture and farming. Instructors in the welding, heavy equipment operator and commercial driving classes use simulators to give offender-students hands-on experience within institution classrooms.

Employment readiness is a vital component of post-release success for Missourians involved in the criminal justice system. Offenders in Missouri state prisons are trained to perform jobs in fields in which the state is experiencing a high demand for skilled labor. The department also helps Missouri businesses find the labor force they need in areas such as manufacturing, construction, auto mechanics, truck driving, heavy equipment operation and health care. Employers recruit trained workers pre-release through resource fairs and video interviews and after release through our reentry programs.

Current vocational programs include automotive mechanics, applied computer technology, welding, carpentry, electrical wiring, business technology, nursing assistance, commercial vehicle operation, cosmetology, culinary arts, customer service, diesel mechanics, heavy equipment operation, food service, cabinetry, construction, outdoor power equipment, professional gardening and residential plumbing. The department partners with local community colleges to offer technical literacy and certified production technician training programs. All of the vocational programs provide offenders with the opportunity to earn hours toward a Department of Labor certificate upon completion. In addition, offenders obtain the following certifications and/or licenses upon completion of the applicable coursework: ServSafe (culinary arts), National Center for Construction Education and Research (welding, plumbing and electrical), Career Connections Levels 1, 2 and 3 (carpenters union for building trades), Certipoint (computer technology), State Board of Cosmetology License (cosmetology) and Certified Nursing Assistant License (certified nursing assistant).

Missouri Vocational Enterprises

Missouri Vocational Enterprises (MVE), a program of the Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services, was established by state statute (RSMo 217.550) to create meaningful job training for incarcerated offenders. MVE operates 22 industries and services inside 12 correctional institutions throughout the state. Each year, MVE employs more than 2,300 offenders who provide high-quality products and services for sale to state agencies, city and county governments, political subdivisions, state employees and not-for-profit organizations. Profits generated by MVE sales are used to develop new products and create expanded vocational training opportunities. More than 50 MVE jobs qualify as federally certified apprenticeships by the U.S. Department of Labor. MVE also provides skilled training programs, such as computer-aided drafting and similar software, to help offenders to secure and retain employment upon release. MVE operates on a working capital revolving fund and does not receive any tax dollars from the general revenue.

Medical Services

The department has maintained contracted medical services since 1992. The Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services employs contract-monitoring staff who are Missouri-licensed medical professionals to ensure offenders receive medical care equivalent to the community standard and that all mandates of the contract are fulfilled.

The department promotes education, disease prevention, immediate identification of medical problems and early intervention to prevent chronic health conditions. Our correctional centers follow standards set by the National Commission on Correctional Health Care. All medical staff members are Missouri-licensed health care professionals.

The department provides health care for offenders in custody by operating medical units 24 hours a day in 19 of its 20 correctional, reception/diagnostic centers, including 14 around-the-clock infirmaries for acutely ill offenders. Several institutions have specialty care units for the aging population and those needing minor assistance. Trained volunteer offender wellness assistants provide simple daily living assistance to peers, as well as support and companionship for peers with terminal illnesses through a hospice program. On-site dialysis is available at the Moberly Correctional Center under the direction of a board-certified nephrologist. Some sites use digital X-ray equipment for diagnostics, and all sites provide eye care, minor surgeries, dental care, hearing test equipment, physical therapy, ear, nose and throat clinics. Mammography is available to the female population. More than 300 Missouri hospitals, local specialists and clinics provide health care for offenders beyond what is available on site.

The ultimate goal of the department is to return offenders to the community as healthy as possible so they may become productive citizens of the state.

Mental Health

When offenders are sentenced to prison, their mental health needs are first assessed at the reception and diagnostic centers, where they receive a full mental health evaluation and psychological testing. All incarcerated offenders have access to mental health services, regardless of past history or severity. Offenders with moderate to severe treatment needs are enrolled in the mental health chronic care clinic and receive regular individualized treatment with a primary therapist. Those with mild or sporadic treatment issues can request mental health services as needed. Available services range from psychoeducational groups to comprehensive psychiatric care.

In the United States, people with serious mental illness are significantly over-represented in jails and prisons — at about 18%, compared to 5-7% of the general population. The Missouri Department of Corrections has a mental health caseload of more than 9,000 people (or 30%), 18% of whom have been diagnosed with severe mental illness. To help ensure proper offender treatment and facility safety, the department operates five types of specialty housing units, which house about 200 offenders.

The medium-security Social Rehabilitation Unit (SRU) at Farmington Correctional Center and Women's Social Rehabilitation Unit (WSRU) at Chillicothe Correctional Center house offenders affected by chronic psychological problems, poor coping skills, psychotic symptoms, an inability to understand or follow rules, and/or difficulties with psychotropic medication. The Secure Social Rehabilitation Unit (SSRU) at Jefferson City Correctional Center houses maximum-security offenders who have similar psychiatric issues, as well as violent or disruptive behaviors. Staffed by Department of Mental Health personnel, the Corrections Treatment Center (CTC) at Farmington provides inpatient psychiatric care to offenders with significant mental illness who require segregation from the general population. The Special Needs Unit (SNU) at Potosi Correctional Center houses offenders who have developmental and intellectual disabilities resulting in frequent victimization and/or an inability to adjust to incarceration.

Mental health services are available at all institutions and are provided by teams of psychiatrists, psychologists, advanced nurse practitioners, social workers, professional counselors, psychiatric nurses and activity therapists.

To help staff better address offenders with mental illness, the department provides Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) training. The first CIT training was launched in 2014 at Jefferson City Correctional Center, equipping 25 staff members with the skills they need to recognize mental health issues, verbally de-escalate tense situations and prevent major crises. Administrators immediately saw a 50% decrease in uses of force. The program has since become an integral part of corrections culture, transforming how staff and offenders think about behavioral health. In 2016, the department's CIT won the Governor's Award for Quality and Productivity. In 2018, the three training centers expanded the intensive CIT training sessions to annually train 300 staff members.

Sex Offender Assessment and Treatment

The Missouri Sex Offender Program (MOSOP) provides treatment, education and rehabilitation for sexual-assault offenders as required by Missouri law (589.040, RSMo). MOSOP completion is mandatory for a release prior to an offender's sentence completion time. Program length varies based on individual treatment needs. MOSOP is provided at Farmington Correctional Center for men and Women's Eastern Reception, Diagnostic and Correctional Center in Vandalia for women. Programming for special-needs offenders and those in protective custody is offered at Western Missouri Correctional Center in Cameron.

The Sex Offender Assessment Process (SOAP) provides an assessment report to the courts for sentencing considerations. Assessments include standard psychological testing and specific instruments for sex offenders. This information helps the court determine the most appropriate treatment for probation-eligible sex offenders.

The Department of Corrections is responsible for assessing sex offenders prior to release to identify those who may qualify for civil commitment as sexually violent predators (632.480, RSMo). Offenders with qualifying offenses per statute are examined by specialized psychologists to determine whether they meet statutory guidelines.

Institutional Substance Use Disorders Treatment and Toxicology Services

Substance use disorders are a well-documented criminogenic factor with a direct impact on offender recidivism. Substance use disorders are progressive, and the need for treatment and recovery support services usually recurs throughout an offender's life span.

Treatment services for substance use disorders are provided to offenders incarcerated in Missouri's prisons who have been sentenced by the courts or stipulated by the Parole Board for substance use disorders treatment.

Services include substance use assessment; long-term treatment programs of one year or longer; Offenders Under Treatment (OUT) programs for 180-day treatment; short-term treatment programs for offenders ordered by the court or board to serve 84 to 120 days of treatment; treatment programs for offenders with special needs who are mandated for substance use disorders treatment and face health, cognitive or mobility problems; and toxicology services, a critical aspect of the drug interdiction. The department conducts both random and targeted urinalysis at every correctional institution and district office for offenders.

Cremer Therapeutic Community Center

The Cremer Therapeutic Center (CTCC) is a minimum-security facility in Fulton in which all offenders receive substance use treatment. The facility has a capacity of 180 beds.

Division of Human Services

A professionally trained workforce is essential to carrying out the vision, mission, values and professional principles of the department. The Division of Human Services aims to improve the work environment for employees, maintain a qualified workforce and boost communication between management and staff.

Office of Personnel

The Office of Personnel oversees staff recruitment, hiring, promotion, compensation, performance appraisal and personnel records maintenance, while also providing assistance to managers and supervisors. The office ensures the department's compliance with state personnel law and serves as a liaison with the Office of Administration-Division of Personnel.

General Services

General Services is responsible for the purchasing, storage and distribution of commodity food items to the department's institutions from two regional warehouses, as well as the operations of regional cook-chill facilities. The section handles construction and maintenance projects within the department and manages central-office services such as telecommunications, technology services, warehouse functions and vehicle fleet management.

Policy and Forms

The Policy and Forms Management Unit ensures that policies and procedure guidelines governing operations of the department are kept up to date and that accurate, relevant, accessible forms are available to staff, offenders and constituents.

Training Academy

The Training Academy develops, coordinates and delivers pre-service, in-service and management/supervisor training to staff in all of the department's divisions. The academy promotes personal growth and professional development and imparts the department's vision to all staff to help them achieve the short- and long-term goals of the agency. Regional academies in Farmington, Jefferson City and St. Joseph conduct pre-service basic training courses for all new corrections officers, non-custody staff and probation and parole officers. In addition, more than 1,000 in-service and management courses are presented annually. The academy is responsible for probation and parole safety training and multiple certification programs. The academy designs and develops all departmental curricula.

Employee Health and Safety

The Employee Health and Safety section addresses job-related health and safety concerns. Staff in this office oversee and implement occupational safety initiatives, coordinate the department's Early Return to Work Program, promote employee wellness activities and coordinate employee drug testing.

Volunteers and Interns

Volunteers serve throughout the department and are recognized as non-salaried staff who receive orientation, training and supervision by department employees. Volunteers provide services and programs in areas such as substance use disorder, recovery support, literacy, tutoring, parenting, anger management, employability skills and spirituality. They also give incarcerated offenders the opportunity to participate in community organizations such as NAACP, Vietnam Veterans, Kiwanis, Toastmasters and American Legion. The volunteer office coordinates student interns and representatives from other state agencies as well.

Division of Adult Institutions

The Division of Adult Institutions manages the state's 20 adult correctional centers. Prison staff operate safe, secure facilities housing Missourians committed by the courts to serve a prison sentence. Offenders are expected to comply with institution rules and to engage in work, education or programming full time while incarcerated.

Each adult institution operates like a small city whose residents go to school, work in jobs, eat meals together in dining halls and access treatment for medical or behavioral-health issues. They participate in programs designed to help them change their mindsets, give back to fellow Missourians, develop a deep understanding of the impact of crime on victims, and make positive contributions to communities inside and outside prison walls. More than 95% of offenders committed to prison ultimately are released. Preparing them to transition successfully to the community improves public safety and reduces future victimization.

Religious and Spiritual Programming

Religious programming opportunities and pastoral care services are provided for offenders in correctional centers. Chaplains assigned to the institutions work with volunteers from various faith groups to ensure constitutional rights of inmates to practice their chosen religions are facilitated within the limitations of a secure setting. Spirituality can be a restorative and transforming tool for inmate change, growth and social reintegration. Spiritual services available in Missouri correctional centers include counseling; visits from community volunteers and clergy; religious dietary accommodations; a religious advisory council; worship services and studies; a chapel library and special programming. Access to religious and spiritual services has been shown to decrease conduct violations and promote inmate institutional adjustment. Inmates attending religious and spiritual programming are more likely to engage in activities that promote positive attitudes and behaviors needed to take advantage of other programs.

Missouri Veterans Program

In seven correctional centers in Missouri, offenders who have served in the United States military live together in a platoon-like system within a housing unit. They raise and lower the flag every day, assign and carry out work duties, complete treatment for post-traumatic stress and substance use together, and provide mentorship to peers. Veteran organizations working with these units help offenders access services such as Veterans Administration benefits and reentry resources. Participation in the program reduces conduct violations, boosts treatment efficacy and helps to improve the chances of success upon release. After release, veterans get additional support from the probation and parole veteran caseloads.

Parole Board

The Missouri Parole Board includes up to seven full-time members appointed by the governor, subject to the advice and consent of the Senate. Serving six-year terms, members make decisions regarding the release of Missourians from confinement in the Division of Adult Institutions through parole or conditional release. Parole hearings are held monthly at correctional centers and may include video conferencing. If a release date is set, the Parole Board determines whether particular release strategies — such as electronic monitoring or a community supervision center — might be appropriate. The Parole Board stipulates special conditions to address specific offender needs and help ensure public safety; the board might select appropriate interventions for those who pose a risk in the community. The Parole Board also investigates and reports to the governor on all applications for pardons, commutations of sentence, reprieves or restorations of citizenship.

The chair of the Parole Board, appointed by the governor, is the chief administrative officer and spokesperson.

The members of the Parole Board are:

Phillips, Don, chair;

Zamkus, Jennifer, vice chair;

Atkins, Bryan, member;

Fitzwater, Paul, member;

Munzlinger, Brian, member;

Nasheed, Jamilah, member;

Division of Probation and Parole

The Division of Probation and Parole aims to help Missourians succeed while under supervision in the community. Using a validated risk and needs assessment tool, division staff work to reduce crime and revocations to prison by equipping clients with the skills and resources they need to comply with their conditions of supervision.

The division is responsible for field and institutional services for probationers, parolees and conditional releases. It manages community corrections programming, a transition center and six community supervision centers. Division staff assess and supervise criminal offenders assigned to the division by the circuit courts of Missouri, by the Parole Board, or under the terms of the Interstate Compact.

The division is divided statewide into six regions for the effective management of clients. Regions are made up of a network of local district offices, institutional parole offices and residential facilities. In some instances, they are supported by satellite offices.

The Eastern Region includes district field offices in St. Louis City, St. Louis County as well as the Transition Center of St. Louis.

The Southwest Region includes field district offices in Springfield, Joplin, Neosho, Branson, Nixa, Aurora, West Plains, Cassville and Nevada.

The North Central Region includes district field offices in Columbia, Jefferson City, Sedalia, Camdenton, Lebanon, Lexington (satellite in Marshall), Warrensburg and Cameron.

The Northeast Region includes district field officers in Hannibal, Fulton, Troy, St. Charles, Macon, Union and Rolla (satellite in Steelville), and community supervision centers in Fulton and Hannibal.

Institutional Services

Institutional parole officers assess incarcerated Missourians in state prisons and the track their progress for the Parole Board or the court. The institutional officers report their findings to the Parole Board prior to an offender's parole hearing and to the court when the offender is being considered for release to under supervision. The institutional parole staff and parole analyst assist the Parole Board as they conduct hearings. The officers work with the offenders to develop supervision plans as they prepare for their release from confinement.

Institutional parole offices are located at the following correctional centers: Algoa, Boonville, Chillicothe, Crossroads, Farmington, Potosi, Jefferson City, Maryville, Missouri Eastern, Moberly, Northeast, Western Missouri, Ozark, South Central, Southeast, Kansas City and Tipton. Parole offices are also located at diagnostic and reception centers in Bonne Terre, St. Joseph, Vandalia and Fulton (satellite at Cremer Therapeutic Community Center).

Community Supervision

Field services encompass the supervision of probationers in the community assigned to the division by the courts, parolees released under supervision by the Parole Board, and offenders from other states relocated through the Interstate Compact. There were more than 62,000 Missourians under the supervision of the division in the community in 2019.

In order to reduce recidivism, field probation and parole officers continuously assess, evaluate and supervise clients under their supervision. Probation and parole officers effectively balance treatment and supervision strategies necessary to manage offender risk with the needs and interests of community safety. This supervision process includes multiple critical components, such as accurate and ongoing assessment of offender risks and needs; development of effective supervision and treatment plans; and use of appropriate incentives and sanctions that maximize the potential for successful outcomes. Probation and Parole staff form partnerships with local law enforcement and community organizations to get the best results.

Justice Reinvestment Treatment Pilot

In 2018, a new Justice Reinvestment treatment program was launched in Boone, Butler and Buchanan counties before expanding to a dozen Missouri counties. Now known as Improving Community Treatment Success, this joint project between Probation and Parole and the Department of Mental Health (DMH) provides substance use and co-occurring disorder treatment to high- and moderate-risk community-supervision clients who face challenges remaining engaged in community treatment. The program involves frequent case staff collaboration between supervising officers and providers; allows payment for services to address barriers to treatment, such as housing, employment or other basic needs; and provides performance-driven incentives when outcomes in housing and employment stability, retention in treatment and diversion from revocation are favorable.

Transition Centers of St. Louis and Kansas City

In 2017, the Missouri Department of Corrections transformed an aging community release center into the remodeled Transition Center of St. Louis, providing housing and programming to men under community supervision. In a four-phase transitional program, residents work on employment readiness, education, treatment, life skills, cognitive restructuring, home plan assistance, family reunification, parenting and money management. Two wings of the Transition Center are devoted to education, programming and group activities. Computer labs are available for education and job search activities. In 2021, the department began converting the Kansas City Reentry Center, a minimum-security prison, into the Transition Center of Kansas City, a residential facility for Kansas City area men on probation or parole.

Community Supervision Centers

The Division of Probation and Parole manages six community supervision centers (CSCs) housing clients on probation or parole. These centers are located in St. Joseph, Farmington, Hannibal, Kennett, Poplar Bluff and Fulton. Beginning In 2018, community supervision centers transitioned to the CSC Repurpose Model. This four-phase model targets high-risk clients who need intensive programming in several areas and who are at risk of revocation. It focuses on incentives and sanctions as clients complete each of the four phases, with the referring probation and parole officer supervising the client while he or she is a CSC resident. Programs are targeted to each client's assessed needs. Clients must complete core programming components before they can receive passes into the community for employment or other purposes. In 2019, the Fulton CSC became the first all-women's community supervision center in the state, implementing gender-responsive and trauma-informed programming and treatment while supervising Missouri women on probation and parole.

Command Center

Command Center staff track Missourians on probation and parole through the use of electronic monitoring, in supervision centers or in contracted residential facilities. This unit was established to ensure that offenders assigned to community corrections programs maintain their curfews and comply with their conditions of supervision. Command Center staff conduct investigations for every serious rule violation. They issue arrest warrants for Missourians who fail to return to their assigned residences at the appointed time. Staff maintain regular contact with state and local law enforcement to develop leads and ensure absconders are apprehended and returned to department custody.

The Missouri Community Service Commission (MCSC) is dedicated to creating opportunities to enable all citizens to serve their communities. The MCSC connects Missourians of all ages and backgrounds in an effort to improve unmet community service needs through direct and tangible service. The MCSC serves as the administrator for AmeriCorps State funding in Missouri by awarding monetary grants and providing technical assistance and support to its grantees. By collaborating with volunteer organizations and state agencies and continuing to effectively administer National Service initiatives, the MCSC makes it possible for Missourians to serve their communities.

The MCSC was established by an act of the Missouri Legislature in 1994 as a direct response to the National and Community Service Trust Act of 1993. Its 15 to 25 members are appointed by the governor and meet quarterly. The Missouri Legislature passed a measure in 1998 allowing the commission to raise private contributions to assist in its work, thus enabling the commission to broaden its impact on the service and volunteer communities. The MCSC receives federal funding from the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) to administer the AmeriCorps State and Education Awards programs in Missouri, making federal funds more responsive to state and local needs and providing greater assistance to educational, nonprofit, secular and faith-based community organizations.

Overseeing the AmeriCorps program is the MCSC's primary responsibility. AmeriCorps is a national service network supported by the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) of Washington, D.C.. AmeriCorps members may serve full time or part time. The participants are often referred to as "members." These members, through the MCSC and CNCS, are provided opportunities to serve their communities and build capacity to meet local needs.

AmeriCorps, often referred to as the "domestic Peace Corps," engages citizens of all ages in projects ranging from tutoring, youth mentoring, public safety, housing rehabilitation, health care, environmental issues, disaster relief and other human needs. It provides communities and neighborhoods with valuable human resources for addressing their most pressing civic issues and gives individuals a way to serve their country by reaching out to others. In 2017–2018, 686 Missouri residents served 759,961 hours and have qualified for Segal AmeriCorps Education Awards totaling more than $2,482,359. In 2017–2018, 686 AmeriCorps members recruited 7,283 volunteers who served 55,824 hours. Based on the Independent Sector's Value of Volunteer Time, the National Value of Volunteer Time for 2017 was $23.21 per hour. This equates to $1,295,675. Also in 2011–2012, AmeriCorps members tutored and/or mentored 46,734 individuals. Of these, 168 were children of incarcerated parents. A total of 167 AmeriCorps members participated in disaster response and relief and 263 were certified in disaster preparedness and response.

Most not-for-profit organizations with 501(c)(3) status in the state of Missouri, local or state governments, school districts or institutions of higher education may sponsor an AmeriCorps program. An AmeriCorps member's term of service for one year on a full-time basis is a minimum of 1,700 hours. Part-time can consist of 900, 675, 450 or 300 hours. At the successful completion of their service commitment, they may be eligible to receive up to a $5,815 education award (less for part-time service) that may be redeemed at a Title IV university, college or trade school. Most AmeriCorps members receive a living allowance while serving, though it varies with the type of program. In 2017–2018, a full-time minimum living allowance equaled $12,630. The living allowance is optional for part-time members.

The Missouri Housing Development Commission (MHDC), created by the 75th General Assembly, has invested and loaned in excess of $4 billion to construct, renovate and preserve affordable housing. MHDC functions as a bank, providing financing directly to developers of affordable rental properties.

The commission also provides funding for home loans to qualified, first-time buyers through a network of certified, private mortgage lenders.

The funds for mortgage financing are provided through the sale of tax-exempt notes and bonds that the commission is authorized to issue.

The commission administers the federal and Missouri Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) programs, federal HOME funds, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Project-Based Section 8 rental assistance contracts, Affordable Housing Assistance tax credit and several housing assistance programs funded directly by MHDC. Additionally, the commission administers the Missouri Housing Trust Fund, a program designed to prevent homelessness and provide emergency housing assistance for very low-income Missourians.

The commission participates with the Department of Economic Development in preparing the state's Consolidated Plan for HUD.

The Missouri Development Finance Board (MDFB) administers several financing programs for public infrastructure and private economic development capital projects of all sizes throughout Missouri. The board manages many of these programs in partnership with the Missouri DED.

The board was originally created in 1982 as a separate body corporate and politic of the state within DED as the Missouri Industrial Development Board. Its primary mission was to finance small- to medium-sized new and expanding manufacturing businesses. The board's name and mission have evolved at various times since its inception based upon subsequent legislation that expanded its business financing authority and added authority to fund local and state public infrastructure improvements and nonprofit facilities.

The board funds its loans and investments through the issuance of project-specific conduit revenue bond debt, limited authorization to approve tax credits and fee income earned. Borrowers participating in the board's programs are responsible for debt repayment. The state of Missouri does not incur any costs, nor does it bear any obligation for repaying conduit loans, bonds or notes issued by the board for private or local government borrowers. The board sustains its staffing and operational costs from fee income paid by applicants and other general operating revenues.

Membership on the board is composed of eight private Missouri residents appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate to four-year terms. These volunteer members must have been residents of the state for not less than five years prior to their appointment. Remaining membership consists of the lieutenant

Missouri Division of Tourism

Tourism continues to rank as one of the most important revenue- and job-producing industries in Missouri. In FY18, Missouri's six million residents welcomed more than 42 million visitors and created more than 301,000 jobs. With a $17.2 billion dollar economic impact, tourism is a dynamic component of economic development. The travel industry has a broad footprint in Missouri because it is composed of a diverse group of businesses found in every county in the state. The money visitors spend while in Missouri produces business receipts at these firms, in turn employing Missouri residents and paying their wages and salaries.

State and local government units benefit from travel as well. The state government collects taxes on the gross receipts of businesses operating in the state, as well as sales and use taxes levied on the sale of goods and services to travelers. Local governments also collect sales and use taxes generated from traveler purchases.

The 74th General Assembly recognized the importance of tourism when it created the Missouri Tourism Commission in 1967. In collaboration with the Missouri Department of Transportation, the Division of Tourism operates five welcome centers at key locations around the state, providing interaction with visitors, many of whom extend their stay after learning about the opportunities to be found in the state.

As the official destination marketing organization charged with promoting Missouri as a leisure travel destination, the Missouri Division of Tourism (MDT) plans and implements a wide variety of marketing and strategic sales initiatives. The division's award-winning marketing program includes print, television, online, outdoor, search text and mobile advertising focusing on the experiences Missouri offers and tourists' perceptions of Missouri as a scenic destination with cultural, historical and family activities. A major component of the division is its website: VisitMO.com.

In 1993, HB 188 was signed into law as section 620.467, RSMo. This legislation included a performance-based funding formula for the Missouri Division of Tourism.

Tourism Commission

The commission consists of 10 members: the lieutenant governor, two members of the Senate of different political parties appointed by the president pro tem of the Senate, two members of the House of Representatives of different political parties appointed by the speaker of the House, and five other persons appointed by the governor, which may include but are not limited to persons engaged in tourism-oriented operations. No more than three of the governor's appointees shall be of the same political party.

Commission members appointed by the governor serve staggered four-year terms and may be reappointed at the end of their terms. All serve without compensation but are reimbursed for necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

The commission elects a chair and meets at least four times in a calendar year, at the call of the chairman, to determine all matters relating to the tourism policies of the state of Missouri and the administration of MDT.

The commission reports to each regular session of the General Assembly the results of its marketing program and any recommendations for legislation in the field of tourism promotion.

The budget of MDT is contained within the annual submittal of the Department of Economic Development to the Missouri General Assembly for approval.

The Tourism Commission employs a director of MDT, qualified by education and experience in public administration with a background in the use of the various news media. The director employs a staff of professional, technical and clerical personnel.

Advertising and Promotion

MDT's primary activities are in the areas of advertising and promotion. The goal is to deliver the right message, through the right medium, to the right audience, at the right time, in order to maximize the economic impact of travel to the Show-Me State.

The strategic marketing plan is the roadmap that guides all marketing efforts of MDT and has been designed to ensure promotion of Missouri's significant tourism assets to the largest potential universe of customers. nomic impact of travel to Missouri. Among the promotional tools are the annual Missouri Travel Guide, the VisitMo.com website and several widely used social media platforms. Additionally, MDT's communications team works year-round with travel journalists and media outlets to secure positive media coverage of Missouri's diverse tourism attractions and destinations. Through a paid-advertising program, MDT promotes Missouri's vacation opportunities through television, print, digital, outdoor and social channels. MDT's advertising is designed to create a positive image of Missouri and to generate travel to the state. The majority of MDT marketing efforts are focused on the domestic leisure traveler, which includes visits to friends and relatives as well as trips taken for cultural, arts, outdoor recreation and entertainment purposes. Research plays a vital and necessary role in measuring the effectiveness of MDT's efforts to increase tourism spending and stimulate economic and market-share growth at the state and local level. MDT's research measures past efforts and offers insights as to how, where, when and to whom the state should direct promotional efforts to increase the number of visitors, the length of stay and their expenditures. Research projects are conducted on a continual basis to determine the size, growth and impact of MDT's marketing efforts.

MDT works with independent research firms to assess the effect of travel spending on the state's economy, tax revenue derived from travel spending and employment generated through tourism.

In 1993, MDT initiated the Cooperative Marketing program designed to leverage division marketing resources through participation in strategic marketing partnerships with destination marketing organizations throughout the state.

For travelers to the Show-Me State, MDT's Official State Welcome Centers are at the following locations:

- Joplin Welcome Center—Interstate 44 at Mile Marker 2 Rest Area, west of Joplin;
- Hayti Welcome Center—Interstate 55 N. at Mile Marker 20;

- Rock Port Welcome Center—23181 Interstate 29 S. at Mile Marker 109;
- Eagleville Welcome Center—11687 Interstate 35 S. at Mile Marker 112;
- Conway Welcome Center—110619 Interstate 44 W. at Mile Marker 110.

These centers welcome more than 340,000 visitors each year.

Close relationships with others in the travel promotion field are vital. MDT maintains these relationships through memberships, with organizations such as the U.S. Travel Association, Travel South USA, Mississippi River Country, National Tour Association and American Bus Association.

MDT also works to reach international markets, with a marketing representative assigned to oversee the growth of these important markets.

MDT works in collaboration with Brand USA to market Missouri to the international traveler.

MDT also oversees work of the Missouri Film Office, which works to attract film, television and video productions to Missouri and to promote the growth of the film and video-production industry in the Show-Me State.

State Board of Education

Under the Missouri Constitution (Article IX), the State Board of Education has general authority for “supervision of instruction in the public schools.” Today, this responsibility includes the oversight of educational programs and services that serve Missourians from preschool through the adult levels.

The State Board of Education is composed of eight lay citizens, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate to serve eight-year terms. The terms are staggered so that one term expires each year. No more than four members may belong to the same political party. No more than one member of the board may live in the same county or congressional district.

The governor shall, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, also appoint an active classroom teacher representative as a non-voting member. The term of the teacher representative shall be four years, and appointments shall be made in rotation from each congressional district beginning with the first congressional district and continuing in numerical order.

The board appoints the commissioner of education to serve as its chief executive officer and as director of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

The primary role of the board is to provide leadership and advocacy for the improvement of Missouri’s public education system. The board also establishes policies and regulations needed to carry out state and federal laws related to public education. The board’s major duties include:

- Setting performance indicators that determine accreditation for local school districts through the Missouri School Improvement Program (MSIP). The indicators define basic requirements regarding performance on assessments, both in aggregate as well as subgroups; high school graduation and/or dropout; advanced coursework; post-secondary and career preparedness and other areas of student achievement;

- Establishing academic performance standards for the public schools;
- Setting education and certification requirements for all professional personnel (teachers, administrators, librarians, counselors, etc.) in public schools;
- Approving public and private educator preparation programs in the state;
- Establishing regulations and administrative requirements for the distribution of state and federal funds to school districts and other agencies;

To help carry out this mandate, the legislature first established a state office of education, with an elected state superintendent, in 1839. The office went through several transformations until the current constitution, adopted in 1945, established the State Board of Education in its present form and created a department of education, headed by an appointed commissioner.

The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) was reorganized and established in its present form by the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974.

The department is primarily a service agency that works with school officials, legislators, government agencies, community leaders and citizens to maintain a strong public education system. Through its statewide school improvement initiatives and its regulatory functions, the department strives to ensure all citizens have access to high-quality public education.

The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education is the administrative arm of the State Board of Education. In addition to the commissioner of education, the department organization reflects functions under two divisions—Financial and Administrative Services and Learning Services.

Office of the Commissioner of Education

The commissioner of education directs the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education and fulfills other duties as prescribed by law (161.122, RSMo). These duties include: supervising schools and directing the process by which school districts are accredited; suggesting ways to upgrade curriculum and instruction in public schools; working with state and local officials to ensure efficient management of public schools; advising local school officials, teachers and patrons about education-related issues and laws; and seeking “in every way to elevate the standards and efficiency of the instruction given in the public schools of the state.” The commissioner is appointed by, and serves at the pleasure of, the State Board of Education.

Division of Financial and Administrative Services

ficials with budgeting, audits and the reporting of financial statistics, both state and federal. The division also provides assistance with school administrative and governance issues. Other personnel in this division administer the federally funded school lunch and breakfast programs. This division also manages the department's internal business operations, such as accounting and procurement, budget and human resources.

Division of Learning Services

This division is composed of offices that manage adult learning and rehabilitation services; college and career readiness; data system management; educator quality; quality schools; childhood and special education.

The Office of Adult Learning and Rehabilitation Services administers statewide adult education services, including adult education and literacy, the high school equivalency testing program and veterans education.

Rehabilitation Services provide specialized services to adult citizens with disabilities to help them achieve employment and independence. Offices are maintained across the state to provide convenient services to clients. Rehabilitation Services personnel provide individualized counseling, training and other services to help clients achieve gainful employment or independent living. Rehabilitation Services is supported primarily with federal funds.

Independent Living Centers (ILC) are located throughout the state. ILC personnel provide counseling, advocacy, personal care and training in independent living skills for adults with disabilities.

The Disability Determinations Program is part of this office and operates under regulations of the Social Security Administration. Located in offices across the state, Disability Determinations personnel adjudicate claims from Missouri residents seeking federal disability benefits.

The Office of College and Career Readiness provides technical assistance to local school personnel in the adoption and adaptation of the state's performance standards, and curriculum development/adoption of all content areas — math, science, social studies, English/language arts, health/physical education, fine arts and the career-technical content areas. The office assists schools and career centers with the monitoring and approving of Perkins programming.

The development and oversight of the Missouri Assessment Program, consisting of the annual, grade-level assessments for grades three through eight and high school end-of-course assessments, as well as the administration of the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), are also responsibilities of this office.

The Office of Data System Management is responsible for the development and implementation of the Missouri Comprehensive Data System (MCDS), which includes the student-level record system, the Missouri Student Information System (MOSIS) and Core Data, a web-based data collection system of education-related statistics. This office collects and generates data to meet federal and state reporting requirements and compliance, as well as provide data utilized in research and analysis that impacts policy decision making.

The Office of Educator Quality is responsible for approving public and private educator preparation programs. The Office of Educator Quality also issues certificates (licenses) to all professional personnel who work in the state's public school systems, as well as assisting with the review of certificate-holders who are charged with misconduct.

This office is responsible for the implementation of teacher, principal and administrator standards, as well as the implementation of Missouri's Educator Evaluation System.

A primary function of the Office of Quality Schools is to manage the Missouri School Improvement Program (MSIP), the accreditation/accountability system for public school districts. This office also administers a wide range of state and federally funded programs that assist local schools (Title I, Title III and other federal programs), charter and other innovative schools, as well as developing and implementing a statewide system of support for schools, communities and families. Schools are also provided assistance on federally and state-developed improvement initiatives that are coordinated with other state and regional services.

The Office of Special Education administers state and federal funds to support services for students and adults with disabilities. The office works with local school districts in developing and improving special education services for students (ages 3–21) with disabilities. It also provides financial and technical support for all approved sheltered workshops in the state. Sheltered workshops provide employment for adults with disabilities.

This office also oversees the operation of three school systems administered by the State Board of Education. These are the Missouri School for the Blind, the Missouri School for the Deaf and the Missouri Schools for the Severely Disabled. In addition to providing direct services to eligible students with disabilities, these school systems, through their outreach programs and consulting services, assist local school personnel and families throughout the state in meeting the needs of children with disabilities.

The Office of Childhood is responsible for overseeing the department's efforts to expand and improve high-quality early learning opportunities for children birth to age five (5), as well as providing afterschool programs for school-age children. Programs administered through this office include the Missouri First Steps early intervention program and the Parents as Teachers parent education program. The office also administers contracts with local agencies to provide voluntary evidence-based early childhood home visiting services, which are supported by the Maternal, Infant and Early Childhood Home Visiting (MIECHV) Grant and the Maternal and Child Health Services Block Grant (Title V). The office is responsible for policies and procedures related to federal and state-funded preschool programs such as Early Childhood Special Education and Missouri Preschool Program, as well as the development of early learning standards and the quality assurance report pilot that support educators in using best practices for young children and families. The office also implements the Missouri Preschool Development Grant Birth to Five. The office administers the Child Care Subsidy program and various professional development opportunities to promote safe and quality early care and education environments through the Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) program. The office is also responsible for conducting state inspections and investigating complaints at licensed family child care homes, group child care homes, and child care centers. Staff in the office also conduct health and safety inspections at license-exempt child care facilities (e.g., religious based programs, nursing schools). The office also supports before and after school programs through grant programs administered by this office for the 21st Century Community Learning Centers and School Age Community grants.

The CBHE appoints the commissioner of higher education to head the department and carry out administrative responsibilities to achieve the CBHE's desired goals for the state system of higher education, which serves more than 350,000 students through 13 public universities, 12 community colleges, one public two-year technical college, one two-year campus of a public university, 24 independent colleges and universities, 130 proprietary and private career schools and 28 specialized/technical nonprofit colleges.

The Department of Higher Education and Workforce Development's primary responsibilities surrounding education include identification of statewide planning for higher education, evaluation of institutional performance, review of institutional missions, development of specialization among institutions, submission of a unified budget request for public higher education to the governor and the General Assembly, establishment of guidelines to promote student transfer among institutions, approval of new degree programs offered by public colleges and universities, administration of the Proprietary School Certification Program and policy setting for and administration of student financial assistance programs.

As of state fiscal year 2021, the department administered the following state student financial assistance programs: Access Missouri Financial Assistance Program; Missouri Higher Education Academic "Bright Flight" Scholarship Program; A+ Scholarship Program; Fast Track Workforce Incentive Grant; Public Safety Officer or Employee's Child Survivor Grant Program; Wartime Veteran's Survivors Grant Program; the Minority and Underrepresented Environmental Literacy Program and the Kids' Chance Scholarship. During state fiscal year 2021, the department delivered approximately $129.8 million in state-based student financial assistance to approximately 64,000 students.

The department also administers the Missouri Student Loan Program, the state-designated guarantee agency for the Federal Family Education Loan Program (FFELP). The Healthcare and Education Affordability Reconciliation Act went into effect July 1, 2010, eliminating FFELP and mandating that new federal student loans would be disbursed through the Federal Direct Loan Program. As a result, the department maintains its existing $1.2 billion loan guarantee portfolio, but will not guarantee new loans issued from the federal government.

MERIC is the research division for the Missouri Department of Higher Education and Workforce Development. It provides innovative analyses and assistance to policymakers and the public, including studies of the state's economic trends, targeted industries and labor markets. MERIC research also includes workforce region studies, spatial analyses, and comprehensive coverage of the state's industry and occupational data produced in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Labor.

The employment and training arm of the Department of Higher Education and Workforce Development provides a robust menu of vital re-employment services, including access to skill-building training, career connections for job seekers and human resources assistance for businesses. These services are provided through a statewide network of Missouri Job Centers and the jobs.mo.gov web portal. Missouri's workforce system is a collaborative partnership that includes the Missouri Division of Employment Security, Vocational Rehabilitation, Adult Education and Literacy, the Family Support Division, 14 local workforce development areas and 12 community college districts and other local educational agencies across the state.

With the assistance of trained, professional staff, Missouri's Job Centers streamline customer flow to provide an expanded product box of valuable career assistance services, like specialized workshops, skills assessments, résumé-writing assistance and more. These services equip the state's workforce with the training and skills needed by employers to compete in this 21st century economy. Job Centers offer job seekers use of supportive equipment, such as computers, telephones, fax machines and copiers. Businesses may use Job Centers to seek or interview potential employees, test applicants' occupational skills or gain access to labor market information.

The department also provides several innovative, targeted skill-building programs, such as the Re-employment Services and Eligibility Assessment (RESEA) program for unemployment insurance claimants, specialized job search assistance for veterans; an Apprenticeship USA grant, a nationally recognized On-the-Job Training (OJT) Program, ACT's National Career Readiness Certificate, as well as a Summer Youth program in partnership with the Department of Social Services.

The department provides staff to the governor-appointed Missouri Workforce Development Board. This board sets workforce policy for Missouri's local workforce areas and strengthens ties among state workforce, education and economic development agencies. The Missouri Workforce Development Board is composed of a majority of business leaders from some of Missouri's most successful companies. The board meets quarterly and engages the directors and commissioners of several state agencies to meet the objective of strengthening Missouri's workforce system.

By fostering a skilled workforce and utilizing a sector strategy approach, the department helps businesses to be more competitive—both regionally and globally—and helps Missouri citizens become more competitive and successful as they seek higher-paying jobs and advance through their career paths.

The department also has administrative responsibility for the Missouri State Anatomical Board.

Established in 1887, the Missouri State Anatomical Board functions to receive "unclaimed" human bodies requiring burial at public expense and to distribute them for scientific study to certain qualified schools. The board, which operates under state law (194.120–180, RSMo), was transferred to the Department of Higher Education by the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974.

In 1969, the board was designated a recipient for bodies donated under the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act (194.230, RSMo).

The day-to-day business of the anatomical board is handled through local anatomical boards or secretaries in Columbia, Kansas City, Kirksville and St. Louis. The annual meeting of the entire board is held in July in Columbia. Officers are elected for two-year terms. Questions regarding unclaimed donors should be directed to the President of the Anatomical Board.

missouri.edu

Email: mu4u@missouri.edu

The University of Missouri was founded in 1839 in Columbia as the first public university west of the Mississippi River. Today, with total enrollment of more than 31,000 students, more than 8,000 full-time employees and more than 344,000 alumni living worldwide, Missouri's flagship university is a $2.2 billion enterprise and an important investment for the state and nation.

Based on quality of teaching, research and scholarship, MU is one of only 36 public U.S. universities to be selected for membership in the prestigious Association of American Universities (AAU).

Missouri's largest and most comprehensive university, MU has more than 300 degree programs through 12 colleges and schools, and is one of only six public institutions nationwide that has a medical school, college of engineering, college of veterinary medicine and a law school on the same campus.

Mizzou students earn 27% of all bachelor's degrees, 18% of master's degrees and 47% of doctoral degrees granted by the state's public universities. Roughly one-third of degrees awarded (more than 3,500 annually) are in science, technology, engineering, mathematics or health fields.

MU spends about $278 million on research. Known for a collaborative, interdisciplinary culture, Mizzou has incomparable expertise and resources on a global scale.

As a land-grant institution, MU serves and unifies the state via extension programs, a comprehensive health system, two museums and an NCAA Division I athletic program that competes in the Southeastern Conference.

The historic 1,265-acre campus is a botanic garden, offering visitors 42,000 plants and trees in numerous thematic and special collection settings.

College of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources (CAFNR)

cafnr.missouri.edu

The University of Missouri's College of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources is a land-grant institution that strives to create a healthy world. We are driven to pioneer impactful solutions for agriculture, food and natural resources.

Through Extension, CAFNR conducts educational activities via agriculture and environment programs in animal health and production; plant health and production; agricultural business and policy; and agricultural systems and natural resources.

College of Arts and Science

coas.missouri.edu

The College of Arts and Science is the oldest and largest academic division of the university—its faculty and students study a wide variety of topics, including the earliest forms of life on Earth, how radioisotopes can be used to cure cancer, and why art is a critical piece of humanity.

One of A&S's core philosophies is teaching students how to think, not what to think. When they know how to think, how to approach problems, how to understand the human condition, how to understand the physical world, they can creatively solve any challenge life throws their way. When A&S graduates move to the next step in their lives, they are prepared for any career they choose, including ones not yet created. They can think critically, question everything, continually seek another perspective, and find better answers.

Research and creative work in Arts and Science spans the breadth of human knowledge. Faculty are developing cancer-fighting radioactive chemicals that could one day save lives. They study the fossil record to understand how the Earth has changed and how future changes will affect the planet, and develop ways to use data to understand athletic performance. They put on theatrical, musical and artistic performances that stretch the imagination, help interpret the world and contemplate the human condition. They seek to understand human behavior to eliminate addiction, while also studying policy that might help guide us to a better future.

The College of Arts and Science is dedicated to bringing all its work beyond the classrooms, studios, and laboratories. As a part of an AAU public land-grant institution, it serves the state and nation by educating students, advancing creative work and research, and engaging Missouri and the nation.

School of Law

law.missouri.edu

The School of Law, established in 1872, has a collegial environment, reinforced by a small student body and a low faculty-student ratio. The intimacy of this setting, coupled with reasonable cost, consistently high bar passage and employment rates, a network of alumni around the globe and access to top scholars in the legal world, make the School of Law one of the best values in the nation.

The School of Law offers a juris doctor degree for which students receive a traditional legal education paired with practical experience in such areas as trial practice and advocacy, negotiation, and client interviewing and counseling. Skills training through the Entrepreneurship Legal Clinic, Innocence Clinic, and Veterans Clinic allow students to apply what they learn in the classroom to real-life situations with real clients. In addition, the school offers nine joint degree programs with other departments on the University of Missouri campus in areas such as journalism, business and public affairs. The curriculum provides a solid foundation for graduates to take the bar examination and practice in any jurisdiction. Students who already have their first degree in law can earn a master of laws degree in American law or dispute resolution. The LLM in dispute resolution degree was developed in 1999 as one of the first such programs in the nation.

Students at the School of Law publish the highly regarded Missouri Law Review, Journal of Dispute Resolution, and Business, Entrepreneurship & Tax Law Review; represent the school on regional and national mock trial teams; organize a variety of philanthropic activities in honor of the school's emphasis on service; and hold a wide array of social activities focused on alleviating the stress of law school and enhancing the strong sense of community for which the law school is known.

School of Medicine

medicine.missouri.edu

As the first publicly supported medical school west of the Mississippi River, the University of Missouri School of Medicine has improved health, education and research for 150 years. MU School of Medicine graduates treat patients from every county in the state, and more Missouri physicians have received their medical degrees from MU than from any other university. Medical school graduates are trained, evaluated and expected to be competent in their ability to deliver patient-centered care, including their capability to communicate with the patient, family members and colleagues working as part of an interdisciplinary team. The school uses a patient-based learning style, which emphasizes self-directed learning and early clinical experiences.

The medical school expanded its incoming class size from 96 to 128 students to address a critical shortage of physicians in Missouri and the nation. As part of the expansion, the medical school, in partnership with CoxHealth and Mercy health systems, opened a second MU clinical campus in Springfield in June 2016. The School of Medicine's Rural Track Pipeline Program is designed to improve the supply and distribution of physicians in the state to combat the rural physician shortage.

The School of Medicine's more than 680 faculty physicians and scientists educate more than 1,000 medical students, residents, fellows and others seeking advanced degrees, as well as more than 1,000 undergraduate students each semester.

Medical school researchers focus on lifesaving discoveries that address the most prevalent health problems. The school is nationally ranked in such areas as family and community medicine, primary care, pharmacology and physiology, and health management and informatics.

MU SSON graduates of the doctoral programs are prepared for a variety of leadership and scientific roles to advance health care and discover new knowledge.

Major categories of research within the school include: aging, domestic violence, health systems and health information technologies, living with chronic conditions, and promoting healthy behavior/avoiding health risks. The MU SSON is committed to multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary collaborations as a means of solving some of the most important health care dilemmas.

School of Health Professions

shp.missouri.edu

The School of Health Professions is committed to improving the health and well-being of individuals and communities through innovation in education, clinical service and outreach, and discovery in health, diagnostic and rehabilitation sciences. SHP is a strong contributor to MU's land-grant and AAU missions through integration of teaching, research and service. The school has recently expanded capacity in rehabilitation programs that fill critical roles on health care teams, and has added programs such as a bachelor's in public health and doctorates in occupational therapy and health and rehabilitation science.

The school's accredited academic programs have a distinguished history, producing graduates who become respected clinicians, administrators and faculty, entrepreneurs, and many who earn recognition and hold leadership positions in their respective fields. Graduates of the departments of clinical and diagnostic sciences, health science, occupational therapy, physical therapy, public health, and speech, language and hearing sciences fill critical roles in health care. The department of health psychology is home to collaborative research and clinical faculty working to improve the health and quality of life of Missourians.

The school offers undergraduate degrees in clinical laboratory science, diagnostic medical ultrasound, health science, nuclear medicine, public health, radiography, respiratory therapy and speech, language and hearing sciences. Graduate degrees are offered in health and rehabilitation sciences, occupational therapy, physical therapy, public health and speech, language and hearing sciences. The health sciences program is the top declared major at the University of Missouri, one of only a few programs on campus to require an internship experience prior to graduation.

Students gain valuable experience in the school's service and outreach centers, including the MU Speech and Hearing Clinic, Robert G. Combs Language Preschool, Accent Modification and Pronunciation program, adult and pediatric neuropsychology clinics, adult and pediatric occupational therapy clinics, PhysZOU pro-bono physical therapy clinic, and more than 800 fieldwork sites. At least 65% of the school's graduates remain in Missouri to practice, many of them filling critical roles in rural and underserved areas.

College of Veterinary Medicine

cvm.missouri.edu

The University of Missouri College of Veterinary Medicine's mission is to teach, heal, discover and serve. It is the only Missouri institution that awards the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree, graduating approximately 115 new veterinarians each year. The College of Veterinary Medicine (CVM) has graduated more than 4,000 doctors of veterinary medicine in its history. The CVM also offers post-graduate specialty training to interns, residents and graduate students as well as an online master's degree, an undergraduate degree in microbiology and an online bachelor's completion degree in veterinary technology. Most graduates enter private clinical practice, but others choose careers in government, the military, industry and academia.

The CVM's Veterinary Health Center (vhc.missouri.edu) is a state-of-the-art facility with 140,000 square feet of floor space spread over three hospitals for companion animals, horses and farm animals. Clinical faculty provide both primary care and various sophisticated diagnostic procedures and treatment options not available in most private practices. Examples include magnetic resonance imaging, PET and CT scans, hip replacement surgery, evaluation and treatment of musculoskeletal and neurologic conditions, and herd-health consultation for farmers. Each year, the hospitals care for approximately 20,000 hospitalized animals and thousands more on farms.

The Veterinary Health Center also operates two satellite facilities. The Veterinary Health Center at Wentzville provides convenient care for St. Louis-area clients whose pets need cancer treatment, advanced diagnostic imaging, behavior treatment or dermatology services. The Veterinary Health Center at Kansas City provides after-hours emergency care for area companion animals.

The CVM's Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory (vmdl.missouri.edu) is a full-service laboratory for all animal species. It is Missouri's only veterinary laboratory accredited by the American Association of Veterinary Laboratory Diagnosticians. The Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory serves the CVM's clinical and teaching missions and is a resource for public health, wildlife conservation and agricultural stakeholders throughout Missouri. Each year, the laboratory performs 140,000-plus diagnostic tests, many for agricultural animals.

Through its research mission, the college fulfills a solemn obligation to advance the understanding of diseases affecting animals and people. People and animals share the same environment and are exposed to the same infectious organisms and environmental pollutants. It should come as no surprise, therefore, that animals and their owners develop many of the same diseases. This is the concept of translational medicine. To pursue the causes of these conditions and develop treatments, CVM faculty collaborate extensively with colleagues in human medicine, agriculture, engineering and other scientific disciplines.

Libraries

library.missouri.edu

The University Libraries include Ellis Library—the main library—and eight specialized libraries: Columbia Missourian newspaper, engineering, geology, health sciences, journalism, mathematics, University Archives and veterinary medical. The University Libraries have a collection of 3.6 million print volumes, over 900,000 e-books and 397 electronic databases.

Some library materials are housed in two off-campus storage facilities that contain more than one million volumes from all of the University of Missouri campus libraries. The libraries' website, library.missouri.edu, provides access to online resources, including the MERLIN (MU system) and MOBIUS (statewide) catalogs and over 195 online databases.

The university collections are frequently reinforced by gifts of friends and alumni. Outstanding gifts include an unpublished manuscript of Charlotte Bronte; the library of John G. Neihardt; the library and manuscripts of Mary Lago; the V.T. Hamlin "Alley Oop" collection; and the libraries of the late Dr. Frank Luther Mott (dean and professor of journalism), manuscripts of deputy minority counsel for the Senate Watergate Committee, Don Sanders and Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Lanford Wilson.

University of Missouri Extension

extension.missouri.edu

University of Missouri Extension has its roots in federal acts, including the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862 and the Smith-Lever Act of 1914, which enabled the university to deliver the practical benefits of education and scientific research to the people to improve their economic prospects and quality of life.

As early as 1911, MU was reaching out to farmers and families and providing distance education courses for teachers across the state. In 1955, state legislation established county extension councils to advise the university on educational programs. Each year, some 2,000 citizens volunteer on these councils to assess local educational needs and to work with extension faculty in delivering and evaluating programs. A partnership of local, state and federal government forms the basis for supporting these efforts.

Today, MU Extension continues to translate university-generated research and knowledge to meet the practical needs of Missourians. Working with faculty on the four UM System campuses and jointly with Lincoln University Cooperative Extension, specialists serve every county and the City of St. Louis. They reach audiences diverse in age, race and income with educational programs, publications, informative websites and one-on-one consultations.

Programs in business and community development; agriculture and the environment; youth and family (including 4-H youth development); health and safety; and conferences and institutes build the capacity for success in individuals and communities. These programs create a foundation for locally and regionally based economic development. Every year, more than 1.3 million Missourians participate in MU Extension programs and 2.8 million use the MU Extension website to locate publications and event information.

MU Research Reactor

murr.missouri.edu

Lifesaving medical treatments are available every day for patients fighting cancer because of the research mission, facilities and capabilities of the University of Missouri Research Reactor Center (MURR®) and its world-class team of scientists, engineers and professionals. MU is the only university to partner with industry to bring four FDA-approved radiopharmaceuticals to market, from initial research and development to licensing and commercialization, and MURR and its team were central throughout the process. With medical isotope shelf-lives ranging from a few days to a few weeks, a safe and reliable supply is critical for patient health and MURR is the only U.S. supplier for many of these vital active ingredients.

MURR is a unique international resource and is the highest-powered, university-operated research reactor in the United States. The reactor provides an invaluable tool for promoting research, education and economic development providing innovative products and services including cancer drugs and diagnostic agents. The reactor is online 52 weeks per year supplying critical radioisotopes for patients in Missouri and around the world while supporting ongoing educational and research activities at the university.

MURR is a critical hub for multidisciplinary research on the MU campus, integrating the resources of a major teaching hospital, a respected cancer center and a leading college of veterinary medicine, as well as distinguished university programs in the biosciences, chemistry and engineering, into an unparalleled research environment. Research programs at MURR encompass four major areas including biomedical science and nuclear medicine, materials science, epidemiology and archaeometry. The biomedical science program focuses on the development of radiopharmaceuticals for cancer research, including both diagnostic and therapeutic applications. The trace element analysis program utilizes the reactor to determine the composition of biological, archaeological and geological samples. The materials sciences program focuses on the use of neutron scattering techniques to define and characterize materials at the molecular or atomic level.

Educational opportunities abound at MURR with students arriving from around the globe to take advantage of this unique resource. Students at both graduate and undergraduate levels participate in research projects from diverse disciplines including anthropology, archaeology, chemistry, engineering (chemical, electrical, mechanical and nuclear), geology, materials science, medical, life sciences (including cancer diagnostics, treatment and prevention), nutrition, physics and veterinary medicine. In addition, MURR conducts numerous extracurricular educational programs for high school students, visiting scholars,

University of Missouri–Kansas City

www.umkc.edu

Email: admit@umkc.edu

The history of the University of Missouri–Kansas City (UMKC) has always been tied to that of its namesake city, conceived and executed as the means to meet the city's need for a major university to drive growth, development and progress.

UMKC's roots run back to the 1880s. Three of the professional schools now a part of the university were founded in the 19th century: the School of Dentistry, 1881; the School of Pharmacy, 1895; and the School of Law, 1895. At the same time the Conservatory of Music was founded in 1906, community leaders began discussing the need for a university in Kansas City.

By the 1920s, two groups had plans for such a university. One group proposed Lincoln and Lee University, a Methodist-affiliated school. The other group wanted a private university.

The two groups eventually united and, in 1929, the University of Kansas City was chartered. In 1930, William Volker, Kansas City manufacturer and philanthropist, started the campus with a donation of 40 acres from the William Rockhill Nelson estate.

Despite the ravages of the Great Depression, civic leaders stayed the course, believing that a university was critical to efforts to reverse the economic doldrums. In 1931, Volker donated funds to purchase the Walter S. Dickey mansion and grounds. It was in this remodeled building that the University of Kansas City began its first academic year on Oct. 2, 1933, with 264 students and 17 faculty members. The first commencement at the University of Kansas City was June 9, 1936, with 80 graduates.

In 1963, the University of Kansas City merged with the University of Missouri System, becoming the University of Missouri–Kansas City. In 1963 the enrollment was 4,394; more than 16,000 now study at UMKC.

The campus has been experiencing a major growth spurt in recent years. Two major new buildings opened in 2013: the $32 million, 68,000-square foot Henry W. Bloch Executive Hall for Entrepreneurship and Innovation, and the 1,000-seat Miller Nichols Learning Center classroom building. These were followed by Brookside 51, a project at 51st and Oak streets that includes a Whole Foods Market, six floors of 170 market-rate apartments and a new home for the UMKC Student Health and Counseling Center; and a $21 million state-funded modernization and upgrade project for the university's biology and chemistry laboratories. Both were completed in 2018. The new high-tech Robert W. Plaster Education and Research Center, a $32 million facility for the School of Computing and Engineering, opened for Fall semester 2021. The university is committed to building a new home for its world-renowned performing arts conservatory adjacent to the existing Olson Performing Arts Center on the Volker Campus.

In 2017, UMKC launched the UMKC Health Sciences District. The district combines the unique expertise and services provided by a medical center; a children's hospital; a university and its schools of medicine, nursing, pharmacy and dentistry; as well as the city health department, state mental health center, county medical examiner's office and other health sciences entities. The district was created to enhance collaboration on research and grant requests; combine efforts on community outreach; improve faculty recruitment; coordinate area parking, safety and transportation; and create shared opportunities in health and wellness from and for more than 16,000 health professionals, faculty members and students.

College of Arts and Sciences

cas.umkc.edu

The College of Arts and Sciences is the largest academic unit of UMKC. It provides a broad liberal arts education as well as graduate and doctoral preparation, preparing students as specialists in a number of chosen fields.

The major areas of study are architecture, urban planning and design; art and art history; communication studies; criminal justice and criminology; economics; English language and literature; foreign languages and literatures; earth and environmental sciences; history; mathematics and statistics; philosophy; physics and astronomy; political science; psychology; race, ethnic and gender studies; sociology; and social work.

Nearly all of the college's departments offer graduate work at the master's level. Doctoral studies are available in psychology. Some departments also participate in the Interdisciplinary Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) program offered through the School of Graduate Studies.

The college's students and faculty have earned an array of academic recognitions, including multiple Guggenheim Fellowships, Fulbright and DAAD scholarships, National Endowment for the Arts and National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships, the Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship and the Association of Writers and Writing Programs award. Two graduates of the college have won the Pulitzer Prize.

The College of Arts and Sciences is the home base of the Honors Program, which seeks exceptionally motivated and academically talented undergraduates to study in an environment that encourages excellence. It is designed to enrich the collegiate experience of the most outstanding students. Traditional and non-traditional undergraduates from every school and college at the university are provided with the opportunity to develop their academic and leadership skills within the context of a broad, interdisciplinary education, which will ultimately prepare them for graduate studies and professional careers.

School of Dentistry

dentistry.umkc.edu

What began in 1881 as the Kansas City Dental College is today the UMKC School of Dentistry, which annually admits approximately 100 students into its four-year Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S.) degree program, 30 dental graduates into specialty programs and 30 students into dental hygiene. The school serves 15,000 patients of record, providing the students with more than 61,000 patient visits annually, while providing more than $650,000 in uncompensated care to indigent, underserved Missouri residents. About two-thirds of the state's dentists are graduates of the UMKC School of Dentistry.

The school offers continuing education programs and supports or participates in dozens of outreach programs. Faculty and students provide oral health screenings to disadvantaged children and others in underserved rural areas of Missouri and abroad.

UMKC was the first U.S. dental school to develop and implement a fully electronic patient record-keeping system with digital radiography, and the Department of Oral and Craniofacial Sciences has been named an area of eminence by the University of Missouri System in recognition of its interdisciplinary research programs in the areas of biomaterials engineering, mineralized tissue biology and translational and clinical research. Private businesses contract with the Clinical Research Center to perform clinical trials and efficacy testing on dental products and procedures; research funding averages over $5 million annually.

Philanthropic support from the school's 7,500 living alumni has endowed more than 60 scholarships, providing assistance to a significant number of the school's 500 dental, dental hygiene and graduate students.

School of Education

education.umkc.edu

The overall goal of the School of Education is the development of broadly educated, competent practitioners who are able to engage in critical and cooperative inquiry in order to provide for an increasing diversity of educational specialists who are grounded in both theory and practice and can deal effectively with the problems and needs of a culturally, socially and politically diverse society. A national leader in culturally responsive teaching and urban education, the school prepares teachers, counselors and administrators to work with today's diverse youth.

The School of Education is fully accredited, offering degrees through a diverse array of undergraduate, graduate and continuing education classes. For practicing teachers, course offerings include stand-alone programs and courses delivered in conjunction with partner school districts.

Doctoral degrees are available in counseling psychology from the Division of Counseling and Educational Psychology and PK-12 administration from the Division of Educational Leadership, Policy and Foundations. The School of Education also participates in the Interdisciplinary Ph.D. program, offering a combined degree with many other discipline areas.

The School of Education offers undergraduate programs that lead to the Bachelor of Arts degrees in early childhood, elementary, middle school and secondary education. The school recommends students for certification in a variety of content areas. School of Education faculty work closely with local school districts to give future teachers not only a foundation in theory, but also classroom practice through field work, practica and internships.

School of Law

law.umkc.edu

The Kansas City School of Law, founded in 1895, merged with the University of Kansas City (UKC) in 1938. When UKC joined the UM system in 1963, the school became known as the UMKC School of Law. The school is one of only six in the nation to have educated both a U.S. President and a Supreme Court Justice.

The law school is housed in a modern facility, which includes courtrooms with up-to-date technology that allow actual court proceedings to be held at the school and observed by students and faculty from a soundproof viewing theater. The building houses the Leon E. Bloch Law Library, which provides both books and online materials and contains an innovative, collaborative teaching classroom for research and writing instruction. A unique feature of the building is the placement of student offices and study carrels in suites shared by faculty.

The law school focuses on the integration of high-level theory with practical skills to educate lawyers with strong problem-solving ability and the foundation for sound judgment. The school is recognized for its strengths in advocacy, family law and entrepreneurship, as well as for its innovative solo and small-firm practice program. Students have opportunities for writing and scholarly activity through the three journals edited at the school.

The location of the School of Law on an urban university campus provides abundant opportunities for student participation in externships and clinics that provide excellent skills training while serving community legal needs. It also provides for interdisciplinary collaboration, especially with the Bloch School of Management and the Regnier Institute for Entrepreneurship and Innovation.

School of Medicine

med.umkc.edu

In 1971, the UMKC School of Medicine accepted its first class in the six-year medical program. The year-round program, involving 48 weeks of study each year, offers students the opportunity to earn both their Doctor of Medicine (M.D.) degree and a bachelor's degree from either the College of Arts and Sciences or the School of Biological Sciences. It is designed primarily for highly-qualified high school seniors.

The curriculum of the School of Medicine provides early exposure to clinical medicine and basic science education, as well as a liberal arts education that is fully integrated into the six-year program. Admission to this program as a freshman gives the student the opportunity to complete requirements for the Doctor of Medicine degree without a second admission process. A unique feature of the school is the docent system, which assigns a full-time faculty member to 12 students for a four-year period, creating an opportunity for the student to interact with a faculty member who serves as a teacher, role model, counselor and mentor.

Nearby are the medical school's major affiliate hospitals: Truman Medical Center, Children's Mercy Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, Western Missouri Mental Health Center and the Kansas City Veterans Affairs Medical Center. In addition, the School of Medicine utilizes a number of outstanding private community hospitals in the Kansas City area for education in clinical medicine.

The School of Medicine opened a satellite campus in January 2021 at Mosaic Life Care in St. Joseph, Mo. The St. Joseph campus was set up specifically to address the state's rural physician shortage.

Conservatory

conservatory.umkc.edu

The Conservatory has earned national and international recognition through performance, composition, teaching and scholarship. One of the most comprehensive music, dance and theatre educational centers in the Midwest since 1906, the conservatory has more than 80 faculty who are highly regarded as scholars, artists, teachers and leaders in their fields.

The conservatory offers the degrees of Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Master of Fine Arts, Master of Music Education and Doctor of Musical Arts. It offers the community hundreds of performing arts programs annually by faculty, students and visiting artists, including those in its acclaimed Signature Series. The conservatory also offers students the opportunity to participate in a variety of ensembles that perform throughout the year.

More than 20 ensembles are open by audition to all UMKC students who qualify. Ensembles include the Conservatory Orchestra, Chamber Orchestra, Percussion Ensemble, Wind Symphony, Wind Ensemble, Musica Nova (a contemporary music ensemble), 11 O'Clock Jazz Band and numerous vocal and jazz groups.

School of Pharmacy

pharmacy.umkc.edu

The origin of pharmacy education in Kansas City began in 1885 and evolved into the "Kansas City College of Pharmacy and Natural Science." This college operated independently until 1943, when it merged with the University of Kansas City. For the last 125 years, the School of Pharmacy has maintained its mission to educate students, health care professionals and scientists; conduct research; and serve the public and the pharmacy profession in order to meet pharmaceutical needs and advance the standard of health care.

The UMKC School of Pharmacy is the only public pharmacy school in Missouri, offering professional, post-graduate and graduate programs in the pharmaceutical sciences, including pharmacetics, pharmacology, biopharmaceutics, pharmacokinetics and toxicology; pharmacy administration and pharmacy practice. The primary professional degree offered is the doctor of pharmacy (Pharm.D.).

Pharmacy faculty conduct interdisciplinary research and engage in community service. Students are active in various outreach projects, including community health fairs and education of school children about inappropriate use of medication.

The pharmacy program includes significant patient contact and provides an interprofessional approach to patient care. Experiential components of the curriculum are conducted at several area health facilities throughout Kansas City, Columbia and Springfield, as well as at various pharmacy and health care settings throughout the state in rural and metropolitan areas.

In 2005, the School of Pharmacy expanded the Pharm.D. program to the University of Missouri–Columbia campus using distance education and UMKC pharmacy faculty. This program was created in part to help with the shortage of pharmacists statewide and to meet the need for pharmacists in Missouri's rural communities. A similar program was expanded to the Missouri State University campus in Springfield in 2014.

Libraries

library.umkc.edu

UMKC Libraries are an essential partner in intellectual discovery, knowledge creation and empowerment, while serving as the hub of learning activities for UMKC and its urban neighbors. Located on the Volker Campus, the Miller Nichols Library is the largest of UMKC's libraries and houses the general collection, Music/Media Library, LaBudde Special Collections and Marr Sound Archives. The Dental Library and Health Sciences Library are located on the Health Sciences Campus and serve users in those disciplines.

UMKC Libraries' collections contain more than 2 million books, government publications and audiovisual items, as well as more than 2 million microforms supporting the programs of the university. In addition to the physical collections, the libraries provide online access to over 65,000 journals, 250,000 books and 300 research databases. Partnerships with the UMKC School of Law's Leon E. Bloch Law Library and the privately funded Linda Hall Library of Science, Engineering and Technology further extend UMKC's physical and virtual library resources. Reciprocal borrowing agreements and the Community Information Program share UMKC's library resources globally and provides local users access to materials from libraries and repositories located throughout Missouri and around the world. These arrangements assist students, researchers, businesses and all levels of government agencies.

Many rare and priceless collections are part of UMKC Libraries' Kenneth L. LaBudde Special Collections. These include papers and manuscripts of music composers, sheet music and Americana and British literature. The Marr Sound Archives hold over 330,000 music and spoken word recordings, documenting the American experience in sound. The libraries have been the recipient of grants from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and the National Endowment for the Humanities to catalog and preserve unique library collections.

Through the libraries' website, Missourians and researchers worldwide can access a variety of material, from online exhibits highlighting the musical heritage of the Kansas City region, to a comprehensive catalog of library holdings at all four campuses to historic digital audio recordings. Visitors to UMKC can observe the high-density automated storage and retrieval system—dubbed by student vote “RooBot”—and experience the new collaborative study spaces made possible by the new system.

School of Nursing and Health Studies

sonhs.umkc.edu

The UMKC School of Nursing and Health Studies prepares students to excel in the delivery and improvement of health care, now and in the future. Approval for establishment of a School of Nursing was granted by the University of Missouri's Board of Curators in 1979, at which time the Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) program was offered. The school accepted its first class of registered nurse undergraduates (RN-BSN) into its baccalaureate program in fall 1981.

Today, the UMKC School of Nursing and Health Studies offers a full range of education programs including a bachelor's degree in Health Science, a four-year bachelor's degree in nursing (B.S.N.), an R.N.-B.S.N., a Master of Science in Nursing (M.S.N.) degree and a Doctor of Nursing Practice (D.N.P.) degree—all fully accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education. Options for MSN study include the nurse educator, neonatal and family psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner programs. Options for the DNP include the adult, family, women and pediatric nurse practitioner programs. The Ph.D. in Nursing is an inter-campus Ph.D., offered in cooperation with the University of Missouri–St. Louis and Columbia campuses. Many of the programs are approved by the Higher Learning Commission for distance education using both online and interactive telecommunication technologies.

The school presents students with excellent learning opportunities, such as clinical experiences in settings that provide care to patient populations of diverse backgrounds and state-of-the-art simulation technology. Students benefit from the school's long-standing community partnerships, a commitment to a diverse student body and specialized recruitment and retention strategies. The School of Nursing's program of research is focused on community-based research for underserved and under-represented populations and provides educational, practice, service and research opportunities in the provision of health care and education in this area, emphasizing urban health care and wellness.

Continuing Education

The university's schools and colleges, with responsibility for their respective continuing education programs, extend the university's educational reach beyond the traditional campus degree programs. Through credit courses, noncredit courses, conferences and institutes, the people of the greater Kansas City community have an opportunity to continue their education in a manner suited to the adult learner.

Noncredit continuing education activities involve an academic department and a group from business, industry, government or the general public. Citizens throughout the state are served through UMKC's relationship with the University Extension. Offerings include liberal arts lectures and seminars; professional, refresher, remedial and post-graduate courses; and problem-oriented educational programs designed for the analysis and study of major social and urban problems.

Formal education also may be continued through credit courses offered off campus or by enrollment in correspondence courses for academic credit. Frequently, public forums concerned with vital issues of the day are offered in order to increase both the number and effectiveness of people who work toward solutions of community problems. While responding to the broad and varied needs of the community and state, the university is at the same time placing increased emphasis on the development of specific program areas identified as important to large professional, economic and other specialized audiences within the community.

Admission

Missouri University of Science and Technology

Telephone: (573) 341-4111

www.mst.edu

Email: admissions@mst.edu

Founded in 1870 during the height of the Industrial Revolution, our university—then known as the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, or MSM—was established to address the pressing challenges of that era. A product of the land-grant movement of the late 19th century, the campus was Missouri's response to the acute need for scientific and practical education in the developing nation. Early academic programs focused on the mining and metallurgical industries, but the campus expanded its mission over time as the need for a broad-based education grew.

Over the years, as the campus placed a greater emphasis on research and graduate education and increased its academic offerings, its identity evolved to reflect these changes. In 1964, the four-campus University of Missouri System was established, and so our campus became known as the University of Missouri-Rolla (UMR). In 2008, the name was changed to Missouri University of Science and Technology (Missouri S&T) to reflect our distinctive nature as a national research university.

Now a research university of national distinction, Missouri S&T continues to build upon its heritage of discovery, creativity and innovation to inspire and prepare students of all majors to solve the world's great challenges. S&T students experience a wealth of out-of-classroom learning opportunities that apply knowledge to real-world issues, from the Experimental Mine—named the nation's most "Awesome College Lab" by Popular Science—to numerous student design teams.

Missouri S&T offers 101 degree programs in 40 areas of study and awards bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees in a wide array of disciplines—from engineering and the sciences to business and information technology, the humanities and social sciences, education, and the liberal arts. The Ph.D. is offered in 20 disciplines and the doctor of engineering is offered in eight disciplines.

Academic Programs

College of Arts, Sciences and Business

casb.mst.edu

Missouri S&T's College of Arts, Sciences, and Business (CASB) plays a vital role in fulfilling S&T's mission. The college is committed to creating knowledge and discovering innovative solutions to society's most pressing challenges, to educating and inspiring undergraduate and graduate students, and to helping students, faculty and staff contribute positively to Missouri, the country and the world. CASB faculty have been recognized for their high-impact research, teaching and engagement in liberal arts and humanities, social and behavioral sciences, natural and physical sciences, education, business, and military science disciplines.

The college includes the departments of arts, languages and philosophy; biological sciences; business and information technology; chemistry; economics; English and technical communication; history and political science; mathematics and statistics; physics; psychological science; and teacher education and certification, as well as S&T's Air Force ROTC and Army ROTC programs.

In fall 2020, Missouri S&T established a new Global Engineering Program to prepare engineers who aspire to international careers. Participants earn two degrees in five years while increasing their cultural competence and proficiency in another language. Graduates will earn a B.S. in an engineering discipline and a B.A. in multidisciplinary studies.

CASB offers 18 undergraduate degree programs, 13 master's degree programs and three doctoral degrees, in addition to 52 minors and 27 emphasis areas of study. CASB's academic departments provide course work for students majoring in those fields (16 percent of the student body) as well as the science, mathematics and liberal arts courses students majoring in engineering and computing need.

College of Engineering and Computing

cec.mst.edu

A successful engineer must master both the science and practice of engineering. Missouri S&T's College of Engineering and Computing (CEC) offers students abundant opportunities for practical experience in addition to a solid foundation in the sciences. The Student Design and Experiential Learning Center, the Center for Aerospace Manufacturing Technologies, S&T's Experimental Mine, and the Missouri S&T Reactor are stellar examples of a unique focus on engineering practice.

The college includes the departments of chemical and biochemical engineering; civil, architectural and environmental engineering; computer science; electrical and computer engineering; engineering management and systems engineering; geosciences and geological and petroleum engineering; materials science and engineering; mechanical and aerospace engineering; mining and explosives engineering; and nuclear engineering and radiation science. Approximately 84 percent of Missouri S&T's students are enrolled in CEC programs.

CEC offers 17 undergraduate degree programs, 16 of which are ABET-accredited, and 21 master's degree and Ph.D. programs, of which 13 are available online. Missouri S&T is home to the one of the nation's oldest computer science programs, the nation's first engineering management program, the nation's first Ph.D. program in explosives engineering and Missouri's first nuclear reactor. The computer science program also is home to Missouri's first National Center of Academic Excellence in Information Assurance and Cyber Defense Research.

Since 2006, Missouri S&T has also offered bachelor of science degrees in civil engineering and electrical engineering through the Missouri S&T-Missouri State University Cooperative Engineering Program. In 2019, the program expanded to include a bachelor of science offering in mechanical engineering. The program is located on the Missouri State University campus in Springfield.

The Kummer Institute for Student Success, Research and Economic Development

Lincoln Institute was founded in 1866 by the enlisted men of the 62nd and 65th U.S. Colored Infantry Regiments. The men, who learned to read and write on the battlefields of the Civil War in Texas, dreamed of a school to educate African Americans in their home state of Missouri. In 1890, Lincoln Institute became a land-grant institution. The school was renamed Lincoln University in 1921. In the fall of 1954, Lincoln University expanded its historical mission to serve a broader population from varied social, economic, educational and cultural backgrounds. Today, Lincoln University in Missouri is a historically black, 1890 land-grant, public, comprehensive institution that provides excellent educational opportunities including theoretical and applied learning experiences to a diverse population within a nurturing, student-centered environment.

The majority of the university's more than 2,700 students are residents of Missouri or one of nine nearby states. The international student population comes from 15 countries.

Lincoln University offers eight undergraduate degrees in 50 programs of study. Lincoln University also offers non-credit and continuing education courses for those seeking professional or personal development.

The main Lincoln University campus is composed of nearly 174 acres, centrally located in Jefferson City. In addition, the university properties include three agricultural research facilities and extension centers in St. Louis, Kansas City and southeast Missouri. In addition, a satellite nursing program is housed at Fort Leonard Wood.

Harris-Stowe State University, (HSSU) traces its origin back to 1857 when its first predecessor institution was founded by the St. Louis Board of Education as a normal school for the preparation of white elementary school teachers. It thus became the first public teacher education institution west of the Mississippi River and the 12th such institution in the United States. Its second predecessor institution, Stowe Teachers College, was also a normal school founded by the same public schools in 1890 to prepare African-American elementary school teachers. Both normal schools later became four-year teachers colleges—Harris Teachers College and Stowe Teachers College. The former was named after William Torrey Harris, U.S. Commissioner of Education and former Superintendent of the St. Louis Public Schools. The latter was named after Harriet Beecher Stowe, the famed slavery abolitionist and author of Uncle Tom's Cabin. These two colleges merged in 1954, forming Harris-Teachers College and in 1977 be-

In 2016, Harris-Stowe ranked No. 1 in the state of Missouri and No. 47 in the nation to grant degrees in mathematics and statistics to African-Americans according to the Missouri Department of Higher Education, and the newsmagazine, Diverse: Issues in Higher Education, which has

Truman State University

Truman State University, founded in 1867, has the distinction of being Missouri's only state-wide public liberal arts and sciences university. Truman is a residential university focused on providing its 5,800 plus students with exceptionally high-quality academic programs, supportive professors and transformative learning experiences that prepare students to be adaptable in an ever-changing world.

Truman is consistently ranked among the nation's best colleges. For 25 consecutive years, U.S. News and World Report has recognized Truman as the No. 1 public university in the Midwest Regional Category. They also gave Truman a No. 1 ranking for "Best Undergraduate Teaching," and Truman was rated No. 1 on the list of "Best Value Schools" in the region.

Other accolades include Washington Monthly, which listed Truman as the No. 6 master's university nationwide in their "2021 College Rankings." Truman was the only Missouri public school ranked in the top 275 spots of the Master's University rankings. Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine continually has Truman on their list of the "Best College Values" in the nation as a featured public school that combines outstanding academics with affordable costs. Truman has one of the lowest student-loan default rates in the state of Missouri.

Truman has a long history of being recognized nationally by higher education experts for its assessment program that allows the university to measure the results of the teaching-learning process and to gather critical information on student growth and development to ensure that graduates are prepared for future success. Truman's curriculum provides each student with a foundation of knowledge appropriate to a traditional liberal arts and sciences education. It also requires specialization in a major, providing each student with in-depth knowledge and mastery of a discipline. This exemplary undergraduate education provides graduates with the knowledge and skills necessary to be successful upon graduation and beyond. Truman has the highest public college graduation rate in Missouri as calculated by the Missouri Department of Higher Education. More than 32% of Truman students enter graduate or professional schools within six months of their graduation, while the majority of the remaining graduates directly enter the workforce or engage in full-time service, such as the Peace Corps.

Truman's students are among the best and brightest in their high school graduating classes. Of Truman's 2020 incoming students, 75% had a GPA of 3.7 or greater. Their average ACT score was 27, with 29% scoring above the 94th percentile. In total, the incoming students represented 75 Missouri counties and 19 states.

Truman emphasizes high-quality teaching as its top priority. Truman students' benefit from a low student-to-faculty ratio, which allows for greater student-teacher interaction and a more personalized educational experience and factors into Truman having one of the highest retention rates among public colleges and universities in the state according to the Missouri Department of Higher Education. Truman strongly supports undergraduate research with a large number of students doing structured research with faculty both in and outside the classroom. The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools has accredited Truman since 1914. Truman is also accredited by AACSB International—The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business, American Chemical Society, Council on Academic Accreditation in Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology (CAA) of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA), Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education, National Association of Schools of Music, The Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation, the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education and the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education.

Students may choose to study from 40 undergraduate majors and 10 graduate programs. Many Truman programs are continually recognized for their quality. Examples include Truman's School of Business, which is one of only 189 business programs nationwide to hold accreditation in both business and accounting by AACSB International, the "gold standard" of business accreditation worldwide. Truman's master's students are consistently in the top 5% in the country for first-time pass rate on the CPA exam.

Located in Kirksville, students benefit from the opportunity to live in a community that offers the charm of a small town but also many of the amenities of a larger city. There is always something going on whether it be a festival, concert, play, sporting event or art exhibit, and students have the option of getting involved in more than 230 campus organizations that create a group of lifelong friends.

Truman also has one of the top National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division II athletic programs in the country. Throughout its history, Truman is one of the most successful Division II schools in the country in terms of producing academic All-Americans. Truman fields 18 intercollegiate sports, which is one of the largest number of sports in the state. Truman is a member of the Great Lakes Valley Conference. Information on all of Truman's intercollegiate athletics programs may be found online at trumanbulldogs.com.

Northwest Missouri State University is a co-educational, primarily residential four-year university offering a broad range of undergraduate and selected graduate programs. Founded as a state normal school in 1905, the university has evolved into a vibrant and diverse learning community with an enrollment of more than 7,800 students hailing from 44 states and 38 countries. More than 700 faculty and staff are employed by the university, which offers classes on its Maryville campus, at Northwest-Kansas City in Gladstone and online.

Northwest offers more than 95 undergraduate majors with cutting-edge, profession-based programs in areas such as education, business, agriculture, fine and performing arts, communication and mass media, behavioral sciences, health and human services, humanities and social sciences, English and modern languages, computer science and natural sciences. Northwest also offers 31 master's programs, five certificate programs and three specialist programs.

With its emphasis on student success—every student, every day—the university is focused on providing an exceptional student experience that places high value on scholarship and life-long learning, intercultural competence, collaboration, respect and integrity, strategic thinking and excellence.

Profession-based learning experiences are widely available to Northwest students in a variety of fields. The 448-acre R.T. Wright Farm is a living, hands-on laboratory for agriculture students; while the Horace Mann Laboratory School and the Phyllis and Richard Leet Center for Children and Families, which are located in the center of campus and serve children from birth to sixth grade, provides hands-on practical classroom experience for students in education and related fields. Northwest's internationally benchmarked student employment program also offers some 1,200 opportunities for students to gain professional development and specialized training in administrative, communications, environmental and other areas throughout the university.

The emphasis on Northwest's values and profession-based experiences is reflected in the university's high success and graduation rates. Northwest boasts a freshman retention rate of 76% and a graduation rate of 59%, which are considerably higher than the national averages. Additionally, 98% of Northwest graduates report finding employment or continuing their education within six months of graduation. Furthermore, Northwest student-athletes have an academic success rate of 79%, compared to a rate of 74% nationally. Northwest has earned a reputation as a university of champions both on and off the field. In addition to boasting competitive athletics teams, including its six-time NCAA Division II national champion football team and three-time national champion men's basketball team, Northwest students compete nationally and excel in fields such as agricultural sciences, forensics and debate, business education and student media.

The first public university in the nation to implement an electronic campus, in 1987, Northwest provides fully-loaded notebook computers for all students. The university also offers an innovative textbook rental program that dates back to the early days of the institution. Combined, these programs save students nearly $6,800 over four years.

Recognizing the importance of needs-based financial support for students, Northwest created the American Dream Grant in 2004, a first-of-its-kind program at a public university in the United States. Qualified students meet Northwest admissions criteria and come from the neediest families, based on their applications for federal aid. First-time freshmen are responsible for contributing a portion of their tuition, room and board, which may include private, federal, state and institutional scholarships and grants, and the American Dream Grant fills the remaining gap.

In addition to being a four-time winner of the Missouri Quality Award, Northwest is just the third institution in the nation to receive the American Association of State Colleges and Universities' prestigious Christa McAuliffe Award for Excellence in Teacher Education two times. Northwest's innovative alternative energy program burns wood chips and pelletized livestock waste to produce most of the thermal energy needed to heat and cool campus buildings, and the university's sustainability efforts earned it the Missouri State Recycling Program Annual Award in 2011, 2013 and 2014. The Northwest campus also is designated the Missouri Arboretum with more than 1,700 trees and 160 species.

Missouri State University is a public, comprehensive metropolitan system with a state-wide mission in public affairs, whose purpose is to develop educated persons. The university's identity is distinguished by its public affairs mission, which entails a campus-wide commitment to foster expertise and responsibility in ethical leadership, cultural competence and community engagement.

The academic experience is grounded in a general education curriculum that draws heavily from the liberal arts and sciences. This foundation provides the basis for mastery of disciplinary and professional studies. It also provides essential forums where students develop the capacity to make well-informed, independent critical judgments about the cultures, values and institutions in society.

The task of developing educated persons obligates the university to expand the store of human understanding through research, scholarship and creative endeavor, and drawing from that store of understanding, to provide service to the communities that support it. In all of its programs, the university uses the most effective methods of discovering and imparting knowledge, and the appropriate use of technology in support of these activities.

The Missouri State University campuses are structured to address the special needs of the urban and rural populations they serve. Missouri State University-Springfield is a selective admissions, graduate-level teaching and research institution. Missouri State University-West Plains is a separately accredited open-admissions campus primarily serving seven counties in south-central Missouri. Missouri State University-Mountain Grove serves Missouri's fruit industry through operation of the State Fruit Experiment Station. Missouri State Outreach provides anytime, anywhere learning opportunities through telecourses, Internet-based instruction, iTunes U and through its interactive video network.

The university also operates other special facilities, such as the Darr Agricultural Center in southwest Springfield; the Journagan Ranch in Douglas County; the Blunt Innovation Center in downtown Springfield; the Bull Shoals Field Station near Forsyth; Baker's Acres and Observatory near Marshfield; the Missouri State University Graduate Center in Joplin; and a branch campus at Liaoning Normal University (LNU) in Dalian, China. In addition, Missouri State has the operations and program offerings of one entire academic department, its Department of Defense and Strategic Studies, located near Washington, D.C., in Fairfax, Virginia.

Missouri State University is governed by a Board of Governors. Members are appointed by the governor, with advice and consent of the Missouri Senate. A Missouri State student also sits on the board as a non-voting member.

The university's chief administrative officer is the president. The Missouri State University-West Plains and Missouri State University-Mountain Grove campuses are directed by chancellors.

Missouri State's new 2021–2026 long-range plan for the Springfield campus is built on aspirational stories and examples of big ideas that will guide the institution's decisions and reality over the next five years.

The stories and ideas fall under four themes: evolving academic directions for future careers; global engagement; inclusive excellence driving university success; and community leadership and partnerships.

Additional Information

International programs: Missouri State University's Long-Range Plan for 2021-2026 includes the strategic priority of global engagement, which calls for the university to provide opportunities for international experience and to promote global learning at home and abroad for Missouri State students, faculty and staff. One aspect of global engagement is international student enrollment. As of the 2020-2021 academic year, Missouri State had 1,492 international students representing 74 countries enrolled in Springfield, in China or online from their home country.

Missouri State primarily conducts international programs through partnerships with 70 universities in 30 countries. These partnerships enable education abroad, research collaboration, English language instruction, cultural immersion, professional development for faculty and dual degree programs in selected fields of study.

Missouri State established a branch campus in 2000 at Liaoning Normal University in Dalian, China. The two universities jointly operate the College of International Business, which offers a two-phase course of study. The first two years of the program lead to an Associate of Arts degree in General Studies from MSU-West Plains. Students then may complete their bachelor's degree by either continuing their studies in China to earn a B.S. in General Business from Missouri State or come to the United States to finish the last two years of study in Springfield.

The MSU International Leadership and Training Center (ILTC) provides customized educational programs for international students, university faculty and business professionals from various countries. ILTC programs focus on education and training in agriculture, entrepreneurship, health-care and teaching methods. Participants in ILTC programs gain academic, practical and cultural experience on the Missouri State campus and across the state through professional development site visits to Missouri businesses, organizations, schools and farms.

Academic excellence: The average ACT score for Missouri State's incoming freshmen in the fall of 2020 was 24, significantly higher than the average for Missouri high school graduates. Further evidence of academic excellence at Missouri State has been the recognition that student teams have received in regional and national student competitions in a number of areas, including debate, advertising, construction, industrial management and media, journalism and film. The Honors College at Missouri State offers extraordinary opportunities for outstanding students.

Faculty and student research conducted throughout the university system ranges in scope from the studies of grape genomics and meteor impacts to early childhood development and student success, and has the potential to positively affect local communities, Missouri, the nation and ultimately the world. In all, Missouri State received more than $35 million from a total of 289 grants and contracts awarded to faculty and staff during 2020-21. The principal focus of the university is applied research geared to serving the needs of diverse constituencies in the public and private sectors. Faculty members are encouraged to pursue their individual and scholarly activities.

The Blunt Innovation Center is a place for Missouri State University researchers and corporate partners to conduct cutting-edge research and development in a collaborative environment. It is made up of five separate buildings, covering about 75,000 square feet. What was once a dilapidated MFA mill in downtown Springfield is now the home of leading-edge research and state-of-the-art technology. The capabilities of the center include applied research in nanotechnology, bio-materials, advanced technologies, genomics/proteomics, bio-systems, software engineering, and medical material device and instrument technologies. The center breaks from a traditional approach to provide a more interdisciplinary experience aimed at serving the technical, commercial and educational needs of industry. The center emphasizes the application of theory to practice, including hands-on instruction with advanced technology industrial instruments.

Libraries: The Missouri State University Libraries is composed of the Duane G. Meyer Library as well as the Horace and "Pete" Haseltine Library in the Greenwood Laboratory School. Meyer Library is a designated depository library for Missouri, federal and United Nations documents, holding more than 361,000 documents. Meyer Library is the only UN depository library in Missouri.

The libraries contain Special Collections and University Archives, which house a number of special groups of materials: the William J. Jones collections of Rimbaud and Butor French Literature are internationally recognized, and the Rimbaud portion comprises the largest collection of this type in the United States. The Ozarks Studies Institute, an ongoing initiative of the MSU Libraries, publishes OzarksWatch Magazine twice annually, as well as a book series. The libraries also contain the Infant through Grade 12 Resource Center, which features a children's literature collection, a textbook collection, curriculum guides and special learning materials. The libraries also manage the MSU Testing Center, which serves students and community patrons who take a variety of local and nationally standardized tests. BearWorks, MSU's institutional repository, contains digital student theses, faculty publications and institutional records. A central feature of the library and of the campus is the Jane A. Meyer Carillon with its complement of 48 bronze bells.

Innovation and the use of new technologies are evident in the Missouri State University Libraries. The circulating reserve collection includes Microsoft HoloLens devices, robots, laptops, projectors, charging cables and many other technology items. The library provides 3D printing, wide-format printing and scanning, a virtual reality room and other resources as well.

History: Missouri State University was founded as the Missouri State Normal School, Fourth District, by legislative action on March 17, 1905. Missouri State first opened its doors in June 1906. After undergoing multiple name changes through the years, Missouri State is a comprehensive state university system offering a wide variety of programs and services to its students and the citizens of the state.

During the 1995 session of the Missouri General Assembly, Missouri State received a statewide mission in public affairs, making it the only Missouri university emphasizing the development of aware, committed and active participants in tomorrow's society.

In a campus ceremony on March 17, 2005, the 100th anniversary of Founders' Day, Gov.

Matt Blunt signed Senate Bill 98, which included changing Southwest Missouri State University's name to Missouri State University, the fifth and final name for the university. The institution was founded as the Normal School in 1905, then changed to Southwest Missouri State Teachers College in 1919, Southwest Missouri State College in 1946 and Southwest Missouri State University in 1972. The Missouri State University–Mountain Grove campus is primarily known for research in agriculture and fruit science. It sits on 193 acres in south-central Missouri. The campus is located just north and east of the intersection of Highway 60 and State Highway 95, and is home to:

The State Fruit Experiment Station has multiple facilities. The 13 acres east of State Highway 95 houses Shepard Hall, with laboratories, offices and a sales area for fruit and wine; Faurot Hall, which contains classrooms, a plant science laboratory and offices; the Missouri State Winery and Distillery; four greenhouses; one shade house; the Ozarks Arboretum; and the National Weather Service NOAA station that has been in operation for over 100 years. The 180-acre area west of State Highway 95 includes an AgEbb weather station; a Forest Technology Systems Station; a USGS seismic station; a high tunnel; fruit and horticultural crop research and demonstration plantings; hay fields; equipment storage buildings; a shop; and a dormitory capable of housing 22 students.

The Center for Grapevine Biotechnology explores the genetic resources of diverse grapevine species to secure the ecological and economic sustainability of the grape and wine industry, as well as to improve human health. This work includes developing new, improved grape varieties by genome-enabled breeding, conducting molecular analysis of grapevine genes and viruses for the management of major diseases, providing clean and virus-tested grapevines to the industry, exploring and identifying health-promoting compounds in native grapevine species and creating a challenging academic environment to train students in plant biotechnology.

The Midwest Viticulture and Enology Center promotes growth of the grape and wine industry through focused research, advisory and service activities. This center coordinates work carried out in viticulture and enology to use available resources in Missouri and surrounding states efficiently.

Missouri State Winery and Distillery is licensed for wine sales and includes a commercially licensed distillery. The facility supports research conducted on specific winemaking problems and offers educational opportunities for Missouri State agriculture students who are interested in enology. Public educational events for artisan distillers, home winemakers and consumers are offered annually. Mountain Grove Cellars produces wine and fruit brandy from fruit grown in the State Fruit Experiment Station research and demonstration vineyards and orchards. Several styles of rum are also produced.

A U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) quarantine facility for the introduction and virus testing of grapes from outside the United States is located at the station. The station's research and advisory programs have been instrumental in the revival of the Missouri grape and wine industry after Prohibition. Today, special emphasis is given to research on the American and hybrid grape varieties and their wines.

Journagan Ranch is a working ranch complete with buildings, equipment and cattle. The ranch, donated by Leo Journagan and his family, is located just 10 miles from the Mountain Grove campus. It is the second-largest single gift in the university's history. The 3,300-plus acres stretch over about seven miles with barns, buildings, vehicles and machinery. Journagan Ranch has some crossbred cattle, but the focus of the operation is purebred Polled Herefords, a variation of Hereford cattle without horns. The ranch has the 15th largest herd of Polled Herefords in the United States. It offers a site for research and teaching in beef genetics and management, agroforestry, soils, water quality and wildlife conservation. It also offers opportunities for hiking and horseback riding. Students working at Journagan Ranch may be housed on the Mountain Grove campus while enrolled in Springfield classes through distance-education technology.

The Missouri State University Mountain Grove Extended Campus is located at Shannon Hall and is administered through Missouri State–West Plains. Shannon Hall includes several classrooms, a computer classroom, distance-learning classroom and science lab.

Missouri State University–West Plains is one of three campuses within the Missouri State University System. The West Plains campus is a teaching and learning institution of higher education offering two-year Associate of Arts, Associate of Science and Associate of Applied Science degrees, certificates and other courses as needed by employers and citizens of the area served.

The college provides a liberal arts transfer curriculum at the freshman and sophomore levels and selected occupational programs, as well as extended learning opportunities through online courses and campuses in Mountain Grove and at Liaoning Normal University in Dalian, China, the latter of which is made possible through Missouri State University's existing branch campus at LNU. The campus also provides advanced technical training through the Greater Ozarks Center for Advanced Technology (GOCAT), a partnership among the university, the City of West Plains and the West Plains R-7 School District's South Central Career Center. GOCAT was developed to provide advanced, hands-on manufacturing training to individuals—from high school age through adulthood—who are looking to expand their skills in a technical field.

A full college experience with quality instruction in a relaxed, personal atmosphere is the hallmark of Missouri State-West Plains. The campus promotes academic and personal success for students through small classes, personalized attention, educational support services and numerous opportunities to participate in extracurricular activities.

History and setting: Missouri State-West Plains was founded in 1963 as the West Plains Residence Center. In 1977, the Southwest Missouri State University Board of Regents and the Missouri General Assembly designated the name West Plains Campus of Southwest Missouri State University to replace Residence Center. The legislature enacted a permanent status bill for the campus in 1981 then passed House Bill 51 in 1991, giving the campus the authority to offer "one-year certificates, two-year associate degrees and credit and non-credit courses." The passage of Senate Bill 98 in 2005 changed the university system's name to Missouri State University.

Facilities: The campus consists of six classroom and administrative buildings—Drago Hall, Kellett Hall, M.O. Looney Hall, Emory L. Melton Hall, Michael J. Lybier Technology Center and Garfield Hall. In addition, the campus includes the Garnett Library, the 60-person Grizzly House residence hall, the Student Recreation Center, food services at Putnam and Cass Hall, a one-stop shop for student services. Gohn Hall houses Missouri State University's Outreach Program. Maintenance and custodial operations are located in the Broadway Building, and the Richards House is the center for many university activities, including receptions, luncheons, dinners, special events, and faculty, staff or student functions.

In January 2017, Missouri State-West Plains expanded its student housing options by assuming management of the Grizzly Lofts, a 274-person, privately-owned residence hall near campus. Hass-Darr Hall is the newest facility on the Missouri State-West Plains campus. The 18,000-square-foot facility, which once served as the West Plains Post Office, houses the William and Virginia Darr Honors Program, Carol Silvey Student Union, Drago College Store, Admissions Welcome Center, Veterans Center, student life and development office, the Advisement and Academic Coaching Center for Empowering Student Success, and other much needed classroom and administrative space.

Enrollment: The fall 2020 enrollment was 1,922 students, with the majority of students coming from a seven-county area of the south-central Missouri Ozarks region and from adjacent areas in north Arkansas.

Academic Programs: The campus offers associate degrees designed for transfer into bachelor's degree programs and for immediate employment after two years of study. They include Associate of Arts degrees in general studies, child and family development, criminology, health professions and teaching; Associate of Science degrees in agriculture, business, nursing, pre-engineering and technology; and Associate of Applied Science degrees in business, child and family development, culinary and hospitality management, computer graphics and programming, enology, general agriculture, health information technology, law enforcement, technology, viticulture, and wine business and entrepreneurship. The campus also offers certificates in a wide range of fields that prepare students with specific skills and knowledge for the workplace or in preparation for an associate's degree.

Some bachelor's and master's degree programs also are available at the West Plains cam-

Founded in 1937 as Joplin Junior College, Missouri Southern State University (MSSU) was established by the General Assembly in 1965 as a two-year, upper-division state college to be operated in conjunction with the Junior College District of Jasper County. Missouri Southern operated under this arrangement through June 30, 1977, when the state assumed the responsibility of funding and operating the four-year program.

DR. DEAN VAN GALEN
Southern State University

Missouri Southern State College (MSSC) became Missouri Southern State University after Governor Bob Holden signed Senate Bill 55 on July 12, 2003. The legislation also allowed MSSU to enter into cooperative agreements with other state universities to provide graduate programs.

MSSU is committed to the success of its students through a First-Year Experience program, an emphasis on strong academic advising and a campus committed to service-learning, engaging student organizations and intramural activities. MSSU also offers highly competitive NCAA Division II athletic programs in the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association (MIAA). In June 1990, MSSU's board approved a change in the university mission to include an international emphasis in undergraduate education. This change is intended to help students compete in the global environment.

The following degrees are offered: Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, Bachelor of Science in Education, Bachelor of General Studies and Associate of Science. The university offers bachelor's degrees in nearly 150 major areas in liberal arts, teacher education, business and technology. In addition to the four-year programs, the curriculum offers pre-medicine, pre-engineering and other pre-professional programs, as well as two-year associate degrees in dental hygiene, computer information science, law enforcement, radiological technology, drafting and design engineering technology, manufacturing engineering technology and respiratory therapy.

The university is also working to expand its graduate programs. Offerings currently include Master of Accountancy, Master of Science in Education Administration, Master of Science in Education Curriculum and Instruction, Master of Science in Management Human Resources and Masters of Science in Management degrees.

The university is organized into four colleges: Arts and Sciences, Education, Health Sciences and the Robert W. Plaster School of Business. The university mission statement stresses a liberal arts-based core curriculum designed to provide every graduate with knowledge in the basic areas of learning. Under a revised and moderately selective admission policy, the university encourages high-school students to be better prepared for college study by following the core curriculum requirements outlined by the Missouri Coordinating Board for Higher Education.

The administration of the university is vested in an eight-member Board of Governors appointed by the governor with Senate consent. The 373-acre university campus is located in Joplin, a southwest Missouri city with a population of nearly 50,000 and a regional retail hub serving about 400,000. The MSSU campus presently consists of 30 major buildings, including the 65,000-square-foot Beimdiek Recreation Center and the 85,000-square-foot Julio S. Leon Health Sciences Center, as well as a performing arts center, an artificial turf football field, a 3,200-seat athletic center with a 200-meter indoor track and a modern library with access to the latest online and electronic databases. In 2015, the university completed work on a six-building residence hall complex featuring 51 student apartments (housing four students each); an 11,000-square-foot FEMA shelter; a new baseball stadium and a field-house at the north end of the football stadium. In 2021 Lion Village, the latest addition to campus residential offerings, was completed. The four-story, 92,000-square-foot building houses over 300 students featuring private study areas, meeting rooms and a theatre.

The university is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission, Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation, Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services Bureau, Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology in Engineering Technology, Accreditation Council for Business Schools and Programs, Commission on Dental Accreditation, American Dental Association, Committee on Accreditation of Educational Programs for the Emergency Medical Services Professions, Commission on Accreditation for Respiratory Care, Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiologic Technology, Missouri State Board of Nursing, Accreditation for Education in Nursing, Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs, National Environmental Health Science and Protection Accreditation Council, and Institute for Safety and Health Management.

in-stitution in 1969, became a full member of the State of Missouri system in 1977 and earned university designation in 2005.

The university designation legislation also made Missouri Western the statewide institution of applied learning, so the university offers opportunities for students to engage in learning that occurs outside the classroom, applying the theory of the classroom to practical situations. Nearly 99% of Missouri Western graduates participate in an internship, undergraduate research, service-learning, study away or other applied learning experience.

The legislation also authorized Missouri Western to offer graduate degrees, and the university has developed several master's degree and graduate certificate programs that emphasize applied research and practical experiences. Missouri Western is also designated by statute as one of the state's open admissions universities, offering opportunities for all of Missouri's citizens to pursue higher education.

Missouri Western is organized into three colleges: the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Business and Professional Studies and the College of Science and Health.

The College of Business and Professional Studies includes the Steven L. Craig School of Business and is the home of the Center for Franchise Development (CFD) and the Center for Entrepreneurship (CFE). The CFD offers opportunities for alumni to own a franchise after graduation, and the CFE offers support for entrepreneurs in the region. The College of Science and Health continues to be a leader in the healthcare fields. It offers a bachelor's degree in population health management through a partnership with Mosaic Life Care in St. Joseph and Cerner in the Kansas City area.

Missouri Western offers more than 40 majors and 30 minors, 12 master's degrees and three graduate certificates. The student to faculty ratio is approximately 18:1, and 80% of full-time tenure-track faculty hold the highest degree in their field. Enrollment for Fall 2020 was 4,911.

The institution is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission, a commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. Program accreditations include the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB International), Engineering Technology Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, Commission on Accreditation for Health Informatics and Information Management Education, Commission on Accreditation in Physical Therapy Education, Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, Council on Social Work Education, National Accrediting Agency for Clinical Laboratory Science, National Association of Schools of Music, National Association of Schools of Theatre, and National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Program approvals include the American Bar Association and the Missouri State Board of Education with the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, and the Missouri State Board of Nursing. The Bachelor of Science in chemistry has curriculum approval from the American Chemical Society.

Missouri Western's 723-acre campus features a large nature study area, walking trails and nine ponds. In 2010, Missouri Western became the summer training camp home of the Kansas City Chiefs. In 2013, Missouri Western dedicated the 6,000-square-foot Walter Cronkite Memorial in honor of the legendary journalist who was born in St. Joseph.

Founded in 1871, the University of Central Missouri (UCM) has a long history of meeting the higher education needs of Missourians. A new chapter in the institution's development took place Sept. 20, 2006, with a name change to reflect a new vision.

The Missouri Coordinating Board for Higher Education approved the university's statewide mission in professional applied sciences and technology Oct. 10, 1996. This enhanced mission reflects an overall commitment to academic excellence and career preparation that includes the integration of the latest technologies throughout UCM's comprehensive liberal arts curriculum. This is having far-reaching impact on approximately 10,000 students from nearly all 50 states and over 50 foreign countries who attend UCM and engage in more than 150 areas of study tailored to meet individual needs.

Beyond Missouri, UCM offers onsite and online learning opportunities to students in other parts of the United States and the world. UCM's international programs include exchange opportunities, internships and student teaching programs that are all among the most challenging and affordable anywhere. Degrees conferred by the university include the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Music Education, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Science in business administration, Bachelor of Science in education and Bachelor of Science in social work. At the graduate level, UCM offers excellent programs leading to Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Science in Education, Master of Business Administration and Education Specialist degrees. In addition, a cooperative doctoral program in educational leadership exists in conjunction with the University of Missouri (MU), and a cooperative doctoral program in technology management is available in conjunction with Indiana State University (ISU). MU and ISU serve as the degree-granting institutions.

Administratively, the university's academic affairs division is divided into four core academic colleges, as well as The Honors College and Graduate and International Student Services. The academic colleges are:

- The Adrian and Margaret Harmon College of Business and Professional Studies, which offers schools of Aviation, Business Administration, Human Services, and Public Services, as well as the Marriage and Family Therapy Clinic, Missouri Safety Center, and the Welch-Schmidt Center for Communication Disorders. Programs in areas such as accounting, marketing, public relations, economics, finance, computer information systems and management, as well as aviation, criminal justice, communication disorders and social work, military science and leadership are found in the Harmon College.
- The College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences provides a comprehensive liberal arts foundation in support of the entire university curriculum while also preparing graduates in areas such as art and design, communication, sociology, history and anthropology, government, international studies and languages, music, theatre and dance. These are examples of offerings in the schools of English and Philosophy; Communication, History and Interdisciplin-

- The College of Health, Science and Technology offers schools of Computer Science and Mathematics; Geoscience, Physics and Safety; Natural Sciences; Nursing; Nutrition Kinesiology, and Psychological Science, and Technology.

All UCM coursework is fully accredited by the North Central Association's Higher Learning Commission. UCM also is a state leader in program-specific accreditations, which have been granted by national organizations. This includes business administration degrees, which are accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

The main campus—with its instructional buildings, Elliott Student Union, conveniently located residence halls and modern family housing—is the center of university life. However, the complete physical plant comprises more than 1,300 acres, including the Prussing Farm, the 300-acre Pertle Springs recreational and biological research area and Max B. Swisher Skyhaven Airport. Completed in 1999, the James C. Kirkpatrick Library is a leader in developing two-way interactive television, information technologies and Internet training facilities and providing access to electronic information resources to the state's citizens.

Recent initiatives include The Crossing-South at Holden, a new 325-bed housing-retail facility completed in 2015; renovation of the Morrow-Garrison buildings; construction of a new student Recreation and Wellness Center; and a $36 million campus-wide energy efficiency project completed in 2011. In fall 2012, UCM also launched in cooperation with the Lee's Summit R-VII School District, Metropolitan Community College and a number of business and community partners, The Missouri Innovation Campus (MIC), located at the school district's Summit Technology Academy. Part of a trailblazing cooperative agreement, the school district and UCM jointly opened a new facility in fall 2017 that houses The MIC and also includes shared space and space for UCM-Lee’s Summit, the university’s off-campus courses.

UCM students are valued members of the university family, and their successes—both in the classroom and in life—are the highest priority. UCM promises students an education that promotes a culture of service, opportunities for engaged learning, future-focused academics and a worldly perspective.

The Missouri Department of Labor and Industrial Relations was created by Article IX section 49 of the Missouri Constitution. The department is composed of the Labor and Industrial Relations Commission and five divisions: the Division of Employment Security administers unemployment claims; the Division of Workers' Compensation ensures that workers injured on the job receive the benefits they deserve and investigates allegations of workers' compensation fraud and non-compliance; the State Board of Mediation determines the appropriate bargaining unit for public employees; the Division of Labor Standards regulates wages and wage rates and promotes safe working environments; and the Missouri Human Rights Commission enforces and adjudicates Missouri's anti-discriminatory, fair housing, employment and public accommodation statutes.

The Division of Employment Security was established in 1946 to administer the Missouri Unemployment Compensation Law. The division collects tax contributions from employers and pays unemployment benefits to individuals who are determined eligible under the law. State unemployment contributions paid by Missouri employers into the Missouri Trust Fund are set aside for the sole purpose of providing for the payment of weekly unemployment benefits to qualified claimants. The division consists of four sections: benefits, tax, appeals and integrity.

Unemployment Insurance

The unemployment benefits paid to insured workers help maintain the economy of the state during periods of economic downturn by helping preserve the level of consumer purchasing power. The program is a joint state-federal program funded solely through tax contributions paid by employers, so no deductions are made from employees' paychecks for this insurance. Payments of benefits under the regular program are made from a trust fund, financed by the aforementioned employer tax contributions. Eligible claimants can qualify for up to 20 weeks of unemployment compensation under the state's benefit program. The average weekly benefit amount in FY 2020 was $246.51, and the maximum benefit amount was $320.00.

Unemployment Insurance Tax

The division's tax section receives and processes required reports and tax contributions from employers. For FY 2020, over 170,000 liable employers' accounts were maintained including over 21,000 new liable employers. Through employer audits, the division educates the public on the purpose of the tax program and verifies correct employer reporting, including proper worker classification. Correct reporting helps ensure the prompt payment of unemployment benefits to insured workers during periods of unemployment, and also promotes an equitable business environment exists for employers operating in Missouri. Employment security law includes an experience rating provision as an incentive for employers to maintain stable employment, review claims and reduce unemployment. Missouri is one of only sixteen states that allow an employer to earn a minimum UI tax rate of 0%. Employers file quarterly contribution and wage reports with the division to report their workers' earnings. Reports may be filed online at www.uinteract.labor.mo.gov.

Payment of Benefits

One of the main objectives of the division is the prompt payment of unemployment benefits to eligible claimants. Unemployed Missouri workers can file initial and weekly claims for unemployment compensation online at www.uinteract.labor.mo.gov or by phone through four claims centers located in Jefferson City, St. Louis, Kansas City and Springfield. A person must have worked in employment covered under the Missouri Employment Security Law and earned enough qualifying wages in order to establish a claim for unemployment benefits. Detailed wage records are kept on every worker reported by employers on the quarterly contribution and wage report in order to calculate benefits.

Integrity Efforts

The DES uses an identity verification solution for all unemployment claims filed. The program is designed to ensure that the information provided during the claim intake process is correct and belongs to the person filing a claim for unemployment benefits prior to unemployment benefits being paid. Through numerous additional cross-match systems, including the federal and state new-hire databases, the division identifies claimants committing unemployment fraud. During FY 2020, the division recovered $18.1 million of improperly paid benefits and more than $2.6 million in fraud penalties.

The division continues its efforts to ensure businesses properly classify workers. Worker misclassification is an act where employers improperly classify their employees to avoid paying employment taxes. The division's worker misclassification taskforce focuses resources to target industries likely to violate worker classification laws. In 2020, 2,908 misclassified workers were identified, associated with more than $360,010 in unpaid unemployment taxes.

The Division of Workers' Compensation administers the Workers' Compensation Law. The division's responsibility to adjudicate and resolve disputes under the law are fulfilled by Administrative Law Judges in the eight adjudication offices located throughout the state of Missouri. The division's Jefferson City office processes the filings that are received by the parties to the case, generates correspondence and responds to calls that are placed on the toll free line. The division's programs and services extend to all customers including Missouri workers who sustain an accident, injury or develop occupational diseases in the course and scope of employment.

Missouri employers who are governed by and subject to the Workers' Compensation Law, are required to either purchase workers' compensation insurance coverage with an insurance carrier that is authorized to write insurance in the state of Missouri, or obtain approval from the division to self-insure their workers' compensation liability. In order to ensure payment of the workers' compensation liabilities, self-insured employers must provide security in an amount determined by the division in the form of a surety bond, letter of credit or deposit of certain securities in escrow account.

Benefits available through the workers' compensation system include, medical treatment to cure and relieve the employee from the effects of the injury, temporary total disability benefits, and permanent partial or permanent total disability benefits. If the injury results in the employee's death, the dependents are entitled to receive burial expenses and death benefits as determined by law. Injured workers can also qualify for benefits from the Second Injury Fund (SIF), which was created by the General Assembly during World War II to ease the workers' compensation burden on employers by compensating for employees' preexisting injuries. The comprehensive legislative changes that were made to the law, effective Jan. 1, 2014, eliminated certain benefits from the SIF and also established a prioritization schedule for the payment of SIF liabilities.

Most workers' compensation cases are resolved without lengthy proceedings, as was the intent of the workers' compensation system approved by Missouri voters in 1926. The cases that are not resolved through the settlement process typically result in an evidentiary hearing before a Division Administrative Law Judge where a determination is made on what, if any, benefits are owed to the injured worker. If any party disagrees with the Administrative Law Judge's ruling, an appeal may be made to the Labor and Industrial Relations Commission.

The division's Fraud and Noncompliance Unit investigates allegations of fraud and noncompliance perpetrated by a person or entity. At the conclusion of the investigation, the findings are presented to the division director who may refer the file to the Missouri Attorney General's Office for possible prosecution.

The division administers the Line of Duty Compensation Program that provides for a $25,000 benefit to dependents of a firefighter, volunteer firefighter, law enforcement officer, air ambulance pilot, air ambulance registered professional nurse, air ambulance registered respiratory therapist, flight crew member, public safety officer or emergency medical technician killed in the line of duty. In 2001, the General Assembly enacted legislation authorizing claims to be made against the Tort Victims' Compensation Fund, authorizing the division to establish criteria and evaluate the claims.

State Board of Mediation

The State Board of Mediation is a quasi-judicial board created by the General Assembly in 1947 to assist in the resolution of labor disputes in the public utility industry. The board's primary activity, however, changed in 1965 with the passage of the Public Sector Labor Law, sections 105.500 to 105.530 of the Missouri Revised Statutes. This law authorizes the board to determine appropriate bargaining units of public employees based on their community of interests and to conduct secret ballot elections to determine whether a majority of the employees in a bargaining unit agree to be represented by a petitioning labor organization.

The board consists of five members appointed by the governor. Two members are employers or selected from an association representing employers, two members hold membership in a bona fide trade or labor union and the fifth member is a neutral party who serves as full-time chair and administrator of the agency.

If a public employer and a petitioning labor organization cannot agree on which employees should be included in an appropriate bargaining unit or on the manner of conducting the election, the board will hold a formal hearing at which the parties may present evidence and legal arguments in support of their positions on the disputed questions. After considering the evidence and legal arguments, the board issues a written decision resolving the disputes.

If a majority of the members of a bargaining unit vote for the labor organization in a board-conducted election, the board certifies it as the exclusive bargaining representative for all the unit members for the purposes of collective bargaining. The labor organization will then negotiate with the public employer of the unit members over salaries and other conditions of employment with the goal of reaching a written agreement governing these matters.

The board's jurisdiction under the Public Sector Labor Law to determine appropriate bargaining units and to certify exclusive bargaining representatives extends to almost all public employees, including those employed by the state and its agencies, counties, cities, school districts and other special districts.

Email: laborstandards@labor.mo.gov

The Division of Labor Standards currently consists of five sections: Wage and Hour, On-Site Safety and Health Consultation, Mine and Cave Safety, Workers' Safety, and Research and Analysis.

Wage and Hour Section

The Wage and Hour Section provides information for Missouri's labor laws, including allowable breaks, lunches, vacations, hiring, wage levels, dismissals and discipline, youth employment and minimum wage laws. It administers Missouri's prevailing wage law. Prevailing wage survey information for all applicable construction projects are submitted on an ongoing basis.

The Wage and Hour Section administers and enforces Missouri's child labor law. The law ensures that no child younger than 16 years of age is employed in an occupation that is detrimental to the child's safety, health, morals, educational processes or general well-being. Youth under 14 years of age are not permitted to work at any job (other than in the agriculture or entertainment industries or casual jobs) at any time. Youth who are 14 or 15 generally are permitted to work, but their work as well as the work of all children in the entertainment industry, is subject to restrictions. A child 14 or 15 years old may not be employed during the regular school term unless the public school superintendent or designee of the district where the youth lives has issued a work certificate. Youth under 16 may work in the entertainment industry if the division issues the youth a work permit.

The Wage and Hour Section is also responsible for the administration and enforcement of Missouri's minimum wage law. The minimum wage rate increased to $8.60 per hour for private employers on Jan. 1, 2019, and will increase $0.85 each year through 2023. The state minimum wage for 2021 is $10.30 per hour, and is $11.15 for 2022.

On-Site Safety and Health Section

The On-Site Safety and Health Section offers a free, confidential consultation service to employers to ensure they comply with federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) regulations. This program reduces workplace injuries and illnesses. At the employer's request, a consultant visits the workplace and informs the employer of hazards found and recommends solutions to eliminate hazards. In FY 2020, the On-Site Program helped employers avoid more than $9.8 million in OSHA fines by eliminating hazards within the workplace.

The Safety and Health Achievement Recognition Program (SHARP) is for small businesses that operate effective safety and health management programs. Participants in SHARP can receive up to a three-year exemption from certain OSHA inspections.

TODD SMITH
Director
Division of Labor Standards

Mine and Cave Inspection Section

The Mine and Cave Inspection Program operates by the authority of Chapter 293, RSMo. Inspectors travel to mine and cave sites on a regular basis to inspect the property for safety and health hazards, including unsafe processes or work procedures that could cause injury, illness or fatalities. All safety and health conditions of the site are inspected, and all hazards identified are corrected in a timely manner. Cost-effective recommendations on how to abate any safety or health problem are offered and consultations on any condition are available to the operator to bring them into compliance with state and federal laws.

The program is authorized and directed to train necessary mine rescue teams located at mine sites around the state and to coordinate any rescue efforts that may occur due to a disaster.

A listing of the caves inspected by the program can be found online at www.labor.mo.gov/DLS/WorkplaceSafety/minecave.

The Mine and Cave Safety and Health Section trains and retrains miners in the practice of implementing safe and healthy working habits in the mining workplace. This training is partially funded by a grant through the U.S. Department of Labor, Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA). Each miner must receive an initial safety and health training and annual retraining. Instructors conduct safety and health audits, prepare site-specific lesson plans corresponding to the training plan of the company, then present innovative training topics to the miners.

Workers' Safety Section

The Workers' Safety section is funded through the Division of Workers' Compensation, but administered within the Division of Labor Standards to provide safety management resources to Missouri insurance carriers for workers' compensation coverage. This section maintains a registry of safety consultants and safety engineers, certified by the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations as available to provide safety services within the state of Missouri. Additionally, this section reports annual worker injury and fatality statistics to the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Research and Analysis Section

The Research and Analysis section of the Missouri Department of Labor and Industrial Relations collaborates with the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics in conducting the yearly Survey of Occupational Injuries and Illnesses and the Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries. The Survey of Occupational and Illnesses collects data from approximately 5,400 private industry employers in Missouri. Survey information includes occupation and other demographic information of workers who incur work-related injuries and illnesses, the nature of the conditions and how they occurred, and the time away from work. The Census of Fatal Occupational Injuries monitors the number of workplace fatalities each year in the state of Missouri. This data assists in the development of workplace safety programs across the state.

The mission of the Missouri Commission on Human Rights (MCHR) is to prevent and eliminate discrimination. The MCHR investigates complaints of discrimination in housing, employment and places of public accommodations because of, race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, sex, disability, age (in employment only) and familial status (in housing only). The MCHR also provides training to inform people of their rights and responsibilities under the Missouri Human Rights Act.

The Missouri Commission on Human Rights was created by the 69th General Assembly in 1957 and became a permanent agency in 1959. In 1961, the Fair Employment Practices Act was passed, in 1965, the Public Accommodations Act was passed and in 1972, the Fair Housing Act was passed. In 1986, these three laws were consolidated under Chapter 213, RSMo, as the Missouri Human Rights Act.

The commission staff handles more than 1,000 cases annually. In addition to the enforcement mechanisms in the Missouri Human Rights Act, the statute also empowers the commission to certify local commissions, establish relationships with federal and local civil and human rights agencies, implement educational or research programs and develop ways to prevent discrimination. Commission members are nominated by the director of the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations and appointed by the governor with advice and consent of the Senate. The governor appoints at least one commissioner from each of Missouri's eight congressional districts, two commissioners-at-large and one commissioner as chair. The commissioners serve for six years without compensation. The commission meets quarterly, and commission meetings are open to the public.

The Department of Mental Health (DMH) was officially established on July 1, 1974, as a cabinet-level state agency by the Omnibus State Government Reorganization Act; however, its functions date back to 1847. The department serves as the state's mental health authority, establishing philosophy, policy and standards of care.

State law provides three principal missions for the department: the prevention of mental disorders, developmental disabilities, substance use/misuse; the treatment, habilitation and rehabilitation of Missourians who have those conditions; and the improvement of public understanding and attitudes about mental disorders, developmental disabilities and substance use disorders.

The vision for the Missouri Department of Mental Health is that "Missourians receiving mental health services will have the opportunity to pursue their dreams and live their lives as valued members of their communities."

Missourians must know mental illness is treatable, persons with substance use disorders can triumph over their addictions and persons with developmental disabilities can be productive citizens and good neighbors in their communities.

Mental Health Commission

The commission, composed of seven members, appoints the director of the Department of Mental Health with confirmation of the Senate. Commissioners are appointed to four-year terms by the governor, again with the confirmation of the Senate. The commissioners serve as policy advisors to the department director. The commission, by law, must include an advocate of community mental health centers, a physician who is an expert in the treatment of mental illness, a physician, psychologist or licensed clinician concerned with developmental disabilities, a member with business expertise, an advocate of substance use treatment, a citizen who represents the interests of consumers of psychiatric services and a citizen who represents the interests of consumers of developmental disabilities services.

Office of the Director

The seven-member Missouri Mental Health Commission serves as the principal policy advisory body to the department director. The director's duties include planning, supervising and evaluating the provision of services for Missourians with mental illness, developmental disabilities and substance use disorders. The department is composed of three divisions: the Division of Behavioral Health, the Division of Developmental Disabilities and the Division of Administrative Services, as well as seven support offices.

DMH serves approximately 170,000 Missourians annually through state-operated facilities and contracts with private organizations and individuals. The seven state-operated psychiatric facilities include inpatient psychiatric care for adults and children, as well as sex offender rehabilitation and treatment services. In addition, four habilitation centers, three community support agencies, one crisis community support agency, six regional offices and six satellite offices serve individuals with developmental disabilities. Other services are purchased from a variety of privately operated programs statewide through approximately 1,400 contracts managed annually by the DMH.

Deputy Director

The Office of the Deputy Director provides the leadership and direction for a variety of department-wide and statewide functions that support program operations and services to DMH consumers. These include supervisory responsibility for the Office of Deaf Services, Office of Constituent Services and the Investigations Unit, as well as other special projects at the director's discretion.

Chief Medical Director's Office

The Chief Medical Director's Office offers senior clinical leadership to the Department of Mental Health. It provides advice and counsel to the department director regarding a broad range of clinical, programmatic and strategic issues, as well as clinical policy. It also provides leadership and mentoring to the department's clinical staff statewide, by establishing and promoting professional, clinical and ethical values and standards to which all clinical staff are expected to adhere. The Chief Medical Directors' Office upholds quality of care, and is responsible for establishing and maintaining the department's standards of care on both clinical and programmatic levels.

Office of Public and Legislative Affairs

The Office of Public and Legislative Affairs (OPLA) provides information internally and externally regarding mental health programs and services and helps promote the people, programs and services of the department, through publications and media. The office also provides support services, technical assistance and training, to the department's divisions, offices and facilities. The OPLA works with legislators, state office holders and stakeholders, regarding legislation related to the department, as well as serving as the liaison to the Mental Health Commission and oversight of the Office of Disaster Services.

Division of Administrative Services

The Division of Administrative Services provides administrative and financial services to help the department achieve effective results. The division includes the following units: budget and finance, which develops and monitors the annual budget, oversees the legislative fiscal note process, provides expenditure oversight and analyzes and compiles financial and other related reports; accounting, which oversees and monitors all funds, manages expenditures, administers grant funds and produces fiscal summaries, analyses and reports; purchasing and general services, which establishes and administers contracts with private agencies or individuals to provide services in the community and is also responsible for various general services functions in the central office; and Medicaid and reimbursements, which serves as the primary liaison with MO HealthNet on mental health issues, and provides Medicaid guidance and support to both divisions, collects payments from private insurance, Medicaid and Medicare, and private pay for department services and coordinates revenue maximization activities.

Division of Behavioral Health

The Division of Behavioral Health (DBH), formerly the Divisions of Alcohol and Drug Abuse and Comprehensive Psychiatric Services, provides comprehensive mental health and substance use disorder prevention, treatment and recovery services in Missouri. The division is responsible for six adult psychiatric facilities, one children's facility and a statewide network of contracted community providers. Approximately 140,000 people receive behavioral health services each year from programs operated or contracted by the division.

The division oversees seven state-operated facilities for people with serious mental illnesses and children with severe emotional disturbances. All are fully accredited by The Joint Commission (TJC) and certified by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) to provide Medicaid services. The facilities include: Fulton State Hospital; St. Louis Forensic Treatment Centers, North Campus and South Campus; Hawthorn Children's Psychiatric Hospital, St. Louis; Center for Behavioral Medicine, Kansas City; Northwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center, St. Joseph; and Southeast Missouri Mental Health Center, Farmington. The sexually violent predator treatment program operates in secure facilities in both Farmington and Fulton.

Forensic services are provided for evaluation, treatment and community monitoring of individuals with mental illness and developmental disabilities who are involved in the criminal justice system and under the order and direction of circuit courts. Community monitoring is also provided in collaboration with Probation and Parole to individuals who have been conditionally released after they were committed to the Department as sexually violent predators. The division supervises about 420 forensic clients on conditional release statewide and conducts an average of 615 pretrial evaluations each year.

Community-based treatment is provided through contracted, certified agencies that serve children and their families, youth and adults. Administrative agents are designated by state law as entry points into the mental health system for people with serious mental illness. Some administrative agents are designated as Certified Community Behavioral Health Organizations (CCBHO). Services provided by division contractors include the Community Psychiatric Rehabilitation Program (CPRP) for adults with serious mental illness and youth with serious emotional disturbances, and the Comprehensive Substance Treatment and Rehabilitation (CSTAR) Program, which provides substance use disorder treatment for adults and adolescents as well as specialized services for pregnant and postpartum women, women with children, adolescents and individuals who are addicted to heroin or prescription opiates. Other statewide programs include the Disease Management project, the Health Home initiative, the Substance Abuse Traffic Offender Program (SATOP) and grant-funded comprehensive programs to address opioid use.

Specialized services for children and youth with severe emotional disturbances are provided in a variety of settings, including the child's home, schools, state-operated facilities and community-based programs.

Recovery services support individuals in recovery from serious mental illness or severe substance use disorders. They include employment programs and affordable housing options, as well as Consumer Operated Service Programs (COSPs) and other evidence-based peer services.

Substance use/misuse prevention and mental health promotion are offered through community- and school-based providers that target individuals, families and communities. Emphasis is placed on evidence-based programs and practices. There is a network of community coalitions, a statewide training resource center, prevention resource centers, direct service programs for high-risk youth, college-based services and school-based prevention and intervention programs, as well as other statewide initiatives, including suicide prevention.

The Missouri Model of Crisis Intervention represents a partnership between law enforcement, the Department of Mental Health, the Missouri Coalition for Community Behavioral Healthcare and community stakeholders. It addresses the needs of individuals in crisis with a focus on the right interventions provided in the right way at the right time to improve outcomes and efficiently manage resources. Community Mental Health Liaisons (CMHLs) work with local law enforcement and court personnel to connect people experiencing behavioral health crisis to treatment and community services. Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) Training teaches officers how to approach and assist individuals who are experiencing a mental health crisis and builds coalitions of local community stakeholders. The Missouri State CIT Council recently developed the Missouri Model for CIT Training. Emergency Room Enhancement (ERE) Projects work in coordination with hospitals and clinics to assist with people in behavioral health crises. Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) Training teaches participants about the signs and symptoms of specific illnesses like anxiety, depression, schizophrenia, bipolar disorder and addictions.

Missouri Advisory Council

The Mental Health Services Council and the Substance Use Prevention and Recovery Council, merged to form one united Division of Behavioral Health State Advisory Council (SAC). The mission of the Council is to advise the Division of Behavioral Health in the development, funding, prevention, public understanding and coordination of specialized services to meet the needs of Missourians with mental health and substance use disorders.

In order to accomplish this mission the SAC shall: collaborate with the DBH to develop and review the state plans for delivering behavioral health services pursuant to Title 42, 300x-3 (Federal statute) and CSR 631.020.8; advise DBH in the development of models of services, and long range planning and budgeting priorities; identify statewide needs and recommend what specific methods, means, and procedures should be adopted to improve and upgrade the behavioral health service delivery system for citizens of this state; provide education and information about mental health and substance use; monitor, evaluate, and review the allocation and adequacy of behavioral health services within the state; provide oversight for suicide prevention activities.

The Center for Behavioral Medicine (CBM), formerly Western Missouri Mental Health Center (WMMHC), is a 65-bed facility that provides forensic evaluations, inpatient competency restoration services, and longer term inpatient psychiatric treatment to adult residents in 54 counties of the western half of Missouri. The Forensic Evaluation Service serves the courts of Missouri by providing comprehensive, court-ordered evaluations regarding various legal issues—the most common being competency to stand trial. The function of the Inpatient Competency Restoration Service is to restore competency for those individuals who have been committed by the courts to the Department of Mental Health as incompetent to stand trial. CBM also operates three group homes that maintain 25 adult residential beds in the community. The facility is located on Hospital Hill in the heart of Kansas City and serves as the University of Missouri–Kansas City's Department of Psychiatry. The center focuses its services on bridging the gap between physical and behavioral health care. CBM incorporates evidence based treatment models and provides a therapeutic approach to recovery that assists individuals in progressing, regardless of their limitations and symptoms.

Fulton State Hospital, authorized in 1847 and opened in 1851, is the oldest public mental health facility west of the Mississippi River. The 399-bed hospital provides inpatient adult psychiatric services, including treatment and psychosocial rehabilitation for forensic patients and other patients requiring long-term inpatient care. The term “forensic” is used to describe individuals who are charged with a crime and have been committed to the Department of Mental Health by a circuit court for either a pre-trial or pre-sentence evaluation, for restoration of competence to stand trial or as a result of an adjudication of Not Guilty by Reason of Mental Disease or Defect (NGRI). Specifically, the hospital serves patients from the entire state who require hospitalization in maximum- and intermediate-security settings, individuals who have been committed to the Department of Mental Health as sexually violent predators and forensic patients with developmental disabilities who require a minimum-security setting.

Fulton has Missouri's only high-security unit. The Jeremiah W. (Jay) Nixon Forensic Center provides treatment for individuals referred by the courts who have committed major offenses or those whose behavior in other settings demonstrates a need for a high-security setting.

A 100-bed Sexual Offender Rehabilitation and Treatment Services program serves individuals committed to the Department of Mental Health as sexually violent predators. Another 22-bed program serves patients with developmental disabilities on forensic commitments who can be safely treated within a minimum-security setting.

The hospital has training affiliations with several central Missouri colleges and universities, and provides training experiences in psychiatry, psychology, nursing, social work and recreational therapy.

Hawthorn Children's Psychiatric Hospital provides inpatient and residential psychiatric treatment services for severely emotionally disturbed children and adolescents, ages 6 to 17. The hospital serves residents from all of Missouri.

Hawthorn has been a free-standing child psychiatric facility in St. Louis County since 1989. The 26-acre campus consists of a main building and five cottages. There are 28 inpatient and 16 residential treatment beds.

Youth admitted to Hawthorn are provided comprehensive mental health treatment services designed to address their psychiatric, psychological, social, educational, vocational and recreational needs. The treatment programs rely on evidence-based practices and deliver services in a trauma-informed milieu. As a service to the community, Hawthorn also provides mental health information and consultation regarding the treatment of children and adolescents. The hospital serves as a training facility for a wide range of mental health professionals. Hawthorn also participates fully with other community agencies in the planning and development of mental health services for the children in the community.

Northwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center (NMPRC) provides long-term inpatient psychiatric treatment and rehabilitation to Missouri residents with severe mental illness referred by the criminal justice system.

The hospital opened as State Lunatic Asylum No. 2 in November 1874 on land east of St. Joseph. The capacity ranged from 250 beds to nearly 3,000 in the 1950s, and the name was changed to St. Joseph State Hospital. Over the years, downsizing occurred with the advent of better treatment options and emphasis on returning patients to the community.

In 1997, St. Joseph State Hospital was replaced with the current facility and renamed Northwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center. NMPRC currently provides 108 beds for adult psychiatric patients. Three 25-bed wings are designated as minimum security while six eight-bed cottages are designated as open-campus security.

The three minimum security wings serve as the entry point for patients transferring from other DMH psychiatric hospitals for psychiatric treatment and rehabilitation. The majority of the clients served have been committed to DMH by a criminal court under the mental health provisions of Chapter 552, RSMo, either upon their adjudication as Not Guilty by Reason of Mental Disease or Defect (NGRI) or a finding of Permanent Incompetence to Stand Trial (PIST). Six eight-bed coed cottages are designed to simulate a community environment, while still providing a structured and supportive setting. NMPRC utilizes evidence based treatment models to provide clients with skills necessary for their recovery and their successful reintegration into the community.

St. Louis Forensic Treatment Center–North Campus (FTC–North) is a 50-bed facility that provides forensic evaluations and inpatient competency restoration services to residents of the 61 counties of the eastern half of Missouri. The Forensic Pre-trial Program at FTC–North is composed of two units: the inpatient Competency Restoration Service and the Forensic Evaluation Service.

The purpose of the inpatient Competency Restoration Service is to restore competency for those individuals who have been committed by the courts to the Department of Mental Health as incompetent to stand trial. Criminal defendants are found incompetent to stand trial when a major mental illness, cognitive disorder or developmental disability causes the defendant to lack the capacity to understand the legal proceedings against him/her or to be unable to assist the attorney in his/her defense. The Competency Restoration Service provides modern psychiatric treatment and psychosocial interventions to restore defendants to competency to proceed to trial. Interventions include: stabilization of mental disorders that result in the defendant being found incompetent to stand trial; in-depth education regarding court-related terminology and procedures; modification of faulty beliefs about the legal system and the individual's mental illness; and individualized interventions to assist the defendant in applying what is learned to that person's case. For those defendants who return to the community, thorough discharge planning takes into account the client's treatment needs and public safety.

The Forensic Evaluation Service serves the courts of Missouri by providing comprehensive, court-ordered evaluations regarding various legal issues. The most common court-ordered evaluation addresses competency to stand trial. Questions of the mental state of a defendant at the time of an alleged crime are evaluated, including criminal responsibility (insanity), diminished capacity and battered spouse syndrome. Risk assessments and other evaluations are conducted on defendants whose probation has been revoked to assist the courts in determining the best sentencing options. Finally, persons detained under sexual predator laws are evaluated to determine if they meet the definition of a sexually violent predator. Most evaluations are done on an outpatient basis either at FTC–North or at a jail, while some are conducted on an inpatient basis to gather additional data when challenging diagnostic questions or malingering of mental illness are raised. The Forensic Evaluation Service conducts approximately 250 evaluations per year.

St. Louis Forensic Treatment Center–South

5300 Arsenal St., St. Louis 63139
Telephone: (314) 877-6500 / FAX: (314) 877-5982
www.dmh.mo.gov/ftc

St. Louis Forensic Treatment Center–South (FTC–South), (formerly known as St. Louis State Hospital), was originally opened in 1869 and is currently a 180-bed, minimum-security hospital, providing long-term inpatient psychiatric treatment and recovery-based psychosocial rehabilitation services. The majority of the clients served have been committed to the Department of Mental Health by a criminal court under the mental health provisions of Chapter 552, RSMo, either upon their adjudication as Not Guilty by Reason of Mental Disease or Defect (NGRI) or a finding of Permanent Incompetence to Stand Trial (PIST). In addition, FTC-South serves a smaller cohort of adults with severe and persistent mental illness, whose admission status is voluntary by guardian, but who are extremely difficult to treat. The facility also operates an eight-bed unit for individuals who are deaf and have a serious mental illness, requiring long-term inpatient psychiatric treatment.

Each of these populations typically presents substantial deficits in the management of the symptoms of mental illness, a predilection to high risk behaviors associated with a significant probability for psychiatric relapse and criminal offense and/or a general inability to comport themselves without substantial risk to their safety or that of the community. Co-morbid substance use and/or personality disorders are common complications, as is clear evidence of impairment in social role functioning and daily living skills. Many of the patients, particularly those not adjudicated NGRI, are likely to have required multiple inpatient admissions with a demonstrable inability to be successful in the community, even with enhanced community-based services and residential supports. All clients admitted require intensive inpatient services to develop an adequate relapse prevention plan and to achieve the psychiatric stability necessary for discharge from hospital-based care and for safe and successful reintegration into the community.

Southeast Missouri Mental Health Center (SMMHC) opened in 1903 as Farmington State Hospital. In 1987 the state hospital was converted into a mental health center and moved into a building adjacent to its original site. SMMHC provides two services - Adult Psychiatric Services (APS) and Sexual Offender Rehabilitation and Treatment Services (SORTS).

APS operates 170 longer stay inpatient beds for persons demonstrating persistently dangerous behaviors and ongoing impairment in social function and daily living skills due to mental illness. Many of these persons are admitted under the criminal court statute Chapter 552, RSMo as Not Guilty by Reason of Mental Disease of Defect (NGRI) or as Permanently Incompetent to Stand Trial (PIST).

SORTS operates up to 178 beds for persons adjudicated as Sexually Violent Predators (SVP's) under Chapter 632 RSMo. Persons detained or committed under this statute receive care and treatment either at SMMHC or its sister facility, Fulton State Hospital.

APS and SORTS both offer patients multiple treatment programs or modalities. These different treatment options help to ensure that each patient has available the best treatment for their individual needs. Treatment teams are interdisciplinary with members who are nurses, psychiatrists, psychologists, counselors, social workers, activity and vocational therapists, teachers and clergy either on the teams or available for consultation. Treatments include various types of psychotherapy, both individual and group, psychoeducational groups and medication. Primary care medical staff and nursing also take care of all non-psychiatric medical needs. In all cases, the goals are the same—to reduce signs and symptoms of illness and build skills which will allow each individual the opportunity to lead fulfilling lives in the community upon release.

Division of Developmental Disabilities

The Division of Developmental Disabilities (DD), established in 1974, serves persons with developmental disabilities such as cerebral palsy, head injuries, autism, epilepsy and certain learning disabilities. Such conditions must have occurred before age 22 with the expectation that they will continue. To be eligible for services from the division, persons with these disabilities must have substantial functional limitations in two or more of the following six areas of major life activities: self-care, receptive and expressive language development and use, learning, self-direction, capacity for independent living or economic self-sufficiency and mobility.

The division's focus is on improving the lives of persons with developmental disabilities and their families through programs, support and services to enable persons with developmental disabilities to live independently and productively.

In 1988, the division began participation in the Medicaid home- and community-based waiver program designed to help expand needed services throughout the state.

Specialized services are either provided directly or purchased through contracts by 17 entities operated by the division. The division's regional and satellite offices are the primary points of entry into and exit from the system. These offices determine eligibility, work with individuals and families and contract with SB40 boards (local county boards for the developmentally disabled) and private providers for the provision of a comprehensive array of services in the following areas: Albany, Central Missouri, Hannibal, Joplin, Kansas City, Kirksville, Poplar Bluff, Rolla, Sikeston, Springfield and St. Louis. There are also six state-operated programs: Bellefontaine Habilitation Center, Higginsville Habilitation Center, Northwest Community Services, Southeast Missouri Residential Services, St. Louis Developmental Disabilities Treatment Center and Southwest Community Services, which primarily provide residential care and habilitation services to persons who are medically and behaviorally challenged or court-committed. All habilitation centers are Title XIX-certified as Intermediate Care Facilities for the Mentally Retarded (ICF/MR).

Missouri Developmental Disabilities Council

The Missouri Developmental Disabilities Council was created in 1971 under federal legislation. The Council's federal mandate is to plan, advocate for and give advice concerning programs and services for persons with developmental disabilities that will increase their opportunities for independence, productivity and integration into communities. The council also serves, under Missouri statute, as the Missouri Advisory Council on Developmental Disabilities, providing advice to the division and the division director. The council has 23 members, appointed by the governor.

The mission of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources is to protect our air, land, water and mineral resources; preserve our unique natural and historic places; and provide recreational and learning opportunities while promoting the environmentally sound and energy efficient operations of businesses, communities, agriculture and industry for the benefit of all Missourians. The department was created under state reorganization on July 1, 1974.

Missouri's air, land and water resources play an important role in our quality of life and health and are essential to the environmental and economic vitality of our state. Team members work to ensure Missouri's citizens enjoy clean air to breathe, clean water for drinking and recreation and land that sustains a diversity of life. Team members also work to preserve the state's historic and natural heritage through state parks and state historic sites, provide reliable scientific information about Missouri's wealth of geologic resources and help meet energy needs by encouraging the efficient use of energy resources.

The department continues to refine environmental protection efforts by using new technologies and fostering better understanding of resource challenges. To support these efforts, the department provides compliance assistance to the regulated community.

The department accomplishes its mission through the Division of Administrative Support, the Division of Energy, the Division of Environmental Quality, the Missouri Geological Survey and the Division of State Parks. A number of boards and commissions also support and facilitate the department's roles and responsibilities. In addition, the State Environmental Improvement and Energy Resources Authority, and the Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund are connected administratively to the department through the Office of the Director.

Stakeholder and public engagement plays a critical role in helping the department protect and improve Missouri's natural resources. By working collaboratively, the Department of Natural Resources ensures a healthy environment in which to live, work and enjoy the great outdoors today and for generations to come.

Office of the Director

The director of the Department of Natural Resources is appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The director and the Office of the Director team members manage the policy and operations of the department through its five divisions, improve efficiencies through strategic planning, and ensure public participation through the decision-making process to make certain the department follows federal and state regulations. The office includes communication, general counsel, legislative, Missouri and Mississippi rivers coordination, and policy and planning.

The director serves as the trustee for natural resource damages in Missouri, the state historic preservation officer and chair of the State Inter-agency Council for Outdoor Recreation. The director also serves as a member of the Soil and Water Districts Commission and the Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund Board of Trustees. The department director or designee represents Missouri on three water resources organizations: the Interstate Council on Water Policy, the Missouri River Recovery Implementation Committee and the Upper Mississippi River Basin Association.

The Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund Board of Trustees administers the Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund, which insures tank owners and operators for risks associated with leaks of petroleum products from their tanks or piping. It also provides funding to clean up certain properties where historic tank operations have contaminated the environment, restoring those properties to economic viability.

The 11-member board includes the commissioner of administration and the directors of the departments of agriculture and natural resources or their designees. The governor appoints and the Senate approves eight citizens who each serve a four-year term. ## Division of Energy

Email: energy@dnr.mo.gov

The Division of Energy promotes the efficient use of affordable, reliable and diverse in-state energy resources for economic growth, a healthy environment, a better Missouri for future generations, assists in finding funding mechanisms for energy improvements, and educates Missourians on energy use and supply.

The division coordinates with private and public interests on energy initiatives; provides technical and financial assistance for energy efficiency and renewable energy improvements; acts as a resource for energy-related information by housing energy data and research; communicates with energy suppliers and state decision-makers to ensure adequate energy supplies; and reviews and promotes policies that support energy efficiency, resilience and the development of in-state resources. The division facilitates the stakeholder-driven Missouri State Energy Planning process.

The division connects Missouri communities and businesses to energy efficiency and in-state resources by exploring opportunities to match community needs and business growth, retention and expansion with energy efficiency, which improves community resilience and business profitability and competitiveness.

The division administers the Weatherization Assistance Program, which serves Missouri citizens through 18 local agencies. The weatherization program has provided cost-effective, energy-efficient home improvements to 194,650 homes since the inception of the program in 1977. The division also administers the Energy Loan Program, which helps schools, colleges and universities, local governments, hospitals, public airports, and water and wastewater treatment facilities finance cost-saving energy projects, with the money saved available to use for needs related to the mission of the entity. Since the program's inception in 1989, the division has awarded 622 loans, resulting in more than $118 million in completed energy efficiency projects and more than $214 million in estimated cumulative energy savings. In addition, the division monitors grant opportunities to identify additional resources that would meet state and local energy needs.

Team members consult with the Office of Administration and other state agencies to integrate energy efficiency into state buildings and promote the use of alternative fuel vehicles in compliance with state laws. In coordination with the Department of Economic Development, the division also partners with communities and businesses to plan for resilience and economic growth through improved access to energy infrastructure. In addition, team members assist the Missouri Department of Transportation with the Mid-Missouri Rideshare Program and connects Missouri commuters to the carpooling program nearest them.

Missouri Weatherization Policy Advisory Council

The council provides policy review and recommendations for delivery of the Low-Income Weatherization Assistance Program in Missouri. Federal regulations require that a policy advisory council be formed to advise the department on weatherization program issues and distribution of financial assistance. The council reviews and makes recommendations to the department pertaining to the Missouri Weatherization State Plan, federal grant application and programmatic policies.

Division of Environmental Quality

Protecting and enhancing the quality of Missouri's environment is the responsibility of the department's Division of Environmental Quality. The division assists Missourians with these goals through compliance assistance, permitting and inspection efforts to revitalize contaminated sites for redevelopment. Through its regional offices, the department provides compliance assistance, permitting, inspections and other environmental expertise closest to where Missourians live and work. This division is responsible for protecting and enhancing Missouri's water quality. The division certifies and tracks the required continuing education of all operators of public drinking water systems, wastewater systems and concentrated animal feeding operation waste management systems. The division works to ensure clean air, land and water by cleaning up pollution from the past, addressing pollution problems of today and identifying potential pollution issues of the future. The division administers six technical programs: air pollution control, environmental remediation, environmental services, soil and water conservation, waste management and water protection.

Air Pollution Control Program

The Air Pollution Control Program works to maintain the purity of Missouri's air to protect the health, general welfare and property of citizens. The program researches, develops and implements control strategies that help improve air quality and implement the Missouri Air Conservation Law and the federal Clean Air Act.

The program works with industries wanting to operate in Missouri by evaluating their emissions and the impact on the state's air quality and by requiring limitations on emissions where necessary. The program issues construction and operating permits, evaluates locations for air monitoring equipment and analyzes data collected from these monitors. The program also inspects sources of air pollution and responds to concerns regarding air quality. The program's compliance assistance and enforcement activities address violations of regulations relating to air pollution control.

The program develops multiple plans to meet federal standards for six pollutants: lead, ozone, particulate matter, carbon monoxide, nitrogen dioxide and sulfur dioxide. These plans constitute one overall state implementation plan, or SIP. Under the federally required SIP for the St. Louis ozone nonattainment area, the program implements various air quality strategies, including the Gateway Vehicle Inspection Program (GVIP). The program operates GVIP in partnership with the Missouri State Highway Patrol. GVIP is a key component of the ongoing effort to improve air quality in the St. Louis region.

The program works with stakeholders, the general public and regulated facilities to ensure compliance with state and federal air quality regulations. The program implements rules as established by the Air Conservation Commission, which holds public meetings at least nine times a year.

Air Conservation Commission

The Missouri Air Conservation Commission's primary duty is to carry out the state's Air Conservation Law. The commission's activities are directed toward achieving and maintaining the National Ambient (outdoor) Air Quality Standards throughout Missouri. When air quality in an area meets all standards, the area is considered to be in attainment. If air monitors detect too much of a pollutant, or if computer modeling shows that an area causes or contributes to a violation of a federal standard, EPA may designate the area as nonattainment for that pollutant, which leads to increased regulatory oversight and limitations on that area.

The commission adopts, amends and rescinds rules related to air quality. In coordination with industry, citizens and delegated local governments, the commission develops strategies to ensure statewide compliance with federal air quality standards and reduce concentrations of pollutants to safe levels in nonattainment areas. The commission makes decisions on appeals from enforcement orders and permit conditions. When necessary, the commission also begins legal actions to ensure compliance with Missouri Air Conservation Law and rules.

Environmental Remediation Program

The department's Environmental Remediation Program (ERP) oversees environmental cleanups resulting from prelaw and preregulation disposal of toxic substances, petroleum and/or waste that has been improperly disposed into the environment. The program utilizes the Brownfields Voluntary Cleanup, Superfund, Federal Facilities and Petroleum Underground Storage Tank regulations to perform soil and water cleanups. In doing so, ERP strives to protect public health and the environment by cleaning up contaminated properties and protecting Missouri's citizens from exposures to toxic chemicals.

The ERP's Brownfields Voluntary Cleanup (BVP) section works with landowners of contaminated properties by performing environmental cleanups that return properties to productive use. Landowners voluntarily pay for state oversight of cleanups. Incentives for property owners may include reducing environmental liability, increasing economic development opportunities in distressed areas and cleanup certification. The BVC section also facilitates long-term stewardship of sites where management of contaminated environmental media is necessary to protect human health and the environment, and also maintains an easy-to-use online source for information about long-term stewardship sites so developers, planners and others can learn about land use restrictions, and ensure that known contaminated properties are being used safely.

ERP's Superfund Section investigates and oversees cleanups of contaminated property where a release of a hazardous substance has occurred, including sites on the Federal National Priorities List and those on the Missouri Registry of Confirmed Abandoned or Uncontrolled Hazardous Waste Disposal Sites. The Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA) requires past polluters to pay for cleanup work. Cleanups overseen by this section are typically from prelaw toxic waste disposal practices, involve groundwater contamination and take many years to clean up.

ERP's Federal Facilities Section oversees cleanup activities at federal facilities located throughout Missouri, including those owned or operated by the U.S. Department of Energy, U.S. Department of Defense, and other federal agencies and, in some cases, companies that have a contractual tie with one of the federal agencies. This section also oversees shipments of radioactive waste transported through Missouri.

ERP's Underground Storage Tank Section provides regulatory oversight on active underground storage tank facilities and environmental cleanup oversight of leaking underground storage tanks and technical guidance for their closure.

The ERP, in conjunction with the Waste Management Program, carries out the Law, Regulation and Policies of the Missouri Hazardous Waste Management Commission.

Hazardous Waste Management Commission

The Hazardous Waste Management Commission (HWMC) encourages efforts to recycle, incinerate, properly dispose of or otherwise treat hazardous waste. The commission is responsible for categorizing hazardous waste by disposal method and oversees the stakeholder process for the development of rules that determine fees to be paid by owners or operators of hazardous waste facilities that must obtain a permit. The commission establishes regulations for the generation, transportation, treatment, storage, cleanup and disposal of hazardous waste and hazardous substances, as well as for the operation and cleanup of petroleum underground storage tanks. The HWMC has the authority to render final decisions on appeals filed with, and heard by, the Administrative Hearing Commission (AHC), concerning application of the Missouri Hazardous Waste Management Law in Chapter 260, RSMo. When it receives the recommendation of the AHC, the HWMC may adopt the recommended decision of the AHC as its final decision, or may change a finding of fact or conclusion of law made by the AHC, but only if the HWMC states in writing the specific reason for making the change. The commission also hears requests for variances.

All members represent the general interest of the public and have an interest in and knowledge of waste management and the effects of improper waste management on the health of the public and the environment.

Environmental Services Program

The Environmental Services Program provides analytical information and scientific data that supports the department. The program also provides direct assistance to local communities and emergency responders throughout Missouri.

The Environmental Emergency Response Section provides 24/7 support and response capability for hazardous substance releases, radiological incidents, homeland security events and natural disasters. The section also supports law enforcement in managing hazardous wastes associated with illegal drug labs. Approximately 1,000 incidents are reported via the statewide emergency response line, (573) 635-2436, each year.

The program houses the state's environmental laboratory. The laboratory is certified by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to perform chemical analyses of public drinking water samples. This service is provided to all public drinking water systems statewide. The laboratory also analyzes air, soil, waste and other water samples. The laboratory reports approximately 250,000 results from 20,000 samples annually.

The program operates about 192 air-monitoring instruments at 43 locations statewide. These instruments monitor air pollutants known to affect people's health. This data may determine whether an area meets federal standards for ozone, carbon monoxide and other pollutants. The data also helps department team members identify air pollution trends, investigate citizen complaints, determine sources of air pollution and keep Missourians informed of current air quality.

The water quality monitoring section performs monitoring to assess the health of lakes, rivers and streams. This section collects water and sediment samples throughout Missouri and performs biological monitoring, stream surveys, monitoring of fish tissues and bacterial analyses of surface waters as well as other sampling events and special studies.

Soil and Water Conservation Program

The Soil and Water Conservation Program administers the policies and general programs developed by the Soil and Water Districts Commission for saving soil and protecting water quality on agricultural lands. The primary responsibility of the program is to assist 114 local soil and water conservation districts as they promote voluntary soil and water conservation to their constituents. The districts provide financial incentives, technical assistance and education to agricultural landowners and operators, working with state and federal conservation partners.

Other program activities include administering statewide cost-share assistance, district grants and educational programs. The program provides direct assistance to the county soil and water conservation districts through grants and training that support district staff and other administrative expenses. The program also provides each district with computers, software and a website at mosoilandwater.land.

Missouri citizens have shown strong support for soil and water conservation and state parks by passing a one-tenth-of-one percent Parks, Soils and Water Sales Tax. The tax was first approved by voters in 1984, and has since been reapproved by at least two-thirds of Missouri voters in 1988, 1996 and 2006. In 2016, the tax was approved by 80%, passing in every county. Half of the sales tax is deposited in the Soil and Water Sales Tax Fund for saving soil and protecting the water resources of the state of Missouri.

The program also administers Missouri's Nonpoint Source Management Program, which includes providing Clean Water Act Section 319(h) grants, funded by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, to eligible entities to help restore and protect Missouri waters that have been impaired or threatened by nonpoint source pollution.

Waste Management Program

The department's Waste Management Program (WMP) protects public health and the environment, by working with Missouri citizens and businesses to properly manage their solid and hazardous waste. Per capita, each Missourian generates more than one ton of solid waste each year.

The WMP reviews permit applications, issues solid and hazardous waste permits, permit modifications to solid waste disposal and processing facilities, hazardous waste treatment, storage and disposal facilities and hazardous waste sites requiring corrective action. Team members review proposed permits for facility design, construction, operations and proper monitoring controls. Team members also assist the department's regional offices with inspections of hazardous waste generators, hazardous waste treatment, storage and disposal facilities, permitted solid waste facilities and hazardous waste haulers. In addition, they investigate reports of illegal dumping and other solid and hazardous waste related concerns across Missouri. The WMP conducts enforcement activities when necessary to ensure proper management of hazardous waste and solid waste to protect human health, safety and Missouri's water, land and air resources.

The WMP oversees the cleanup of illegal scrap tire dumpsites, conducts scrap tire inspections and investigations, provides funding to nonprofit groups to clean up dumpsites with less than 500 scrap tires and awards scrap tire material grants that promote the use of scrap tire materials in new products. This work is funded by a 50-cent fee assessed on each new tire purchased in Missouri.

Other focuses of the WMP include planning, financial and technical assistance, and educational activities that inform the public of the relationship between an individual's consumption of goods and proper solid waste management as well as proper management of hazardous waste. The WMP works with stakeholders, the general public and regulated facilities to comply with state and federal hazardous and solid waste laws and regulations. Further, the WMP works closely with the Environmental Remediation Program to carry out the policies of the Missouri Hazardous Waste Management Commission and to coordinate on sites requiring remediation or cleanup.

Solid Waste Advisory Board

The Solid Waste Advisory Board advises the department about the effectiveness of its technical assistance and challenges experienced by the solid waste management districts in developing and implementing solid waste management plans. The board advises the department of the effects of proposed rules and regulations on solid waste management districts, the criteria used in awarding grants under Section 260.335, RSMo and the waste management issues pertinent to solid waste management districts. Additionally, the board advises the department in the development of improved methods of solid waste minimization, recycling and resource recovery, reports on unfunded solid waste management projects and such other matters as the board may determine.

The membership of this board consists of the chair of the executive board of each of Missouri's 20 recognized solid waste management districts, two public members, two representatives from the solid waste industry and one representative from the recycling or composting industry appointed by the program director.

Water Protection Program

The department's Water Protection Program administers clean water and drinking water responsibilities for Missouri. The program is delegated by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to conduct duties for the federal Clean Water Act and the Safe Drinking Water Act, and it also carries out the state responsibilities of operator certification and construction permitting. The Water Protection Program works with stakeholders, the general public and regulated facilities to comply with state and federal water regulations.

For clean water, the program regulates pollutants entering the state's waters by issuing permits for the construction and operation of wastewater treatment facilities and stormwater discharges. Permits set wastewater treatment levels necessary to protect water quality. These treatment levels are included in permits issued to municipal, industrial and other dischargers. The program evaluates discharge-monitoring and other data to determine whether facilities comply with applicable laws and whether permits are sufficient to protect water quality. The program, with the Division of Environmental Quality's regional offices, is responsible for the inspection and monitoring of water contaminant sources and investigates complaints from the public. If a source violates the Missouri Clean Water Law, the program works with the facility to correct the problem and may assess penalties if necessary.

Water quality standards protect water's beneficial uses such as swimming, maintaining fish and other aquatic life and providing drinking water for people, livestock and wildlife. The program, with the Clean Water Commission, develops water quality standards that provide clear expectations for Missouri water quality and conducts monitoring to determine if the standards are met. Waters that do not meet these standards are placed on the impaired waters (303(d)) list, which provides a focus for special attention to restore water quality in lakes, streams and rivers. Once a waterway is added to the 303(d) list, the department develops and implements a study to correct the water impairments. Generally, this study takes the form of a total maximum daily load document. It describes the maximum amount of

Clean Water Commission

The Clean Water Commission brings together and coordinates all aspects of water quality in an effort to ensure the state's progress toward protecting, preserving and improving water quality in Missouri. The commission implements the federal Clean Water Law through rules and policies, and hears appeals based on those permit decisions. When necessary, the commission will take enforcement action against those who violate the Missouri Clean Water Law and related regulations. The commission also establishes funding priorities and oversees financial assistance to protect and preserve water quality.

Missouri Geological Survey

The Missouri Geological Survey provides technical assistance, education and guidance in the use and protection of Missouri's natural resources, interprets the state's geological setting, helps determine the availability of its energy and mineral resources, evaluates and interprets geological hazards and regulates well drillers. The division investigates and reports on the state's geological resources and defines hazardous areas, such as those subject to earthquake or catastrophic collapse. Team members work to ensure clean air, land and water by working with the mining industry and Missouri communities to minimize the environmental and health impacts of mining activities in Missouri. The department, through the division's Water Resources Center, has statutory authority for water quantity issues, such as statewide water resources and availability, water resources monitoring, drought assessment, flood and hydrology studies, wetland studies and dam and reservoir safety. The division addresses the development, conservation and utilization of the state's water resources.

Data such as geology, water wells, sinkholes, historic mine locations, caves, springs, water traces, well logs, aquifers and groundwater information can be viewed to aid in site assessments.

The division cooperates with the U.S. Geological Survey on numerous projects, including the National Cooperative Geologic Mapping Program. The division also performs work under contract for other state agencies through grants and agreements.

The Missouri Geological Survey administers three technical programs: geological survey, land reclamation and water resources.

Division Director and State Geologist

The division director serves as the state geologist and is responsible for ensuring statutory obligations are met. The state geologist is the administrator of the State Oil and Gas Council, serves on the Well Installation Board, Missouri Mining Commission, Dam and Reservoir Safety Council and Industrial Minerals Advisory Council, serves as ex officio member on the Board of Geologist Registration, and is a Missouri representative to the Central United States Earthquake Consortium and the Association of American State Geologists.

Geological Survey Program

The Geological Survey Program uses geologic information and knowledge to assist Missouri citizens in the management of natural resources for a higher standard of living and healthy natural environment. The program gathers and publishes data that describes and interprets Missouri's vast geological resources, which includes geologic maps, reports of investigations, other print and online publications that can be important in making land-use decisions. This information is necessary for locating mineral deposits, managing groundwater resources, siting waste disposal facilities and evaluating geologic hazards. The program receives thousands of requests for geological assistance each year.

Team members also conduct geologic field investigations that provide technical assistance to the public and government agencies. These services include determining the environmental hazards posed by waste disposal sites and spills of hazardous materials. Geological principles are applied to minimize the impact of chemical releases or spills.

The Geological Survey Program works to protect groundwater from contamination through regulation of the construction of wells, plugging of abandoned wells, and licenses well drillers and pump installers conducting business in Missouri. In addition to assistance provided in siting waste disposal facilities, the program also implements the Oil and Gas Act, the Underground Injection Control Program of the Safe Drinking Water Act, and the Water Well Drillers Act.

Industrial Minerals Advisory Council

The Industrial Minerals Advisory Council is composed of eight representatives of the industrial minerals industry who are appointed by the director of the department. The representatives include three limestone producers and one each from industries involved in mining clay, sandstone, sand and gravel, barite and granite. Other members include the director (or designee) of the Department of Transportation and the director (or designee) of the Department of Natural Resources, who acts as chair of the council.

The primary duty of the council is to advise the department on the collection, processing, management and distribution of geologic and hydrologic information to assist the industrial mineral industry. Expenditures from the geologic resources fund, which was created to complete these activities, are reviewed by the council, and the council advises the department on appropriate fees to support the fund.

The board also oversees the examination and licensing of all well drillers and pump installers and takes actions against those who violate the Water Well Driller's Act and Well Construction Rules. The board sets fees by establishing rules that do not substantially exceed the cost and expense of administering the law.

Land Reclamation Program

The Land Reclamation Program works with the mining industry and Missouri communities to minimize the environmental and health impacts of mining activities in Missouri.

The program carries out Missouri's Abandoned Mine Land program to reclaim abandoned Missouri coal mine sites that have safety hazards or environmental problems. The program also regulates mining and reclamation activities and issues permits. Reclamation bonds ensure sites are properly graded, replanted and maintained after mining ceases. After the mining company completes all required reclamation, the commission releases these financial assurances and relieves the responsible company of any further reclamation liabilities.

The program works with stakeholders, the general public and regulated facilities to comply with state and federal mining and land reclamation regulations.

Missouri Mining Commission

The Missouri Mining Commission governs Missouri's mining requirements as set forth in three state statutes. These statutes protect public health, safety and the environment from adverse effects of mining and ensure beneficial restoration of mined lands.

The Missouri Mining Commission is responsible for issuing mining permits and oversees Missouri's Abandoned Mine Land program. The commission establishes rules and regulations for mining activities and oversees investigations and inspections necessary to ensure compliance. The commission conducts hearings and when necessary may revoke a permit, order a forfeiture of bonds or cease operations at a facility for failure to comply.

Water Resources Center

The Water Resources Center addresses the development, conservation and utilization of the state's water resources. To assist communities, public entities and state and federal agencies, the center provides technical assistance through drought assessment, planning and water resource monitoring. Areas of expertise within the center include interstate waters, groundwater, surface water and water resource planning.

The surface water section coordinates state water planning and state drought response and monitors flooding conditions. The section also coordinates issues relating to major river basins that affect Missouri and provides technical support for negotiations and litigation actions to protect the state's rights to these waters. The groundwater section operates and maintains a groundwater level observation well network for monitoring Missouri's aquifers. Collection and analysis of groundwater data provides knowledge of available water quantity, aquifer response to water use, groundwater recharge and aquifer characteristics. The groundwater section also administers the collection and analysis of statewide water use data in accordance with the Major Water User Law.

Missouri State Parks, a division of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources, works to protect and interpret the state's most outstanding natural and cultural resources while providing recreational opportunities compatible with those resources. The Missouri State Park system was established in 1917 and includes 92 state parks and historic sites totaling more than 150,000 acres.

The primary source of funding for the state park system is half of the dedicated constitutional tax of one-tenth-of-one-percent parks, soils and water sales tax. All additional funding comes from revenues generated in the state park system and some federal funds. The parks, soils and water tax was created through a constitutional amendment and earmarked specifically for the state park system and efforts to stop soil erosion. The tax was first approved by voters in 1984, and has since been reapproved by two-thirds of Missouri voters in 1988, 1996 and 2006. In 2016, the tax was approved by 80% passing in every county.

Every year, millions of people visit the state park system to hike, camp, fish, discover the past and explore nature. The state's most outstanding landscapes are preserved for everyone's enjoyment—deep forests, glades, prairies and blue streams and lakes. State historic sites commemorate events or structures of statewide historical importance and honor people of state and national importance. The system includes homes of famous Missourians, Civil War battlefields and reminders of yesterday, such as gristmills and covered bridges.

Missouri State Park Advisory Board

The governor-appointed board was created in 1986 to advise the department on matters relating to state parks and historic sites.

Grant Management

Missouri State Parks is responsible for administering three federal grant pass-through programs that provide financial assistance to individuals, groups and public entities for a variety of outdoor recreation and historic preservation purposes.

The Recreational Trails Program provides grants for the development of trails and trailhead facilities. It is supported by the Missouri Trails Advisory Board, who reviews and scores the grant applications and makes recommendations on grant awards.

The Land and Water Conservation Fund grant program provides funds for public outdoor recreation projects, such as new park development and renovation within existing parks.

The Historic Preservation Fund grant program, provides funding for the State Historic Preservation Office and funds pass-through grants that relate directly to the identification, evaluation, or protection of historic properties.

State Historic Preservation Office

Missouri was one of the first in the nation to establish the State Historic Preservation Office in 1968 following the Historic Preservation Act of 1966. The office helps facilitate the process of identifying historic properties significant to the citizens, state and nation, and planning for their preservation.

The department coordinates surveys statewide to identify historic, architectural and archaeological resources. Significant properties identified in the surveys may be nominated to the National Register of Historic Places. Missouri has more than 2,400 listings on the National Register, representing more than 47,000 historic buildings, sites, structures and objects. The Missouri Cultural Resource Inventory is being built from information gathered from the survey and nomination process.

As part of its federally mandated responsibilities, the department reviews all federally funded or licensed projects in Missouri to ensure compliance with related federal legislation. The department also administers federal Historic Preservation Fund matching grants from the U.S. Department of the Interior's National Park Service. These funds are used to help identify, evaluate and protect Missouri's cultural resources. Through Missouri's Certified Local Government program, the department trains municipalities in local preservation programs and techniques and awards federal matching grants to help accomplish local preservation goals.

Since 1976, federal tax incentives and related legislation have promoted interest in rehabilitating historic buildings. In 1998, that interest was augmented with the authorization of state tax credits, administered by the Missouri Department of Economic Development. The federal tax credits are available to private investors who rehabilitate historic buildings, such as office buildings and apartments, for uses that produce income. The Department of Natural Resources reviews both federal and state tax credit applications for historic eligibility and conformity with preservation historic property rehabilitation guidelines.

The State Historic Preservation Office also administers the Missouri Heritage Properties Program using funds from Missouri's Historic Preservation Revolving Fund. The program provides assistance to help preserve endangered publicly owned historic buildings.

Missouri Advisory Council on Historic Preservation

Appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate, this council reviews all Missouri nominations to the National Register of Historic Places and advises the state's historic preservation officer. The Advisory Council also provides advice, guidance and professional recommendations to the state historic preservation officer in carrying out the responsibilities of the historic preservation act and other duties, including administration of Missouri's Unmarked Human Burial Sites Act.

Mission

Established in 1974, the Department of Public Safety (DPS) coordinates statewide law enforcement, criminal justice, emergency response and public safety efforts to ensure a safe environment for Missourians. The department's mission is to "provide a safe and secure environment for all individuals through efficient and effective law enforcement, national defense, disaster preparedness, service to veterans and education." The department is organized into nine divisions: Office of the Director, Missouri Capitol Police, Division of Fire Safety, Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control, Missouri State Highway Patrol, Missouri National Guard (Office of the Adjutant General), State Emergency Management Agency, Missouri Veterans Commission and Missouri Gaming Commission.

Office of the Director

The director of public safety is appointed to this cabinet-level position by the governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate. The director is responsible for developing public safety programs, peace officer training and licensing and providing legislative guidance on criminal justice issues. Additionally, the director is responsible for overseeing distribution of state and federal resources and funds in contracts for narcotics control, internet sex crime elimination, victims' assistance, crime prevention, interoperable communications, juvenile justice and substance abuse treatment. As the department's central management unit, the director's office coordinates departmental budget, personnel, legislative matters and related financial and administrative activities. The director's office is also responsible for the administration of specific programs conferred upon it by the legislature or governor. These programs include:

The Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) administers funding from the U.S. Department of Justice's Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP). The OJJDP Title II Federal Formula Grant Program is authorized under the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act (JJDP) of 1974, as amended at, 42 U.S.C. 5631–5633.

Deputy Director

The JJDP supports state and local efforts to plan, establish, operate, coordinate, and evaluate policies and projects, directly or through grants and contracts with public and private agencies, for the development of more effective education, training, research, prevention, diversion, treatment, and rehabilitation programs and reform efforts in delinquency prevention and juvenile justice system improvement.

The OVC monitors compliance with the JJDP and provides staff support for the state Juvenile Justice Advisory Group (JJAG). The JJAG serves to advise the governor, the director and staff of the Department of Public Safety, and the General Assembly of the state of Missouri on matters relating to improvement of the juvenile justice system and its services to youth; and to advocate for continued full implementation of the JJDP.

The OVC serves not-for-profit organizations, law enforcement agencies, and local and state governments by administering programs that impact crime victims, at-risk youth and their families, it administers state and federal funding, and provides training and consultation to assist communities developing local programs. The OVC serves as a public resource to victims of crime who encounter difficulty accessing services or believe they have been deprived of their statutory or constitutional rights.

The following funding programs are administered by the OVC: STOP Violence Against Women Act (VAWA); Sexual Assault Services Program (SASP) and the State Services to Victims Fund (SSVF), the Protection Program for Victims/Witnesses of Violent Crime Program (PPVVC) and the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Grant Program (Title II).

The OVC maintains the statewide Missouri Victim Automated Notification System (MOVANS). MOVANS provides victims, family members, advocates, and the general public with automated notifications regarding offender information. MOVANS is a public service that provides notifications to registrants by text, phone and email. Additionally, the OVC receives and reviews inquiries of crime victim rights violations.

The Protection Program for Victims/Witnesses of Violent Crime Program (PPVVC) offers law enforcement agencies access to pre-trial victim/witness protection funds to provide health, safety and welfare of victims/witnesses of violent crime and their families if their testimony might subject them to danger or bodily injury.

The Criminal Justice/Law Enforcement (CJ/LE) Unit administers the following federal grant programs from the U.S. Department of Justice:

Office of Justice Programs: Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG); Local Law Enforcement Block Grant (LLEBG); Residential Substance Abuse Treatment (RSAT); and Paul Coverdell National Forensic Sciences (PCNFS) and the following state grant programs: Missouri Crime Lab Upgrade Program (MCLUP), State Cyber Crime Grant (SCCG), and Deputy Sheriff Salary Supplementation Fund (DSSSF), and coordinates the Department of Defense Law Enforcement Support Office (LESO) (formerly "1033") Excess Property Program and the Patrick Leahy Bulletproof Vest Partnership (BVP) Program. The JAG program makes funds available for law enforcement, drug enforcement, Drug Abuse Resistance Program (DARE) and school resource officers, drug treatment, information sharing/technology and other prevention initiatives that strengthen the criminal justice system. The LLEBG program awards funds to law enforcement agencies to purchase equipment directly related to basic law enforcement functions and officer safety. The RSAT program assists state and local governments in developing and implementing substance abuse treatment programs in correctional and detention facilities. The PCNFS program makes funds available to help improve the quality and timeliness of forensic sciences

within crime laboratories. The MCLUP program provides financial assistance to defray expenses of crime laboratories. The SCCG program makes funds available for law enforcement to combat internet sex crimes against children. The DSSSF program provides funding to supplement deputy sheriffs' salaries. The LESO program provides excess military equipment to civilian law enforcement agencies for use in counternarcotics, counterterrorism and border security operations. The BVP Program reimburses states, counties, federally recognized tribes, cities, and local jurisdictions up to 50% of the cost of body armor vests purchased for law enforcement officers. The CJ/LE Unit also provides staff support for the Missouri Sheriff Methamphetamine Relief Taskforce (MoSMART) and the Missouri Crime Laboratory Review Commission (MCLRC).

In the case of death, the program can help the victim's dependents with loss of support if the victim was gainfully employed at the time of the crime. As a payer of last resort, the program considers out-of-pocket expenses after all collateral sources have been exhausted. A maximum benefit of $25,000 may be awarded on eligible claims.

The Sexual Assault Forensic Examination Program (SAFE) provides payments to cover the cost of gathering evidence during forensic examinations for victims of sexual crimes in Missouri. The medical provider is required to bill the SAFE Program for reasonable charges incurred during the forensic examination. The patient may not be billed for any forensic examination charges.

Missouri Office of Homeland Security

With the establishment of the Missouri Office of Homeland Security (OHS) on Sept. 26, 2001, Missouri became the first state in the nation to create an office of homeland security following the September 11th terrorist attacks. OHS coordinates federal homeland security grant funding to enhance Missouri's ability to prevent, protect, mitigate, respond to and recover from potential attacks and other hazards.

Executive Order 05-20 was signed on July 21, 2005, moving OHS to the Department of Public Safety (DPS). In the same executive order, the Homeland Security Advisory Council (HSAC) was established. The HSAC's mission is to ensure local and state homeland security plans regarding terrorism and disaster preparedness are executed and coordinated efficiently to better protect Missourians. The HSAC consists of 38 homeland security stakeholders.

The Office of Homeland Security director reports to the DPS director, who is the governor's designated Homeland Security Advisor (HSA). The office coordinates local, state, federal, private sector and citizen activities related to homeland security efforts, utilizing the HSAC and Regional Homeland Security Oversight Committees (RHSOC) and individual OHS initiatives to ensure statewide coordination of resources for homeland security.

The RHSOCs are an integral part of the Missouri Homeland Security Regionalization Program. The state is divided into 10 homeland security regions and one Urban Area Security Initiative (UASI). The purpose of regionalization is to establish a common sense, logical governance structure and process to facilitate local, community-level engagement in not only grant funding priorities and strategies, but other homeland security related decisions. Each RHSOC comprises 14 core disciplines.

The Missouri Office of Homeland Security is the designated State Administrative Agency (SAA) for the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Homeland Security Grant Program (HSGP). The Missouri Office of Homeland Security administers the HSGP for the State of Missouri along with the following federal grant programs: State Homeland Security Program (SHSP, Regionalization and LETPA), Urban Areas Security Initiative (UASI) and the Nonprofit Security Grant Program (NSGP), Operation Legend, Project Safe Neighborhood, STOP School Safety Program, Next Generation 911 and Coronavirus Emergency Supplemental Fund.

THIRA/SPR: The office is responsible for the completion of the Threat and Hazard Identification and Risk Assessment (THIRA) and the integration of the Stakeholder Preparedness Review (SPR) to help communities understand their risks and determine the capabilities required to address those risks.

Missouri Data Exchange Program Office: The Missouri Data Exchange (MoDEx) is a statewide information sharing program developed for use by Missouri criminal justice agencies and is accessed through the FBI's National Data Exchange (N-DEx), a secure nationwide information sharing system.

Law Enforcement Mutual Aid Program:

Through this program, OHS is a point of coordination for the Missouri Uniform Law Enforcement-Mutual Aid Plan (MULE-MAP), which is the law enforcement component of the overall state mutual aid response plan.

Homeland Security Information Network (HSIN):

The office serves as the administrator for HSIN, a secure network for homeland security mission operations to share sensitive but unclassified information. This network allows homeland security partners to manage operations, analyze data, send alerts and notices and share information to help keep communities safe.

Cybersecurity Preparedness Program:

The OHS Cybersecurity Preparedness Program was created in July 2019. The OHS Cybersecurity Specialist is an OHS employee assigned to the Missouri Information Analysis Center. The OHS cybersecurity specialist is the only employee at the MIAC in the cybersecurity program. The position coordinates statewide cybersecurity initiatives with local, state and federal partners; to include other state executive branch departments, Secretary of State's Office, three fusion centers, Center for Education Safety, Missouri hospitals, DHS's Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Agency (CISA), and many other entities/agencies.

Counter Terrorism Officer Program:

The purpose of the OHS - Counter Terrorism Officer (CTO) Program is to develop a group of law enforcement personnel within Missouri who will receive an advanced level of training specifically targeted towards counter terrorism preparedness and response. In addition to online and in-seat training, the program works to strengthen statewide partnerships and information sharing and to increase cross-agency cooperation with state, local and federal counter terrorism officer programs.

Missouri Statewide Interoperability Network (MOSWIN)

In 2009, the Department of Public Safety, in conjunction with its public safety partners, began construction of the Missouri Statewide Interoperable Radio Network (MOSWIN). MOSWIN, comprising 75 (VHF High Band 150MHz) and 61 (700/800 MHz) sites, became operational in December 2012. MOSWIN provides the infrastructure for interoperable communications throughout Missouri for local and state agencies. MOSWIN has three master site zones. Zone 1 in Jefferson City, Zone 2 (in partnership with the City of St. Louis, 22 sub-sites) in St. Louis and Zone 3 in Weldon Spring. DPS partnered with the City of Springfield, City of Springfield utilities, and Greene County to integrate their seven sub-site system and 9-1-1 dispatch operations into MOSWIN as Zone 4 in summer 2021.

There are two levels of MOSWIN membership: Level 1 agencies utilize the MOSWIN full-time, day-to-day radio communications. As of April 2021, there are 235 Level 1 agencies. Level 2 agencies utilize MOSWIN to achieve interoperability with local and state agencies but retain their own radio systems for internal day-to-day communications. As of April 2021, there are 1,402 agencies with Level 2 MOSWIN access.

As of April 2021, there are 45,906 radios with access to the system. MOSWIN system administration and operations headquarters is at the Missouri Interoperability Center (MIC) in Jefferson City. The MIC provides training and technical assistance for all system users and is the Emergency Support Function-2 (Communications Annex) lead during declared state emergencies.

The MIC also provides staff support for the Missouri 911 Service Board and serves as the project manager for the NTIA Next Generation 9-1-1 grant program.

The Missouri State Fire Marshal's Office was established by the 76th Missouri General Assembly in 1973. Effective September 1985, the office was renamed the Division of Fire Safety and was housed within the Missouri Department of Public Safety.

The division is charged with the oversight and enforcement of programs that maintain the safety and well-being of the general public. Responsibilities include: providing fire safety standards and inspections for all state-licensed facilities; investigating fires and explosions upon request; regulating the use and sale of fireworks and licensing fireworks operators; training and certification of firefighters and emergency response personnel; inspecting and licensing nonexempt boilers and pressure vessels; inspecting and issuing operating permits for elevator-related equipment; inspecting and issuing operating permits for amusement rides; monitoring of fire emergencies and assisting local, area and regional fire authorities through the State Fire Mutual Aid System; overseeing the rules and regulations relating to the licensing of explosive blasters and the registration of explosive users; and overseeing the fire standard compliant cigarette program.

Fire Service Training/Certification

The Division of Fire Safety's Training and Certification Unit is responsible for the training and certification of over 25,000 firefighters in the state of Missouri. In addition, those served by the unit include representatives from fire service, law enforcement, private industry and other state agencies. The division offers 24 different courses and 27 levels of state certification. The Missouri Division of Fire Safety is accredited through the International Fire Service Accreditation Congress, National Board of Fire Service Professional Qualifications and is licensed by the Missouri Peace Officer Standards and Training (POST) Program as a Continuing Law Enforcement Education (CLEE) provider.

State Fire Mutual Aid

The Division of Fire Safety coordinates activation and deployment of local resources when inter-regional mutual aid assistance is requested. When an incident occurs within any one of the nine mutual aid regions and all local resources become exhausted, the regional coordinator contacts the Division of Fire Safety's state mutual aid coordinator to request mutual aid assistance of specific resources. The state coordinator in turn contacts mutual aid coordinators within unaffected regions to locate and deploy the needed resources to the impacted region. With information gathered from the annual Fire Department Registration program and continued input and support from all fire service agencies, the system stands ready to mitigate the effects of small or large scale emergencies. The state mutual aid coordinator also administers the National Fire Incident Reporting System.

Fire Safety Education/Advisory Commission

The Division of Fire Safety addresses Missouri's fire service training needs through contracts in cooperation with community colleges, colleges, regional training facilities, fire and emergency services training entities and universities as appropriated. The Missouri Fire Safety Education/Advisory Commission reviews and determines appropriate programs and activities for which funds may be expended and advises the division accordingly.

Fire Safety Inspection

Fire safety inspectors conduct inspections of facilities and locations licensed or certified by state agencies, including the Department of Health and Senior Services, the Department of Mental Health, the Department of Social Services and senior citizens nutrition centers. These inspections, based upon nationally recognized codes and standards, are designed to eliminate fire safety hazards for occupants of childcare homes and centers, facilities and homes providing care for the mentally challenged, foster care providers and facilities housing at-risk youth.

State statute requires the Division of Fire Safety to conduct fire safety inspections to ensure compliance with state regulations in residential care facilities and assisted living facilities. Approximately 600 existing facilities require annual inspections by the Division of Fire Safety in coordination with the Department of Health and Senior Services.

Fire Investigation

The Fire Investigation Unit provides fire- and explosive-related investigative services to Missouri's fire service and law enforcement agencies.

Under section 320.230, RSMo, the state fire marshal and the appointed investigators are responsible for investigating incidents involving the possibility of arson or explosion related offenses as requested by the fire service, law enforcement or prosecuting attorneys within the state. Investigators are trained in several fields of expertise, including insurance fraud, explosive recognition, weapons of mass destruction and post-blast investigations.

Fire investigators are Peace Officer Standards and Training (POST)-licensed law enforcement officers with the power of arrest for criminal offenses when investigating the cause, origin or circumstances of fires, explosions or similar occurrences involving the possibility of arson or related offenses. Investigators also have arrest powers when aiding and assisting the sheriff or the chief of police of any county or designated representative upon request.

Fireworks Enforcement

The Division of Fire Safety is charged with enforcing section 320.106, RSMo, involving the investigation, permitting and inspection of the fireworks industry in Missouri. This statute requires prospective manufacturers, distributors, jobbers, wholesalers, seasonal retailers and persons requesting special fireworks displays to apply to the Division of Fire Safety for permits to do business in Missouri. Applicants must meet certain requirements, follow safety procedures and acquire a fireworks license.

The scope of this program was broadened by the General Assembly in 2004 with the addition of testing and licensing of individuals who shoot fireworks for public displays. This includes proximate (indoor) fireworks shows.

The division's inspection and investigation staff conduct inspections of facilities selling, manufacturing or distributing fireworks.

Blasting Safety Act

The Blasting Safety Act was created in 2007, when the General Assembly enacted House Bill 298. This act established the Blasting Safety Board to develop and adopt a code of rules and regulations relating to the licensing of blasters and the registration of explosives users. The act also requires the division to investigate complaints involving blasting operations throughout the state.

The Blasting Safety Board continues to advise the division on rules and regulations governing the program.

Boiler and Pressure Vessel Act

The Missouri Boiler and Pressure Vessel Act, per sections 650.200–650.295, RSMo, was passed in 1984 and became mandatory on Nov. 12, 1986. The purpose of the law is to ensure the safety of the general public and those who work in the vicinity of boilers and pressure vessels and to protect property. The provisions of this law do not apply in cities and counties that choose to regulate boilers and/or pressure vessels by ordinance.

The act requires periodic inspections of boilers and pressure vessels and the issuance of state operating certificates. Inspections are performed by certified inspectors in accordance with nationally recognized standards. Vessels found to have violations in relation to these standards are required to be repaired prior to the issuance of the state operating certificate. Accidents involving boilers or pressure vessels are investigated by the Boiler and Pressure Vessel Safety Unit.

The Board of Boiler and Pressure Vessel Rules advises the division on rules and regulations governing the program.

Elevator Safety Act

In 1994, the 86th General Assembly enacted House Bill 1035, creating the Elevator Safety Act. This act established an Elevator Safety Board to develop and adopt a code of rules and regulations relating to the construction, maintenance, testing and inspection of all elevators and similar devices, as well as the evaluation of variance requests.

The act requires annual safety inspections of every elevator and similar devices as specified in the statute. Upon an approved inspection, a state operating certificate is issued.

Amusement Ride Safety Act

In 1997, House Bill 276 was enacted relating to amusement ride safety. It requires annual safety inspections of all amusement rides and mandates each ride have a state operating permit before operating in the state. Additionally, division staff has the authority to conduct spot inspections on any ride operating in the state.

If a serious injury or death occurs as the result of the operation of an amusement ride, the Division of Fire Safety initiates an investigation into the cause of the accident.

Staff of the elevator safety program perform the duties required to support the Amusement Ride Safety Act. This program is overseen by a nine-member Amusement Ride Safety Board, which advises the division on rules and regulations governing the program.

Fire Standard Compliant Cigarette Act

This act, passed in 2009, requires the Division of Fire Safety to oversee a program regulating the sale of reduced ignition propensity cigarettes. Since Dec. 31, 2010, cigarettes sold in Missouri have been required to be fire-safe compliant (FSC).

Division responsibilities include verification of individual cigarette brand styles based upon nationally recognized testing standards to ensure compliance with state law. The division maintains a listing of cigarettes meeting the established performance standard, and this list is also provided to the state Attorney General's Office and the Missouri Department of Revenue.

The division recertifies the cigarettes every three years, approves cigarette pack FSC labeling and manages the Cigarette Fire Safety and Fire Fighter Protection Act Fund used to support fire prevention and safety programs.

The Department of Liquor Control was established by the Liquor Control Act in 1934 and was restructured as a division within the Department of Public Safety in 1974. The Division of Liquor Control's name was changed to the Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control (ATC) in 2003. The division's responsibilities are to enforce the liquor control laws under Chapter 311, RSMo, the youth access to tobacco law under Chapter 407, RSMo, and the rules and regulations of the state supervisor of alcohol and tobacco control. The agency's responsibilities are four-pronged: revenue collection, liquor licensing, brand label registration and enforcement. The liquor control laws and the state's system of alcoholic beverage regulations are designed to ensure the public health and safety as affected by intoxicating beverages. ATC oversees the collection of excise taxes on alcoholic beverages and license fees. Additionally, state statute mandates the division protect consumers from tainted alcohol products and the liquor industry from infiltration and exploitation by the criminal element.

The Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control is headed by the state supervisor. The state supervisor has the authority under Chapter 311, RSMo, to promulgate regulations, issue liquor licenses and suspend, revoke or fine liquor licenses for liquor control law violations. The supervisor also has the authority under Chapter 407, RSMo, to impose discipline against retail outlets for violations of the youth access to tobacco law.

Licensing Compliance Section

There are two primary functions of the licensing and compliance section. The first is to ensure general compliance with liquor control laws requiring the collection of excise taxes on all alcoholic beverages brought into Missouri. Approximately $40 million is collected annually from liquor, wine and beer taxes for deposit into the general revenue fund. This is achieved by cross-tier reporting and audits of licensed manufacturers, wineries, breweries and wholesalers. Additionally, the division collects and processes over $4.6 million in license fees and processes over 33,000 license applications annually.

The second primary function of this section is overseeing compliance regarding primary American source of supply, product testing and brand registration, which provides assurances to Missouri citizens that products are safe for consumption, and all excise taxes due have been paid. This section is also responsible for retention of the division's records.

Enforcement Section

The enforcement section is composed of both liquor and tobacco enforcement. Liquor agents are assigned to one of four district offices, while tobacco agents work remotely throughout the state. The enforcement section is supervised by the chief of enforcement and deputy chief of enforcement, and staffed with POST-licensed district supervisors, special agents and agents. Each section is responsible for enforcing the liquor and tobacco laws with a special emphasis on youth access to alcohol and tobacco. This is achieved by conducting plainclothes investigations, routine inspections, responding to citizen complaints, working with local law enforcement, and educating licensees on liquor control laws, tobacco laws and regulations.

Educational Programs

The Division of Alcohol & Tobacco Control takes a proactive stance to compliance by providing industry education, retail server training and law enforcement education programs. Seminars are routinely conducted for retail servers across the state to reduce underage drinking, over-serving alcohol to customers and the sale of tobacco products to minors. Informational pamphlets are also provided to assist retailers in complying with liquor and tobacco laws and regulations. ATC has educational material for law enforcement agencies regarding the enforcement of liquor and tobacco laws. Additionally, staff conduct site visits, audits, and routine inspections at in-state establishments to discuss compliance issues and to educate licensees.

Missouri State Highway Patrol

1510 E. Elm St., Jefferson City 65101
Telephone: (573) 751-3313*

Since its inception in 1931, the Missouri State Highway Patrol has served and protected the residents and visitors of Missouri. Along with its emphasis of traffic and water safety, the Patrol is responsible for motor vehicle and commercial vehicle inspection programs, driver license examinations, criminal investigations, crime laboratory analysis, related research and statistics, public education on safety issues, etc. The Patrol is a full-service, professional law enforcement agency accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (since 1992).

The Patrol utilizes enforcement and education in its approach to traffic and boating safety. DWI saturations, hazardous moving violation projects, SAFETE commercial vehicle checks, and Click It or Ticket are examples of enforcement projects aimed at making Missouri's roadways safer. Marine enforcement troopers schedule sobriety saturations, and equipment spot checks on Missouri's lakes and rivers. Missouri participates in Operation Dry Water, a national campaign to detect and apprehend intoxicated watercraft operators. In addition, troopers are present at large-scale marine events to enhance safety. News releases, public service announcements, social media posts, and safety programs educate the public about a variety of traffic safety, water safety and crime prevention topics throughout the year.

In 2018, the first group of troopers attended Interdiction for the Protection of Children training, which also included a train-the-trainer segment. The training teaches officers on routine patrol to identify individuals who are considered a high-risk threat to children and to rescue children who are being sexually abused or forced into human trafficking. Two Missouri troopers recognized the need for additional training and developed two additional courses of instruction. The courses are geared toward investigating each high-risk threat to a child contacted by law enforcement. In a little over a year after the first IPC training in 2018, a total of 1,232 Missouri officers from various departments had attended the training. These trained officers recovered 60 victims during that same time frame.

In 2020, the Patrol's Command Staff directed several divisions to create ways to increase agency transparency with the public. As a result, the Patrol updated its website significantly, launched a Show-Me Integrity Accountability Portal and an MSHIP YouTube channel, and hosted symposiums throughout the state. The accountability portal provides insight into Patrol policies, training, and important functions, career opportunities, and community outreach, as well as related statistics about traffic crashes, use of force by the Patrol, Patrol pursuits and traffic stops. The portal is accessed through the Patrol's website (www.statepatrol.mo.dps.gov).

The symposiums explained to Missouri legislators, community leaders, and activists Patrol policies regarding use of force situations, and provided hands-on stop and approach and MILO firearms training system experiences. In the Use of Force session, participants learned about training, de-escalation, profiling, complaints, various use of force options, and the difference between protests and civil disturbance. The interactive use of force experience with the MILO firearms training system showed how quickly something as routine as an enforcement contact can escalate. The stop and approach exercise with role-players showed participants why training is so important and how law enforcement officers must make split-second decisions. Presenters reinforced the Patrol's accountability to the citizens we serve and the history of our use of force reporting guidelines, as well as the procedures for investigating officer-involved shootings. The discussion included the Patrol's community-oriented policing approach to serving and protecting the public. Each symposium concluded with a roundtable discussion between those attending and members of the Patrol's command staff.

The Patrol's employees are living examples of the Patrol's vision, mission, and core values. Throughout natural disasters and serious incidents, social unrest, and most recently, the coronavirus pandemic, Patrol employees have served as Missouri's beacon of integrity, professionalism, and compassion. During its 90-year history, the Patrol has navigated crises, emergencies, and challenges, and consistently revealed the true

The Missouri National Guard is a recognized community and national leader in Soldier, Airman and family readiness, possessing agile and effective units capable of responding to changing demands at home and abroad. The Missouri National Guard organizes, trains and prepares a family and community-based force of approximately 12,000 Soldiers, Airmen and civilians to defend and serve the people of Missouri and the United States.

The Missouri National Guard's military lineage dates back to units organized in the St. Louis area under French and Spanish colonial rule in the 18th century. Since then, Guard units have performed state emergency duty hundreds of times along with serving in their federal roles. Missouri National Guard units, their predecessors and members saw active service in the Revolutionary War, War of 1812, Mexican-American War, Civil War, Spanish-American War, World Wars I and II, Korea, the Berlin Crisis, Vietnam, Operation Just Cause in Panama, Operation Desert Shield and Operation Desert Storm, Somalia, Haiti, Joint Endeavor/Joint Guard in the Balkans, Afghanistan, Iraq and Libya.

People: Approximately 12,000 men and women serve in Army and Air National Guard readiness centers based in more than 60 communities across the state; they are trained in hundreds of specific skills, most with direct application to civilian work and professions.

Roles and Missions: Unique among all the nation's armed forces, the National Guard has a dual state and federal role under the U.S. Constitution.

The Guard is Missouri's force in times of disaster and emergency. Missions have included response to flooding, ice storms, blizzards, extreme heat, tornadoes, pandemics and civil unrest.

State duty is performed under the orders of the governor, the Guard's state commander in chief. The governor appoints the Adjutant General, who holds the rank of Major General and oversees the Army and Air National Guard units assigned to the state by the federal government. He is advised by a state military council of senior leaders of the Army and Air National Guard, including commanders of each unit in the state.

The Guard is also a federal, operational reserve force, fully accessible to the President in times of national emergency. Federal missions have kept Missouri Army and Air National Guard units deployed on a regular basis since the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001. The Missouri National Guard has supported more than 20,000 individual federal deployments since 2001.

The Missouri National Guard maintains a Homeland Response Force (HRF) that may be called to respond to both federal and state emergencies within FEMA Region VII. The team's mission is to act as the military response to a chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear or high-yield explosive event.

The Missouri National Guard works with community groups in drug demand reduction programs while also supporting local, state and federal law enforcement agencies in drug interdiction efforts. Other innovative readiness training projects let Guard units train by working on projects benefiting local communities.

35th Engineer Brigade: The 35th Engineer Brigade, based at Fort Leonard Wood, undertakes plans, integrates and directs the execution of engineer missions conducted by the 1140th Engineer Battalion in Cape Girardeau and the 203rd Engineer Battalion in Joplin with their respective subordinate units. When federalized, the brigade mobilizes with three to five mission-tailored engineer battalions and augments engineer units organic to corps and division. The 35th Engineer Brigade provides technical and tactical guidance and command and control to its teams, companies and battalions. The brigade was also chosen as one of only two Army National Guard lead command elements in the Army's Associated Unit Pilot Program, which partners the brigade with the active duty 5th Engineer Battalion at Fort Leonard Wood.

110th Maneuver Enhancement Brigade: The 110th Maneuver Enhancement Brigade, based in Kansas City, is a mission-tailored force that conducts support area operations, maneuver support operations and support to consequence-management and stability operations in order to ensure the mobility, protection and freedom-of-action of the supported force.

70th Troop Command: The 70th Troop Command, posted in Lebanon, provides command and control, training, guidance, assistance and administrative and logistical support to its subordinate commands. This command serves as the FEMA Region VII HRF.

35th Combat Aviation Brigade: The 35th Combat Aviation Brigade, posted in Sedalia, provides command, control, staff planning and supervision of combat aviation brigade operations. The brigade's units fly a combination of LUH-72 Lakota, observation helicopters and UH-60 Black Hawk utility helicopters, as well as a C-12 transport airplane. The brigade's units are capable of performing unit- and intermediate level aviation maintenance.

1107th Aviation Group: The 1107th Aviation Group supports the Missouri National Guard by way of its mission to provide a fixed-base theater of operations dedicated to sustainment/depot capability maintenance of rotary-wing aircraft. One of the largest Missouri National Guard units, the approximately 500-member group supports a headquarters and subordinate companies A and B in Springfield.

35th Infantry Division (Mo.): The 35th Infantry Division is assigned in two states, Missouri and Kansas. The 35th Infantry Division (Mo.) specifically provides command and control of all divisional Soldiers from within the Missouri Army National Guard.

131st Bomb Wing: The 131st Bomb Wing continued the total force integration as a classic associate unit with the active duty Air Force 509th Bomb Wing at Whiteman Air Force Base. The 131st Bomb Wing's primary operational mission is to provide full-spectrum, expeditionary, B-2 global strike and combat support capabilities. Wing manpower is also dedicated to providing for the unit's overall combat readiness, base operating support functions for tenant and attached units and for performing combat and emergency duty in support of federal and state missions.

139th Airlift Wing: The 139th Airlift Wing, based in St. Joseph, is globally engaged in operations for the state and nation with immediately deployable, combat-ready C-130 H-model aircraft. The unit performs a variety of roles, including airlift and airdrop in peacetime and wartime missions. The 139th is a recognized leader in training, hosting Detachment 1, 29th Weapons Squadron, USAF Weapons School and the Advanced Airlift Tactics Training Center, which trains crews from the US and allied nations in the latest combat tactics.

Missouri National Guard Cyber Team: In 2012, the Missouri National Guard established Missouri's cyber team. This team is made up of 34 Soldiers and Airmen. A recognized national leader in cyber defense and operations, the team is primarily made up of traditional Guardsmen with vast experience in government and civilian industry. The MO Cyber Team has the capability to respond to a cyber incident during an emergency declaration.

Women's Mentorship Council: The Missouri National Guard established the Women's Mentorship Council to recruit, train, develop, and retain female Soldiers and Airmen while creating a more transparent organization. The program's mission is to form a network of influential leaders, at all levels of command, who serve in important organizational roles and invest time and resources into this effort to retain female Guardsmen through the mid-grade ranks, so they have the opportunity to compete for leadership positions.

Mission Support: The Missouri National Guard has several important initiatives in place to help support the needs of our Guard members and their families.

Resiliency Program: This nationally recognized program focusing efforts on the six key dimensions of strength: physical, spiritual, family, emotional, social and financial well-being of Soldiers, Airmen and their families.

Family Readiness Program: Provides support to the families left in Missouri when Soldiers and Airmen mobilize away from home and help them remain ready at all times.

Tuition Assistance Programs: Missouri National Guard Soldiers and Airmen in good standing may be eligible for numerous programs to help fund their higher education goals. The State Tuition Assistance program provides funding up to a bachelor's degree and the Federal Tuition Assistance program provides funding through a master's degree. Additionally, they may be eligible for federal Montgomery G.I. Bill benefits for use toward college or a trade school. Lastly, Soldiers and Airmen may be eligible for contractual bonuses or student loan repayment programs for their service.

Yellow Ribbon Reintegration Program: Helps Soldiers, Airmen and families prepare for a deployment and understand the benefits that are available during and after deployment.

Military Family Relief Fund: This effort provides grants or other financial assistance or services from the Missouri family relief fund to families of persons who are members of the Missouri National Guard or Missouri residents who are members of the reserves or Armed Forces of the United States.

Missouri Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Reserves: Works closely with employers and reserve military members across the state, helping them understand their roles and responsibilities.

Show-Me Heroes Program: This widely-recognized program works to find jobs for Missouri National Guard members and other veterans.

Military Funeral Honors Program: Coordinates an average of 25 funerals for veterans across the state every day. The program began in July 1999 and coordinates funeral honors for every Missouri veteran. Anyone interested in funeral honors for their family member should inform their funeral home director.

Veterans Awards Program: The Missouri Legislature approved this program providing a medal and certificate to honor living veterans of the Vietnam War, World War II and the Korean War. In 2014, the Legislature expanded the current medallion programs by creating the "Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation New Dawn Medallion Program" and the "Operation Desert Shield and Operation Desert Storm Medallion Program." The legislation further authorized the issuance of a military medallion, medal, and certificate of appreciation to any veteran who served in World War II, the Korean Conflict, or the Vietnam War as a member of the Missouri National Guard, regardless of whether the veteran is a resident of Missouri. Veterans or family members may contact the program director at (573) 638-9838.

Federal: The National Guard Bureau is a joint agency of the U.S. Army and Air Force, led by a four-star general who sits on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It provides peacetime federal oversight of National Guard units. While the governor commands the Guard on a day-to-day basis, most costs are paid with federal funds. That includes the regular pay for Soldiers and Airmen, except when they are on a state emergency mission. The federal funding and a force of full-time, federally paid employees ensure the readiness of the Guard for federal missions or state duty if called on by the governor. The federal government pays approximately 97 percent of the annual cost of the Guard.

While National Guard units and members can perform federal duty in the same manner as members of the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps Reserves, only National Guard units have the constitutional responsibility to serve at home during emergencies.

The Guard offers additional benefits. It provides Missouri communities with citizens whose military experiences pay off at home. Its men and women receive training in skills, work ethic, physical fitness and leadership that benefits their communities and civilian employers. They earn GI Bill and other educational benefits, including state-funded educational support and matching scholarships provided by many Missouri colleges and universities, unique to the National Guard.

The State Emergency Management Agency's (SEMA) mission is to help Missourians prepare for, respond to and recover from all emergencies, each step guided by SEMA's core values of respect, integrity, trust, honesty and compassion. Disasters include major ice storms, blizzards, floods, tornadoes, severe weather, earthquakes, pandemics, hazardous material events and nuclear power plant accidents, radiological and biological events and terrorism. SEMA's program is nationally accredited by the Emergency Management Accreditation Program (EMAP).

To meet this mission, SEMA coordinates and develops the State Emergency Operations Plan, which directs the actions of Missouri state departments and agencies to assist requesting local jurisdictions. SEMA oversees Missouri's disaster preparedness, floodplain management, hazard mitigation and disaster public assistance programs, and coordinates the state's response operations for all types of large scale emergencies. SEMA is organized into four divisions: Preparedness, Response, Recovery and Fiscal.

State Emergency Operations Center

SEMA and the State Emergency Operations Center (SEOC) are located at the Missouri National Guard Ike Skelton Training Site, east of Jefferson City. SEOC enables state agencies to gather situational awareness, coordinate planning and direct Missouri's disaster emergency response and recovery operations.

Coordination of Preparedness Activities

Preparedness is a joint responsibility of local, state and federal governments. SEMA coordinates preparedness activities and administers a number of federally funded programs. These programs include disaster planning, earthquake preparedness, radiological protection, public warning, training and exercise. SEMA offers free classes to local emergency management agencies, local officials, first responders, schools and volunteers.

Preparedness Division

To ensure effective disaster response and recovery coordination on the local, regional and state levels, the Preparedness Division works with local, state and federal partners in a continuous cycle of planning, training, exercising, evaluating and corrective actions. The division includes the Planning Section, which contains the Strategic National Stockpile (SNS) Program; Continuity of Operations (COOP) Planning/leads the coordination among all state departments and multiple planning and preparedness initiatives. The Training and Exercise Unit is focused on providing local, regional and statewide training and exercise activities. The Radiological Emergency Program (REP) ensures the state and local jurisdictions are prepared to respond to an adverse event at nuclear power plants, safeguarding the public health and safety of Missourians. The Emergency Human Services Unit (EHS) works with state agencies and volunteer and faith-based organizations active in disaster response and recovery, including the governor's Faith-Based and Community Service Partnership for Disaster Recovery and Missouri Voluntary Organizations Active in Disasters. EHS also houses the state Medical Reserve Corps Program. SEMA works closely with the Department of Health and Senior Services to coordinate and execute work plan activities for the Public Health Emergency Preparedness Program as well as the Hospital Preparedness Program.

Response Division

The Response Division is responsible for disaster management operations in support of local jurisdictions and state agencies, providing coordination activities required to effectively manage large scale incidents. The Response Division is responsible for managing the activities of the State Emergency Operations Center and is also responsible for the Watch Center, the Missouri Disaster Medical Assistance Team (MO DMAT-1) and the SEMA Warehouse, along with maintaining a constant state of readiness to respond to the emergency needs of the state. The Response Division includes the Regional Coordinator Program, Logistics/Resources Section and the Facilities/Communications Section. There are 9 SEMA Regions throughout the state, with a Regional Coordinator assigned to each one, and one assigned for Urban C, Rural C. To this, there are 10 Regional Coordinators embedded throughout the state who are assigned to regions that mirror the Missouri State Highway Patrol troops. Region C is designated two Regional Coordinators and is recognized as two segments, Urban and Rural.

MO DMAT-1 is responsible for maintaining a 60-bed mobile hospital known as Mobile Medical Hospital (MMU), three 24-bed mobile emergency room units and three Rapid Response 6-bed units. There are more than 390 members on this team. The SEMA warehouse contains MO DMAT-1 equipment, Strategic National Stockpile (SNS) supplies and SEMA emergency equipment, including generators, pumps, shelters and personal protective equipment (PPE).

The main responsibility of the Regional Coordinators is serving as the critical liaison link between SEMA and the local emergency manager and emergency management partners. The Watch

Center is also responsible for monitoring all communications equipment, including radio, satellite phone, WAS phones and video equipment. The Logistics/Resources Section coordinates the acquisition and delivery of critical resources, along with services and supplies to areas of the state impacted disasters. The Logistics/Resources Section, along with the Missouri Public/Private Partnership (MOP3), co-manages the Missouri Business Emergency Operations Center (BEOC). This helps facilitate both business community recovery and charitable disaster assistance from the business community. The Response Division works with SEMA's Planning Section to develop and maintain the State Emergency Operations Plan. MO DMAT-1 is responsible for maintaining Mobile Medical Hospital (MMU) an 80-bed mobile hospital, 2 each 24-bed mobile emergency room units and 3 each Rapid Response 6-bed units. There are 400 members on this team. The team is responsible for training and exercising all members and the equipment. ## Recovery Division

The Recovery Division is responsible for requesting and administering federal and state funds for all presidentially declared disasters. This division works to assist Missouri communities recover from and mitigate against disasters. The division consist of the Disaster Recovery Section, Hazard Mitigation Section, Floodplain Management Section and Floodplain Engineering and Mapping Section. The Disaster Recovery Section is responsible for administering the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Public Assistance Program and the Fire Management Assistance Grant, along with coordination of damage assessments for the FEMA Individuals and Households Program and the Small Business Administration Program. The Hazard Mitigation Section works with local communities to minimize the adverse impacts of disasters and is responsible for updating and maintaining Missouri's State Hazard Mitigation Plan. Missouri is one of only 15 states with Enhanced Hazard Mitigation Plans status from the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Missouri's enhanced status means the state receives additional mitigation funding following federal disaster declarations. The Hazard Mitigation Section administers three federal grant programs, which allows for the update of 114 county mitigation plans, as well as the plan for the independent City of St. Louis. These federal mitigation grants also provide funding for projects such as voluntary flood buyouts, community tornado safe rooms, bridge replacement, bank stabilization and the burying of public utility lines. The Floodplain Management Section administers Missouri's floodplain management activities. It serves as the liaison between FEMA and local communities participating in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). It provides guidance, technical assistance, and training to NFIP communities, as well as to organizations involved in floodplain determinations; serves as a resource for flood maps and related technical data; assists local floodplain administrators with maintaining a community's compliance with the NFIP; assists non-participating communities in applying for participation in the NFIP; provides review comments to state agencies pertaining to proposed floodplain development; provides technical assistance to state and federal agencies and community officials in the aftermath of a Governor's State of Emergency Declaration and a Major Presidential Disaster Declaration; and conducts Substantial Damage Estimates in the aftermath of a flood event to assist communities with repetitive loss and severe repetitive loss properties. The Floodplain Engineering and Mapping Section collaborates with FEMA as a Cooperating Technical Partner (CTP) in updating and maintaining the quality of the NFIP Flood Insurance Rate Maps. As a partner, the Floodplain Engineering and Mapping Section holds meetings in counties being mapped, including Initial Discover Meetings, Flood Study Review Meetings and Consultation Coordinator Officer Meetings as part of the community engagement process leading to the issuance of the Letter of Final Determination. The various flood mapping meetings are to ensure communities are engaged with the remapping process and assume ownership of the information provided on the revised effective NFIP FIRM products when a project is complete.

Finance and Administrative Division

The Finance Division includes the Fiscal Administration and Emergency Management Performance Grant sections. The Fiscal Administration Section provides administrative services such as accounting, budgeting, grant administration, procurement, fleet management, human resources, payroll and general office services. It coordinates and administers federal, state and local grant requests. The Emergency Management Performance Grant Section (EMPG) administers federal assistance to SEMA and local government emergency management agencies in support of all-hazard emergency management capabilities. An all-hazard approach to emergency response, including the development of a comprehensive program of planning, training and exercises, means there can be an effective and consistent response to disasters and emergencies, regardless of the cause.

Earthquake Program

SEMA's earthquake program provides operational oversight and administrative support to the 1,000-member Structural Assessment Visual Evaluation (SAVE) Coalition authorized by Section 44.023, RSMo. This statute establishes a volunteer cadre for post-disaster building inspections to determine if damaged buildings are safe for occupation. SAVE coalition members are architects, engineers, building inspectors and construction industry professionals.

Missouri Seismic Safety Commission

SEMA provides administrative support to the Missouri Seismic Safety Commission (MSSC), which was established by section 44.227, RSMo, to initiate a comprehensive program to help Missouri prepare for and respond to a major earthquake. The commission prepares and updates a strategic plan for reducing earthquake hazards in the state. Members also help organize Earthquake Awareness Month (February) activities.

Missouri Emergency Response Commission

The Missouri Emergency Response Commission's (MERC) mission is to protect public health and the environment by assisting communities with chemical incident prevention, preparedness, response and recovery.

Missouri Revised Statutes 292.600 – 625 and Division 10, Chapter 11 of the Rules of Public Safety title 11 CSR 10-11.210 established a statewide hazardous material safety program, created the Missouri Emergency Response Commission and provided for the creation of Hazardous Material Emergency Response Accounts in each county. Title 11 CSR 10-11.210 further defines the powers and duties of the Missouri Emergency Response Commission concerning the imposition of obligations and appropriate penalties for inappropriate actions by certain handlers of hazardous materials. The Missouri Hazardous Material Emergency Planning and Response Act formalized county compliance with the federal Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act of 1986, which sought to improve offsite safety around chemical facilities. Title 11 CSR 10-11.210 designates MERC as the State Emergency Response Commission (SERC), which is required by the Superfund Amendment and Reauthorization Act (SARA) Title III. It also creates a supplemental emergency preparedness funding base for chemical emergency preparedness at the county and state levels based upon fees collected from the chemical industry. The fees enable the Local Emergency Planning Committees (LEPCs) to prepare offsite response plans, acquire response team equipment, develop public "Right-to-Know" education programs, conduct chemical industry awareness and compliance programs, and conduct relevant training, drills and exercises. The requirement applies to owners and operators of manufacturing facilities that have 500 pounds or more of an Extremely Hazardous Substance (EHS) chemical, 10,000 pounds or more of a hazardous chemical or a quantity necessary referenced by the Threshold Planning Quantity of the chemical through the EPA List of Lists.

 Executive Director

Missouri Veterans Commission

205 Jefferson St., 12th Fl., PO Drawer 147
 Jefferson City 65102-0147
 Telephone: (573) 751-3779 / FAX: (573) 751-6836

The Missouri Veterans Commission is vested with the responsibility of representing all Missouri veterans, ensuring their needs are met and defending the entitlements of those who have served their country with honor and distinction.

This is accomplished through programs and services funded by the state and federal governments as well as private and corporate contributions.

Our Mission

In recognition of the sacrifices made by Veterans in service to our country, the Missouri Veterans Commission will be the first choice in skilled nursing care; enduring choice in securing benefits and proven choice in a dignified resting place.

Our History

The State Federal Soldier's Home was established in 1896 by the Women's Relief Corps Soldiers' Home Association and was deeded to Missouri in 1897. Its original purpose was to provide care to aging Missourians who had fought for the Union in the Civil War. In 1931, the state legislature, at the request of organized Veterans groups, created the Office of State Service Officer to counsel and assist Veterans of World War I and earlier conflicts, for whom numerous benefits were being made available through the newly established Veterans Administration.

In 1974, the Omnibus Reorganization Act combined the State Federal Soldier's Home and Office of State Service Officer programs, effectively renaming the home and establishing the Division of Veterans Affairs within the Department of Social Services. Four years later, in 1978, the Division of Veterans Affairs, as provided in Chapter 42, RSMo, was then transferred to the Department of Public Safety, Office of the Adjutant General, by a Type I transfer.

Executive order 81-18 (February 1981) passed at the first regular session of the 81st General Assembly and put this law into effect in September 1981.

On Aug. 28, 1989, the Division of Veterans Affairs was replaced by the establishment of the Missouri Veterans Commission as a type III transfer. Chapter 42, RSMo, governs the commission's operation as a state agency, stating the commission shall be composed of nine members. In addition, the chair of the Missouri military preparedness and enhancement commission or the chair's designee shall be an ex officio member of the commission.

The commissioners then appoint an executive director, who implements commission policies and is responsible for statewide management of veterans programs. The executive director reports to the commission concerning all aspects of program operations through quarterly commission meetings.

Administrative offices are located in Jefferson City at 205 Jefferson St., 12th floor. Services and benefits provided to Veterans by the Missouri Commission are:

Veterans Services Program

Through the Veterans Service Program, the Missouri Veterans Commission provides counseling and assistance to Veterans in filing claims for benefits from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. Veterans Service Officers are located throughout the state to make services available to veterans close to their homes.

Information concerning locations and phone numbers of Veterans Service Officers may be found on the commission's website: mvc.dps.mo.gov.

Veterans Service Officers are thoroughly trained and knowledgeable in all areas of Veterans benefits, including compensation, pension, education, burial and widow's benefits. Information and counseling regarding medical eligibility, VA Home Loan guaranty and other benefits, including those offered by the state, may also be obtained from Veterans Service Officers.

Veterans Service Officers are available to give presentations and instruction regarding the benefits for which Veterans are eligible as a result of honorable military service in the U.S. Armed Forces.

Veterans Home Program

The Missouri Gaming Commission was established in 1993 by the 87th General Assembly as specified by Chapter 313, RSMo. The commission assumed responsibility for regulating riverboat and charitable gaming on July 1, 1994. Regulatory authority over daily fantasy sports contest operators was added in 2016.

The commission is composed of five members, no more than three of whom may be members of the same political party. Commission members are appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for a term of three years. Pursuant to statute, the overall membership of the commission reflects experience in law enforcement, civil and criminal investigation and financial principles.

The commission's role is to monitor gaming-related activities to ensure criminal elements do not infiltrate licensed gaming operations. In addition, the commission works to protect the public by ensuring games are conducted fairly, according to their rules and with full disclosure.

As a state regulatory agency, the commission and its staff hold themselves to the highest ethical and professional standards and strive to conduct all business in a manner that is in the public interest and maintains the public trust. Pursuant to statute, a strict code of ethics has been adopted prohibiting conflicts of interest and certain ex parte communications.

The key regulatory responsibilities of the commission are:

- to conduct thorough background investigations on all key persons involved in gaming operations, including substantial owners, management personnel, key operational employees and suppliers;
- to thoroughly investigate the finances of applicants and their key persons to determine if they have the financial resources and responsibility to meet their proposed obligations;
- to investigate the background of all occupational licensees, including dealers, slot attendants, food and beverage servers, security and surveillance personnel and all other employees who have access to the gaming area to ensure the personnel operating the casino are of sufficient character to maintain the integrity of Missouri gaming;

The commission is composed of three members who are chosen from the two major political parties. The members are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

3. Formulate and implement statewide assessment policies and procedures to comply with statutory and constitutional mandates;

The Missouri Department of Social Services (DSS) was constitutionally established in 1974 because "the health and general welfare of the people are matters of primary public concern." The department is charged with administering programs to promote, safeguard and protect the general welfare of children; to maintain and strengthen family life; and to aid people in need as they strive to achieve their highest level of independence.

The department is organized into four program divisions: Children's Division, Family Support Division, MO HealthNet Division and the Division of Youth Services. The Division of Finance and Administrative Services and the Division of Legal Services provide department-wide administrative and support services.

The department cooperates and partners with many private organizations, businesses and individuals to extend the outreach of human services to Missouri citizens.

Office of the Director

Child welfare services are provided under federal and state laws to help children and families function at their maximum potential, both personally and socially.

The division has a legal mandate to provide services in four primary areas: child abuse and neglect investigations, family assessments, prevention, treatment and placement services to children and families, and provision of child care.

JOAN ROGERS
Children's Division

Organization

The Children's Division (CD) is administered by a director appointed by the department director (DSS). The division maintains a presence in each circuit and the City of St. Louis, and supports each of the 45 judicial circuits in the state.

Child Abuse and Neglect Investigations and Assessments

The division is responsible for receiving reports of alleged child abuse or neglect. Once a report is received, the division responds to assure safety of the child(ren). The goals of child abuse or neglect investigations and assessments are to assess the level of risk to the child(ren), protect the child(ren) from harm, determine if abuse or neglect occurred as reported and provide services to the family.

Under the provisions of the Child Abuse and Neglect Law (sections 210.110 and 210.167, RSMo): a "child" is any person under 18 years of age; "abuse" includes both actual and threatened physical injury, sexual or emotional abuse inflicted on a child other than by accidental means by those responsible for his or her care, custody and control, except that discipline, including spanking, administered in a reasonable manner, shall not be construed to be abuse; “neglect” is failure to provide, by those responsible for the care, custody and control of the child, the proper or necessary support and education as required by law, or medical, surgical or any other care necessary for the child’s well-being; and “persons responsible for the care, custody and control of the child” include, but are not limited to, the parents or guardians of the child, other members of the child’s household or those people exercising supervision over a child for any part of a 24-hour day.

All reports of suspected child abuse and neglect are made to a centralized hotline unit of the division, which is required to provide toll free statewide telephone service 24 hours a day, seven days a week for reporting purposes (1-800-392-3738).

Family-Centered Services

The overriding goal of family-centered services is to prevent child abuse or neglect, and the removal of the child from the home, by stabilizing the family and improving family functioning.

Treatment services, referred to as “family-centered services,” are provided in preventive and protective capacities. Protective family-centered services are case management services provided to families when a finding of child abuse and neglect has been determined by a preponderance of evidence at the conclusion of an investigation. Preventive family-centered services are offered when an investigation of abuse or neglect is unsubstantiated or when a family assessment detects concerns that might be mitigated by services to help prevent abuse or neglect. Preventive services are contingent on the family’s willingness to accept services. Families may also self-refer for services. Services may be provided by CD staff and/or purchased on behalf of the family.

Federal law mandates that the division provide services to children and families of children in alternative care. These services are geared toward permanency for the child(ren), either by reunification with his or her biological parent(s) or permanency through adoption or guardianship. The goals of these services are to prevent further child abuse or neglect, mitigate family factors that could lead to further child abuse or neglect, reunite children with their families when possible and obtain permanent homes for children who cannot safely return home through adoption or guardianship.

To achieve these goals, the division employs staff to provide services to eligible children and families. These services are provided through direct services and contracted services.

Direct Services

Children’s Division staff provides direct services to families in treatment and families whose children are in alternative care settings. Children’s Division staff works with families in assessing service needs and case planning. Actual services may be provided by CD staff, through contractors or both.

Alternative care services (family-centered, out-of-home services) are provided to children who are determined by the juvenile court to need care in a setting other than their biological family homes. These children are cared for in substitute family care or non-familial group care. Any one of three types of licensed settings provides alternative care: foster family homes, group facilities and residential treatment facilities. Transitional living services and independent living may also be utilized for older youth who might not return home and for whom adoption or guardianship is not deemed appropriate.

Child safety and permanency for children is the overriding goal of all services and integrates the principles of permanency planning — reuniting the child with the biological family when possible and, when necessary, finding other permanent family relationships for children.

Families who wish to adopt children unable to reunite with their families may, in some instances, receive an adoption subsidy payment.

This is a statewide program developed to provide financial benefits, in the form of a subsidy, to encourage potential adoptive parents to adopt and to finance the cost of adopting “special needs” children.

Contracted Services

Contracted services are available to individuals and families who are receiving family-centered services, or in efforts to recruit and maintain resources for permanency. These services are usually provided as a result of a child abuse/neglect report with a “preponderance of evidence” finding, but may also be authorized for children in alternative care, children in adoptive placements, and family members receiving preventive treatment services or foster and adoptive services. Services are provided through contracts with both public and private community agencies and play a major role in extending services throughout the state.

The Family Support Division (FSD) is responsible for the administration of the following programs and services: Food Stamps, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), Missouri Works Assistance, Food Distribution, Food Nutrition and Employment Training (SkillsUP), Emergency Solutions Grant, Child Support, MO HealthNet Eligibility, State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP) Eligibility, Services for the Blind and Visually Impaired, Energy Assistance, Supplemental Nursing Care, Adult Supplemental Aid to the Blind, Blind Pension, Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) and Community Services Block Grant.

Organization

The Family Support Division is administered by a director appointed by the department director (DSS). The division has at least one location in each county and in the City of St. Louis to provide customers with access to the Income Maintenance Programs. The division maintains offices across the state for the administration of the Child Support Program. Administration of the Rehabilitation Services for the Blind is managed by six offices throughout Missouri.

Income Maintenance Programs

The determination of an individual's financial need is basic to the granting of Temporary Assistance, Food Stamps, child care, Supplemental Aid to the Blind, medical assistance and nursing care benefits. The division has a legal requirement to consider all facts and circumstances in determining eligibility for public assistance, including the applicant's earning capacity, income and resources from whatever source received. If the applicant is not found to be in need, assistance is denied.

Temporary Assistance

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families, (TANF), makes cash grants on behalf of needy children who are living in homes maintained by parents or close relatives. This program provides temporary financial assistance while the adult transitions to self-sufficiency. TANF funds also support employment and training programs.

 Director
 Family Support Division

MO HealthNet

The Family Support Division determines participant eligibility for MO HealthNet services. MO HealthNet refers to the statewide medical assistance programs for elderly, disabled and blind individuals; low-income families; pregnant women and children who meet certain eligibility requirements. In order to qualify for the MO HealthNet program, individuals must be a resident of the state of Missouri a U.S. national citizen, or a permanent resident or legal alien in need of health care/insurance assistance.

Family income is compared to the applicable percentage of the federal poverty guidelines. The applicable income limit for children is dependent on the age of the child(ren). The goals of the MO HealthNet program are to promote good health, prevent illness and premature death, correct or limit disability, treat illness and provide rehabilitation to persons with disabilities. Eligible persons receive a MO HealthNet identification card. There is no cash assistance with this program, although the program does pay for Medicare premiums for eligible individuals.

Supplemental Aid to the Blind and Blind Pension

The division administers two separate programs for the blind: Supplemental Aid to the Blind (SAB) and the Blind Pension Program. Under the SAB program, the amount of the monthly grant is $750 minus any Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payment received. Under the Blind Pension Program, a flat monthly payment of $750 per person is made. The programs differ slightly in eligibility requirements. Funds are provided from a Missouri constitutionally established blind pension fund with no matching federal funds. In addition to the cash grant, individuals in both programs are provided with medical coverage from MO HealthNet.

Supplemental Nursing Care

The Supplemental Nursing Care Program in Missouri provides cash assistance and medical services coverage to eligible aged, blind or disabled individuals who reside in non-Medicaid, licensed skilled nursing, intermediate care, assisted living or residential care facilities. Individuals who reside in licensed, skilled nursing facilities or intermediate care facilities may receive monthly cash benefits of up to a maximum of $390. If they live in a licensed assisted living facility, they may be eligible for monthly cash benefits of up to $292, or if in a licensed residential care facility, they may receive monthly cash benefits of up to $156.

Food Stamp and Food Distribution Programs

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), known as the Food Stamp Program in Missouri, is designed to help low-income families increase their purchasing power for buying nutritious food for their families. Depending upon the adjusted income and the number of persons in the household, a family receives a monthly benefit amount. The division is responsible for determining the eligibility of Food Stamp applicants according to guidelines established by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The division also administers a number of food distribution programs providing USDA-donated foods through, Summer Food Service Programs for Children and the Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP).

Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program

Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) provides assistance to low-income individuals to help pay for heating and cooling. Eligibility for assistance is based on household income and the number of persons residing in the household. Benefit amounts vary based on income, family size and type of fuel utilized. Missouri provides three programs with the LIHEAP grant: Energy Assistance/Regular Heating (EA), Energy Crisis Intervention Program (ECIP) and the Low-Income Weatherization Assistance Program (LIWAP).

Community Services Block Grant Program

The Community Services Block Grant Program (CSBG) makes funds available to support efforts that reduce poverty, revitalize low-income communities and empower low-income families and individuals to become fully self-sufficient. Most CSBG programs are operated locally by community action agencies that provide direct services to individuals and families whose income falls within the federal poverty guidelines, as well as mobilize communities to identify and address the causes and conditions of poverty in their geographic area.

Emergency Solutions Grant Program

The Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG) program provides funding for emergency homeless shelters and street outreach to the homeless. It also provides homelessness prevention and rapid re-housing services to homeless individuals, their families and those at risk of becoming homeless. The overall goal of the ESG program is to move participants to and help them retain permanent housing.

Blind and Visually Impaired Services Program

The Rehabilitation Services for the Blind program administers the following services to blind or visually impaired Missourians; Vocational Rehabilitation (VR), Prevention of Blindness, Independent Living Rehabilitation, Readers for the Blind, Independent Living, Older Blind (ILR-OB), Children Services (CS) and the Enterprise Program (BEP).

Vocational rehabilitation services are supported by both federal and state funds. Services include diagnosis and evaluation, counseling and guidance, physical and mental restoration, college and other types of vocational training, job placement and services after employment when needed. Vocational rehabilitation services are to enable a person with visual disabilities to obtain or retain suitable employment. The readers for the blind program provides up to $500 per year to meet the cost of readers for legally blind individuals who are attending post-secondary institutions.

Prevention of blindness services are funded with state funds and Blindness Education, Screening and Treatment (BEST) funds. Services are for the purpose of early detection of eye disease that may lead to blindness, and when indicated, providing treatment to eligible persons. Services include diagnostic examinations, surgery, hospitalization, glasses, prostheses and medications that are not available through other sources. These services are conditional upon the financial need of the individual. Free vision screening clinics are conducted in conjunction with schools of ophthalmology in Missouri. Free glaucoma screening clinics are conducted throughout the state.

Independent living rehabilitation services—including services for adults, children and the OBS program for seniors over age 55—are supported by both federal and state funds. Services are for the purposes of enabling that person to function independently in the home and community and/or to succeed in appropriate educational settings. Services include diagnosis and evaluation; adjustment to blindness services; alternative techniques in the areas of daily living activities; counseling and families supportive services; physical restoration; homemaking; communication; and orientation to, and travel within, the home and community.

The federal/state Randolph-Sheppard Business Enterprise Program provides employment opportunities for legally blind persons who have participated in special training and are licensed by the division to manage a vending facility located in federal, state and private industry. Vending facilities range from full food service cafeterias to banks of vending machines.

The Children's Services Program focuses on blind and visually impaired children and their families, providing assistance with education and advocacy. Services include early identification and intervention, fostering a positive sense of self, regardless of vision loss, facilitating access to community services specific to the individual needs of the child, and helping families find information about blindness and its impact on their child's education and future.

Child Support Program

Missouri's Child Support Program operates pursuant to Title IV-D of the federal Social Security Act and Chapter 454, RSMo.

Child Support Program responsibilities include location of parents, paternity establishment, establishing child and medical support orders, enforcing support orders, reviewing support orders for modification and distributing child support collections.

The Family Support Division collects child support on behalf of families receiving public assistance. In addition, individuals not receiving public assistance benefits may apply for child support services.

Currently, the federal government funds the program at the rate of 66%. In addition to federal funds, the state is entitled to retain approximately 34% of the collections it receives for families that receive temporary assistance.

The program partners with county prosecuting attorneys through cooperative agreements to assist with child support activities. Additionally, the program partners with the state attorney general through a cooperative agreement to assist with child support enforcement and modification activities. The program also partners with federal agencies, the Department of Corrections and several community agencies to provide outreach to clients.

Pursuant to section 454.530, RSMo, the FSD, together with the Missouri Department of Revenue, operates the state disbursement unit known as the Family Support Payment Center (FSPC), which receives and disburses support on behalf of families. FSD collected $672.8 million in state Fiscal Year 2018.

The MO HealthNet (Missouri Medicaid) program provides medical services to eligible participants within defined program benefits in a similar way insurance companies provide coverage for their policy holders.

Organization

The MO HealthNet Division (MHD) provides for the healthcare needs of Missouri's most vulnerable populations in a way that is financially sustainable for the broader community. The division is administered by a director appointed by the department director (DSS). MO HealthNet offices are located in Jefferson City. The division contains an evidence-based decisions unit including clinical professionals, policy and operations units, provider and member services managed care operations, financial operations to include third-party liability and rate setting and information services.

Organization

MO HealthNet Objectives:

- Bring Medicaid spending growth in line with the rate of growth of our local economy;
- Ensure access to healthcare and services matches the needs of our most vulnerable populations;

- Improve participants' experience and healthcare outcomes, and increase their independence;
- Partner with providers to make our care delivery system future-proof;
- Become a leader in the implementation of value-based care in Medicaid.

MO HealthNet Program

MO HealthNet provides healthcare services required by the federal government, such as hospital and physician services. The division also covers optional services, such as pharmaceutical items. Waivers allow MO HealthNet to offer other additional services. Waivers are time-limited and must be cost neutral. The services covered by MO HealthNet are approved by the Missouri General Assembly and can be found in RSMo 208.152.

The department (DSS) is considered the single state agency, responsible for Missouri's Medicaid program and its financial administration and federal reimbursement. The MO HealthNet program is jointly funded by state and federal funds. Children, pregnant women, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) recipients and children in state custody, receive their healthcare services through one of MO HealthNet's contracted managed care health plans. Other MO HealthNet participants such as those in the aged, blind, or disabled populations receive their healthcare services are "carved out" of managed care, meaning the managed care eligible populations still receive those services, but through the Fee-For-Service program.

MO HealthNet also administers the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). CHIP provides healthcare coverage to uninsured children above the Title XIX mandatory coverage guidelines.

The MO HealthNet division partners with the departments of Health and Senior Services, Mental Health and Elementary and Secondary Education, in administering programs for the Medicaid populations such as Home and Community Based Services, Substance Use Treatment and Rehabilitation and the First Steps program for toddlers with delayed developmental conditions.

The Omnibus Reorganization Act of 1974 created the Division of Youth Services (DYS) and placed it within the Department of Social Services.

TODD RICHARDSON
Director
MO HealthNet Division

SCOTT ODUM
Director
Division of Youth Services

Youth judged to be delinquent and in need of rehabilitation and education are committed to the division by the state's juvenile (circuit) courts until approved for return to the community under supervision or discharged.

The division provides an array of services including residential care, nonresidential and community-based services and after-care supervision. Chapter 219, RSMo, outlines the division's responsibility to also include prevention of delinquency, incentive subsidy to juvenile courts, consultative and information services and technical assistance to local communities.

Organization

The division is administered by the director, who is appointed by the department director (DSS). The division operates structured residential programs providing youth rehabilitation, treatment and education services through a continuum of secure and moderate care centers and community-based group homes. Nonresidential programs include case management, day treatment, family therapy and youth employment. Five regional administrators are responsible for the programs in their geographical areas. Central office personnel, together with the regional administrators, aid the director in planning, monitoring and ongoing quality improvement of all agency services.

Goals and Objectives

The vision of Missouri DYS is that every young person served will become a productive citizen and lead a fulfilling life. The mission is to enable youth to fulfill their needs in a responsible manner within the context of and with respect for the needs of the family and community. This balanced approach relies on community partnerships for the development and enhancement of services for the prevention of delinquency.

Methods of Treatment

Each division facility creates a structured environment designed to contribute to positive changes in the student's behavior and attitudes through the provision of group and individualized treatment services, recreation, academic and vocational training. The ultimate goal is to return each youth to his or her home community as a productive, responsible member of society. The division operates as a fully accredited school program, providing high school credits and High School Equivalency Test (HiSET) coursework.

Case Management

A case management system has been developed to provide assessment, treatment planning, coordination of services, monitoring and evaluation of the services for youths and their families. A needs and risk assessment helps the case manager determine the most appropriate services for each youth. The assessment takes into account all pertinent factors involving the youth's delinquent history while identifying the general treatment needs.

Community-Based Services

Focusing on more individualized services and delivering programs at the community level, the division has expanded its program design to include more community-based options. Nonresidential services are provided to low-risk youth as a diversion to residential care and as a supplement to after-care.

Intensive Case Monitoring

This service is provided by employees who monitor a youth's behavior and activities. Community mentors also provide support and counseling to the youth when needed. Great effort is made to ensure the matching of similar personalities and interests of youth and the mentor.

Day Treatment

This service provides a structured alternative educational program that includes traditional academic courses, HiSET classes, career planning, job placement and community service supported by individual, group and family therapy.

Family Therapy

Family specialists provide counseling to DYS youth and their families. In addition, the family therapy unit accepts referrals from juvenile courts, child welfare agencies, mental health agencies, schools and other sources. DYS family specialists also provide training to other state agency staff and court personnel.

Group Home Programs

Group homes provide the least restrictive residential environment. Staff provide 24-hour supervision in a home-like setting with a capacity for 10 youths. Youth follow a daily schedule with time allowed for interaction with the community (school, jobs and community projects) as well as treatment services within the facility (group, individual and family counseling).

Moderate Care Residential Facilities

Residential facilities provide a structured environment for DYS youth. The residential programs target youth who cannot function well in the community and require a more structured setting. Many of these youth have participated in repeat property offenses and require continuous structure to mature.

The program divides youth into groups of 10 with 24-hour staff supervision. A rigorous school program is provided on-site by full-time teachers offering basic education, HiSET programming and various remedial/special education activities.

Secure Care Residential Facilities

For those youth who have a history of offenses and require a more structured setting, the division offers programs in secured facilities. Four highly structured, secure-care programs provide on-site educational classes, vocational training and recreational activities. These programs target youth with longer offense records that might include crimes against people. The offenders tend to be older and might include youth who have been unsuccessful in community-based programs. Scheduled outings into the community serve the purpose of involving the youth in community support projects.

An individual education plan, including both youth goals and staff strategies, is developed for each youth. Parents are encouraged to attend these planning meetings.

Dual Jurisdiction

The division also serves youth in secure care programs in Montgomery City, St. Louis and St. Joseph, sentenced under the dual jurisdiction provisions in section 211.073, RSMo. This alternative sentencing provision allows certified youth to receive an adult and juvenile sentence with a suspended execution of the adult sentence. Treatment and educational services are provided to youth whose length of stay is significantly longer than that of other DYS students.

Aftercare

When youth are ready to return to their communities, the division provides services to help them make a smooth transition. Virtually all youth under DYS care enter the aftercare program upon their return to the community. An assigned case manager ensures support services are provided to help each youth enter and readjust to community living including referral, supervision and counseling. The primary goal of aftercare is to support youth in becoming law-abiding and productive citizens.

Division of Youth Services Advisory Board

Established in 1974, the DYS Advisory Board is charged with the responsibility to advise the director, the legislature and the general public on all matters pertaining to the operation of the division. The 15-member board consists of citizens from across the state who are dedicated to the prevention of delinquency and the rehabilitation of juvenile offenders.

Missouri Voting and Elections

Missouri Voting and Elections

Who registers to vote in Missouri?

Citizens living in Missouri must register in order to vote. Any U.S. citizen 17 years and 6 months of age or older, if a Missouri resident, may register and vote except:

- A person who is adjudged incapacitated.
- A person who is confined under sentence of imprisonment.
- A person who is on probation or parole after conviction of a felony until finally discharged.
- A person who has been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor connected with the right of suffrage. (115.133, RSMo)

How do Missourians register?

Qualified citizens may register at sos.mo.gov/elections/govotemissouri/register, in person at the office of their local election authority, by mail, at the driver's license fee office or at participating state agencies. Registration in person is accomplished by filling out registration forms with information on identity, residence and qualifications which are signed and sworn to, then witnessed by the election authority or a designee. (115.155, RSMo)

Registration by mail, at the driver's license fee office or at the participating state agencies requires submission of an application stating qualifications. A verification or rejection of registration is sent by the election authority within seven working days. (115.155 and 115.159, RSMo)

When do Missourians register?

An unregistered citizen may register to vote at sos.mo.gov/elections/govotemissouri/register, at the local election officials' place of business, by requesting an application by mail from the election authority, when renewing a Missouri driver's license or when receiving services from a participating state agency. Special registration sites and dates may be utilized prior to major elections.

The deadline for registration is the fourth Wednesday prior to an election. New Missouri residents may register immediately. (115.135, RSMo).

When do Missourians vote?

The statutes require that all public elections be held on the general election day, the primary election day, the general municipal election day, the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, or on another day expressly provided by city or county charter and in nonprimary years on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August. (115.123.1, RSMo)

The general election day is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in even-numbered years. The primary election day is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April in even-numbered years. (115.121 (1 & 2), RSMo)

Elections for cities, towns, villages, school boards and special district officers are held the first Tuesday after first Monday in April each year, known as the "general municipal election day." (115.121.3, RSMo)

A statewide presidential preference primary shall be held on the second Tuesday after the first Monday in March of each presidential election year. (115.755, RSMo)

Who conducts registration and elections?

Voter registration and the conduct of elections are the responsibilities of boards of election commissioners in the counties of Clay, Jackson, Platte and St. Louis; and in the cities of Kansas City and St. Louis; and of the election authority in St. Charles County. The county clerk serves as the election authority in all other counties of the state.

Special voting provisions

Disabled voters and persons prevented from voting at the polls because of absence or illness may vote absentee. Persons with permanent disabilities may apply for permanent absentee ballot status by making application with the local election authority. (115.284, RSMo) Curbside voting is permitted in Missouri, or voters may be transferred to more accessible precincts. Local election officials should be contacted about absentee federal service balloting or "new resident" ballots for residents who arrive after the registration deadline.

What forms of identification are acceptable?

Show your valid Missouri Driver License, Missouri Nondriver License, Passport or Military ID.

Show one of the following: Missouri Voter Registration Card, ID issued by Missouri, ID issued by the US Government, ID issued by a Missouri university, college, vocational or technical school, utility bill, bank statement or government check.

If you do not possess any of these forms of identification, but are a registered voter, you may cast a provisional ballot.

More information about the voter ID requirement is available online at www.ShowIt2Vote.com. If you do not have an approved form of identification from above, the Secretary of State's Office will help you obtain the documents needed for a free photo ID (Missouri Nondriver License). Any questions may be directed to 866-868-3245. (115.427, RSMo)

Elections and political parties

Missourians do not register under party affiliation. Hence, at primary elections, voters may choose which “established party” they vote within. Party nominees—and independent candidates—are then listed on the general election ballot.

There are presently four “established political parties” statewide—the Republican, Democratic, Libertarian and Constitution parties. Persons may seek the nomination of these parties for any elective office from the county level and above. In order to become “established,” a party must have received more than two percent of the votes cast statewide for at least one of its candidates. New parties are formed by petition and may exist on the county, district or state level. They must meet the same standard as any other party to remain “established.”

At the time of primary elections, voters select county committee members of established parties in Missouri. Those committee people, thus elected, have certain duties and responsibilities. They serve, as appropriate, as members of legislative, senatorial, judicial and congressional district committees. County, district or state committee members may be called on to fill candidate vacancies on party ballots or to select nominees for special elections from time to time. The state committees are selected, indirectly, by local committee persons. The state committees become especially important when delegates to presidential nominating (national) conventions are being selected.

Constitutional Amendment No. 1

[Proposed by the 100th General Assembly (First Regular Session) SS SCS SJR 14 & 9]

Do you want to amend the Missouri Constitution to extend the two term restriction that currently applies to the Governor and Treasurer to the Lt. Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor and the Attorney General?

State and local governmental entities estimate no costs or savings from this proposal.

Submitting to the qualified voters of Missouri, an amendment to article VII of the Constitution of Missouri, by adding thereto one new section relating to the limitation of terms served by certain elected officers.

Constitutional Amendment No. 3

[Proposed by the 100th General Assembly (Second Regular Session) SS 3 SJR 38]

Shall the Missouri Constitution be amended to:

- Ban gifts from paid lobbyists to legislators and their employees;
- Reduce legislative campaign contribution limits;
- Change the redistricting process voters approved in 2018 by: (i) transferring responsibility for drawing state legislative districts from the Nonpartisan State Demographer to Governor-appointed bipartisan commissions; (ii) modifying and reordering the redistricting criteria.

State governmental entities expect no cost or savings. Individual local governmental entities expect significant decreased revenues of a total unknown amount.

Submitting to the qualified voters of Missouri, an amendment repealing sections 2, 3, and 7 of article III of the Constitution of Missouri, and adopting three new sections in lieu thereof relating to regulating the legislature to limit the influence of partisan or other special interests.
